A TREATISE OF CIVIL POWER IN ECCLESIASTICAL CAUSES

A 359
OF
IN Ecclesiastical causes:

SHEWING That it is not lawfull for any power on earth to compell

Religion.

The author J. M.

London, Printed by Tho. Newcomb, Anno 1659.

To the Parlament of the Commonwealth of England with the dominions therof.

I Have prepar'd, supream Councel, against the much expected time of your sitting, this treatise; which, though to all Christian magistrates equally belonging, and therefore to have bin written in the common language 5 of Christendom, natural dutie and affection bath confin'd, and dedicated first to my own nation: and in a season wherin the timely reading therof, to the easier accomplishment of your great work, may save you much labor and interruption: of two parts usually propos'd, civil and ec-10 clesiastical, recommending civil only to your proper care, ecclesiastical to them only from whom it takes both that name and nature. Yet not for this cause only do I require or trust to finde acceptance, but in a two-fold respect besides: first as bringing cleer evidence of scripture and 15 protestant maxims to the Parlament of England, who in all thir late acts, upon occasion, have professd to assert only the true protestant Christian religion, as it is con-taind in the holy scriptures: next, in regard that your power being but for a time, and having in your selves a 20 Christian libertie of your own, which at one time or other may be oppressd, therof truly sensible, it will concern you while you are in power, so to regard other mens consciences, as you would your own should be regarded in the power of others; and to consider that any law against conscience is alike in force against any conscience, and so may one way or other justly redound upon your selves. One advantage

5 I make no doubt of, that I shall write to many eminent persons of your number, alreadie perfet and resolvd in this important article of Cbristianitie. Some of whom I remember to have heard often for several years, at a councel next in autoritie to your own, so well joining religion with

10 civil prudence, and yet so well distinguishing the different power of either, and this not only voting, but frequently reasoning why it should be so, that if any there present had bin before of an opinion contrary, he might doubtless have departed thence a convert in that point, and have confesd,

15 that then both commonwealth and religion will at length, if ever, flourish in Cbristendom, when either they who govern discern between civil and religious, or they only who so discern shall be admitted to govern. Till then nothing but troubles, persecutions, commotions can be expected; the in-

20 ward decay of true religion among our selves, and the utter overthrow at last by a common enemy. Of civil libertie I have written heretofore by the appointment, and not without the approbation of civil power: of Cbristian liberty I write now; which others long since having don with all freedom

25 under beathen emperors, I should do wrong to suspect, that I now shall with less under Christian governors, and such especially as profess openly thir defence of Cbristian libertie; although I write this not otherwise appointed or

induc'd then by an inward perswasion of the Christian dutie which I may usefully discharge herin to the common Lord and Master of us all, and the certain hope of his approbation, first and chieftest to be sought: In the band of 5 whose providence I remain, praying all success and good event on your publick counsels to the defence of true religion and our civil rights.

JOHN MILTON.

A Treatise of Civil power in Ecclesiastical causes

TWO things there be which have bin ever found working much mischief to the church of God, and the advancement of truth; force on the one side restraining, and hire on the other side corrupting the teachers thereof.

5 Few ages have bin since the ascension of our Saviour, wherein the one of these two, or both together have not prevaild. It can be at no time therfore unseasonable to speak of these things; since by them the church is either in continual detriment and oppression, or in continual danger. The former

10 shall be at this time my argument; the latter as I shall finde God disposing me, and opportunity inviting. What I argue, shall be drawn from the scripture only; and therin from true fundamental principles of the gospel; to all knowing Christians undeniable. And if the governors of this common-

15 wealth since the rooting out of prelates have made least use of force in religion, and most have favord Christian liberty of any in this Iland before them since the first preaching of the gospel, for which we are not to forget our thanks to God, and their due praise, they may, I doubt not, in this treatise finde

20 that which not only will confirm them to defend still the Christian liberty which we enjoy, but will incite them also to enlarge it, if in aught they yet straiten it. To them who perhaps hereafter, less experienc'd in religion, may come to govern or give us laws, this or other such, if they please, may be a timely instruction: however to the truth it will be at all times no unneedfull testimonie; at least some discharge of that general dutie which no Christian but according to what he hath 5 receivd, knows is requir'd of him if he have aught more conducing to the advancement of religion then what is usually endeavourd, freely to impart it.

It will require no great labor of exposition to unfold what is here meant by matters of religion; being as soon apprehended as defin'd, such things as belong chiefly to the knowl-10 edge and service of God: and are either above the reach and light of nature without revelation from above, and therefore liable to be variously understood by humane reason, or such things as are enjoind or forbidden by divine precept, which 15 els by the light of reason would seem indifferent to be don or not don; and so likewise must needs appeer to everie man as the precept is understood. Whence I here mean by conscience or religion, that full perswasion whereby we are assur'd that our beleef and practise, as far as we are able to apprehend and 20 probably make appeer, is according to the will of God & his Holy Spirit within us, which we ought to follow much rather then any law of man, as not only his word every where bids us, but the very dictate of reason tells us. Act.
4. 19. whether it be right in the sight of God, to hearken to 25 you more then to God, judge ye. That for beleef or practise in religion according to this conscientious perswasion no man ought be punished or molested by any outward force on earth whatsoever, I distrust not, through Gods implor'd assistance, to make plane by these following arguments.

First it cannot be deni'd, being the main foundation of our protestant religion, that we of these ages, having no other divine rule or autoritie from without us warrantable to one 5 another as a common ground but the holy scripture, and no other within us but the illumination of the Holy Spirit so interpreting that scripture as warrantable only to our selves and to such whose consciences we can so perswade, can have no other ground in matters of religion but only from the scriptures. And these being not possible to be understood without 10 this divine illumination, which no man can know at all times to be in himself, much less to be at any time for certain in any other, it follows cleerly, that no man or body of men in these times can be the infallible judges or determiners in matters of 15 religion to any other mens consciences but thir own. And therfore those Beroeans are commended, Act. 17. 11, who after the preaching even of S. Paul, searchd the scriptures daily, whether those things were so. Nor did they more then what God himself in many places commands us by the same 20 apostle, to search, to try, to judge of these things our selves: And gives us reason also, Gal. 6. 4, 5. let every man prove his own work, and then shall he have rejoicing in himself alone, and not in another: for every man shall bear his own burden. If then we count it so ignorant and irreligious in the papist 25 to think himself dischargd in Gods account, beleeving only as the church beleevs, how much greater condemnation will it be to the protestant his condemner, to think himself justified, beleeving only as the state beleevs? With good cause therfore

it is the general consent of all sound protestant writers, that neither traditions, councils nor canons of any visible church, much less edicts of any magistrate or civil session, but the scripture only can be the final judge or rule in matters of religion, and that only in the conscience of every Christian to himself. Which protestation made by the first publick reformers of our religion against the imperial edicts of Charls the fifth, imposing church-traditions without scripture, gave first beginning to the name of Protestant; and with that name hath ever bin receivd this doctrine, which prefers the scripture before the church, and acknowledges none but the Scripture sole interpreter of it self to the conscience. For if the church be not sufficient to be implicitly beleevd, as we hold it is not, what can there els be nam'd of more autoritie then the church but the conscience; then which God only is greater, 1 Joh. 3.20? But if any man shall pretend, that the scripture judges to his conscience for other men, he makes himself greater not only then the church, but also then the scripture, then the consciences of other men; a presumption too high for any mortal; since every true Christian able to give a reason of his faith, hath the word of God before him, the promised Holy Spirit, and the minde of Christ within him, 1 Cor. 2. 16; a much better and safer guide of conscience, which as far as concerns himself he may far more certainly know then any outward rule impos'd upon him by others whom he inwardly neither knows nor can know; at least knows nothing of them more sure then this one thing, that they cannot be his judges in religion. 1 Cor. 2. 15. the spiritual man judgeth all things, but he himself is judgd of no man. Chiefly for this cause do all true protestants account the pope antichrist, for that he assumes to himself this infallibilitie over both the conscience and the scripture; siting in the temple of God, as it were opposite to God, and exalting himself above all that is called god, or is worshipd, 2 Thess. 2. 4. That is to say not only above all judges and magistrates, who though they be calld gods, are far beneath infallible, but also above God himself, by giving law both to the scripture, to the conscience, and to the spirit it self of God within us. Whenas we finde, James 4. 12, there is one lawgiver, who is able to save and to destroy: who art thou that judgest another? That Christ is the only lawgiver of his church and that it is here meant in religious matters, no well grounded Christian will deny. Thus also S. Paul, Rom. 14. 4. who art thou that judgest the servant of another? to his own Lord he standeth or falleth: but he shall stand; for God is able to make him stand. As therfore of one beyond expression bold and presumptuous, both these apostles demand, who art thou that presum'st to impose other law or judgment in religion then the only lawgiver and judge Christ, who only can save and can destroy, gives to the conscience? And the forecited place to the Thessalonians by compar'd effects resolv's us, that be he or they who or wherever they be or can be, they are of far less autoritie then the church, whom in these things as protestants they receive not, and yet no less antichrist in this main point of antichristianism, no less a pope or popedom then he at Rome, if not much more; by setting up supream interpreters of scripture either those doctors whom they follow, or, which is far worse, themselves as a civil papacie assuming unaccountable supremacy to themselves not in civil only but ecclesiastical causes. Seeing then that in matters of religion, as hath been 5 prov'd, none can judge or determin here on earth, no not church-governors themselves against the consciences of other beleivers, my inference is, or rather not mine but our Saviours own, that in those matters they neither can command nor use constraint; lest they run rashly on a pernicious

10 sequence, forewarnd in that parable Mat. 13. from the 26 to the 31 verse: least while ye gather up the tares, ye root up also the wheat with them. Let both grow together until the harvest: and in the time of harvest I will say to the reapers, Gather ye together first the tares &c. whereby he declares 15 that this work neither his own ministers nor any els can discerningly enough or judgingly perform without his own immediat direction, in his own fit season; and that they ought till then not to attempt it. Which is further confirm'd 2 Cor. 1.
24. not that we have dominion over your faith, but are helpers of your joy. If apostles had no dominion or constraining 20 powr over faith or conscience, much less have ordinary ministers. 1 Pet. 5. 2, 3. Feed the flock of God not by constraint &c. neither as being lords over Gods heritage. But some will object, that this overthrows all church-discipline, all censure 25 of errors, if no man can determin. My answer is, that what they hear is plane scripture; which forbids not church-sentence or determining, but as it ends in violence upon the conscience unconvinc'd. Let who so will interpret or determin, so it be according to true church-discipline; which is exercis'd on them only who have willingly joind themselves in that covenant of union, and proceeds only to a separation from the rest, proceeds never to any corporal inforcement or forfeiture 5 of monie; which in spiritual things are the two arms of Antichrist, not of the true church; the one being an inquisition, the other no better then a temporal indulgence of sin for monie, whether by the church exacted or by the magistrate; both the one and the other a temporal satisfaction for what 10 Christ hath satisfied eternally; a popish commuting of penaltie, corporal for spiritual; a satisfaction to man especially to the magistrate, for what and to whom we owe none: these and more are the injustices of force and fining in religion, besides what I most insist on, the violation of Gods express 15 commandment in the gospel, as hath bin shewn. Thus then if church-governors cannot use force in religion, though but for this reason, because they cannot infallibly determin to the conscience without convincement, much less have civil magistrates autoritie to use force where they can much less 20 judge; unless they mean only to be the civil executioners of them who have no civil power to give them such commission, no nor yet ecclesiastical to any force or violence in religion. To summe up all in brief, if we must beleeeve as the magistrate appoints, why not rather as the church? if not as either 25 without convincement, how can force be lawfull? But some are ready to cry out, what shall then be don to blasphemie? Them I would first exhort not thus to terrifie and pose the people with a Greek word: but to teach them better what it is; being a most usual and common word in that language to signifie any slander, any malicious or evil speaking, whether against God or man or any thing to good belonging: blasphemie or evil speaking against God maliciously, is far from 5 conscience in religion; according to that of Marc 9. 39. there is none who doth a powerfull work in my name, and can likely speak evil of me. If this suffice not, I referre them to that prudent and well deliberated act August 9. 1650; where the Parliament defines blasphemie against God, as far as it is 10 a crime belonging to civil judicature, plenius ac melius Chrysippo & Crantore; in plane English more warily, more judiciously, more orthodoxally then twice thir number of divines have don in many a prolix volume: although in all likelihood they whose whole studie and profession these 15 things are should be most intelligent and authentic therin, as they are for the most part, yet neither they nor these unnerring always or infallible. But we shall not carrie it thus; another Greek apparition stands in our way, heresie and heretic; in like manner also rail'd at to the people as in a tongue 20 unknown. They should first interpret to them, that heresie, by what it signifies in that language, is no word of evil note; meaning only the choise or following of any opinion good or bad in religion or any other learning: and thus not only in heathen authors, but in the New testament it self without 25 censure or blame. Acts 15. 5. certain of the heresie of the Pharises which beleeved, and 26. 5. after the exactest heresie of our religion I livd a Pharise. In which sense Presbyterian or Independent may without reproach be calld a heresie.

Where it is mentioned with blame, it seems to differ little from schism 1 Cor. 11. 18, 19. I hear that there be schisms among you &c. for there must also heresies be among you &c; though some who write of heresie after their own heads, 5 would make it far worse then schism; whenas on the contrarie, schism signifies division, and in the worst sense; heresie, choise only of one opinion before another, which may bee without discord. In apostolic times therfore ere the scripture was written, heresie was a doctrin maintaind against the 10 doctrin by them deliverd: which in these times can be no otherwise defin'd then a doctrin maintaind against the light, which we now only have, of the scripture. Seeing therfore that no man, no synod, no session of men, though calld the church, can judge definitively the sense of scripture to another 15 mans conscience, which is well known to be a general maxim of the Protestant religion, it follows planely, that he who holds in religion that beleef or those opinions which to his conscience and utmost understanding appeer with most evidence or probabilitie in the scripture, though to others he 20 seem erroneous, can no more be justly censur'd for a heretic then his censurers; who do but the same thing themselves while they censure him for so doing. For ask them, or any Protestant, which hath most autoritie, the church or the scripture? they will answer, doubtless, that the scripture: and 25 what hath most autoritie, that no doubt but they will confess is to be followd. He then who to his best apprehension follows the scripture, though against any point of doctrine by the whole church receivd, is not the heretic; but he who follows the church against his conscience and perswasion grounded on the scripture. To make this yet more undeniable, I shall only borrow a plane similie, the same which our own writers, when they would demonstrate planest that 5 we rightly preferre the scripture before the church, use frequently against the Papist in this manner. As the Samaritans beleevd Christ, first for the womans word, but next and much rather for his own, so we the scripture; first on the churches word, but afterwards and much more for its own, as the word 10 of God; yea the church it self we beleeve then for the scripture. The inference of it self follows: if by the Protestant doctrine we beleeve the scripture not for the churches saying, but for its own as the word of God, then ought we to beleeve what in our conscience we apprehend the scripture to say, 15 though the visible church with all her doctors gainsay; and being taught to beleeve them only for the scripture, they who so do are not heretics, but the best protestants: and by their opinions, whatever they be, can hurt no protestant, whose rule is not to receive them but from the scripture: which to 20 interpret convincingly to his own conscience none is able but himself guided by the Holy Spirit; and not so guided, none then he to himself can be a worse deceiver. To protestants therfore whose common rule and touchstone is the scripture, nothing can with more conscience, more equitie, nothing 25 more protestantly can be permitted then a free and lawful debate at all times by writing, conference or disputation of what opinion soever, disputable by scripture: concluding, that no man in religion is properly a heretic at this day, but he who maintains traditions or opinions not probable by scripture; who, for aught I know, is the papist only; he the only heretic, who counts all heretics but himself. Such as these, indeed, were capitally punishd by the law of Moses, as the only 5 true heretics, idolaters, plane and open deserters of God and his known law: but in the gospel such are punishd by excommunication only. Tit. 3. 10. an heretic, after the first and second admonition, reject. But they who think not this heavie enough and understand not that dreadfull aw and spiritual efficacie 10 which the apostle hath expressd so highly to be in church-discipline, 2 Cor. 10. of which anon, and think weakly that the church of God cannot long subsist but in a bodilie fear, for want of other proof will needs wrest that place of S. Paul Rom. 13. to set up civil inquisition, and give power to the magis-15 trate both of civil judgment and punishment in causes ecclesiastical. But let us see with what strength of argument. Let every soul be subject to the higher powers. First, how prove they that the apostle means other powers then such as they to whom he writes were then under; who medld not at all in 20 ecclesiastical causes, unless as tyrants and persecuters; and from them, I hope, they will not derive either the right of magistrates to judge in spiritual things, or the dutie of such our obedience. How prove they next, that he intitles them here to spiritual causes, from whom he withheld, as much as 25 in him lay, the judging of civil; 1 Cor. 6. 1, &c. If he himself appeald to Cesar, it was to judge his innocence, not his religion. For rulers are not a terror to good works, but to the evil. then are they not a terror to conscience, which is the rule or judge of good works grounded on the scripture. But heresie, they say, is reck'nd among evil works Gal. 5. 20: as if all evil works were to be punishd by the magistrate; wherof this place, thir own citation, reck'ns up besides heresie a sufficient number to confute them; uncleanness, wantonness, enmitie, strife, emulations, animosities, contentions, envyings; all which are far more manifest to be judgd by him then heresie, as they define it; and yet I suppose they will not subject these evil works nor many more such like to his cognisance and punishment. Wilt thou then not be affraid of the power? do that which is good and thou shalt have praise of the same. This shews that religious matters are not here meant; wherin from the power here spoken of they could have no praise. For he is the minister of God to thee for good. true; but in that office and to that end and by those means which in this place must be cleerly found, if from this place they intend to argue. And how for thy good by forcing, oppressing and insnaring thy conscience? Many are the ministers of God, and thir offices no less different then many; none more different then state and church-government. Who seeks to govern both must needs be worse then any lord prelat or church-pluralist: for he in his own facultie and profession, the other not in his own and for the most part not thoroughly understood makes himself supream lord or pope of the church as far as his civil jurisdiction stretches, and all the ministers of God therin, his ministers, or his curates rather in the function onely, not in the government: while he himself assumes to rule by civil power things to be rul'd only by spiritual: when as this very chapter v. 6 appointing him his peculiar office, which requires utmost attendance, forbids him this worse then church-plurality from that full and waightie charge, wherein alone he is the minister of God, attending continually on this very thing. To little purpose will they here instance Moses, who did all by immediate divine direction, no nor yet Asa, Jehosaphat, or Josia, who both might when they pleasd receive answer from God, and had a commonwealth by him deliverd them, incorporated with a national church exercis'd more in bodily then in spiritual worship, so as that the church might be calld a commonwealth and the whole commonwealth a church: nothing of which can be said of Christianitie, deliverd without the help of magistrates, yea in the midst of thir opposition; how little then with any reference to them or mention of them, save onely of our obedience to thir civil laws, as they countnance good and deterr evil: which is the proper work of the magistrate, following in the same verse, and shews distinctly wherein he is the minister of God, a revenger to execute wrath on him that doth evil. But we must first know who it is that doth evil: the heretic they say among the first. Let it be known then certainly who is a heretic: and that he who holds opinions in religion professdly from tradition or his own inventions and not from Scripture but rather against it, is the only heretic; and yet though such, not alwaies punishable by the magistrate, unless he do evil against a civil Law, properly so calld, hath been already prov'd without need of repetition. But if thou do that which is evil, be affraid. To do by scripture and the gospel according to conscience is not to do evil; if we therof ought not to be affraid, he ought not by his judging to give cause; causes therfore of Religion are not here meant. For he beareth not the sword in vain. Yes altogether 5 in vain, if it smite he knows not what; if that for heresie which not the church it self, much less he, can determine absolutely to be so; if truth for error, being himself so often fallible, he bears the sword not in vain only, but unjustly and to evil. Be subject not only for wrath, but for conscience sake:

10 how for conscience sake against conscience? By all these reasons it appeers planely that the apostle in this place gives no judgment or coercive power to magistrates, neither to those then nor these now in matters of religion; and exhorts us no otherwise then he exhorted those Romans. It hath now 15 twice befalln me to assert, through Gods assistance, this most wrested and vexd place of scripture; heretofore against Salmasius and regal tyranie over the state; now against Erastus and state-tyranie over the church. If from such uncertain or rather such improbable grounds as these they endue magis-20 tracie with spiritual judgment, they may as well invest him in the same spiritual kinde with power of utmost punishment, excommunication; and then turn spiritual into corporal, as no worse authors did then Chrysostom, Jerom and Austin, whom Erasmus and others in thir notes on the New 25 Testament have cited to interpret that cutting off which S. Paul wishd to them who had brought back the Galatians to circumcision, no less then the amercement of thir whole virilitie; and Grotius addes that this concising punishment of circumcisers became a penal law therupon among the Visigothes: a dangerous example of beginning in the spirit to end so in the flesh: wheras that cutting off much likelier seems meant a cutting off from the church, not unusually so term'd 5 in scripture, and a zealous imprecation, not a command. But I have mentiond this passage to shew how absurd they often prove who have not learnd to distinguish rightly between civil power and ecclesiastical. How many persecutions then, imprisonments, banishments, penalties and stripes; how 10 much bloodshed have the forcers of conscience to answer for, and protestants rather then papists! For the papist, judging by his principles, punishes them who beleeve not as the church beleevs though against the scripture: but the protestant, teaching every one to beleeve the scripture though against the 15 church, counts heretical and persecutes, against his own principles, them who in any particular so beleeve as he in general teaches them; them who most honor and beleeve divine scripture, but not against it any humane interpretation though universal; them who interpret scripture only to themselves, 20 which by his own position none but they to themselves can interpret; them who use the scripture no otherwise by his own doctrine to thir edification, then he himself uses it to thir punishing: and so whom his doctrine acknowledges a true beleever, his discipline persecutes as a heretic. The papist ex-25 acts our beleeef as to the church due above scripture; and by the church, which is the whole people of God, understands the pope, the general councils prelati- cal only and the sur- nam'd fathers: but the forcing protestant though he deny such beleef to any church whatsoever, yet takes it to himself and his teachers, of far less autorite then to be calld the church and above scripture beleevd: which renders his practice both contrarie to his beleef, and far worse then that beleef which he condemns in the papist. By all which well considerd, the more he professes to be a true protestant, the more he hath to answer for his persecuting then a papist. No protestant therfore of what sect soever following scripture only, which is the common sect wherin they all agree, and the 10 granted rule of everie mans conscience to himself, ought, by the common doctrine of protestants, to be forc'd or molested for religion. But as for poperie and idolatrie, why they also may not hence plead to be tolerated, I have much less to say. Their religion the more considerd, the less can be acknowl-15 edgd a religion; but a Roman principalitie rather, endeavouring to keep up her old universal dominion under a new name and meer shaddow of a catholic religion; being indeed more rightly nam'd a catholic heresie against the scripture; supported mainly by a civil, and, except in Rome, by a forein 20 power: justly therfore to be suspected, not tolerated by the magistrate of another countrey. Besides, of an implicit faith, which they profess, the conscience also becoms implicit; and so by voluntarie servitude to mans law, forfeits her Christian libertie. Who then can plead for such a conscience, as being 25 implicitly enthrald to man instead of God, almost becoms no conscience, as the will not free, becoms no will. Nevertheless if they ought not to be tolerated, it is for just reason of state more then of religion; which they who force, though professing to be protestants, deserve as little to be tolerated themselves, being no less guiltie of poperie in the most popish point. Lastly, for idolatrie, who knows it not to be evidently against all scripture both of the Old and New Testament, and 5 therefore a true heresie, or rather an impietie; wherin a right conscience can have naught to do; and the works therof so manifest, that a magistrate can hardly err in prohibiting and quite removing at least the publick and scandalous use therof.

From the riddance of these objections I proceed yet to another reason why it is unlawfull for the civil magistrate to use 10 force in matters of religion; which is, because to judge in those things, though we should grant him able, which is prov'd he is not, yet as a civil magistrate he hath no right. Christ hath a government of his own, sufficient of it self to 15 all his ends and purposes in governing his church; but much different from that of the civil magistrate; and the difference in this verie thing principally consists, that it governs not by outward force, and that for two reasons. First because it deals only with the inward man and his actions, which are all spir-20 itual and to outward force not lyable: secondly to shew us the divine excellence of his spiritual kingdom, able without worldly force to subdue all the powers and kingdoms of this world, which are upheld by outward force only. That the inward man is nothing els but the inward part of man, 25 his understanding and his will, and that his actions thence proceeding, yet not simply thence but from the work of divine grace upon them, are the whole matter of religion under the gospel, will appeer planely by considering what that religion is; whence we shall perceive yet more planely that it cannot be forc'd. What evangelic religion is, is told in two words, faith and charitie; or beleef and practise. That both these flow either the one from the understanding, 5 the other from the will, or both jointly from both, once indeed naturally free, but now only as they are regenerat and wrought on by divine grace, is in part evident to common sense and principles unquestiond, the rest by scripture: concerning our beleef, Mat. 16. 17. flesh and blood hath not re- 10 veal'd it unto thee, but my father which is in heaven: concerning our practise, as it is religious and not meerly civil, Gal. 5. 22, 23 and other places declare it to be the fruit of the spirit only. Nay our whole practical dutie in religion is contained in charitie, or the love of God and our neighbour, no 15 way to be forc'd, yet the fulfilling of the whole law; that is to say, our whole practise in religion. If then both our beleef and practise, which comprehend our whole religion, flow from faculties of the inward man, free and unconstrainable of themselves by nature, and our practise not only from fac-20 ulties endu'd with freedom, but from love and charitie besides, incapable of force, and all these things by transgression lost, but renewd and regenerated in us by the power and gift of God alone, how can such religion as this admit of force from man, or force be any way appli'd to such religion, espe-25 cially under the free offer of grace in the gospel, but it must forthwith frustrate and make of no effect both the religion and the gospel? And that to compell outward profession, which they will say perhaps ought to be compell'd though inward religion cannot, is to compell hypocrisie not to advance religion, shall yet, though of it self cleer enough, be ere the conclusion further manifest. The other reason why Christ rejects outward force in the goverment of his church, is, as I said before, to shew us the divine excellence of his spiritual kingdom, able without worldly force to subdue all the powers and kingdoms of this world, which are upheld by outward force only: by which to uphold religion otherwise then to defend the religious from outward violence, is no service to Christ or his kingdom, but rather a disparagement, and degrades it from a divine and spiritual kingdom to a kingdom of this world: which he denies it to be,—because it needs not force to confirm it: Joh. 18. 36. if my kingdom were of this world, then would my servants fight, that I should not be deliverd to the Jewes. This proves the kingdom of Christ not governd by outward force; as being none of this world, whose kingdoms are maintaind all by force onely: and yet disproves not that a Christian commonwealth may defend it self against outward force in the cause of religion as well as in any other; though Christ himself, coming purposely to dye for us, would not be so defended. 1 Cor. 1. 27. God hath chosen the weak things of the world to confound the things which are mighty. Then surely he hath not chosen the force of this world to subdue conscience and conscientious men, who in this world are counted weakest; but rather conscience, as being weakest, to subdue and regulate force, his adversarie, not his aide or instrument in governing the church. 2 Cor. 10. 3, 4, 5, 6. for though we walk in the flesh, we do not warre after the flesh: for the weapons of our warfare are not carnal; but mightie through God to the pulling down of strong holds; casting down imaginations and everie high thing that exalts it self against the knowledge of God; 5 and bringing into captivitie everie thought to the obedience of Christ: and having in a readiness to aveng all disobedience.

It is evident by the first and second verses of this chapter, that the apostle here speaks of that spiritual power by which Christ governs his church, how allsufficient it is, how powerful to reach the conscience and the inward man with whom it chiefly deals and whom no power els can deal with. In comparison of which as it is here thus magnificently describ'd, how uneffectual and weak is outward force with all her boistrous tooles, to the shame of those Christians and especially those churchmen, who to the exercising of church discipline never cease calling on the civil magistrate to interpose his fleshlie force; an argument that all true ministerial and spiritual power is dead within them: who think the gospel, which both began and spread over the whole world for above three hundred years under heathen and persecuting emperors, cannot stand or continue, supported by the same divine presence and protection to the worlds end, much easier under the defensive favor onely of a Christian magistrate, unless it be enacted and settled, as they call it, by the state, a statute or a state-religion: and understand not that the church it self cannot, much less the state, settle or impose one tittle of religion upon our obedience implicit, but can only recommend or propound it to our free and conscientious examination:

unless they mean to set the state higher then the church in religion, and with a grosse contradiction give to the state in thir settling petition that command of our implicit beleef, which they deny in thir settled confession both to the state 5 and to the church. Let them cease then to importune and interrupt the magistrate from attending to his own charge in civil and moral things, the settling of things just, things honest, the defence of things religious settled by the churches within themselves; and the repressing of thir contraries de-10 terminable by the common light of nature; which is not to constrain or to repress religion, probable by scripture, but the violaters and persecuters therof: of all which things he hath enough and more then enough to do, left yet undon; for which the land groans and justice goes to wrack the while:
15 let him also forbear force where he hath no right to judge; for the conscience is not his province: least a worse woe arrive him, for worse offending, then was denounc'd by our Saviour Matt. 23. 23. against the Pharises: ye have forc'd the conscience, which was not to be forc'd; but judgment and mercy
20 ye have not executed: this ye should have don, and the other let alone. And since it is the council and set purpose of God in the gospel by spiritual means which are counted weak, to overcom all power which resists him; let them not go about to do that by worldly strength which he hath decreed to do 25 by those means which the world counts weakness, least they be again obnoxious to that saying which in another place is also written of the Pharises, Luke 7. 30. that they frustrated the council of God. The main plea is, and urgd with much vehemence to thir imitation, that the kings of Juda, as I touchd before, and especially Josia both judgd and us'd force in religion. 2 Chr. 34. 33. he made all that were present in Israel to serve the Lord thir God: an argument, if it be 5 well weighed, worse then that us'd by the false prophet Shemaia to the high priest, that in imitation of Jehoiada he ought to put Jeremie in the stocks, Jer. 29. 24, 26, &c. for which he receivd his due denouncement from God. But to this besides I return a threefold answer: first, that the state of 10 religion under the gospel is far differing from what it was under the law: then was the state of rigor, childhood, bondage and works, to all which force was not unbefitting; now is the state of grace, manhood, freedom and faith; to all which belongs willingness and reason, not force: the law was 15 then written on tables of stone, and to be performd according to the letter, willingly or unwillingly; the gospel, our new covnant, upon the heart of every beleever, to be interpreted only by the sense of charitie and inward perswasion: the law had no distinct government or governors of church

20 and commonwealth, but the Priests and Levites judg'd in all causes not ecclesiastical only but civil, Deut. 17. 8, &c. which under the gospel is forbidden to all church-ministers, as a thing which Christ thir master in his ministerie disclam'd Luke 12, 14; as a thing beneath them 1 Cor. 6. 4; and by 25 many of our statutes, as to them who have a peculiar and far differing government of thir own. If not, why different the governors? why not church-ministers in state-affairs, as well as state-ministers in church-affairs? If church and state shall be made one flesh again as under the law, let it be withall considerd, that God who then joind them hath now severd them; that which, he so ordaining, was then a lawfull conjunction, to such on either side as join again what he hath 5 severd, would be nothing now but thir own presumptuous fornication. Secondly, the kings of Juda and those magistrates under the law might have recours, as I said before, to divine inspiration; which our magistrates under the gospel have not, more then to the same spirit, which those whom 10 they force have oft times in greater measure then themselves: and so, instead of forcing the Christian, they force the Holy Ghost; and, against that wise forewarning of Gamaliel, fight against God. Thirdly, those kings and magistrates us'd force in such things only as were undoubtedly known and forbid-15 den in the law of Moses, idolatrie and direct apostacie from that national and strict enjoind worship of God; wherof the corporal punishment was by himself expressly set down: but magistrates under the gospel, our free, elective and rational worship, are most commonly busiest to force those things 20 which in the gospel are either left free, nay somtimes abolisht when by them compelld, or els controverted equally by writers on both sides, and somtimes with odds on that side which is against them. By which means they either punish that which they ought to favor and protect, or that with cor-25 poral punishment and of thir own inventing, which not they but the church hath receivd command to chastise with a spiritual rod only. Yet some are so eager in thir zeal of forcing, that they refuse not to descend at length to the utmost shift of that parabolical proof Luke 14. 16, &c. compell them to come in. therefore magistrates may compell in religion. As if a parable were to be straind through every word or phrase, and not expounded by the general scope therof: which is no 5 other here then the earnest expression of Gods displeasure on those recusant Jewes, and his purpose to preferre the gentiles on any terms before them; expressed here by the word compell. But how compells he? doubtless no otherwise then he draws, without which no man can come to him, Joh. 6. 44:

 10 and that is by the inward perswasive motions of his spirit and by his ministers; not by the outward compulsions of a magistrate or his officers. The true people of Christ, as is foretold Psal. 110. 3, are a willing people in the day of his power. then much more now when he rules all things by outward 15 weakness, that both his inward power and their sinceritie may the more appeer. God loveth a chearfull giver: then certainly is not pleas'd with an unchearfull worshiper; as the verie words declare of his evangelical invitations. Esa. 55. 1. ho, everie one that thirsteth, come. Joh. 7. 37. if any man 20 thirst. Rev. 3. 18. I counsel thee. and 22, 17. whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely. And in that grand commission of preaching to invite all nations Marc 16. 16, as the reward of them who come, so the penaltie of them who come not is only spiritual. But they bring now some reason with 25 thir force, which must not pass unanswerd; that the church of Thyatira was blam'd Rev. 2. 20 for suffering the false prophetess to teach and to seduce. I answer, that seducement is to be hinderd by fit and proper means ordaind in church-discipline; by instant and powerfull demonstration to the contrarie; by opposing truth to error, no unequal match; truth the strong to error the weak though slie and shifting. Force is no honest confutation; but uneffectual, and for the 5 most part unsuccessfull, oft times fatal to them who use it: sound doctrine diligently and duely taught, is of herself both sufficient, and of herself (if some secret judgment of God hinder not) alwaies prevalent against seducers. This the Thyatirians had neglected, suffering, against Church-discipline, 10 that woman to teach and seduce among them: civil force they had not then in thir power; being the Christian part only of that citie, and then especially under one of those ten great persecutions, wherof this the second was raisd by Domitian: force therfore in these matters could not be re-15 quir'd of them, who were then under force themselves.

I have shewn that the civil power hath neither right nor can do right by forcing religious things: I will now shew the wrong it doth; by violating the fundamental privilege of the gospel, the new-birthright of everie true beleever, Christian 20 libertie. 2 Cor. 3. 17. where the spirit of the Lord is, there is libertie. Gal. 4. 26. Jerusalem which is above, is free; which is the mother of us all. and 31. we are not children of the bondwoman but of the free. It will be sufficient in this place to say no more of Christian libertie, then that it sets us free 25 not only from the bondage of those ceremonies, but also from the forcible imposition of those circumstances, place and time in the worship of God: which though by him commanded in the old law, yet in respect of that veritie and freedom which is evangelical, S. Paul comprehends both kindes alike, that is to say, both ceremonie and circumstance, under one and the same contemptuous name of weak and beggarly rudiments, Gal. 4. 3. 9, 10. Col. 2. 8. with 16: conformable to what our 5 Saviour himself taught John 4. 21, 23. neither in this mountain nor yet at Jerusalem. In spirit and in truth: for the father seeketh such to worship him. that is to say, not only sincere of heart, for such he sought ever, but also, as the words here chiefly import, not compell'd to place, and by the same 10 reason, not to any set time; as his apostle by the same spirit hath taught us Rom. 14. 6, &c. one man esteemeth one day above another, another &c. Gal. 4. 10. Ye observe dayes, and moonths &c. Coloss. 2. 16. These and other such places of scripture the best and learnedest reformed writers have 15 thought evident enough to instruct us in our freedom not only from ceremonies but from those circumstances also, though impos'd with a confident perswasion of moralitie in them, which they hold impossible to be in place or time. By what warrant then our opinions and practises herin are of 20 late turnd quite against all other Protestants, and that which is to them orthodoxal, to us become scandalous and punishable by statute, I wish were once again better considerd; if we mean not to proclame a schism in this point from the best and most reformed churches abroad. They who would seem 25 more knowing, confess that these things are indifferent, but for that very cause by the magistrate may be commanded. As if God of his special grace in the gospel had to this end freed us from his own commandments in these things, that our freedom should subject us to a more greevous yoke, the commandments of men. As well may the magistrate call that common or unclean which God hath cleansd, forbidden to S. Peter Acts 10. 15; as well may he loos'n that which God hath strait'nd, or strait'n that which God hath loos'nd, as he may injoin those things in religion which God hath left free, and lay on that yoke which God hath taken off. For he hath not only given us this gift as a special privilege and excellence of the free gospel above the servile law, but strictly also 10 hath commanded us to keep it and enjoy it. Gal. 5. 13. you are calld to libertie. 1 Cor. 7. 23. be not made the servants of men. Gal. 5. 14. stand fast therfore in the libertie wherwith Christ hath made us free; and be not intangl'd again with the yoke of bondage. Neither is this a meer command, but for 15 the most part in these forecited places accompanied with the verie waightiest and inmost reasons of Christian religion: Rom. 14. 9, 10. for to this end Christ both dy'd and rose and reviv'd, that he might be Lord both of the dead and living. But why dost thou judge thy brother? &c. how presum'st 20 thou to be his lord, to be whose only Lord, at least in these things, Christ both dy'd and rose and livd again? We shall all stand before the judgment seat of Christ. why then dost thou not only judge, but persecute in these things for which we are to be accountable to the tribunal of Christ only, our 25 Lord and lawgiver? 1 Cor. 7. 23. ye are bought with a price; be not made the servants of men. some trivial price belike, and for some frivolous pretences paid in their opinion, if bought and by him redeemd who is God from what was once the service of God, we shall be enthral'd again and forc'd by men to what now is but the service of men. Gal. 4. 31, with 5. 1. we are not children of the bondwoman &c. stand fast therfore &c. Col. 2. 8. beware least any man spoil you, &c.

5 after the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ. Solid reasons wherof are continu'd through the whole chapter. v. 10. ye are complete in him, which is the head of all principallitie and power. not completed therfore or made the more religious by those ordinances of civil power, from which

10 Christ thir head hath dischargd us; blotting out the handwriting of ordinances, that was against us, which was contrarie to us; and took it out of the way, nailing it to his cross, v. 14: blotting out ordinances written by God himself, much more those so boldly written over again by men, ordinances

15 which were against us, that is, against our frailtie, much more those which are against our conscience. Let no man therfore judge you in respect of &c. v. 16. Gal. 4. 3, &c. even so we, when we were children, were in bondage under the rudiments of the world: but when the fullness of time was come,

20 God sent forth his son &c. to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons &c. Wherfore thou art no more a servant, but a son &c. But now &c. how turn ye again to the weak and beggarly rudiments, wherunto ye desire again to be in bondage? ye observe dayes

25 &c. Hence it planely appeers, that if we be not free we are not sons, but still servants unadopted; and if we turn again to those weak and beggarly rudiments, we are not free; yea though willingly and with a misguided conscience we desire to be in bondage to them; how much more then if unwillingly and against our conscience? Ill was our condition chang'd from legal to evangelical, and small advantage gotten by the gospel, if for the spirit of adoption to freedom, 5 promis'd us, we receive again the spirit of bondage to fear; if our fear which was then servile towards God only, must be now servile in religion towards men: strange also and preposterous fear, if when and wherein it hath attained by the redemption of our Saviour to be filial only towards God, it must be 10 now servile towards the magistrate. Who by subjecting us to his punishment in these things, brings back into religion that law of terror and satisfaction, belonging now only to civil crimes; and thereby in effect abolishes the gospel by establishing again the law to a far worse yoke of servitude upon us 15 then before. It will therefore not misbecome the meanest Christian to put in minde Christian magistrates, and so much the more freely by how much the more they desire to be thought Christian (for they will be thereby, as they ought to be in these things, the more our brethren and the less our 20 lords) that they meddle not rashly with Christian libertie, the birthright and outward testimonie of our adoption: least while they little think it, nay think they do God service, they themselves like the sons of that bondwoman be found persecuting them who are freeborne of the spirit; and by a sacrilege of not the least aggravation bereaving them of that 25 sacred libertie which our Saviour with his own blood purchas'd for them.

in religion, I bring from the consideration of all those ends which he can likely pretend to the interposing of his force therein: and those hardly can be other then first the glorie of God; next either the spiritual good of them whom he forces, 5 or the temporal punishment of their scandal to others. As for the promoting of Gods glory, none, I think, will say that his glorie ought to be promoted in religious things by unwarrantable means, much less by means contrarie to what he hath commanded. That outward force is such, and that Gods 10 glory in the whole administration of the gospel according to his own will and counsel ought to be fulfilled by weakness, at least so refuted, not by force; or if by force, inward and spiritual, not outward and corporeal, is already prov'd at large. That outward force cannot tend to the good of him who is 15 forc'd in religion, is unquestionable. For in religion whatever we do under the gospel, we ought to be therof perswaded without scruple; and are justified by the faith we have, not by the work we do. Rom. 14. 5. Let every man be fully perswaded in his own mind. The other reason which 20 follows necessarily, is obvious Gal. 2. 16, and in many other places of St. Paul, as the groundwork and foundation of the whole gospel, that we are justified by the faith of Christ, and not by the works of the law. if not by the works of Gods law, how then by the injunctions of mans law? Surely force can- 25 not work perswasion, which is faith; cannot therefore justify nor pacifie the conscience; and that which justifies not in the gospel, condemns; is not only not good, but sinfull to do. Rom. 14. 23. Whatsoever is not of faith, is sin. It concerns the magistrate then to take heed how he forces in religion conscientious men: least by compelling them to do that whereof they cannot be perswaded, that wherein they cannot finde themselves justified, but by thir own consciences condemnd, instead of aiming at thir spiritual good, he force them to do evil; and while he thinks himself Asa, Josia, Nehemia, he be found Jeroboam, who causd Israel to sin; and thereby draw upon his own head all those sins and shipwracks of implicit faith and conformitie, which he hath forc'd, and all the wounds given to those little ones, whom to offend he will finde worse one day then that violent drowning mentioned Matt. 18. 6. Lastly as a preface to force, it is the usual pretence, that although tender consciences shall be tolerated, yet scandals thereby given shall not be unpunishd, prophane and licentious men shall not be encourag'd to neglect the performance of religious and holy duties by color of any law giving libertie to tender consciences. By which contrivance the way lies ready open to them heerafter who may be so minded, to take away by little and little, that liberty which Christ and his gospel, not any magistrate, hath right to give: though this kinde of his giving be but to give with one hand and take away with the other, which is a deluding not a giving. As for scandals, if any man be offended at the conscientious liberty of another, it is a taken scandal not a given. To heal one conscience we must not wound another: and men must be exhorted to beware of scandals in Christian libertie, not forc'd by the magistrate; least while he goes about to take away the scandal, which is uncertain whether given or taken, he take away our liberty, which is the certain and the sacred gift of God, neither to be touchd by him, nor to be parted with by us. None more cautious of giving scandal then St. Paul. Yet while he made himself servant to all, that 5 he might gain the more, he made himself so of his own accord, was not made so by outward force, testifying at the same time that he was free from all men, 1 Cor. 9. 19: and thereafter exhorts us also Gal. 5. 13. ye were calld to libertie &c. but by love serve one another: then not by force. As for 10 that fear least prophane and licentious men should be encourag'd to omit the performance of religious and holy duties, how can that care belong to the civil magistrate, especially to his force? For if prophane and licentious persons must not neglect the performance of religious and holy duties, 15 it implies, that such duties they can perform; which no Protestant will affirm. They who mean the outward performance, may so explaine it; and it will then appeer yet more planely, that such performance of religious and holy duties especialy by prophane and licentious persons, is a dis-20 honoring rather then a worshiping of God; and not only by him not requir'd but detested: Prov. 21. 27. the sacrifice of the wicked is an abomination: how much more when he bringeth it with a wicked minde? To compell therfore the prophane to things holy in his prophaneness, is all one under 25 the gospel, as to have compelld the unclean to sacrifice in his uncleanness under the law. And I adde withall, that to compell the licentious in his licentiousness, and the conscientious against his conscience, coms all to one; tends not to the honor of God, but to the multiplying and the aggravating of sin to them both. We read not that Christ ever exercis'd force but once; and that was to drive prophane ones out of his temple, not to force them in: and if thir beeing there was an offence, 5 we finde by many other scriptures that thir praying there was an abomination: and yet to the Jewish law that nation, as a servant, was oblig'd; but to the gospel each person is left voluntarie, calld only, as a son, by the preaching of the word; not to be driven in by edicts and force of arms. For if by the 10 apostle, Rom. 12. 1, we are beseechd as brethren by the mercies of God to present our bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable to God, which is our reasonable service or worship, then is no man to be forc'd by the compulsive laws of men to present his body a dead sacrifice, and so under the gospel 15 most unholy and unacceptable, because it is his unreasonable service, that is to say, not only unwilling but unconscionable. But if prophane and licentious persons may not omit the performance of holy duties, why may they not partake of holy things? why are they prohibited the Lords supper; since 20 both the one and the other action may be outward; and outward performance of dutie may attain at least an outward participation of benefit? The church denying them that communion of grace and thanksgiving, as it justly doth, why doth the magistrate compell them to the union of performing that which they neither truly can, being themselves 25 unholy, and to do seemingly is both hatefull to God, and perhaps no less dangerous to perform holie duties irreligiously then to receive holy signes or sacraments unworthily. All

prophane and licentious men, so known, can be considered but either so without the church as never yet within it, or departed thence of thir own accord, or excommunicate: if never yet within the church, whom the apostle, and so consequently 5 the church have naught to do to judge, as he professes 1 Cor. 5. 12, then by what autoritie doth the magistrate judge, or, which is worse, compell in relation to the church? if departed of his own accord, like that lost sheep Luke 15. 4, &c. the true church either with her own or any borrowd force wor-
10 ries him not in again, but rather in all charitable manner sends after him; and if she finde him, layes him gently on her shoulders; bears him, yea bears his burdens; his errors, his infirmities any way tolerable, so fulfilling the law of Christ, Gal. 6. 2: if excommunicate, whom the church hath bid go 15 out, in whose name doth the magistrate compell to go in? The church indeed hinders none from hearing in her publick congregation, for the doors are open to all: nor excommunicates to destruction, but, as much as in her lies, to a final saving. Her meaning therfore must needs bee, that as her driv-20 ing out brings on no outward penaltie, so no outward force or penaltie of an improper and only a destructive power should drive in again her infectious sheep; therfore sent out because infectious, and not driven in but with the danger not only of the whole and sound, but also of his own utter per-25 ishing. Since force neither instructs in religion nor begets repentance or amendment of life, but, on the contrarie, hardness of heart, formalitie, hypocrisie, and, as I said before, everie way increase of sin; more and more alienates the minde from a violent religion expelling out and compelling in, and reduces it to a condition like that which the Britains complain of in our storie, driven to and fro between the Picts and the sea. If after excommunication he be found intractable, incurable, and will not hear the church, he becoms as one 5 never yet within her pale, a heathen or a publican, Mat. 18. 17; not further to be judgd, no not by the magistrate, unless for civil causes; but left to the final sentence of that judge, whose coming shall be in flames of fire; that Maran athà, 1

10 Cor. 16. 22; then which to him so left nothing can be more dreadful and ofttimes to him particularly nothing more speedie, that is to say, the Lord cometh: In the mean while deliverd up to Satan, 1 Cor. 5. 5. 1 Tim. 1. 20. that is, from the fould of Christ and kingdom of grace to the world again 15 which is the kingdom of Satan; and as he was receivd from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan to God, Acts 26, 18, so now deliverd up again from light to darkness, and from God to the power of Satan; yet so as is in both places manifested, to the intent of saving him, brought sooner to 20 contrition by spiritual then by any corporal severitie. But grant it belonging any way to the magistrate, that prophane and licentious persons omit not the performance of holy duties, which in them were odious to God even under the law, much more now under the gospel, yet ought his care 25 both as a magistrate and a Christian, to be much more that conscience be not inwardly violated, then that licence in these things be made outwardly conformable: since his part is undoubtedly as a Christian, which puts him upon this office much more then as a magistrate, in all respects to have more care of the conscientious then of the prophane; and not for their sakes to take away (while they pretend to give) or to diminish the rightfull libertie of religious consciences.

- 5 On these four scriptural reasons as on a firm square this truth, the right of Christian and evangelic liberty, will stand immoveable against all those pretended consequences of license and confusion which for the most part men most licentious and confus'd themselves, or such as whose severitie 10 would be wiser then divine wisdom, are ever aptest to object against the waies of God: as if God without them when he gave us this libertie, knew not of the worst which these men in thir arrogance pretend will follow: yet knowing all their worst, he gave us this liberty as by him judgd best. As to those 15 magistrates who think it their work to settle religion, and those ministers or others, who so oft call upon them to do so, I trust, that having well considerd what hath bin here argu'd, neither they will continue in that intention, nor these in that expectation from them: when they shall finde that the settle-20 ment of religion belongs only to each particular church by perswasive and spiritual means within it self, and that the defence only of the church belongs to the magistrate. Had he once learnt not further to concern himself with church affairs, half his labor might be spar'd, and the commonwealth 25 better tended. To which end, that which I premis'd in the beginning, and in due place treated of more at large, I desire now concluding, that they would consider seriously what religion is: and they will find it to be in summe, both our beleef and our practise depending upon God only. That there can be no place then left for the magistrate or his force in the settlement of religion, by appointing either what we shall beleeve in divine things or practise in religious (neither of 5 which things are in the power of man either to perform himself or to enable others) I perswade me in the Christian ingenuitie of all religious men, the more they examin seriously, the more they will finde cleerly to be true: and finde how false and deceivable that common saying is, which is so much 10 reli'd upon, that the Christian Magistrate is custos utriusque tabulae, keeper of both tables; unless is meant by keeper the defender only: neither can that maxim be maintaind by any prooff or argument which hath not in this discours first or last bin refuted. For the two tables, or ten commandements, 15 teach our dutie to God and our neighbour from the love of both; give magistrates no autoritie to force either: they seek that from the judicial law; though on false grounds, especially in the first table, as I have shewn; and both in first and second execute that autoritie for the most part not according 20 to Gods judicial laws but thir own. As for civil crimes and of the outward man, which all are not, no not of those against the second table, as that of coveting; in them what power they have, they had from the beginning, long before Moses or the two tables were in being. And whether they be not now as 25 little in being to be kept by any Christian as they are two legal tables, remanes yet as undecided, as it is sure they never were yet deliverd to the keeping of any Christian magistrate. But of these things perhaps more some other time; what may serve the present hath bin above discourst sufficiently out of the scriptures: and to those produc'd might be added testimonies, examples, experiences of all succeeding ages to these times asserting this doctrine: but having herin the scripture so copious and so plane, we have all that can be properly call'd true strength and nerve; the rest would be but pomp and incumbrance. Pomp and ostentation of reading is admir'd among the vulgar: but doubtless in matters of religion he is learnedest who is planest. The brevity I use, not exceeding a small manual, will not therefore, I suppose, be thought the less considerable, unless with them perhaps who think that great books only can determin great matters. I rather chose the common rule, not to make much ado where less may serve. Which in controversies and those especially of religion, would make them less tedious, and by consequence read ofter, by many more, and with more benefit.

The End.

OWing to your protection, supream Senat, this libertie of writing which I have us'd these 18 our own hopes heartning us to look up at last like men and Cbristians from the slavish dejection, wherin from father of these nations, if they be not barbarously ingrateful, to be 15 acknowledgd, next under God, the authors and best patrons of religious and civil libertie, that ever these Ilands brought forth. The care and tuition of whose peace and safety, after a short but scandalous night of interruption, is now

JOHN MILTON.

Considerations touching the likeliest means to remove hirelings out of the Church.

THE former treatise, which leads in this, began with two things ever found working much mischief to the church of God, and the advancement of truth; force on the one side restraining, and hire on the other side corrupting the teachers thereof. The latter of these is by much the more dangerous: for under force, though no thank to the forcers, true religion oft-times best thrives and flourishes: but the corruption of teachers, most commonly the effect of hire, is the very bane of truth in them who are so corrupted. Of force not to be us'd in matters of religion, I have already spoken; and so stated matters of conscience and religion in faith and divine worship, and so severed them from blasphemy and heresie, the one being such properly as is despicable, the other such as stands not to the rule of Scripture, and so both of them not matters of religion, but rather against it, that to them who will yet use force, this only choice can be left, whether they will force them to believe, to whom it is not given from above, being not forc'd thereto by any principle of the gospel, which is now the only dispensation of God to all men, or whether being Protestants, they will punish in those things wherein the Protestant religion denies them to be judges, either in themselves infallible or to the consciences of other men, or whether, lastly, they think fit to punish error, supposing they can be infallible that it is so, being not wilful, but conscientious, and, according to the 5 best light of him who errs, grounded on scripture: which kinde of error all men religious, or but only reasonable, have thought worthier of pardon; and the growth therof to be prevented by spiritual means and church-discipline, not by civil laws and outward force; since it is God only who gives 10 as well to beleeve aright, as to beleeve at all; and by those means which he ordaind sufficiently in his church to the full execution of his divine purpose in the gospel. It remanes now to speak of hire; the other evil so mischeevous in religion: wherof I promis'd then to speak further, when I should finde 15 God disposing me, and opportunity inviting. Opportunity I finde now inviting; and apprehend therein the concurrence of God disposing; since the maintenance of church-ministers, a thing not properly belonging to the magistrate, and yet with such importunity call'd for, and expected from him, is at 20 present under publick debate. Wherin least any thing may happen to be determind and establishd prejudicial to the right and freedom of church, or advantageous to such as may be found hirelings therein, it will be now most seasonable, and in these matters wherin every Christian hath his free suffrage, 25 no way misbecoming Christian meeknes to offer freely, without disparagement to the wisest, such advice as God shall incline him and inable him to propound. Since heretofore in commonwealths of most fame for government, civil laws were not establishd till they had been first for certain dayes publishd to the view of all men, that who so pleasd might speak freely his opinion therof, and give in his exceptions, ere the law could pass to a full establishment. And where 5 ought this equity to have more place, then in the libertie which is unseparable from Christian religion? This, I am not ignorant, will be a work unpleasing to some: but what truth is not hateful to some or other, as this, in likelihood, will be to none but hirelings. And if there be among them 10 who hold it thir duty to speak impartial truth, as the work of thir ministry, though not performd without monie, let them not envie others who think the same no less their duty by the general office of Christianity, to speak truth, as in all reason may be thought, more impartially and unsuspectedly without 15 monie.

Hire of it self is neither a thing unlawful, nor a word of any evil note, signifying no more then a due recompence or reward; as when our Saviour saith, the laborer is worthy of his hire. That which makes it so dangerous in the church, 20 and properly makes the hireling, a word always of evil signification, is either the excess thereof, or the undue manner of giving and taking it. What harme the excess therof brought to the church, perhaps was not found by experience till the days of Constantine: who out of his zeal thinking he could be 25 never too liberally a nursing father of the church, might be not unfitly said to have either overlaid it or choakd it in the nursing. Which was foretold, as is recorded in ecclesiastical traditions, by a voice heard from heaven on the very day that those great donations and church-revenues were given, crying aloud, This day is poison pourd into the church. Which the event soon after verifi'd; as appeers by another no less ancient observation, That religion brought forth wealth, and 5 the daughter devourd the mother. But long ere wealth came into the church, so soone as any gain appeerd in religion, hirelings were apparent; drawn in long before by the very sent thereof. Judas therefor, the first hireling, for want of present hire answerable to his coveting, from the small num-10 ber or the meanness of such as then were the religious, sold the religion it self with the founder therof, his master. Simon Magus the next, in hope only that preaching and the gifts of the holy ghost would prove gainful, offerd beforehand a sum of monie to obtain them. Not long after, as the apostle fore-15 told, hirelings like wolves came in by herds, Acts 20. 29. For, I know this, that after my departing shall greivous wolves enter in among you, not sparing the flock. Tit. 1. 11. Teaching things which they ought not, for filthy lucre's sake. 2 Pet. 2. 3. And through covetousnes shall they with feigned words 20 make merchandise of you. Yet they taught not fals doctrin only, but seeming piety: 1 Tim. 6. 5. supposing that gain is Godlines. Neither came they in of themselves only, but invited oft-times by a corrupt audience: 2 Tim. 4. 3. For the time will come, when they will not endure sound doctrin, but 25 after thir own lusts they will heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears: and they on the other side, as fast heaping to themselves disciples, Acts 20. 30, doubtles had as itching palmes. 2 Pet. 2. 15. Following the way of Balaam,

the son of Bosor, who lov'd the wages of unrighteousnes.
 Jude 11. They ran greedily after the error of Balaam for reward. Thus we see that not only the excess of hire in wealthiest times, but also the undue and vitious taking or giving 5 it, though but small or mean, as in the primitive times, gave to hirelings occasion, though not intended, yet sufficient, to creep at first into the church. Which argues also the difficulty, or rather the impossibility, to remove them quite; unless every minister were, as St. Paul, contented to teach gratis: but few 10 such are to be found. As therefor we cannot justly take away all hire in the church, because we cannot otherwise quite remove all hirelings, so are we not for the impossibility of removing them all, to use therefor no endeavor that fewest may come in: but rather, in regard the evil, do what we can,
 15 will always be incumbent and unavoidable, to use our utmost diligence, how it may be least dangerous. Which will be likeliest effected, if we consider, first, what recompence God hath ordaind should be given to ministers of the church; (for that a recompence ought to be given them, and may by 20 them justly be received, our Saviour himself from the very light of reason and of equity hath declar'd: Luke 10. 7. The laborer is worthy of his hire) next by whom; and lastly, in what manner.

What recompence ought be given to church-ministers, God 25 hath answerably ordaind according to that difference which he hath manifestly put between those his two great dispensations, the law and the gospel. Under the law he gave them tithes; under the gospel, having left all things in his church to charity and Christian freedom, he hath given them only what is justly given them. That, as well under the gospel as under the law, say our English divines, and they only of all Protestants, is tithes; and they say true, if any man be so minded to give them of his own the tenth or twentieth: but that the law therefor of tithes is in force under the gospel, all other Protestant divines, though equally concern'd, yet constantly deny. For although hire to the laborer be of moral and perpetual right, yet that special kinde of hire, the tenth, can be of no right or necessity, but to that special labor for which God ordain'd it. That special labor was the Levitical and ceremonial service of the tabernacle, Numb. 18. 21, 31. which is now abolish'd: the right therefor of that special hire must needs be withall abolish'd, as being also ceremonial.

That tithes were ceremonial, is plane; not being given to the Levites till they had bin first offerd a heave-offering to the Lord, Vers. 24, 28. He then who by that law brings tithes into the gospel, of necessity brings in withall a sacrifice, and an altar; without which tithes by that law were un sanctifi'd and polluted, Vers. 32. and therefor never thought on in the first Christian times, till ceremonies, altars, and oblations, by an ancients corruption were brought back long before. And yet the Jewes ever since thir temple was destroy'd, though they have Rabbies and teachers of thir law, yet pay no tithes, as having no Levites to whom, no temple where to pay them, no altar wheron to hallow them; which argues that the Jewes themselves never thought tithes moral, but ceremonial only. That Christians therefor should take them up, when Jewes

have laid them down, must needs be very absurd and preposterous. Next, it is as cleer in the same chapter, that the priests and Levites had not tithes for their labor only in the tabernacle, but in regard they were to have no other part nor 5 inheritance in the land, Vers. 20, 24. and by that means for a tenth lost a twelfth. But our levites undergoing no such law of deprivement, can have no right to any such compensation: nay, if by this law they will have tithes, can have no inheritance of land, but forfeit what they have. Besides this,
 10 tithes were of two sorts, those of every year, and those of every third year: of the former, every one that brought his tithes, was to eat his share. Deut. 14. 23. Thou shalt eat before the Lord thy God, in the place which he shall chuse to place his name there, the tithe of thy corn, of thy wine, and of thine 15 oyle, &c. Nay, though he could not bring his tithe in kinde, by reason of his distant dwelling from the tabernacle or temple, but was thereby forc'd to turn it into monie, he was to bestow that monie on whatsoever pleas'd him; oxen, sheep, wine, or strong drink; and to eat and drink therof there be-20 fore the Lord both he and his houshold, Ver. 24, 25, 26. As for the tithes of every third year, they were not given only to the Levite, but to the stranger, the fatherles, and the widdow, Vers. 28, 29. & Chap. 26. 12, 13. So that ours, if they will have tithes, must admitt of these sharers with them. Nay, 25 these tithes were not paid in at all to the Levite, but the Levite himself was to come with those his fellow guests and eat his share of them only at his house who provided them; and this not in regard of his ministerial office, but because he had no part nor inheritance in the land. Lastly, the priests and Levites, a tribe, were of a far different constitution from this of our ministers under the gospel: in them were orders and degrees both by family, dignity and office, mainly distinguishd; 5 the high priest, his brethren and his sons, to whom the Levites themselves paid tithes, and of the best, were eminently superior, Num. 18. 28, 29. No Protestant, I suppose, will liken one of our ministers to a high priest, but rather to a common Levite. Unless then, to keep their tithes, they mean 10 to bring back again bishops, archbishops and the whole gang of prelacy, to whom will they themselves pay tythes, as by that law it was a sin to them, if they did not, v. 32. Certainly this must needs put them to a deep demurr, while the desire of holding fast thir tithes without sin, may tempt them to 15 bring back again bishops as the likenes of that hierarchy that should receive tithes from them, and the desire to pay none, may advise them to keep out of the church all orders above them. But if we have to do at present, as I suppose we have, with true reformed Protestants, not with Papists or prelates, 20 it will not be deni'd that in the gospel there be but two ministerial degrees, presbyters and deacons: which if they contend to have any succession, reference or conformity with those two degrees under the law, priests & Levites, it must needs be such whereby our presbyters or ministers may be answerable 25 to priests, and our deacons to Levites: by which rule of proportion it will follow, that we must pay our tithes to the deacons only, and they only to the ministers. But if it be truer yet that the priesthood of Aaron typifi'd a better reality, 1

Pet. 2. 5. signifying the Christian true and holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifice; it follows hence, that we are now justly exempt from paying tithes, to any who claim from Aaron, since that priesthood is in us now real, which in him 5 was but a shaddow. Seeing then by all this which hath bin shewn that the law of tithes is partly ceremonial, as the work was for which they were given, partly judicial, not of common, but of particular right to the tribe of Levi, nor to them alone, but to the owner also and his houshold, at the time of 10 thir offering, and every three year to the stranger, the fatherles, and the widdow, thir appointed sharers, and that they were a tribe of priests and deacons improperly compar'd to the constitution of our ministry, and the tithes given by that people to those deacons only, it follows that our ministers at 15 this day, being neither priests nor Levites, nor fitly answering to either of them, can have no just title or pretence to tithes, by any consequence drawn from the law of Moses. But they think they have yet a better plea in the example of Melchisedec, who took tithes of Abram ere the law was given:
 20 whence they would inferr tithes to be of moral right. But they ought to know, or to remember, that not examples, but express commands oblige our obedience to God or man: next, that whatsoever was don in religion before the law written, is not presently to be counted moral, when as so many things 25 were then don both ceremonial and Judaically judicial, that we need not doubt to conclude all times before Christ, more or less under the ceremonial law. To what end servd els those altars and sacrifices, that distinction of clean and unclean entring into the ark, circumcision and the raising up of seed to the elder brother, Gen. 38. 8? If these things be not moral, though before the law, how are tithes, though in the example of Abram and Melchisedec? But this instance is so far from 5 being the just ground of a law, that after all circumstances duly waighd both from Gen. 14. and Heb. 7, it will not be allowd them so much as an example. Melchisedec, besides his priestly benediction, brought with him bread and wine sufficient to refresh Abram and his whole armie; incited to do so, 10 first, by the secret providence of God, intending him for a type of Christ and his priesthood; next by his due thankfulnes and honor to Abram, who had freed his borders of Salem from a potent enemy: Abram on the other side honors him with the tenth of all, that is to say, (for he took not sure his 15 whole estate with him to that warr) of the spoiles, Heb. 7. 4.

 Incited he also by the same secret providence, to signifie as grandfather of Levi, that the Levitical priesthood was excelld by the priesthood of Christ. For the giving of a tenth de-clar'd, it seems in those countreys and times, him the greater 20 who receivd it. That which next incited him, was partly his gratitude to requite the present, partly his reverence to the person and his benediction: to his person, as a king and priest; greater therefor then Abram; who was a priest also, but not a king. And who unhir'd will be so hardy as to say, 25 that Abram at any other time ever paid him tithes, either before or after; or had then, but for this accidental meeting and obligation; or that els Melchisedec had demanded or exacted them, or took them otherwise, then as the voluntarie

gift of Abram? But our ministers, though neither priests nor kings more then any other Christian, greater in thir own esteem then Abraham and all his seed, for the verbal labor of a seventh dayes preachment, not bringing, like Melchisedec, 5 bread or wine at thir own cost, would not take only at the willing hand of liberality or gratitude, but require and exact as due the tenth, not of spoiles, but of our whole estates and labors; nor once, but yearly. We then it seems by the example of Abram must pay tithes to these melchisedecs: but what if 10 the person of Abram can either no way represent us, or will oblige the ministers to pay tithes no less then other men?
Abram had not only a priest in his loines, but was himself a priest; and gave tithes to Melchisedec either as grandfather of Levi, or as father of the faithful. If as grandfather (though 15 he understood it not) of Levi, he oblig'd not us but Levi only, the inferior priest, by that homage (as the apostle to the Hebrewes cleerly anough explanes) to acknowledge the greater. And they who by Melchisedec claim from Abram as Levi's grandfather, have none to seek thir tithes of but the 20 Levites, where they can finde them. If Abram as father of the faithful paid tithes to Melchisedec, then certainly the ministers also, if they be of that number, paid in him equally with the rest. Which may induce us to beleeeve, that as both Abram and Melchisedec, so tithes also in that action typical 25 and ceremonial, signifi'd nothing els but that subjection, which all the faithful, both ministers and people owe to Christ, our high priest and king. In any literal sense from this example they never will be able to extort that the people in those dayes paid tithes to priests; but this only, that one priest once in his life, of spoiles only, and in requital partly of a liberal present, partly of a benediction, gave voluntary tithes, not to a greater priest then himself as far as Abram 5 could then understand, but rather to a priest and king joind in one person. They will reply, perhaps, that if one priest paid tithes to another, it must needs be understood that the people did no less to the priest. But I shall easily remove that necessitie by remembring them that in those dayes was no 10 priest, but the father, or the first born of each familie; and by consequence no people to pay him tithes, but his own children and servants, who had not wherewithall to pay him, but of his own. Yet grant that the people then paid tithes, there will not yet be the like reason to enjoin us: they being 15 then under ceremonies, a meer laitie, we now under Christ, a royal priesthood, 1 Pet. 2. 9, as we are coheirs, kings and priests with him, a priest for ever after the order or manner of Melchisedec. As therefor Abram paid tithes to Melchisedec because Levi was in him, so we ought to pay none be- 20 cause the true Melchisedec is in us, and we in him who can pay to none greater, and hath freed us by our union with himself, from all compulsive tributes and taxes in his church. Neither doth the collateral place, Heb. 7, make other use of this story, then to prove Christ, personated by Melchisedec, 25 a greater priest then Aaron: Vers. 4. Now consider how great this man was, &c. and proves not in the least manner that tithes be of any right to ministers, but the contrary: first the Levites had a commandment to take tithes of the people ac*cording to the law, that is of thir brethren, though they com out of the loines of Abraham, Vers. 5.* The commandment then was, it seems, to take tithes of the Jewes only, and according to the law. That law changing of necessity with the 5 priesthood, no other sort of ministers, as they must needs be another sort, under another priesthood, can receive that tribute of tithes which fell with that law, unless renu'd by another express command and according to another law: no such law is extant. Next, Melchisedec not as a minister, but 10 as Christ himself in person blessd Abraham, who had the promises, Vers. 6; and in him blessd all both ministers and people, both of the law and gospel: that blessing declar'd him greater and better then whom he blessd, Vers. 7; receiving tithes from them all not as a maintenance, which Melchisedec 15 needed not, but as a signe of homage and subjection to thir king and priest: wheras ministers bear not the person of Christ in his priesthood or kingship, bless not as he blesses, are not by their blessing greater then Abraham, and all the faithful with themselves included in him, cannot both give 20 and take tithes in Abram, cannot claim to themselves that signe of our allegiance due only to our eternal king and priest, cannot therefor derive tithes from Melchisedec. Lastly, the eighth verse hath thus: Here men that die receive tithes:

There he received them, of whom it is witnessd that he liveth.
 25 Which words intimate that as he offerd himself once for us, so he received once of us in Abraham, and in that place the typical acknowledgment of our redemption: which had it bin a perpetual annuitie to Christ, by him claimd as his due,

Levi must have paid it yearly, as well as then, Vers. 9. and our ministers ought still to som Melchisedec or other, as well now as they did in Abraham. But that Christ never claimd any such tenth as his annual due, much less resign'd it to the 5 ministers, his so officious receivers without express commission or assignement, will be yet cleerer as we proceed. Thus much may at length assure us, that this example of Abram & Melchisedec, though I see of late they build most upon it, can so little be the ground of any law to us, that it will not so 10 much avail them as to the autoritie of an example. Of like impertinence is that example of Jacob, Gen. 28. 22, who of his free choise, not enjoind by any law, vowd the tenth of all that God should give him: which, for aught appeers to the contrarie, he vowd as a thing no less indifferent before his 15 vow, then the foregoing part thereof; That the stone which he had set there for a pillar, should be God's house. And to whom vowd he this tenth, but to God; not to any priest; for we read of none to him greater then himself? and to God, no doubt, but he paid what he vowd; both in the building of 20 that Bethel with other altars els where, and the expence of his continual sacrifices, which none but he had right to offer. However therefor he paid his tenth, it could in no likelihood, unless by such an occasion as befell his grandfather, be to any priest. But, say they, All the tiithe of the land, whether 25 of the seed of the land, or of the fruit of the tree, is the Lords, holy unto the Lord, Levit. 27. 30. And this before it was given to the Levites; therefor since they ceasd. No question; For the whole earth is the Lords, and the fulnes therof, Psal.

24. 1; and the light of nature shews us no less: but that the tenth is his more then the rest, how know I, but as he so declares it? He declares it so here of the land of Canaan only, as by all circumstance appeers; and passes by deed of gift this 5 tenth to the Levite; yet so as offerd to him first a heave-offring, and consecrated on his altar, Numb. 18. all which I had as little known, but by that evidence. The Levites are ceas'd, the gift returns to the giver. How then can we know that he hath given it to any other, or how can these men presume to 10 take it unofferd first to God, unconsecrated, without an other cleer and express donation, wherof they shew no evidence or writing? Besides, he hath now alienated that holy land: who can warrantably affirme, that he hath since hallowd the tenth of this land; which none but God hath power to do or can 15 warrant? Thir last prooff they cite out of the gospel, which makes as little for them; Matth. 23. 23; where our Saviour denouncing woe to the Scribes and Pharises, who paid tithe so exactly, and omitted waigtier matters, tels them, that these they ought to have don, that is, to have paid tithes. For 20 our Saviour spake then to those who observd the law of Moses, which was yet not fully abrogated, till the destruction of the temple. And by the way here we may observe out of thir own prooff, that the Scribes and Pharises, though then chief teachers of the people, such at least as were not Levites, 25 did not take tithes, but paid them: So much less covetous were the Scribes and Pharises in those worst times then ours at this day. This is so apparent to the reformed divines of other countreys, that when any one of ours hath attempted in Latine to maintain this argument of tithes, though a man would think they might suffer him without opposition in a point equally tending to the advantage of all ministers, yet they forbear not to oppose him, as in a doctrin not fit to pass 5 unoppos'd under the gospel. Which shews the modestie, the contentednes of those forein pastors with the maintenance given them, thir sinceritie also in the truth, though less gainful, and the avarice of ours: who through the love of their old Papistical tithes, consider not the weak arguments, or 10 rather conjectures and surmises which they bring to defend them. On the other side, although it be sufficient to have prov'd in general the abolishing of tithes, as part of the Judaical or ceremonial law, which is abolishd all, as well that before as that after Moses, yet I shall further prove them ab-15 rogated by an express ordinance of the gospel, founded not on any type, or that municipal law of Moses, but on moral, and general equitie, given us instead: 1 Cor. 9. 13, 14. Know ye not, that they who minister about holy things, live of the things of the temple; and they which wait at the altar, are 20 partakers with the altar? so also the Lord hath ordaind, that they who preach the gospel, should live of the gospel. He saith not, Should live on things which were of the temple or of the altar, of which were tithes, for that had given them a cleer title: but abrogating that former law of Moses, which 25 determind what and how much, by a later ordinance of Christ, which leaves the what and how much indefinit and free, so it be sufficient to live on, he saith, The Lord hath so ordaind, that they who preach the gospel, should live of the gospel; which hath neither temple, altar nor sacrifice: Heb. 7. 13. For he of whom these things are spoken, pertaineth to another tribe, of which no man gave attendance at the altar: his ministers therefor cannot thence have tithes. And where 5 the Lord hath so ordaind, we may finde easily in more then one evangelist: Luke 10. 7, 8. In the same house remaine, eating and drinking such things as they give: For the laborer is worthy of his hire, &c. And into whatsoever citie you enter, and they receive you, eat such things as are set before 10 you. To which ordinance of Christ it may seem likeliest, that the apostle referrs us both here and 1 Tim. 5. 18, where he cites this as the saying of our Saviour, That the laborer is worthy of his hire: and both by this place of Luke, and that of Matth. 10. 9, 10, 11, it evidently appeers that our Saviour 15 ordaind no certain maintenance for his apostles or ministers publickly or privatly in house or citie receivd, but that, what ever it were, which might suffice to live on: and this not commanded or proportiond by Abram or by Moses, whom he might easily have here cited, as his manner was, but declar'd 20 only by a rule of common equitie which proportions the hire as well to the abilitie of him who gives as to the labor of him who receives, and recommends him only as worthy, not invests him with a legal right. And mark wheron he grounds this his ordinance; not on a perpetual right of tithes from 25 Melchisedec, as hirelings pretend, which he never claimd either for himself, or for his ministers, but on the plane and common equitie of rewarding the laborer; worthy sometimes of single, sometimes of double honor, not proportionable by tithes. And the apostle in this forecited chapter to the Corinthians, Vers. 11, affirms it to be no great recompence, if carnal things be reaped for spiritual sown; but to mention tithes, neglects here the fittest occasion that could be offerd 5 him, and leaves the rest free and undetermind. Certainly if Christ or his apostles had approv'd of tithes, they would have either by writing or tradition recommended them to the church: and that soone would have appeard in the practise of those primitive and the next ages. But for the first three 10 hundred years and more, in all the ecclesiastical storie, I finde no such doctrin or example: though error by that time had brought back again priests, altars and oblations; and in many other points of religion had miserably Judaiz'd the church. So that the defenders of tithes, after a long pomp and tedious 15 preparation out of Heathen authors, telling us that tithes were paid to Hercules and Apollo, which perhaps was imitated from the Jewes, and as it were bespeaking our expectation, that they will abound much more with authorities out of Christian storie, have nothing of general approbation to be-20 ginn with from the first three or four ages, but that which abundantly serves to the confutation of thir tithes; while they confess that churchmen in those ages livd meerly upon free-will offerings. Neither can they say, that tithes were not then paid for want of a civil magistrate to ordain them, for Chris-25 tians had then also lands, and might give out of them what they pleasd; and yet of tithes then given we finde no mention. And the first Christian emperors, who did all things as bish-ops advis'd them, suppli'd what was wanting to the clergy

not out of tithes, which were never motiond, but out of thir own imperial revenues; as is manifest in Eusebius, Theodorit and Sozomen, from Constantine to Arcadius. Hence those ancientest reformed churches of the Waldenses, if they rather 5 continu'd not pure since the apostles, deni'd that tithes were to be given, or that they were ever given in the primitive church; as appeers by an ancient tractate inserted in the Bohemian historie. Thus far hath the church bin alwaies, whether in her prime, or in her ancientest reformation, from 10 the approving of tithes: nor without reason; for they might easily perceive that tithes were fitted to the Jewes only, a national church of many incomplete synagogues, uniting the accomplishment of divine worship in one temple; and the Levites there had thir tithes paid where they did thir 15 bodilie work; to which a particular tribe was set apart by divine appointment, not by the peoples election: but the Christian church is universal; not ti'd to nation, dioces or parish, but consisting of many particular churches complete in themselves; gatherd, not by compulsion or the accident of 20 dwelling nigh together, but by free consent chusing both thir particular church and thir church-officers. Whereas if tithes be set up, all these Christian privileges will be disturbd and soone lost, and with them Christian libertie. The first autoritie which our adversaries bring, after those fabulous apos-25 tolic canons, which they dare not insist upon, is a provincial council held at Cullen, where they voted tithes to be Gods rent, in the year three hundred fifty six; at the same time perhaps when the three kings reignd there, and of like autoritie.

For to what purpose do they bring these trivial testimonies, by which they might as well prove altars, candles at noone, and the greatest part of those superstitions, fetchd from Paganism or Judaism, which the Papist, inveigl'd by this fond 5 argument of antiquitie, retains to this day? to what purpose those decrees of I know not what bishops, to a Parlament and people who have thrown out both bishops and altars, and promis'd all reformation by the word of God? And that altars brought tithes hither, as one corruption begott another, is 10 evident by one of those questions which the monk Austin propounded to the Pope, Concerning those things, which by offerings of the faithful came to the altar; as Beda writes, l. I. c. 27. If then by these testimonies we must have tithes continu'd, we must again have altars. Of fathers, by custom so 15 call'd, they quote Ambrose, Augustin, and som other ceremonial doctors of the same leaven: whose assertion without pertinent scripture, no reformed church can admitt; and what they vouch, is founded on the law of Moses, with which, every where pitifully mistaken, they again incorporate the 20 gospel; as did the rest also of those titular fathers, perhaps an age or two before them, by many rights and ceremonies, both Jewish and Heathenish introduc'd; whereby thinking to gain all, they lost all: and instead of winning Jewes and Pagans to be Christians, by too much condescending they turn'd Chris-25 tians into Jewes and Pagans. To heap such unconvincing citations as these in religion, wherof the scripture only is our rule, argues not much learning nor judgment, but the lost labor of much unprofitable reading. And yet a late hot Quærist for tithes, whom ye may know by his wits lying ever beside him in the margent, to be ever beside his wits in the text, a fierce reformer once, now ranckl'd with a contrary heat, would send us back, very reformedly indeed, to learn reformation 5 from Tyndarus and Rebuffus, two canonical Promooters. They produce next the ancient constitutions of this land, Saxon laws, edicts of kings, and thir counsels, from Athelstan, in the year nine hundred twenty eight, that tithes by statute were paid: and might produce from Ina, above two 10 hundred years before, that Romescot, or Peters penny, was by as good statute law paid to the Pope, from seven hundred twenty five, and almost as long continu'd. And who knows not that this law of tithes was enacted by those kings and barons upon the opinion they had of thir divine right, as the 15 very words import of Edward the Confessor, in the close of that law: For so blessed Austin preachd and taught; meaning the monk, who first brought the Romish religion into England from Gregory the Pope. And by the way I add, that by these laws, imitating the law of Moses, the third part of 20 tithes only was the priests due; the other two were appointed for the poor, and to adorne or repare churches; as the canons of Ecbert and Elfric witnes: Concil. Brit. If then these laws were founded upon the opinion of divine autoritie, and that autoritie be found mistaken and erroneous, as hath bin fully 25 manifested, it follows, that these laws fall of themselves with thir fals foundation. But with what face or conscience can they alleage Moses, or these laws for tithes, as they now enjoy or exact them; wherof Moses ordains the owner, as we heard before, the stranger, the fatherles and the widdow partakers with the Levite; and these fathers which they cite, and these though Romish rather than English laws, allotted both to priest and bishop the third part only. But these our Protestant, these our new reformed English presbyterian divines, against thir own cited authors, and to the shame of thir pretended reformation, would engross to themselves all tithes by statute; and supported more by thir wilful obstinacie and desire of filthie lucre then by these both insufficient and im-5 pertinent authorities, would perswade a Christian magistracie and parlament, whom we trust God hath restor'd for a happier reformation, to impose upon us a Judaical ceremonial law, and yet from that law to be more irregular and unwarrantable, more complying with a covetous clergie, then any 10 of those Popish kings and parlaments alleagd. Another shift they have to plead, that tithes may be moral as well as the sabbath, a tenth of fruits as well as a seaventh of dayes. I answer, that the prelates who urge this argument, have least reason to use it; denying morality in the sabbath, and therin 20 better agreeing with reformed churches abroad then the rest of our divines: As therefor the seaventh day is not moral, but a convenient recourse of worship in fit season, whether seaventh or other number, so neither is the tenth of our goods, but only a convenient subsistence morally due to ministers. The 25 last and lowest sort of thir arguments, that men purchas'd not thir tithe with thir land and such like pettifoggerie, I omitt; as refuted sufficiently by others: I omitt also thir violent and irreligious exactions, related no less credibly: thir

seising of pots and pans from the poor, who have as good right to tithes as they; from som, the very beds; thir sueing and imprisoning; worse then when the canon law was in force; worse then when those wicked sons of Eli were priests, 5 whose manner was thus to seise thir pretended priestly due by force, 1 Sam. 2. 12, &c. Whereby men abhorrd the offering of the Lord; and it may be feard that many will as much abhorre the gospel, if such violence as this be sufferd in her ministers, and in that which they also pretend to be the offering of the Lord. For those sons of belial within som limits 10 made seisure of what they knew was thir own by an undoubted law; but these, from whom there is no sanctuarie, seise out of mens grounds, out of mens houses thir other goods of double, sometimes of treble value, for that, which 15 did not covetousnes and rapine blinde them, they know to be not thir own by the gospel which they preach. Of som more tolerable then these, thus severely God hath spoken: Esa. 46. 10, &c. They are greedy dogs; they all look to thir own way, every one for his gain, from his quarter. With what anger 20 then will he judge them who stand not looking, but under colour of a divine right, fetch by force that which is not thir own, taking his name not in vain, but in violence? Nor content as Gehazi was to make a cunning, but a constrained advantage of what thir master bids them give freely, how can 25 they but retorne smitten, worse then that sharking minister, with a spiritual leprosie? And yet they cry out sacrilege, that men will not be gulld and baffl'd the tenth of thir estates by giving credit to frivolous pretences of divine right. Where did God ever cleerly declare to all nations, or in all lands (and none but fooles part with thir estates, without cleerest evidence, on bare supposals and presumptions of them who are the gainers thereby) that he requir'd the tenth as due to him 5 or his son perpetually and in all places? Where did he demand it, that we might certainly know, as in all claimes of temporal right is just and reasonable? or if demanded, where did he assigne it, or by what evident conveyance to ministers? unless they can demonstrate this by more then conjectures, 10 thir title can be no better to tithes then the title of Gehazi was to those things which by abusing his masters name he rookd from Naaman. Much less where did he command that tithes should be fetchd by force, where left not under the gospel whatever his right was, to the freewill-offrings of men?

 15 Which is the greater sacrilege, to bely divine autoritie, to make the name of Christ accessory to violence, and, robbing him of the very honor which he aimd at in bestowing freely the gospel, to committ Simonie and rapin, both secular and ecclesiastical, or on the other side, not to give up the tenth of 20 civil right and proprietie to the tricks and impostures of clergie men, contriv'd with all the art and argument that thir bellies can invent or suggest; yet so ridiculous and presuming on the peoples dulnes or superstition, as to think they prove the divine right of thir maintenance by Abram paying 25 tithes to Melchisedec, when as Milchisedec in that passage rather gave maintenance to Abram; in whom all both priests and ministers, as well as lay-men paid tithes, not receivd them. And because I affirmd above, beginning this first part of my discourse, that God hath given to ministers of the gospel that maintenance only which is justly given them, let us see a little what hath bin thought of that other maintenance besides tithes, which of all Protestants, our English divines 5 either only or most apparently both require and take. Those are, fees for christnings, marriages, and burials: which, though whoso will may give freely, yet being not of right, but of free gift, if they be exacted or establisht, they become unjust to them who are otherwise maintaind; and of such 10 evil note, that even the council of Trent, l. 2. p. 240, makes them lyable to the laws against Simonie, who take or demand fees for the administring of any sacrament: Che la sinodo volendo levare gli abusi introdotti, &c. And in the next page, with like severity condemns the giving or taking 15 for a benefice, and the celebrating of marriages, christnings, and burials, for fees exacted or demanded: nor counts it less Simonie to sell the ground or place of burial. And in a state assembly at Orleans, 1561, it was decreed, Che non si potesse essiger cosa alcuna, &c. p. 429. That nothing should be ex-

 20 acted for the administring of sacraments, burials, or any other spiritual function. Thus much that council, of all others the most Popish, and this assembly of Papists, though, by thir own principles, in bondage to the clergie, were induc'd, either by thir own reason and shame, or by the light of reformation 25 then shining in upon them, or rather by the known canons of many councils and synods long before, to condemne of Simonie spiritual fees demanded. For if the minister be maintaind for his whole ministry, why should he be twice paid for any part therof? why should he, like a servant, seek vailes over and above his wages? As for christnings, either they themselves call men to baptism, or men of themselves com: if ministers invite, how ill had it becomd John the Bap-5 tist to demand fees for his baptising, or Christ for his christnings? Far less becoms it these now, with a greediness lower then that of tradesmen calling passengers to thir shop, and yet paid beforehand, to ask again, for doing that which those thir founders did freely. If men of themselves com to be bap-10 tiz'd, they are either brought by such as already pay the minister, or com to be one of his disciples and maintainers: of whom to ask a fee as it were for entrance, is a piece of paultry craft or caution, befitting none but beggarly artists. Burials and marriages are so little to be any part of thir gain, that 15 they who consider well, may finde them to be no part of thir function. At burials thir attendance they alleage on the corps; all the guests do as much unhir'd: But thir praiers at the grave; superstitiously requir'd: yet if requir'd, thir last performance to the decesd of thir own flock. But the funeral 20 sermon: at thir choise: or if not, an occasion offerd them to preach out of season, which is one part of thir office. But something must be spoken in praise: if due, thir duty; if undue, thir corruption: a peculiar Simonie of our divines in England only. But the ground is broken, and especially thir 25 unrighteous possession, the chancel. To sell that will not only raise up in judgment the Council of Trent against them, but will lose them the best champion of tithes, thir zealous antiquary, Sir Hen: Spelman; who in a book written to that

purpose, by many cited canons, and som even of times corruptest in the church, proves that fees exacted or demanded for sacraments, marriages, burials, and especially for interring, are wicked, accursed, Simoniacal and abominable. Yet 5 thus is the church, for all this noise of reformation, left still unreformd, by the censure of thir own synods, thir own favorers, a den of theeves and robbers. As for marriages that ministers should meddle with them, as not sanctifi'd or legitimat without their celebration, I finde no ground in scripture 10 either of precept or example. Likeliest it is (which our Selden hath well observd, l. 2, c. 28, ux. Eb.) that in imitation of heathen priests who were wont at nuptials to use many rites and ceremonies, and especially, judging it would be profitable, and the increase of thir autoritie, not to be spectators 15 only in busines of such concernment to the life of man, they insinuated that marriage was not holy without their benediction, and for the better colour, made it a sacrament; being of it self a civil ordinance, a houshold contract, a thing indifferent and free to the whole race of mankinde, not as religious, but as men: best, indeed, undertaken to religious 20 ends, and, as the apostle saith, 1 Cor. 7, in the Lord. Yet not therefor invalid or unholy without a minister and his pretended necessary hallowing, more then any other act, enterprise or contract of civil life, which ought all to be don also 25 in the Lord and to his glorie. All which, no less then marriage, were by the cunning of priests heretofore, as material to thir profit, transacted at the altar. Our divines denie it to be a sacrament; yet retaind the celebration, till prudently a late parlament recoverd the civil liberty of marriage from thir incroachment; and transferrd the ratifying and registering therof from the canonical shop to the proper cognisance of civil magistrates. Seeing then, that God hath given to ministers under the gospel, that only which is justly given them, that is to say, a due and moderat livelihood, the hire of thir labor, and that the heave-offering of tithes is abolishd with the altar, yea though not abolishd, yet lawles, as they enjoy them, thir Melchisedecian right also trivial and groundles, and both tithes and fees, if exacted or establishd, unjust and scandalous, we may hope, with them remov'd, to remove hirelings in som good measure, whom these tempting baits, by law especially to be recoverd, allure into the church.

The next thing to be considerd in the maintenance of ministers, is by whom it should be given. Wherin though the light of reason might sufficiently informe us, it will be best to consult the scripture: Gal. 6. 6. let him that is taught in the word, communicate, to him that teacheth, in all good things: that is to say, in all manner of gratitude, to his abilitie. 1 Cor. 9. 11. if we have sown unto you spiritual things, is it a great matter if we reap your carnal things? to whom therefor hath not bin sown, from him wherefor should be reaped? 1 Tim. 5. 17. let the elders that rule well, be counted worthie of double honor; especially they who labor in the word and doctrin. By these places we see, that recompence was given either by every one in particular who had bin instructed, or by them all in common, brought into the church-treasurie, and distributed to the ministers according to thir several labors: and that was judgd either by som extraordinarie person, as Timothie, who by the apostle was then left evangelist at Ephesus, 2 Tim. 4. 5, or by som to whom the church deputed that care. This is so agreeable to reason and so cleer, that any 5 one may perceive what iniquitie and violence hath prevaild since in the church, whereby it hath bin so orderd, that they also shall be compelld to recompence the parochial minister, who neither chose him for thir teacher, nor have receivd instruction from him, as being either insufficient, or not resi-

 10 dent, or inferior to whom they follow; wherin to barr them thir choise, is to violate Christian liberty. Our law-books testifie, that before the councel of Lateran, in the year 1179, and the fifth of our Henry 2, or rather before a decretal epistle of Pope Innocent the third, about 1200, and the first of king 15 John, any man might have given his tithes to what spiritual person he would: and, as the L. Coke notes on that place, instit. part 2, that this decretal bound not the subjects of this realm; but, as it seemd just and reasonable. The Pope took his reason rightly from the above cited place, 1 Cor. 9. 11:
 20 but falsly suppos'd every one to be instructed by his parish-priest. Whether this were then first so decreed or rather long before, as may seem by the laws of Edgar and Canute, that tithes were to be paid, not to whom he would that paid them, but to the cathedral church or the parish-priest, it imports 25 not; since the reason which they themselves bring, built on fals supposition, becomes alike infirme and absurd, that he should reap from me, who sows not to me; bee the cause either his defect, or my free choise. But here it will be readily objected, What if they who are to be instructed be not able to maintain a minister, as in many villages? I answer, that the scripture shews in many places what ought to be don herin. First I offer it to the reason of any man, whether he think the 5 knowledge of Christian religion harder then any other art or science to attain. I suppose he will grant that it is far easier; both of it self, and in regard of Gods assisting spirit, not particularly promisd us to the attainment of any other knowledge, but of this only: since it was preachd as well to the 10 shepherds of Bethleem by angels, as to the eastern Wisemen by that starr: and our Saviour declares himself anointed to preach the gospel to the poore, Luke 4. 18. then surely to thir capacitie. They who after him first taught it, were otherwise unlearned men: they who before Hus and Luther first re-15 formd it, were for the meanenes of thir condition calld, the poore men of Lions: and in Flanders at this day, les gueus, which is to say, beggars. Therefor are the scriptures translated into every vulgar tongue, as being held in main matters of belief and salvation, plane and easie to the poorest: and 20 such no less then thir teachers have the spirit to guide them in all truth, Joh. 14. 26, & 16. 13. Hence we may conclude, if men be not all thir life time under a teacher to learn Logic, natural Philosophie, Ethics or Mathematics, which are more difficult, that certainly it is not necessarie to the attainment of 25 Christian knowledge that men should sit all thir life long at the feet of a pulpited divine; while he, a lollard indeed over his elbow-cushion, in almost the seaventh part of 40. or 50. years teaches them scarce half the principles of religion; and his sheep oft-times sit the while to as little purpose of benefiting as the sheep in thir pues at Smithfield; and for the most part by som Simonie or other, bought and sold like them: or, if this comparison be too low, like those woemen, 1 Tim.

- 5 3. 7. ever learning and never attaining; yet not so much through thir own fault, as through the unskilful and immethodical teaching of thir pastor, teaching here and there at random out of this or that text as his ease or fansie, and oft-times as his stealth guides him. Seeing then that Christian religion may be so easily attained, and by meanest capacities, it cannot be much difficult to finde waies, both how the poore, yea all men may be soone taught what is to be known of Christianitie, and they who teach them, recompenc'd. First, if ministers of thir own accord, who
- 15 pretend that they are calld and sent to preach the gospel, those especially who have no particular flock, would imitate our Saviour and his disciples who went preaching through the villages, not only through the cities, Matth. 9. 35, Mark 6. 6, Luke 13. 22, Acts 8. 25. and there preachd to the poore
- 20 as well as to the rich, looking for no recompence but in heaven: John 4. 35, 36. Looke on the fields; for they are white alreadie to harvest: and he that reapeth, receiveth wages, and gathereth fruit unto life eternal. This was their wages. But they will soone reply, we our selves have not
- 25 wherewithall; who shall bear the charges of our journey? To whom it may as soone be answerd, that in likelihood they are not poorer then they who did thus; and if they have not the same faith which those disciples had to trust in God and the promise of Christ for thir maintenance as they did, and yet intrude into the ministerie without any livelihood of thir own, they cast themselves into a miserable hazzard or temptation, and oft-times into a more miserable necessitie, either 5 to starve, or to please thir paymasters rather than God: and give men just cause to suspect, that they came neither call'd nor sent from above to preach the word, but from below, by the instinct of thir own hunger, to feed upon the church. Yet grant it needful to allow them both the charges of thir journey and the hire of thir labor, it will belong next to the charity of richer congregations, where most commonly they abound with teachers, to send som of thir number to the villages round, as the apostles from Jerusalem sent Peter and John to the citie and villages of Samaria, Acts 8, 14, 25; or 10 as the church at Jerusalem sent Barnabas to Antioch, chap. 11. 22; and other churches joining sent Luke to travail with Paul, 2 Cor. 8. 19: though whether they had thir charges born by the church or no, it be not recorded. If it be objected that this itinerarie preaching will not serve to plant the gospel in those places, unless they who are sent, abide there som 20 competent time, I answer, that if they stay there a year or two, which was the longest time usually staid by the apostles in one place, it may suffice to teach them, who will attend and learn, all the points of religion necessary to salvation; then sorting them into several congregations of a moderat 25 number, out of the ablest and zealouses among them to create elders, who, exercising and requiring from themselves what they have learnd (for no learning is retaind without constant exercise and methodical repetition) may teach and govern the rest: and so exhorted to continue faithful and stedfast, they may securely be committed to the providence of God and the guidance of his holy spirit, till God may offer 5 som opportunitie to visit them again and to confirme them: which when they have don, they have don as much as the apostles were wont to do in propagating the gospel, Acts 14. 23. And when they had ordaind them elders in every church, and had praied with fasting, they commended them to the 10 Lord, on whom they beleevd. And in the same chapter, Vers. 21, 22, When they had preachd the gospel to that citie, and had taught many, they returned again to Lystra and to Iconium and Antioch, confirming the soules of the disciples, and exhorting them to continue in the faith. And Chap. 15. 36.

 15 Let us go again and visit our brethren. And Vers. 41. He went thorow Syria and Cilicia, confirming the churches. To these I might add other helps, which we enjoy now, to make more easie the attainment of Christian religion by the meanest: the entire scripture translated into English with plenty of 20 notes; and som where or other, I trust, may be found som wholsom bodie of divinitie, as they call it, without schoole terms and metaphysical notions, which have obscur'd rather then explan'd our religion, and made it seem difficult without cause. Thus taught once for all, and thus now and then 25 visited and confirmd, in the most destitute and poorest places of the land, under the government of thir own elders performing all ministerial offices among them, they may be trusted to meet and edifie one another whether in church or chappel, or, to save them the trudging of many miles thether, neerer home, though in a house or barn. For notwithstanding the gaudy superstition of som devoted still ignorantly to temples, we may be well assur'd that he who disdaind not to 5 be laid in a manger, disdaind not to be preachd in a barn; and that by such meetings as these, being, indeed, most apostolical and primitive, they will in a short time advance more in Christian knowledge and reformation of life, then by the many years preaching of such an incumbent, I may say, such 10 an incubus oft times, as will be meanly hir'd to abide long in those places. They have this left perhaps to object further, that to send thus and to maintaine, though but for a year or two, ministers and teachers in several places, would prove chargeable to the churches, though in towns and cities round 15 about. To whom again I answer, that it was not thought so by them who first thus propagated the gospel, though but few in number to us, and much less able to sustain the expence. Yet this expence would be much less, then to hire incumbents or rather incumbrances, for life-time; and a great 20 means (which is the subject of this discourse) to diminish hirelings. But be the expence less or more, if it be found burdensom to the churches, they have in this land an easie remedie in thir recourse to the civil magistrate; who hath in his hands the disposal of no small revenues; left, perhaps, an-25 ciently to superstitious, but meant undoubtedly to good and best uses; and therefor, once made publick, appliable by the present magistrate to such uses as the church or solid reason from whomsoever shall convince him to think best. And those uses may be, no doubt, much rather then as glebes and augmentations are now bestowd, to grant such requests as these of the churches; or to erect in greater number all over the land schooles and competent libraries to those schooles, 5 where languages and arts may be taught free together, without the needles, unprofitable and inconvenient removing to another place. So all the land would be soone better civiliz'd, and they who are taught freely at the publick cost, might have thir education given them on this condition, that there 10 with content, they should not gadd for preferment out of thir own countrey, but continue there thankful for what they receivd freely, bestowing it as freely on thir countrey, without soaring above the meannes wherin they were born. But how they shall live when they are thus bred and dismisd, will be 15 still the sluggish objection. To which is answerd, that those publick foundations may be so instituted, as the youth therin may be at once brought up to a competence of learning and to an honest trade; and the hours of teaching so orderd, as thir studie may be no hindrance to thir labor or other calling. 20 This was the breeding of S. Paul, though born of no mean parents, a free citizen of the Roman empire: so little did his trade debase him, that it rather enabl'd him to use that magnanimitie of preaching the gospel through Asia and Europe at his own charges: thus those preachers among the poor 25 Waldenses, the ancient stock of our reformation, without these helps which I speak of, bred up themselves in trades, and especially in physic and surgery as well as in the studie of scripture (which is the only true theologie) that they might be no burden to the church; and by the example of Christ, might cure both soul and bodie; through industry joining that to their ministerie, which he joind to his by gift of the spirit. Thus relates Peter Gilles in his historie of the Wal- 5 denses in Piemont. But our ministers think scorn to use a trade, and count it the reproach of this age, that tradesmen preach the gospel. It were to be wishd they were all tradesmen; they would not then so many of them, for want of another trade, make a trade of thir preaching: and yet they 10 clamor that tradesmen preach; and yet they preach, while they themselves are the worst tradesmen of all. As for church-endowments and possessions, I meet with none considerable before Constantine, but the houses and gardens where they met, and thir places of burial: and I perswade me, that from 15 them the ancient Waldenses, whom deservedly I cite so often, held, that to endow churches is an evil thing; and, that the church then fell off and turnd whore sitting on that beast in the Revelation, when under Pope Sylvester she receivd those temporal donations. So the forecited tractate of thir doctrin 20 testifies. This also thir own traditions of that heavenly voice witnesd, and som of the ancient fathers then living, foresaw and deplor'd. And indeed, how could these endowments thrive better with the church, being unjustly taken by those emperors, without suffrage of the people, out of the tributes 25 and publick lands of each citie, whereby the people became liable to be oppressd with other taxes. Being therefor given for the most part by kings and other publick persons, and so likeliest out of the publick, and if without the peoples consent, unjustly, however to publick ends of much concernment to the good or evil of a commonwealth, and in that regard made publick though given by privat persons, or which is worse, given, as the clergie then perswaded men, for thir 5 soul's health, a pious gift, but as the truth was, oft-times a bribe to God or to Christ for absolution, as they were then taught, from murders, adulteries, and other hainous crimes, what shall be found heretofore given by kings or princes out of the publick, may justly by the magistrate be recalld and 10 reappropriated to the civil revenue: what by privat or publick persons out of thir own, the price of blood or lust, or to som such purgatorious and superstitious uses, not only may but ought to be taken off from Christ, as a foul dishonor laid upon him, or not impiously given, nor in particular to any 15 one, but in general to the churches good, may be converted to that use, which shall be judgd tending more directly to that general end. Thus did the princes and cities of Germany in the first reformation; and defended thir so doing by many reasons, which are set down at large in Sleidan, l. 6, an. 1526, 20 and l. 11, an. 1537, and l. 13, an. 1540. But that the magistrate either out of that church revenue which remanes yet in his hand, or establishing any other maintenance instead of tithe, should take into his own power the stipendiarie maintenance of church-ministers, or compell it by law, can stand 25 neither with the peoples right nor with Christian liberty, but would suspend the church wholly upon the state, and turn her ministers into state-pensioners. And for the magistrate in person of a nursing father to make the church his meer ward, as alwaies in minoritie, the church, to whom he ought as a magistrate, Esa. 49, 23, To bow down with his face toward the earth, and lick up the dust of her feet, her to subject to his political drifts or conceivd opinions by mastring 5 her revenue, and so by his examinant committies to circumscribe her free election of ministers, is neither just nor pious; no honor don to the church, but a plane dishonor: and upon her, whose only head is in heaven, yea upon him, who is her only head, sets another in effect, and, which is most monstrous, a human on a heavenly, a carnal on a spiritual, a political head on an ecclesiastical bodie; which at length by 10 such heterogeneal, such incestuous conjunction, transformes her oft-times into a beast of many heads and many horns. For if the church be of all societies the holiest on earth, and 15 so to be reverenc'd by the magistrate, not to trust her with her own belief and integritie, and therefor not with the keeping, at least with the disposing of what revenue shall be found justly and lawfully her own, is to count the church not a holy congregation, but a pack of giddy or dishonest persons, 20 to be rul'd by civil power in sacred affairs. But to proceed further in the truth yet more freely, seeing the Christian church is not national, but consisting of many particular congregations, subject to many changes, as well through civil accidents as through schism and various opinions, not to be 25 decided by any outward judge, being matters of conscience, whereby these pretended church-revenues, as they have bin ever, so are like to continue endles matter of dissention both between the church and magistrate, and the churches among themselves, there will be found no better remedie to these evils, otherwise incurable, then by the incorruptest council of those Waldenses, our first reformers, to remove them as a pest, an apple of discord in the church, (for what els can be 5 the effect of riches and the snare of monie in religion?) and to convert them to those more profitable uses above expressd or other such as shall be judgd most necessarie; considering that the church of Christ was founded in poverty rather than in revenues, stood purest and prosperd best without them, 10 receivd them unlawfully from them who both erroneously and unjustly, sometimes impiously, gave them, and so justly was ensnar'd and corrupted by them. And least it be thought that these revenues withdrawne and better imploid, the magistrate ought in stead to settle by statute som maintenance of 15 ministers, let this be considerd first, that it concerns every mans conscience to what religion he contributes; and that the civil magistrate is intrusted with civil rights only, not with conscience, which can have no deputy or representer of it self, but one of the same minde: next, that what each man 20 gives to the minister, he gives either as to God, or as to his teacher; if as to God, no civil power can justly consecrate to religious uses any part either of civil revenue, which is the peoples, and must save them from other taxes, or of any mans proprietie, but God by special command, as he did by 25 Moses, or the owner himself by voluntarie intention and the perswasion of his giving it to God; forc'd consecrations out of another mans estate are no better then forc'd vows; hateful to God, who loves a chearful giver; but much more hateful, wrung out of mens purses to maintaine a disapprov'd ministerie against thir conscience; however, unholy, infamous and dishonorable to his ministers and the free gospel, maintaind in such unworthy manner as by violence and extortion: If he give it as to his teacher, what justice or equitie 5 compells him to pay for learning that religion which leaves freely to his choise whether he will learn it or no, whether of this teacher or another, and especially to pay for what he never learnd, or approves not; whereby, besides the wound of 10 his conscience, he becoms the less able to recompence his true teacher? Thus far hath bin enquir'd by whom church-ministers ought to be maintaind; and hath bin prov'd most natural, most equal and agreeable with scripture, to be by them who receive thir teaching; and by whom, if they be 15 unable. Which waies well observd, can discourage none but hirelings, and will much lessen thir number in the church.

It remanes lastly to consider in what manner God hath ordaind that recompence be given to ministers of the gospel: and by all scripture it will appeer that he hath given it them 20 not by civil law and freehold, as they claim, but by the benevolence and free gratitude of such as receive them: Luke 10. 7, 8. Eating and drinking such things as they give you. If they receive you, eat such things as are set before you. Matth. 10. 7, 8. As ye go, preach, saying, The kingdom of 25 God is at hand, &c. Freely ye have receivd, freely give. If God have ordaind ministers to preach freely, whether they receive recompence or not, then certainly he hath forbidd both them to compell it, and others to compell it for them.

But freely given, he accounts it as given to himself: Phillip.
 4. 16, 17, 18. Ye sent once and again to my necessitie. Not because I desire a gift; but I desire fruit that may abound to your account. Having receivd of Epaphroditus the things 5 which were sent from you, an odour of sweet smell, a sacrifice acceptable, well pleasing to God. Which cannot be from force or unwillingnes. The same is said of almes, Heb. 13. 16. To do good and to communicate, forgett not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleasd. Whence the primitive church 10 thought it no shame to receive all thir maintenance as the almes of thir auditors. Which they who defend tithes, as if it made for thir cause, when as it utterly confutes them, omitt not to set down at large; proving to our hands out of Origen, Tertullian, Cyprian, and others, that the clergie livd at first 15 upon the meer benevolence of thir hearers: who gave what they gave, not to the clergie, but to the church; out of which the clergie had thir portions given them in baskets; and were thence calld sportularii, basket-clerks: that thir portion was a very mean allowance, only for a bare livelihood; according 20 to those precepts of our Saviour, Matth. 10, 7, &c; the rest was distributed to the poore. They cite also out of Prosper, the disciple of St. Austin, that such of the clergie as had means of thir own, might not without sin partake of church-maintenance; not receiving thereby food which they abound 25 with, but feeding on the sins of other men: that the holy ghost saith of such clergie men, they eat the sins of my people: and that a council at Antioch, in the year 340, sufferd not either priest or bishop to live on church-maintenance without ne-cessitie. Thus far tithers themselves have contributed to thir own confutation, by confessing that the church livd primitively on almes. And I add, that about the year 359, Constantius the emperor having summond a general council of 5 bishops to Ariminum in Italie, and provided for thir subsistence there, the British and French bishops judging it not decent to live on the publick, chose rather to be at thir own charges. Three only out of Britain constraind through want, yet refusing offerd assistance from the rest, accepted the em-10 peror's provision; judging it more convenient to subsist by publick then by privat sustenance. Whence we may conclude, that bishops then in this Iland had thir livelihood only from benevolence: in which regard this relater Sulpitius Severus, a good author of the same time, highly praises them. And 15 the Waldenses, our first reformers, both from the scripture and these primitive examples, maintaind those among them who bore the office of ministers, by almes only. Take thir very words from the historie written of them in French, Part. 3. l. 2. c. 2. La nourriture & ce de quoy nous sommes 20 couverts &c. Our food & cloathing is sufficiently administerd & given to us by way of gratuitie and almes, by the good people whom we teach. If then by almes and benevolence, not by legal force, not by tenure of freehold or copyhold: for almes, though just, cannot be compell'd; and 25 benevolence forc'd, is malevolence rather, violent and inconsistent with the gospel; and declares him no true minister therof, but a rapacious hireling rather, who by force receiving it, eats the bread of violence and exaction, no holy or just

livelihood, no not civilly counted honest; much less beseeeming such a spiritual ministry. But, say they, our maintenance is our due, tithes the right of Christ, unseparable from the priest, no where repeald; if then, not otherwise to be had, by 5 law to be recoverd: for though Paul were pleasd to forgoe his due, and not to use his power, 1 Cor. 9. 12, yet he had a power, v. 4, and bound not others. I answer first, because I see them still so loath to unlearn thir decimal arithmetic, and still grasp thir tithes as inseparable from a priest, that minis-10 ters of the gospel are not priests; and therefor separated from tithes by thir own exclusion; being neither calld priests in the new testament, nor of any order known in scripture: not of Melchisedec, proper to Christ only; not of Aaron, as they themselves will confess; and the third priesthood, only re-15 maining, is common to all the faithful. But they are ministers of our high priest. True; but not of his priesthood, as the Levites were to Aaron: for he performs that whole office himself incommunicably. Yet tithes remane, say they, still unreleasd, the due of Christ; and to whom payable, but to his 20 ministers? I say again, that no man can so understand them, unless Christ in som place or other so claim them. That example of Abram argues nothing but his voluntarie act; honor once only don, but on what consideration, whether to a priest or to a king, whether due the honor, arbitrarie that kinde of 25 honor or not, will after all contending be left still in meer conjecture: which must not be permitted in the claim of such a needy and suttile spiritual corporation pretending by divine right to the tenth of all other mens estates; nor can it be allowd by wise men or the verdict of common law. And the tenth part, though once declar'd holy, is declar'd now to be no holier then the other nine, by that command to Peter Act. 10. 15. 28: whereby all distinction of holy and unholy 5 is remov'd from all things. Tithes therefor though claimd, and holy under the law, yet are now releasd and quitted both by that command to Peter, and by this to all ministers, above-cited Luke 10; eating and drinking such things as they give you: made holy now by thir free gift only. And therefor S.

 10 Paul, 1 Cor. 9. 4, asserts his power, indeed; but of what? not of tithes, but, to eat and drink such things as are given in reference to this command: which he calls not holy things or things of the gospel, as if the gospel had any consecrated things in answer to things of the temple, v. 13, but he calls 15 them your carnal things, v. 11. without changing thir property. And what power had he? not the power of force but of conscience only, whereby he might lawfully and without scruple live on the gospel; receiving what was given him, as the recompence of his labor. For if Christ the master hath 20 professd his kingdom to be not of this world, it suits not with that profession either in him or his ministers to claim temporal right from spiritual respects. He who refus'd to be the divider of an inheritance between two brethren, cannot approve his ministers by pretended right from him to be di-25 viders of tenths and freeholds out of other mens possessions, making thereby the gospel but a cloak of carnal interest, and, to the contradiction of thir master, turning his heavenly kingdom into a kingdom of this world, a kingdom of force and rapin. To whom it will be one day thunderd more terribly then to Gehazi, for thus dishonoring a far greater master and his gospel, is this a time to receive monie and to receive garments and olive-yards and vinyards and sheep and oxen?

- 5 The leprosie of Naaman linkd with that apostolic curse of perishing imprecated on Simon Magus, may be feard will cleave to such and to thir seed for ever. So that when all is don, and bellie hath us'd in vain all her cunning shifts, I doubt not but all true ministers, considering the demonstra-
- 10 tion of what hath bin here prov'd, will be wise, and think it much more tolerable to hear, that no maintenance of ministers, whether tithes or any other, can be settl'd by statute; but must be given by them who receive instruction; and freely given, as God hath ordaind. And indeed what can be a more
- 15 honorable maintenance to them, then such whether almes or willing oblations as these, which being accounted both alike as given to God, the only acceptable sacrifices now remaining, must needs represent him who receives them much in the care of God and neerly related to him, when not by
- 20 worldly force and constraint, but with religious awe and reverence, what is given to God, is given to him, and what to him, accounted as given to God. This would be well enough, say they; but how many will so give? I answer, as many, doubtles, as shall be well taught; as many as God shall so
- 25 move. Why are ye so distrustful both of your own doctrin and of Gods promises, fulfilld in the experience of those disciples first sent: Luke 22. 35. When I sent you without purse and scrip and shooes, lackd ye anything? And they said, Noth- ing. How then came ours, or who sent them thus destitute, thus poor and empty both of purse and faith? Who stile themselves ambassadors of Jesus Christ, and seem to be his tithe-gatherers, though an office of thir own setting up to his dishonor, his exacters, his publicans rather, not trusting that 5 he will maintain them in thir embassy, unless they binde him to his promise by a statute law that we shall maintain them. Lay down for shame that magnific title, while ye seek maintenance from the people: it is not the manner of embassa-10 dors to ask maintenance of them to whom they are sent. But he who is Lord of all things, hath so ordaind: trust him then; he doubtless will command the people to make good his promises of maintenance more honorably unaskd, unrak'd for. This they know, this they preach, yet beleieve not: but 15 think it as impossible without a statute law to live of the gospel, as if by those words they were bid go eat thir bibles, as Ezechiel and John did thir books; and such doctrins as these are as bitter to thir bellies: but will serve so much the better to discover hirelings, who can have nothing, though but in 20 appearance, just and solid to answer for themselves against what hath bin here spoken, unless perhaps this one remaining pretence, which we shall quickly see to be either fals or uningenuous. They pretend that thir education either at schoole or universitie hath bin very chargeable; and therefor 25 ought to be repar'd in future by a plentiful maintenance: whenas it is well known that the better half of them, and oft times poor and pittiful boyes of no merit or promising hopes that might intitle them to the publick provision but thir

povertie and the unjust favor of friends, have had the most of thir breeding both at schoole and universitie by schollarships, exhibitions and fellowships at the publick cost; which might ingage them the rather to give freely, as they have freely re-5 ceivd. Or if they have misd of these helps at the latter place, they have after two or three years left the cours of thir studies there, if they ever well began them, and undertaken, though furnisht with little els but ignorance, boldnes and ambition, if with no worse vices, a chaplainship in som gentlemans 10 house, to the frequent imbasing of his sons with illiterate and narrow principles. Or if they have livd there upon thir own, who knows not that seaven years charge of living there, to them who fly not from the government of thir parents to the license of a universitie, but com seriously to studie, is no 15 more then may be well defraid and reimbours'd by one years revenue of an ord'nary good benefice? If they had then means of breeding from thir parents, 'tis likely they have more now; and if they have, it needs must be mechanic and uningenuous in them to bring a bill of charges for the 20 learning of those liberal arts and sciences, which they have learnd (if they have indeed learnd them, as they seldom have) to thir own benefit and accomplishment. But they will say, we had betaken us to som other trade or profession, had we not expected to finde a better livelihood by the min-25 isterie. This is that which I lookd for, to discover them openly neither true lovers of learning, and so very seldom guilty of it, nor true ministers of the gospel. So long agoe out of date is that old true saying, 1 Tim. 3. 1. if a man desire a bishop-

rick, he desires a good work: for now commonly he who desires to be a minister, looks not at the work but at the wages; and by that lure or loubel may be toald from parish to parish all the town over. But what can be planer Simonie, then thus 5 to be at charges beforehand to no other end then to make thir ministry doubly or trebly beneficial? to whom it might be said as justly as to that Simon, thy monie perish with thee, because thou hast thought that the gift of God may be purchas'd with monie: thou hast neither part nor lot in this
10 matter. Next, it is a fond error, though too much beleevd among us, to think that the universitie makes a minister of the gospel; what it may conduce to other arts and sciences, I dispute not now: but that which makes fit a minister, the scripture can best informe us to be only from above; whence 15 also we are bid to seek them; Matth. 9. 38. Pray ye therefor to the Lord of the harvest, that he will send forth laborers into his harvest. Acts 20. 28. The flock, over which the holy ghost hath made you over-seers. Rom. 10. 15. How shall they preach, unless they be sent? by whom sent? by the uni-20 versitie, or the magistrate, or thir belly? no surely: but sent from God only, and that God who is not thir belly. And whether he be sent from God or from Simon Magus, the inward sense of his calling and spiritual abilitie will sufficiently tell him; and that strong obligation felt within him, which 25 was felt by the apostle, will often express from him the same words: 1 Cor. 9. 16. Necessity is laid upon me, yea, woe is me, if I preach not the gospel. Not a beggarly necessity, and the woe feard otherwise of perpetual want, but such a neces-

sitie as made him willing to preach the gospel gratis, and to embrace povertie rather then as a woe to fear it. 1 Cor. 12. 28. God hath set som in the church, first apostles, &c. Eph. 4. 11, &c. He gave som apostles, &c. For the perfecting of 5 the saints, for the work of the ministerie, for the edifying of the body of Christ, till we all come to the unitie of the faith. Whereby we may know that as he made them at the first, so he makes them still, and to the worlds end. 2 Cor. 3. 6. Who hath also made us fit or able ministers of the new testament.
 10 1 Tim. 4. 14. The gift that is in thee, which was given thee by prophetie and the laying on of the hands of the presbyterie. These are all the means which we read of requir'd in scripture to the making of a minister. All this is granted you will say: but yet that it is also requisite he should be traird 15 in other learning; which can be no where better had then at universities. I answer, that what learning either human or divine can be necessary to a minister, may as easily and less chargeably be had in any private house. How deficient els and to how little purpose are all those piles of sermons, notes, 20 and comments on all parts of the bible, bodies and marrows of divinitie, besides all other sciences, in our English tongue; many of the same books which in Latine they read at the universitie? And the small necessitie of going thither to learn divinitie, I prove first from the most part of themselves, who 25 seldom continue there till they have well got through Logic, thir first rudiments; though, to say truth, Logic also may much better be wanting in disputes of divinitie, then in the suttle debates of lawyers and statesmen, who yet seldom or never deal with syllogisms. And those theological disputations there held by Professors and graduates are such as tend least of all to the edification or capacitie of the people, but rather perplex and leaven pure doctrin with scholastical trash 5 then enable any minister to the better preaching of the gospel. Whence we may also compute, since they com to recknings, the charges of his needful library: which, though som shame not to value at 600 l, may be competently furnishd for 60 l. If any man for his own curiositie or delight be in books fur-10 ther expensive, that is not to be recknd as necessarie to his ministerial either breeding or function. But Papists and other adversaries cannot be confuted without fathers and counsels, immense volumes and of vast charges. I will shew them therefor a shorter and a better way of confutation: Tit. 1. 9.

15 Holding fast the faithful word, as he hath bin taught, that he may be able by sound doctrin, both to exhort and to convince gain-sayers: who are confuted as soon as heard, bringing that which is either not in scripture or against it. To persue them further through the obscure and intangld wood of antiquitie, 20 fathers and counsels fighting one against another, is needles, endles, not requisite in a minister, and refus'd by the first reformers of our religion. And yet we may be confident, if these things be thought needful, let the state but erect in publick good store of libraries, and there will not want men 25 in the church, who of thir own inclinations will become able in this kinde against Papist or any other adversarie. I have thus at large examin'd the usual pretences of hirelings, colour'd over most commonly with the cause of learning and universities: as if with divines learning stood and fell; wherein for the most part thir pittance is so small: and, to speak freely, it were much better, there were not one divine in the universitie; no schoole-divinitie known, the idle sophistrie of 5 monks, the canker of religion; and that they who intended to be ministers, were trained up in the church only, by the scripture and in the original languages therof at schoole; without fetching the compas of other arts and sciences, more then what they can well learn at secondary leasure and at 10 home. Neither speak I this in contempt of learning or the ministry, but hating the common cheats of both; hating that they who have preachd out bishops, prelates and canonists, should, in what serves thir own ends, retain thir fals opinions, thir Pharisaical leaven, thir avarice and closely thir am-15 bition, thir pluralities, thir nonresidences, thir odious fees, and use thir legal and Popish arguments for tithes: that Independents should take that name, as they may justly from the true freedom of Christian doctrin and church-discipline subject to no superior judge but God only, and seek to be 20 Dependents on the magistrate for thir maintenance; which two things, independence and state-hire in religion, can never consist long or certainly together. For magistrates at one time or other, not like these at present our patrons of Christian libertie, will pay none but such whom by thir committies of 25 examination, they find conformable to their interest and opinions: and hirelings will soone frame themselves to that interest and those opinions which they see best pleasing to thir paymasters; and to seem right themselves, will force others as to the truth. But most of all they are to be revil'd and sham'd, who cry out with the distinct voice of notorious hirelings, that if ye settle not our maintenance by law, farwell the gospel: then which nothing can be utterd more fals, more 5 ignominious, and, I may say, more blasphemous against our Saviour; who hath promis'd, without this condition, both his holy spirit and his own presence with his church to the worlds end: nothing more fals (unless with thir own mouths they condemne themselves for the unworthiest and most 10 mercenary of all other ministers) by the experience of 300. years after Christ, and the churches at this day in France, Austria, Polonia, and other places witnessing the contrary under an advers magistrate not a favorable: nothing more ignominious, levelling or rather undervaluing Christ beneath 15 Mahomet. For if it must be thus, how can any Christian object it to a Turk, that his religion stands by force only; and not justly fear from him this reply, yours both by force and monie in the judgment of your own preachers. This is that which makes atheists in the land, whom they so much com-20 plain of: not the want of maintenance or preachers, as they alleage, but the many hirelings and cheaters that have the gospel in thir hands; hands that still crave, and are never satisfi'd. Likely ministers, indeed, to proclaim the faith or to exhort our trust in God, when they themselves will not trust 25 him to provide for them in the message wheron, they say, he sent them; but threaten for want of temporal means to desert it; calling that want of means, which is nothing els but the want of thir own faith; and would force us to pay the hire

of building our faith to their covetous incredulitie. Doubtles, if God only be he who gives ministers to his church till the worlds end; and through the whole gospel never sent us for ministers to the schools of Philosophie, but rather bids us 5 beware of such vain deceit, Col. 2. 8. (which the primitive church, after two or three ages not remembring, brought herself quickly to confusion) if all the faithful be now a holy and a royal priesthood, 1 Pet. 2. 5. 9, not excluded from the dispensation of things holiest, after free election of the church
 10 and imposition of hands, there will not want ministers, elected out of all sorts and orders of men, for the Gospel makes no difference from the magistrate himself to the meanest artificer, if God evidently favor him with spiritual gifts, as he can easily and oft hath don, while those batchelor 15 divines and doctors of the tippet have bin passd by. Heretofore in the first evangelic times (and it were happy for Christendom if it were so again) ministers of the gospel were by nothing els distinguishd from other Christians but by thir spiritual knowledge and sanctitie of life, for which the church 20 elected them to be her teachers and overseers, though not thereby to separate them from whatever calling she then found them following besides, as the example of S. Paul declares, and the first times of Christianitie. When once they affected to be calld a clergie, and became as it were a peculiar 25 tribe of levites, a partie, a distinct order in the commonwealth, bred up for divines in babling schooles and fed at the publick cost, good for nothing els but what was good for nothing, they soone grew idle: that idlenes with fulnes of bread begat pride and perpetual contention with thir feeders the despis'd laitie, through all ages ever since; to the perverting of religion, and the disturbance of all Christendom. And we may confidently conclude, it never will be otherwise 5 while they are thus upheld undepending on the church, on which alone they anciently depended, and are by the magistrate publickly maintained a numerous faction of indigent persons, crept for the most part out of extream want and bad nurture, claiming by divine right and freehold the tenth of 10 our estates, to monopolize the ministry as their peculiar, which is free and open to all able Christians, elected by any church. Under this pretence exempt from all other employment, and enriching themselves on the publick, they last of all prove common incendiaries, and exalt thir horns against 15 the magistrate himself that maintains them, as the priest of Rome did soone after against his benefactor the emperor, and the presbyters of late in Scotland. Of which hireling crew together with all the mischiefs, dissensions, troubles, warrs meerly of their kindling, Christendom might soone rid her-20 self and be happie, if Christians would but know thir own dignitie, thir libertie, thir adoption, and let it not be wonderd if I say, thir spiritual priesthood, whereby they have all equally access to any ministerial function whenever calld by thir own abilities and the church, though they never came 25 neer commencement or universitie. But while Protestants, to avoid the due labor of understanding thir own religion are content to lodge it in the breast or rather in the books of a clergie man, and to take it thence by scraps and mammocks

as he dispences it in his sundays dole, they will be alwaies learning and never knowing, alwaies infants, alwaies either his vassals, as lay-papists are to their priests, or at odds with him, as reformed principles give them som light to be not 5 wholly conformable, whence infinit disturbances in the state, as they do, must needs follow. Thus much I had to say; and, I suppose, what may be anough to them who are not avariciously bent otherwise, touching the likeliest means to remove hirelings out of the church; then which nothing can more 10 conduce to truth, to peace and all happines both in church and state. If I be not heard nor beleevd, the event will bear me witnes to have spoken truth: and I in the mean while have borne my witnes not out of season to the church and to my countrey.

A LETTER TO A FRIEND

Concerning

the Ruptures of the Commonwealth.

SIR,

UPON the sad and serious Discourse which we fell into last night, concerning these dangerous Ruptures of the Commonwealth, scarce yet in her Infancy, which cannot be without some inward flaw 5 in her Bowels; I began to consider more intently thereon than hitherto I have bin wont, resigning my self to the Wisdom and Care of those who had the Government; and not finding that either God, or the Publick requir'd more of me, than my Prayers for them that govern. And since 10 you have not only stir'd up my thoughts, by acquainting me with the state of Affairs, more inwardly than I knew before; but also have desired me to set down my Opinion therof, trusting to your Ingenuity, I shall give you freely my apprehension, both of our present Evils, and what Ex-15 pedients, if God in Mercy regard us, may remove them.
I will begin with telling you how I was over-joy'd, when I heard that the Army, under the working of God's holy Spirit, as I thought, and still hope well, had bin so far wrought to Christian Humility, and Self-denial, as to con-20 fess in publick thir backsliding from the good Old Cause, and to shew the fruits of thir Repentance, in the righteous ness of thir restoring the old famous Parliament, which they had without just Authority dissolved: I call it the famous Parliament, tho not the harmles, since none well-affected, but will confes, they have deserved much more of these Nations, than they have undeserved. And I perswade me, that God was pleas'd with thir Restitution, signing it, as he did, with such a signal Victory, when so great a part of the Nation were desperately conspir'd to call back again thir Egyptian Bondage. So much the more it now amazes me, that they, whose Lips were yet scarce clos'd from giving Thanks for that great Deliverance, should be now relapsing, and so soon again backsliding into the same fault, which they confess so lately, and so solemnly to God and the World, and more lately punish'd in those Cheshire Rebels; that they should now dissolve that Parliament, which they themselves re-establish'd, and acknowledg'd for thir Supreme Power in thir other days humble Representation: and all this, for no apparent cause of publick Concernment to the Church or Commonwealth, but only for discomissioning nine great Officers in the Army; which had not bin don, as is reported, but upon notice of thir Intentions against the Parliament. I presume not to give my Censure on this Action, not knowing, as yet I do not, the bottom of it. I speak only what it appears to us without doors, till better cause be declar'd, and I am sure to all other Nations most illegal and scandalous, I fear me barbarous, or rather scarce to be exampl'd among any Barbarians, that a paid Army should, for no other cause, thus subdue the Supream Power that set them up. This, I say, other Nations will judg to the sad dishonour of that Army, lately so renown'd for the civilest and best order'd in the World, and by us here at home, for the most conscientious. Certainly, if the great Officers and Souldiers of the 5 Holland, French or Venetian Forces, should thus sit in Council, and write from Garison to Garison against their Superiors, they might as easily reduce the King of France, or Duke of Venice, and put the United Provinces in like Disorder and Confusion. Why do they not, being most of 10 them held ignorant of true Religion? because the Light of Nature, the Laws of Human Society, the Reverence of their Magistrates, Covenants, Engagements, Loyalty, Allegiance, keeps them in awe. How grievous will it then be? how infamous to the true Religion which we profess? how dis-15 honorable to the Name of God, that his Fear and the power of his Knowledg in an Army professing to be his, should not work that Obedience, that Fidelity to thir Supream Magistrates, that levied them, and paid them, when the Light of Nature, the Laws of Human Society, Covenants, and Con-20 tracts, yea common Shame works in other Armies, amongst the worst of them? Which will undoubtedly pull down the heavy Judgment of God among us, who cannot but avenge these Hypocrisies, Violations of Truth and Holines; if they be indeed so as they yet seem. For, neither do I speak this in 25 reproach to the Army, but as jealous of thir Honour, inciting them to manifest and publish, with all speed, some better cause of these thir late Actions, than hath hitherto appear'd, and to find out the Achan amongst them, whose close Ambition in all likelihood abuses thir honest Natures against thir meaning to these Disorders; thir readiest way to bring in again the common Enemy, and with him the Destruction of true Religion, and civil Liberty. But, because our Evils are 5 now grown more dangerous and extream, than to be remedi'd by Complaints, it concerns us now to find out what Remedies may be likeliest to save us from approaching Ruin. Being now in Anarchy, without a counselling and governing Power; and the Army, I suppose, finding themselves insufficient to discharge at once both Military and Civil Affairs, 10 the first thing to be found out with all speed, without which no Commonwealth can subsist, must be a Senate, or General Council of State, in whom must be the Power, first, to preserve the publick Peace, next the Commerce with Foreign 15 Nations; and lastly, to raise Monies for the Management of these Affairs: this must either be the Parliament readmitted to sit, or a Council of State allow'd of by the Army, since they only now have the Power. The Terms to be stood on are, Liberty of Conscience to all professing Scripture to be 20 the Rule of thir Faith and Worship; and the Abjuration of a single Person. If the Parliament be again thought on, to salve Honour on both sides, the well-affected Party of the City, and the congregated Churches, may be induced to mediate by publick Addresses, and brotherly beseechings, 25 which, if there be that Saintship among us which is talk'd of, ought to be of highest and undeniable Perswasion to Reconcilement. If the Parliament be thought well dissolv'd, as not complying fully to grant Liberty of Conscience, and the necessary Consequence therof, the removal of a forc'd Maintenance from Ministers, then must the Army forthwith choose a Council of State, wherof as many to be of the Parliament, as are undoubtedly affected to these two Condi-5 tions propos'd. That which I conceive only able to cement, and unite for ever the Army, either to the Parliament recall'd, or this chosen Council, must be a mutual League and Oath, private or publick, not to desert one another till Death: That is to say, that the Army be kept up, and all these 10 Officers in thir places during Life, and so likewise the Parliament, or Counsellors of State; which will be no way unjust, considering thir known Merits on either side, in Council or in Field, unless any be found false to any of these two Principles, or otherwise personally criminous in 15 the Judgment of both Parties. If such a Union as this be not accepted on the Army's part, be confident there is a single Person underneath. That the Army be upheld, the necessity of our Affairs and Factions will constrain long enough perhaps, to content the longest Liver in the Army. And 20 whether the Civil Government be an annual Democracy, or a perpetual Aristocracy, is not to me a Consideration for the Extremities wherein we are, and the hazard of our Safety from our common Enemy, gaping at present to devour us. That it be not an Oligarchy, or the Faction of a few, may be 25 easily prevented by the Numbers of thir own choosing, who may be found infallibly constant to those two Conditions forenam'd, full Liberty of Conscience, and the Abjuration of Monarchy propos'd: and the well-order'd Committies of thir faithfullest Adherents in every County may give this Government the resemblance and effects of a perfect Democracy. As for the Reformation of Laws, and the places of Judicature, whether to be here, as at present, or in every 5 County, as hath bin long aim'd at, and many such Proposals, tending no doubt to publick good, they may be consider'd in due time when we are past these pernicious Pangs, in a hopeful way of Health, and firm Constitution. But unless these things, which I have above propos'd, one way or other, 10 be once settl'd, in my fear, which God avert, we instantly ruin; or at best become the Servants of one or other single Person, the secret Author and Fomenter of these Disturbances. You have the sum of my present Thoughts, as much as I understand of these Affairs freely imparted, at your request, 15 and the Perswasion you wrought in me, that I might chance herby to be some way serviceable to the Commonwealth, in a time when all ought to be endeavouring what good they can, whether much, or but little. With this you may do what you please, put out, put in, communicate or suppress:

20 you offend not me, who only have obey'd your Opinion, that in doing what I have don, I might happen to offer something which might be of som use in this great time of need. However, I have not bin wanting to the opportunity which you presented before me, of shewing the readines which I 25 have in the midst of my Unfitnes, to what ever may be requir'd of me, as a publick Duty.

LETTER TO GENERAL MONK

The Present Means,

and brief Delineation of a Free Commonwealth, Easy to be put in Practice, and without Delay. In a Letter to General Monk.

FIRST, all endeavours speedily to be us'd, that the ensuing Election be of such as are already firm, or inclinable to constitute a free Commonwealth (according to the former qualifications decreed in Parliament, and not yet repeal'd, as I hear) without single Person, or House of Lords. If these be not such, but the contrary, who foresees not, that our Liberties will be utterly lost in this next Parliament, without some powerful course taken, of speediest prevention? The speediest way will be to call up forthwith the chief Gentlemen out of every County; to lay before them (as your Excellency hath already, both in your publish'd Letters to the Army, and your Declaration recited to the Members of Parliament) the Danger and Confusion of admitting Kingship in this Land; especially against the Rules of all Prudence and Example, in a Family once ejected, and therby not to be trusted with the power of Revenge: that you will not longer delay them with vain expectation, but will put into thir hands forthwith the possession of a free Commonwealth; if they will first return immediately and elect them, by such at least of the People as are rightly qualifi'd, a standing Council in every City, and great Town, which may then be dignified with the name of City, continually to consult the good and flourishing state of that Place, with a competent Territory adjoin'd; to assume the judicial Laws, either these 5 that are, or such as they themselves shall new make severally, in each Commonalty, and all Judicatures, all Magistracies, to the Administration of all Justice between man and man, and all the Ornaments of publick Civility, Academies, and such like, in thir own hands. Matters appertaining to men of 10 several Counties, or Territories, may be determin'd, as they are here at London, or in some more convenient Place, under equal Judges.

Next, That in every such Capital Place, they will choose them the usual number of ablest Knights and Burgesses, 15 engag'd for a Commonwealth, to make up the Parliament, or (as it will from henceforth be better called) the Grand or General Council of the Nation: whose Office must be, with due Caution, to dispose of Forces, both by Sea and Land, under the conduct of your Excellency, for the preservation 20 of Peace, both at home and abroad; must raise and manage the publick Revenue, but with provided inspection of thir Accompts; must administer all forein Affairs, make all General Laws, Peace, or War, but not without Assent of the standing Council in each City, or such other general Assem-25 bly as may be call'd on such occasion, from the whole Territory, where they may without much trouble, deliberate on all things fully, and send up thir Suffrages within a set time, by Deputies appointed. Though this grand Council be perpetual (as in that Book I prov'd would be best and most conformable to best examples) yet they will then, thus limited, have so little matter in thir Hands, or Power to endanger our Liberty; and the People so much in thirs, to prevent 5 them, having all Judicial Laws in thir own choice, and free Votes in all those which concern generally the whole Commonwealth, that we shall have little cause to fear the perpetuity of our general Senat; which will be then nothing else but a firm foundation and custody of our Public Liberty, 10 Peace, and Union, through the whole Commonwealth, and the transactors of our Affairs with forein Nations.

If this yet be not thought enough, the known Expedient may at length be us'd, of a partial Rotation.

Lastly, if these Gentlemen convocated, refuse these fair 15 and noble Offers of immediate Liberty, and happy Condition, no doubt there be enough in every County who will thankfully accept them, your Excellency once more declaring publickly this to be your Mind, and having a faithful Veteran Army, so ready, and glad to assist you in the prosecution therof. For the full and absolute Administration of 20 Law in Every County, which is the difficultest of these Proposals, hath bin of most long desired; and the not granting it, held a general Grievance. The rest when they shall see the beginnings and proceedings of these Constitutions propos'd, and 25 the orderly, the decent, the civil, the safe, the noble Effects therof, will be soon convinc'd, and by degrees come in of thir own accord, to be partakers of so happy a Government.

The readie and easie way to establish a free Commonwealth.

ALTHOUGH since the writing of this treatise, the face of things hath had som change, writs for new elections have bin recall'd, and the members at first chosen, readmitted from exclusion, yet not a little rejoicing 5 to hear declar'd the resolution of those who are in power, tending to the establishment of a free Commonwealth, and to remove, if it be possible, this noxious humor of returning to bondage, instilld of late by som deceivers, and nourishd from bad principles and fals apprehensions among too many 10 of the people, I thought best not to suppress what I had written, hoping that it may now be of much more use and concernment to be freely publishd, in the midst of our Elections to a free Parliament, or their sitting to consider freely of the Government; whom it behoves to have all things repre-15 sented to them that may direct thir judgment therin; and I never read of any State, scarce of any tyrant grown so incurable, as to refuse counsel from any in a time of public deliberation; much less to be offended. If thir absolute determination be to enthrall us, before so long a Lent of Servitude, they 20 may permitt us a little Shroving-time first, wherin to speak freely, and take our leaves of Libertie. And because in the former edition through haste, many faults escap'd, and many books were suddenly dispersd, ere the note to mend them could be sent, I took the opportunitie from this occasion to revise and somewhat to enlarge the whole discourse, especially that part which argues for a perpetual Senat. The treatise thus revis'd and enlarg'd, is as follows.

- 5 The Parliament of England, assisted by a great number of the people who appeerd and stuck to them faithfullst in defence of religion and thir civil liberties, judging kingship by long experience a government unnecessarie, burdensom and dangerous, justly and magnanimously abolishd it; turning 10 regal bondage into a free Commonwealth, to the admiration and terrour of our emulous neighbours. They took themselves not bound by the light of nature or religion, to any former covnant, from which the King himself by many forfeitures of a latter date or discoverie, and our own longer 15 consideration thereon had more & more unbound us, both to himself and his posteritie; as hath bin ever the justice and the prudence of all wise nations that have ejected tyrannie. They covnanted to preserve the Kings person and autoritie in the preservation of the true religion and our liberties; not in 20 his endeavoring to bring in upon our consciences a Popish religion, upon our liberties thralldom, upon our lives destruction, by his occasioning, if not complotting, as was after discoverd, the Irish massacre, his fomenting and arming the rebellion, his covert leaguings with the rebels against us, his 25 refusing more then seaven times, propositions most just and necessarie to the true religion and our liberties, tenderd him by the Parlament both of England and Scotland. They made not thir covnant concerning him with no difference between a king and a god, or promis'd him as Job did to the Almighty, to trust in him, though he slay us: they understood that the solemn ingagement, wherin we all forswore kingship, was 5 no more a breach of the covnant, then the covnant was of the protestation before, but a faithful and prudent going on both in the words, well weigh'd, and in the true sense of the covnant, without respect of persons, when we could not serve two contrary maisters, God and the king, or the king and 10 that more supreme law, sworn in the first place to maintain, our safetie and our libertie. They knew the people of England to be a free people, themselves the representers of that freedom; & although many were excluded, & as many fled (so they pretended) from tumults to Oxford, yet they were left 15 a sufficient number to act in Parliament; therefor not bound by any statute of preceding Parlements, but by the law of nature only, which is the only law of laws truly and properly to all mankinde fundamental; the beginning and the end of all Government; to which no Parliament or people that will 20 thoroughly reforme, but may and must have recourse; as they had and must yet have in church reformation (if they thoroughly intend it) to evangelic rules; not to ecclesiastical canons, though never so ancient, so ratifi'd and establish'd in the land by Statutes, which for the most part are meer posi-25 tive laws, neither natural nor moral, & so by any Parliament for just and serious considerations, without scruple to be at any time repeal'd. If others of thir number, in these things were under force, they were not, but under free conscience;

if others were excluded by a power which they could not resist, they were not therefore to leave the helm of government in no hands, to discontinue thir care of the public peace and safetie, to desert the people in anarchie and confusion; no 5 more then when so many of thir members left them, as made up in outward formalitie a more legal Parliament of three estates against them. The best affected also and best principl'd of the people, stood not numbring or computing on which side were most voices in Parliament, but on which side 10 appeerd to them most reason, most safetie, when the house divided upon main matters: what was well motiond and advis'd, they examin'd not whether fear or perswasion carried it in the vote; neither did they measure votes and counsels by the intentions of them that voted; knowing that intentions 15 either are but guessd at, or not soon enough known; and although good, can neither make the deed such, nor prevent the consequence from being bad: suppose bad intentions in things otherwise welldon; what was welldon, was by them who so thought, not the less obey'd or followd in the state;
20 since in the church, who had not rather follow Iscariot or Simon the magician, though to covetous ends, preaching, then Saul, though in the uprightness of his heart persecuting the gospell? Safer they therefor judgd what they thought the better counsels, though carried on by some perhaps to bad 25 ends, then the wors, by others, though endevord with best intentions: and yet they were not to learn that a greater number might be corrupt within the walls of a Parliament as well as of a citie; wherof in matters of nearest concernment all men will be judges; nor easily permitt, that the odds of voices in thir greatest council, shall more endanger them by corrupt or credulous votes, then the odds of enemies by open assaults; judging that most voices ought not alwaies to prevail where 5 main matters are in question; if others hence will pretend to disturb all counsels, what is that to them who pretend not, but are in real danger; not they only so judging, but a great though not the greatest, number of thir chosen Patriots, who might be more in waight, then the others in number; there 10 being in number little vertue, but by weight and measure wisdom working all things: and the dangers on either side they seriously thus waighd: from the treatie, short fruits of long labours and seaven years warr; securitie for twenty years, if we can hold it; reformation in the church for three 15 years: then put to shift again with our vanquishd maister.

 His justice, his honour, his conscience declar'd quite contrarie to ours; which would have furnishd him with many such evasions, as in a book entitl'd an inquisition for blood, soon after were not conceald: bishops not totally remov'd, 20 but left as it were in ambush, a reserve, with ordination in thir sole powr; thir lands alreadie sold, not to be alienated, but rented, and the sale of them call'd sacrilege; delinquents few of many brought to condigne punishment; accessories punishd; the chief author, above pardon, though after ut-25 most resistance, vanquish'd; not to give, but to receive laws; yet besought, treated with, and to be thankd for his gracious concessions, to be honourd, worshipd, glorifi'd. If this we swore to do, with what righteousness in the sight of God, with what assurance that we bring not by such an oath the whole sea of blood-guiltiness upon our own heads? If on the other side we preferr a free government, though for the present not obtaind, yet all those suggested fears and difficulties, as the event will prove, easily overcome, we remain finally secure from the exasperated regal power, and out of snares; shall retain the best part of our libertie, which is our religion, and the civil part will be from these who deferr us, much more easily recoverd, being neither so suttle nor so awe-10 full as a King reinthron'd. Nor were thir actions less both at home and abroad then might become the hopes of a glorious rising Commonwealth: nor were the expressions both of armie and people, whether in thir publick declarations or several writings other then such as testifi'd a spirit in this 15 nation no less noble and well fitted to the liberty of a Commonwealth, then in the ancient Greeks or Romans. Nor was the heroic cause unsuccesfully defended to all Christendom against the tongue of a famous and thought invincible adversarie; nor the constancie and fortitude that so nobly vindicated our liberty, our victory at once against two the most 20 prevailing usurpers over mankinde, superstition and tyrannie unpraisd or uncelebrated in a written monument, likely to outlive detraction, as it hath hitherto convinc'd or silenc'd not a few of our detractors, especially in parts abroad. After our 25 liberty and religion thus prosperously fought for, gaind and many years possessd, except in those unhappie interruptions, which God hath remov'd, now that nothing remains, but in all reason the certain hopes of a speedie and immediat settlement for ever in a firm and free Commonwealth, for this extolld and magnifi'd nation, regardless both of honour wonn or deliverances voutsaf't from heaven, to fall back or rather to creep back so poorly as it seems the multitude would to thir 5 once abjur'd and detested thraldom of Kingship, to be our selves the slanderers of our own just and religious deeds, though don by som to covetous and ambitious ends, yet not therefor to be staind with their infamie, or they to asperse the integritie of others, and yet these now by revolting from 10 the conscience of deeds welldon both in church and state, to throw away and forsake, or rather to betray a just and noble cause for the mixture of bad men who have ill manag'd and abus'd it (which had our fathers don heretofore, and on the same pretence deserted true religion, what had long ere this 15 become of our gospel and all protestant reformation so much intermixt with the avarice and ambition of some reformers?) and by thus relapsing, to verifie all the bitter predictions of our triumphing enemies, who will now think they wisely discernd and justly censur'd both us and all our actions as 20 rash, rebellious, hypocritical and impious, not only argues a strange degenerate contagion suddenly spread among us fitted and prepar'd for new slaverie, but will render us a scorn and derision to all our neighbours. And what will they at best say of us and of the whole English name, but scoff-25 ingly as of that foolish builder, mentiond by our Saviour, who began to build a tower, and was not able to finish it. Where is this goodly tower of a Commonwealth, which the English boasted they would build to overshadow kings, and be another Rome in the west? The foundation indeed they laid gallantly; but fell into a wors confusion, not of tongues, but of factions, then those at the tower of Babel; and have left no memorial of thir work behinde them remaining, but 5 in the common laughter of Europ. Which must needs rebound the more to our shame, if we but look on our neighbours the United Provinces, to us inferior in all outward advantages; who notwithstanding, in the midst of greater difficulties, courageously, wisely, constantly went through 10 with the same work, and are setl'd in all the happie enjoyments of a potent and flourishing Republic to this day.

Besides this, if we returne to Kingship, and soon repent, as undoubtedly we shall, when we begin to finde the old encroachments coming on by little and little upon our con-15 sciences, which must necessarily proceed from king and bishop united inseparably in one interest, we may be forc'd perhaps to fight over again all that we have fought, and spend over again all that we have spent, but are never like to attain thus far as we are now advanc'd to the recoverie of our 20 freedom, never to have it in possession as we now have it, never to be voutsaf't heerafter the like mercies and signal assistances from heaven in our cause, if by our ingratefull backsliding we make these fruitless; flying now to regal concessions from his divine condescensions and gracious answers 25 to our once importuning praiera against the tyrannie which we then groand under: making vain and viler then dirt the blood of so many thousand faithfull and valiant English men, who left us in this libertie, bought with thir lives;

losing by a strange aftergame of folly, all the battels we have wonn, together with all Scotland as to our conquest, hereby lost, which never any of our kings could conquer, all the treasure we have spent, not that corruptible treasure only, but 5 that far more precious of all our late miraculous deliverances; treading back again with lost labour all our happie steps in the progress of reformation; and most pittifully depriving our selves the instant fruition of that free government which we have so dearly purchasd, a free Commonwealth, not only 10 held by wisest men in all ages the noblest, the manliest, the equallest, the justest government, the most agreeable to all due libertie and proportiond equalitie, both human, civil, and Christian, most cherishing to vertue and true religion, but also (I may say it with greatest probabilitie) planely com-15 mended, or rather enjoind by our Saviour himself, to all Christians, not without remarkable disallowance, and the brand of gentilism upon kingship. God in much displeasure gave a king to the Israelites, and imputed it a sin to them that they sought one: but Christ apparently forbids his disciples 20 to admitt of any such heathenish government: the kings of the gentiles, saith he, exercise lordship over them; and they that exercise authoritie upon them, are call'd benefactors: but ye shall not be so; but he that is greatest among you, let him be as the younger; and he that is chief, as he that serveth.
25 The occasion of these his words was the ambitious desire of Zebede's two sons, to be exalted above thir brethren in his kingdom, which they thought was to be ere long upon earth. That he speaks of civil government, is manifest by the former part of the comparison, which inferrs the other part to be alwaies in the same kinde. And what government comes neerer to this precept of Christ, then a free Commonwealth; wherein they who are greatest, are perpetual servants and 5 drudges to the public at thir own cost and charges, neglect thir own affairs; yet are not elevated above thir brethren; live soberly in thir families, walk the streets as other men, may be spoken to freely, familiarly, friendly, without adoration. Whereas a king must be ador'd like a Demigod, with 10 a dissolute and haughtie court about him, of vast expence and luxurie, masks and revels, to the debaushing of our prime gentry both male and female; not in thir pasetimes only, but in earnest, by the loos imploiments of court service, which will be then thought honorable. There will be a queen 15 also of no less charge; in most likelihood outlandish and a Papist; besides a queen mother such already; together with both thir courts and numerous train: then a royal issue, and ere long severally thir sumptuous courts; to the multiplying of a servile crew, not of servants only, but of nobility and 20 gentry, bred up then to the hopes not of public, but of court offices; to be stewards, chamberlains, ushers, grooms, even of the close-stool; and the lower thir mindes debas'd with court opinions, contrarie to all vertue and reformation, the haughtier will be thir pride and profuseness: we may well 25 remember this not long since at home; or need but look at present into the French court, where enticements and preferments daily draw away and pervert the Protestant Nobilitie. As to the burden of expence, to our cost we shall soon know it; for any good to us, deserving to be termd no better then the vast and lavish price of our subjection and their debausherie; which we are now so greedily cheapning, and would so fain be paying most inconsideratly to a single person; who for any thing wherin the public really needs him, will have little els to do, but to bestow the eating and drinking of excessive dainties, to set a pompous face upon the superficial actings of State, to pageant himself up and down in progress among the perpetual bowings and cringings of an 10 abject people, on either side deifying and adoring him for nothing don that can deserve it. For what can hee more then another man? who even in the expression of a late court-poet, sits only like a great cypher set to no purpose before a long row of other significant figures. Nay it is well and 15 happy for the people if thir King be but a cypher, being oft times a mischief, a pest, a scourge of the nation, and which is wors, not to be remov'd, not to be contrould, much less accus'd or brought to punishment, without the danger of a common ruin, without the shaking and almost subversion 20 of the whole land. Wheras in a free Commonwealth, any governor or chief counselor offending, may be remov'd and punishd without the least commotion. Certainly then that people must needs be madd or strangely infatuated, that build the chief hope of thir common happiness or safetie on a 25 single person: who if he happen to be good, can do no more then another man, if to be bad, hath in his hands to do more evil without check, then millions of other men. The happiness of a nation must needs be firmest and certainest in a full and free Council of thir own electing, where no single person, but reason only swaies. And what madness is it, for them who might manage nobly thir own affairs themselves, sluggishly and weakly to devolve all on a single person; and 5 more like boyes under age then men, to committ all to his patronage and disposal, who neither can performe what he undertakes, and yet for undertaking it, though royally paid, will not be thir servant, but thir lord? how unmanly must it needs be, to count such a one the breath of our nostrils, to 10 hang all our felicity on him, all our safetie, our well-being, for which if we were aught els but sluggards or babies, we need depend on none but God and our own counsels, our own active vertue and industrie; Go to the Ant, thou sluggard, saith Solomon; consider her waies, and be wise; which 15 having no prince, ruler, or lord, provides her meat in the summer, and gathers her food in the harvest. Which evidently shews us, that they who think the nation undon without a king, though they look grave or haughtie, have not so much true spirit and understanding in them as a pismire:

20 neither are these diligent creatures hence concluded to live in lawless anarchie, or that commended, but are set the examples to imprudent and ungoverned men, of a frugal and self-governing democratie or Commonwealth; safer and more thriving in the joint providence and counsel of many industrious equals, then under the single domination of one 25 imperious Lord. It may be well wonderd that any Nation styling themselves free, can suffer any man to pretend hereditary right over them as thir lord; when as by acknowledging that right, they conclude themselves his servants and his vassals, and so renounce thir own freedom. Which how a people and thir leaders especially can do, who have fought so gloriously for liberty, how they can change thir noble words and 5 actions, heretofore so becoming the majesty of a free people, into the base necessitie of court flatteries and prostrations, is not only strange and admirable, but lamentable to think on. That a nation should be so valorous and courageous to winn thir liberty in the field, and when they have wonn it, should 10 be so heartless and unwise in thir counsels, as not to know how to use it, value it, what to do with it or with themselves; but after ten or twelve years prosperous warr and contestation with tyrannie, basely and besottedly to run their necks again into the yoke which they have broken, and prostrate 15 all the fruits of thir victorie for naught at the feet of the vanquishd, besides our loss of glorie, and such an example as kings or tyrants never yet had the like to boast of, will be an ignominie if it befall us, that never yet befell any nation possessd of thir libertie; worthie indeed themselves, whatsoever

20 they be, to be for ever slaves: but that part of the nation which consents not with them, as I perswade me of a great number, far worthier then by their means to be brought into the same bondage. Considering these things so plane, so rational, I cannot but yet further admire on the other side, how any man 25 who hath the true principles of justice and religion in him, can presume or take upon him to be a king and lord over his brethren, whom he cannot but know whether as men or Christians, to be for the most part every way equal or superior to himself: how he can display with such vanitie and ostentation his regal splendor so supereminently above other mortal men; or being a Christian, can assume such extraordinarie honour and worship to himself, while the kingdom 5 of Christ our common King and Lord, is hid to this world, and such gentilish imitation forbid in express words by himself to all his disciples. All Protestants hold that Christ in his church hath left no vicegerent of his power, but himself without deputie, is the only head therof, governing it from 10 heaven: how then can any Christian-man derive his kingship from Christ, but with wors usurpation then the Pope his headship over the church, since Christ not only hath not left the least shaddow of a command for any such vicegerence from him in the State, as the Pope pretends for his in the 15 Church, but hath expressly declar'd, that such regal dominion is from the gentiles, not from him, and hath strictly charg'd us, not to imitate them therein.

I doubt not but all ingenuous and knowing men will easily agree with me, that a free Commonwealth without single 20 person or house of lords, is by far the best government, if it can be had; but we have all this while say they bin expecting it, and cannot yet attain it. Tis true indeed, when monarchie was dissolv'd, the form of a Commonwealth should have forthwith bin fram'd; and the practice therof immediatly 25 begun; that the people might have soon bin satisfi'd and delighted with the decent order, ease and benefit therof: we had bin then by this time firmly rooted past fear of commotions or mutations, & now flourishing: this care of timely settling a new government instead of ye old, too much neglected, hath bin our mischief. Yet the cause therof may be ascrib'd with most reason to the frequent disturbances, interruptions and dissolutions which the Parliament hath had partly from the 5 impatient or disaffected people, partly from som ambitious leaders in the Armie; much contrarie, I beleeve, to the mind and approbation of the Armie it self and thir other Commanders, once undeceivd, or in thir own power. Now is the opportunitie, now the very season wherein we may obtain a free 10 Commonwealth and establish it for ever in the land, without difficulty or much delay. Writs are sent out for elections, and which is worth observing in the name, not of any king, but of the keepers of our libertie, to summon a free Parliament: which then only will indeed be free, and deserve the true 15 honor of that supreme title, if they preserve us a free people. Which never Parliament was more free to do; being now call'd, not as heretofore, by the summons of a king, but by the voice of libertie: and if the people, laying aside prejudice and impatience, will seriously and calmly now consider thir 20 own good both religious and civil, thir own libertie and the only means thereof, as shall be heer laid before them, and will elect thir Knights and Burgesses able men, and according to the just and necessarie qualifications (which for aught I hear, remain yet in force unrepeald, as they were formerly 25 decreed in Parliament) men not addicted to a single person or house of lords, the work is don; at least the foundation firmly laid of a free Commonwealth, and good part also erected of the main structure. For the ground and basis of every just and free government (since men have smarted so oft for committing all to one person) is a general council of ablest men, chosen by the people to consult of public affairs from time to time for the common good. In this Grand Council must the sovranterie, not transferrd, but delegated only, and at it were deposited, reside; with this caution they must have the forces by sea and land committed to them for preservation of the common peace and libertie; must raise and manage the public revenue, at least with som inspectors deputed for satisfaction of the people, how it is imploid; must make or propose, as more expressly shall be said anon, civil laws; treat of commerce, peace, or warr with forein nations, and for the carrying on som particular affairs with more secrecie and expedition, must elect, as they have alreadie out of thir own number and others, a Council of State.

And although it may seem strange at first hearing, by reason that mens mindes are prepossessd with the notion of successive Parlements, I affirme that the Grand or General Council being well chosen, should be perpetual: for so thir business is or may be, and oft times urgent; the opportunitie of affairs gaind or lost in a moment. The day of counsel cannot be set as the day of a festival; but must be readie alwaies to prevent or answer all occasions. By this continuance they will become everie way skilfullest, best provided of intelligence from abroad, best acquainted with the people at home, and the people with them. The ship of the Commonwealth is alwaies under sail; they sit at the stern; and if they steare well, what need is ther to change them; it being rather dangerous? Add to this, that the Grand Council is both foundation and main pillar of the whole State; and to move pillars and foundations, not faultie, cannot be safe for the building. I see not therefor, how we can be advantag'd by successive 5 and transitorie Parlements; but that they are much likelier continually to unsettle rather then to settle a free government; to breed commotions, changes, novelties and uncertainties; to bring neglect upon present affairs and opportunities, while all mindes are suspense with expectation of a 10 new assemblee, and the assemblee for a good space taken up with the new setling of it self. After which, if they finde no great work to do, they will make it, by altering or repealing former acts, or making and multiplying new; that they may seem to see what thir predecessors saw not, and not to have 15 assembl'd for nothing: till all law be lost in the multitude of clashing statutes. But if the ambition of such as think themselves injur'd that they also partake not of the government, and are impatient till they be chosen, cannot brook the perpetuities of others chosen before them, or if it be feard that 20 long continuance of power may corrupt sincerest men, the known expedient is, and by som lately propounded, that annually (or if the space be longer, so much perhaps the better) the third part of Senators may go out according to the precedence of thir election, and the like number be chosen in thir 25 places, to prevent the setling of too absolute a power, if it should be perpetual: and this they call partial rotation. But I could wish that this wheel or partial wheel in State, if it be possible, might be avoided; as having too much affinitie with the wheel of fortune. For it appeers not how this can be don, without danger and mischance of putting out a great number of the best and ablest: in whose stead new elections may bring in as many raw, unexperient'd and otherwise affected, 5 to the weakning and much altering for the wors of public transactions. Neither do I think a perpetual Senat, especially chosen and entrusted by the people, much in this land to be feard, where the well-affected either in a standing armie, or in a setled militia have thir arms in thir own hands. Safest 10 therefor to me it seems and of least hazard or interruption to affairs, that none of the Grand Council be mov'd, unless by death or just conviction of som crime: for what can be expected firm or stedfast from a floating foundation? however, I forejudge not any probable expedient, any tempera-15 ment that can be found in things of this nature so disputable on either side. Yet least this which I affirme, be thought my single opinion, I shall add sufficient testimonie. Kingship it self is therefor counted the more safe and durable, because the king and, for the most part, his counsell, is not chang'd 20 during life: but a Commonwealth is held immortal; and therin firmest, safest and most above fortune: for the death of a king, causeth oftentimes many dangerous alterations; but the death now and then of a Senator is not felt; the main bodie of them still continuing permanent in greatest and noblest 25 Commonwealths, and as it were eternal. Therefor among the Jews, the supreme council of seaventie, call'd the Sanhedrim, founded by Moses, in Athens, that of Areopagus, in Sparta, that of the Ancients, in Rome, the Senat, consisted of members chosen for term of life; and by that means remaind as it were still the same to generations. In Venice they change indeed ofter then every year som particular counsels of State, as that of six, or such other; but the true Senat, which up-5 holds and sustains the government, is the whole aristocracie immovable. So in the United Provinces, the States General, which are indeed but a council of state deputed by the whole union, are not usually the same persons for above three or six years; but the States of every citie, in whom the sovrantie hath bin plac'd time out of minde, are a standing Senat, 10 without succession, and accounted chiefly in that regard the main prop of thir liberty. And why they should be so in every well orderd Commonwealth, they who write of policie, give these reasons; "That to make the Senat successive, not 15 only impairs the dignitie and lustre of the Senat, but weakens the whole Commonwealth, and brings it into manifest danger; while by this means the secrets of State are frequently divulg'd, and matters of greatest consequence committed to inexpert and novice counselors, utterly to seek in 20 the full and intimate knowledge of affairs past." I know not therefor what should be peculiar in England to make successive Parlements thought safest, or convenient here more then in other nations, unless it be the fickl'ness which is attributed to us as we are Ilanders: but good education and 25 acquisit wisdom ought to correct the fluxible fault, if any such be, of our watry situation. It will be objected, that in those places where they had perpetual Senats, they had also popular remedies against thir growing too imperious: as in

Athens, besides Arcopagus, another Senat of four or five hunderd; in Sparta, the Ephori; in Rome, the Tribunes of the people. But the event tels us, that these remedies either little availd the people, or brought them to such a licentious 5 and unbridl'd democratic, as in fine ruind themselves with thir own excessive power. So that the main reason urg'd why popular assemblies are to be trusted with the peoples libertie, rather than a Senat of principal men, because great men will be still endeavoring to inlarge thir power, but the common 10 sort will be contented to maintain thir own libertie, is by experience found false; none being more immoderat and ambitious to amplifie thir power, then such popularities; which was seen in the people of Rome; who at first contented to have thir Tribunes, at length contended with the Senat that 15 one Consul, then both; soon after, that the Censors and Prætors also should be created Plebeian, and the whole empire put into their hands; adoring lastly those, who most were advers to the Senat, till Marius by fulfilling thir inordinat desires, quite lost them all the power for which they had so 20 long bin striving, and left them under the tyrannie of Sylla: the ballance therefor must be exactly so set, as to preserve and keep up due autoritie on either side, as well in the Senat as in the people. And this annual rotation of a Senat to consist of three hunderd, as is lately propounded, requires also an-25 other popular assembly upward of a thousand, with an answerable rotation. Which besides that it will be liable to all those inconveniencies found in the foresaid remedies, cannot but be troublesom and chargeable, both in thir motion and thir session, to the whole land; unweildie with thir own bulk, unable in so great a number to mature thir consultations as they ought, if any be allotted them, and that they meet not from so many parts remote to sit a whole year lieger in one 5 place, only now and then to hold up a forrest of fingers, or to convey each man his bean or ballot into the box, without reason shewn or common deliberation; incontinent of secrets, if any be imparted to them, emulous and always jarring with the other Senat. The much better way doubtless will be in 10 this wavering condition of our affairs, to deferr the changing or circumscribing of our Senat, more then may be done with ease, till the Commonwealth be thoroughly setl'd in peace and safetie, and they themselves give us the occasion. Militarie men hold it dangerous to change the form of battel in 15 view of an enemie: neither did the people of Rome bandie with thir Senat while any of the Tarquins livd, the enemies of thir libertie, nor sought by creating Tribunes to defend themselves against the fear of thir Patricians, till sixteen years after the expulsion of thir kings, and in full securitie of thir 20 state, they had or thought they had just cause given them by the Senat. Another way will be, to wel-qualifie and refine elections: not committing all to the noise and shouting of a rude multitude, but permitting only those of them who are rightly qualifi'd, to nominat as many as they will; and out of 25 that number others of a better breeding, to chuse a less number more judiciously, till after a third or fourth sifting and refining of exactest choice, they only be left chosen who are the due number, and seem by most voices the worthiest. To make the people fittest to chuse, and the chosen fittest to govern, will be to mend our corrupt and faulty education, to teach the people faith not without vertue, temperance, modestie, sobrietie, parsimonie, justice; not to admire wealth or 5 honour; to hate turbulence and ambition; to place every one his privat welfare and happiness in the public peace, libertie and safetie. They shall not then need to be much mistrustfull of thir chosen Patriots in the Grand Council; who will be then rightly call'd the true keepers of our libertie, though 10 the most of thir business will be in forein affairs. But to prevent all mistrust, the people then will have thir several ordinarie assemblies (which will henceforth quite annihilate the odious power and name of Committies) in the chief towns of every countie, without the trouble, charge, or time lost of 15 summoning and assembling from far in so great a number, and so long residing from thir own houses, or removing of thir families, to do as much at home in thir several shires, entire or subdivided, toward the securing of thir libertie, as a numerous assembly of them all formd and conven'd on purpose with the wariest rotation. Wherof I shall speak more ere 20 the end of this discourse: for it may be referd to time, so we be still going on by degrees to perfection. The people well weighing and performing these things, I suppose would have no cause to fear, though the Parlament, abolishing that name, 25 as originally signifying but the parlie of our Lords and Commons with thir Norman king when he pleasd to call them, should, with certain limitations of thir power, sit perpetual, if thir ends be faithfull and for a free Commonwealth, under the name of a Grand or General Council. Till this be don, I am in doubt whether our State will be ever certainly and throughly settl'd; never likely till then to see an end of our troubles and continual changes or at least never the true set-5 tlement and assurance of our libertie. The Grand Council being thus firmly constituted to perpetuities, and still, upon the death or default of any member, suppli'd and kept in full number, ther can be no cause alleag'd why peace, justice, plentiful trade and all prosperitie should not thereupon en-10 sue throughout the whole land; with as much assurance as can be of human things, that they shall so continue (if God favour us, and our wilfull sins provoke him not) even to the coming of our true and rightfull and only to be expected King, only worthie as he is our only Saviour, the Messiah, the 15 Christ, the only heir of his eternal father, the only by him anointed and ordaind since the work of our redemption fin-ishd, Universal Lord of all mankind. The way propounded is plane, easie and open before us; without intricacies, without the introducement of new or obsolete forms, or terms, or 20 exotic models; ideas that would effect nothing, but with a number of new injunctions to manacle the native liberty of mankind; turning all vertue into prescription, servitude, and necessitie, to the great impairing and frustrating of Christian libertie: I say again, this way lies free and smooth before 25 us; is not tangl'd with inconveniencies; invents no new incumbrances; requires no perilous, no injurious alteration or circumscription of mens lands and proprieties; secure, that in this Commonwealth, temporal and spiritual lords remov'd, no man or number of men can attain to such wealth or vast possession, as will need the hedge of an Agrarian law (never succesful, but the cause rather of sedition, save only where it began seasonably with first possession) to confine them 5 from endangering our public libertie; to conclude, it can have no considerable objection made against it, that it is not practicable: least it be said hereafter, that we gave up our libertie for want of a readie way or distinct form propos'd of a free Commonwealth. And this facilitie we shall have above our 10 next neighbouring Commonwealth (if we can keep us from the fond conceit of something like a duke of Venice, put lately into many mens heads, by som one or other sutly driving on under that notion his own ambitious ends to lurch a crown) that our liberty shall not be hamperd or hoverd over by any 15 ingagement to such a potent familie as the house of Nassaw of whom to stand in perpetual doubt and suspicion, but we shall live the cleerest and absolutest free nation in the world. On the contrarie, if ther be a king, which the inconsiderate multitude are now so madd upon, mark how far short we are 20 like to com of all those happinesses, which in a free state we shall immediatly be possessd of. First, the Grand Council, which, as I shewd before, should sit perpetually (unless thir leisure give them now and then som intermissions or vacations, easilie manageable by the Council of State left sitting) 25 shall be call'd, by the kings good will and utmost endeavor as seldom as may be. For it is only the kings right, he will say, to call a parliament; and this he will do most commonly about his own affairs rather than the kingdom's, as will ap-peer planely so soon as they are call'd. For what will thir business then be and the chief expence of thir time, but an endless tugging between petition of right and royal prerogative, especially about the negative voice, militia, or subsidies, 5 demanded and oft times extorted without reasonable cause appeering to the Commons, who are the only true representatives of the people, and thir libertie, but will be then mingl'd with a court-faction; besides which within thir own walls, the sincere part of them who stand faithfull to the 10 people, will again have to deal with two troublesom counter-working adversaries from without, meer creatures of the king, spiritual, and the greater part, as is likeliest, of temporal lords, nothing concern'd with the peoples libertie. If these prevail not in what they please, though never so much 15 against the peoples interest, the Parlament shall be soon dissolv'd, or sit and do nothing; not sufferd to remedie the least greevance, or enact aught advantageous to the people. Next, the Council of State shall not be chosen by the Parlament, but by the king, still his own creatures, courtiers and favor-20 ites; who will be sure in all thir counsels to set thir maister's grandure and absolute power, in what they are able, far above the peoples libertie. I denie not but that ther may be such a king, who may regard the common good before his own, may have no vitious favorite, may hearken only to the 25 wisest and incorruptest of his Parlament: but this rarely happens in a monarchie not elective; and it behoves not a wise nation to committ the summ of thir welbeing, the whole state of thir safetic to fortune. What need they; and how absurd would it be, when as they themselves to whom his chief vertue will be but to hearken, may with much better management and dispatch, with much more commendation of thir own worth and magnanimitie govern without a maister. Can 5 the folly be paralleld, to adore and be the slaves of a single person for doing that which it is ten thousand to one whether he can or will do, and we without him might do more easily, more effectually, more laudably our selves? Shall we never grow old enough to be wise to make seasonable use of gravest 10 authorities, experiences, examples? Is it such an unspeakable joy to serve, such felicitie to wear a yoke? to clink our shackles, lockt on by pretended law of subjection more intolerable and hopeless to be ever shaken off, then those which are knockt on by illegal injurie and violence? Aristotle, our 15 chief instructor in the Universities, least this doctrine be thought Sectarian, as the royalist would have it thought, tels us in the third of his Politics, that certain men at first, for the matchless excellence of thir vertue above others, or som great public benifit, were created kings by the people; in small 20 cities and territories, and in the scarcitie of others to be found like them: but when they abus'd thir power and governments grew larger, and the number of prudent men increas'd, that then the people soon deposing thir tyrants, betook them, in all civilest places, to the form of a free Commonwealth.

25 And why should we thus disparage and prejudicate our own nation, as to fear a scarcitie of able and worthie men united in counsel to govern us, if we will but use diligence and impartiality to finde them out and chuse them, rather yoking our selves to a single person, the natural adversarie and oppressor of libertie, though good, yet far easier corruptible by the excess of his singular power and exaltation, or at best, not comparably sufficient to bear the weight of government, 5 nor equally dispos'd to make us happie in the enjoyment of our libertie under him.

But admitt, that monarchie of it self may be convenient to som nations; yet to us who have thrown it out, receivd back again, it cannot but prove pernicious. For kings to com, 10 never forgetting thir former ejection, will be sure to fortifie and arm themselves sufficiently for the future against all such attempts hereafter from the people: who shall be then so narrowly watchd and kept so low, that though they would never so fain and at the same rate of thir blood and treasure, 15 they never shall be able to regain what they now have purchasd and may enjoy, or to free themselves from any yoke impos'd upon them: nor will they dare to go about it; utterly disheartn'd for the future, if these thir highest attempts prove unsuccesfull; which will be the triumph of all tyrants heer-20 after over any people that shall resist oppression; and thir song will then be, to others, how sped the rebellious English? to our posteritie, how sped the rebells your fathers? This is not my conjecture, but drawn from God's known denouncement against the gentilizing Israelites; who though they were 25 governd in a Commonwealth of God's own ordaining, he only thir king, they his peculiar people, yet affecting rather to resemble heathen, but pretending the misgovernment of Samuel's sons, no more a reason to dislike thir Commonwealth, then the violence of Eli's sons was imputable to that priesthood or religion, clamour'd for a king. They had thir longing; but with this testimonie of God's wrath; ye shall cry out in that day because of your king whom ye shall have 5 chosen, and the Lord will not hear you in that day. Us if he shall hear now, how much less will he hear when we cry heerafter, who once deliverd by him from a king, and not without wondrous acts of his providence, insensible and unworthie of those high mercies, are returning precipitantly, 10 if he withhold us not, back to the captivitie from whence he freed us. Yet neither shall we obtain or buy at an easie rate this new guilded yoke which thus transports us: a new royal-revenue must be found, a new episcopal; for those are individual: both which being wholly dissipated or bought by 15 privat persons or assign'd for service don, and especially to the Armie, cannot be recoverd without a general detriment and confusion to mens estates, or a heave imposition on all mens purses; benifit to none, but to the worst and ignoblest sort of men, whose hope is to be either the ministers of court 20 riot and excess, or the gainers by it: But not to speak more of losses and extraordinarie levies on our estates, what will then be the revenges and offences rememberd and returnd, not only by the chief person, but by all his adherents; accounts and reparations that will be requir'd, suites, inditements, in-25 quiries, discoveries, complaints, informations, who knows against whom or how many, though perhaps neuters, if not to utmost infliction, yet to imprisonment, fines, banishment, or molestation; if not these, yet disfavor, discountnance, disregard and contempt on all but the known royalist or whom he favors, will be plenteous: nor let the new royaliz'd presbyterians perswade themselves that thir old doings, though now recanted, will be forgotten; what ever conditions be contriv'd or trusted on. Will they not beleave this; nor remember the pacification, how it was kept to the Scots; how other solemn promises many a time to us? Let them but now read the diabolical forerunning libells, the faces, the gestures that now appeer foremost and briskest in all public places; as the 10 harbingers of those that are in expectation to raign over us; let them but hear the insolencies, the menaces, the insultings of our newly animated common enemies crept lately out of thir holes, thir hell, I might say, by the language of thir infernal pamphlets, the spue of every drunkard, every ribald;

 15 nameless, yet not for want of licence, but for very shame of thir own vile persons, not daring to name themselves, while they traduce others by name; and give us to foresee that they intend to second thir wicked words, if ever they have power, with more wicked deeds. Let our zealous backsliders fore-20 think now with themselves, how thir necks yok'd with these tigers of Bacchus, these new fanatics of not the preaching but the sweating-tub, inspir'd with nothing holier then the Venereal pox, can draw one way under monarchie to the establishing of church discipline with these new-disgorg'd athe-25 ismes: yet shall they not have the honor to yoke with these, but shall be yok'd under them; these shall plow on their backs. And do they among them who are so forward to bring in the single person, think to be by him trusted or long regarded?

So trusted they shall be and so regarded, as by kings are wont reconcil'd enemies; neglected and soon after discarded, if not prosecuted for old traytors; the first inciters, beginners, and more then to the third part actors of all that followd; it will 5 be found also, that there must be then as necessarily as now (for the contrarie part will be still feard) a standing armie; which for certain shall not be this, but of the fiercest Cavaliers, of no less expence, and perhaps again under Rupert: but let this armie be sure they shall be soon disbanded, and 10 likeliest without arrear or pay; and being disbanded, not be sure but they may as soon be questiond for being in arms against thir king: the same let them fear, who have contributed monie; which will amount to no small number that must then take thir turn to be made delinquents and com-15 pounders. They who past reason and recoverie are devoted to kingship, perhaps will answer, that a greater part by far of the Nation will have it so; the rest therefor must yield. Not so much to convince these, which I little hope, as to confirm them who yield not, I reply; that this greatest part have both 20 in reason and the trial of just battel, lost the right of their election what the government shall be: of them who have not lost that right, whether they for kingship be the greater number, who can certainly determin? Suppose they be; yet of freedom they partake all alike, one main end of government: 25 which if the greater part value not, but will degeneratly forgoe, is it just or reasonable, that most voices against the main end of government should enslave the less number that would be free? More just it is doubtless, if it com to force, that a less number compell a greater to retain, which can be no wrong to them, thir libertie, then that a greater number for the pleasure of thir baseness, compell a less most injuriously to be thir fellow slaves. They who seek nothing but thir own just 5 libertie, have alwaies right to winn it and to keep it, when ever they have power, be the voices never so numerous that oppose it. And how much we above others are concernd to defend it from kingship, and from them who in pursuance therof so perniciously would betray us and themselves to most 10 certain miserie and thraldom, will be needless to repeat.

Having thus far shewn with what ease we may now obtain a free Commonwealth, and by it with as much ease all the freedom, peace, justice, plentie that we can desire, on the other side the difficulties, troubles, uncertainties, nay rather 15 impossibilities to enjoy these things constantly under a monarch, I will now proceed to shew more particularly wherin our freedom and flourishing condition will be more ample and secure to us under a free Commonwealth then under kingship.

20 The whole freedom of man consists either in spiritual or civil libertie. As for spiritual, who can be at rest, who can enjoy any thing in this world with contentment, who hath not libertie to serve God and to save his own soul, according to the best light which God hath planted in him to that purpose, by the reading of his reveal'd will and the guidance of 25 his holy spirit? That this is best pleasing to God, and that the whole Protestant Church allows no supream judge or rule in matters of religion, but the scriptures, and these to be interpreted by the scriptures themselves, which necessarily inferrs liberty of conscience, I have heretofore prov'd at large in another treatise, and might yet further by the public declarations, confessions and admonitions of whole churches and 5 states, obvious in all historie since the Reformation.

This liberty of conscience which above all other things ought to be to all men dearest and most precious, no government more inclinable not to favor only but to protect, then a free Commonwealth; as being most magnanimous, most 10 fearless and confident of its own fair proceedings. Wheras kingship, though looking big, yet indeed most pusillanimous, full of fears, full of jealousies, startl'd at every ombrage, as it hath bin observd of old to have ever suspected most and mistrusted them who were in most esteem for vertue and generositie of minde, so it is now known to have most 15 in doubt and suspicion them who are most reputed to be religious. Queen Elizabeth though her self accounted so good a Protestant, so moderate, so confident of her Subjects love would never give way so much as to Presbyterian reformation in this land, though once and again besought, as Cam- 20 den relates, but imprisond and persecuted the very proposers therof; alleaging it as her minde & maxim unalterable, that such reformation would diminish regal autoritie. What liberty of conscience can we then expect of others, far wors 25 principl'd from the cradle, traind up and governd by Popish and Spanish counsels, and on such depending hitherto for subsistence? Especially what can this last Parlament expect, who having reviv'd lately and publishd the covnant, have reingag'd themselves, never to readmitt Episcopacie: which no son of Charls returning, but will most certainly bring back with him, if he regard the last and strictest charge of his father, to persevere in not the doctrin only, but government

 5 of the church of England; not to neglect the speedie and effectual suppressing of errors and schisms; among which he accounted Presbyterie one of the chief: or if notwithstanding that charge of his father, he submitt to the covnant, how will he keep faith to us with disobedience to him; or regard 10 that faith given, which must be founded on the breach of that last and solemnest paternal charge, and the reluctance, I may say the antipathie which is in all kings against Presbyterian and Independent discipline? for they hear the gospel speaking much of libertie; a word which monarchie and her bish-15 ops both fear and hate, but a free Commonwealth both favors and promotes; and not the word only, but the thing it self. But let our governors beware in time, least thir hard measure to libertie of conscience be found the rock wheron they shipwreck themselves as others have now don before them in the 20 cours wherin God was directing thir stearage to a free Commonwealth, and the abandoning of all those whom they call sectaries, for the detected falshood and ambition of som, be a wilfull rejection of thir own chief strength and interest in the freedom of all Protestant religion, under what abusive name 25 soever calumniated.

The other part of our freedom consists in the civil rights and advancements of every person according to his merit: the enjoyment of those never more certain, and the access to these never more open, then in a free Commonwealth. Both which in my opinion may be best and soonest obtaind, if every countie in the land were made a kinde of subordinate Commonaltie or Commonwealth, and one chief town or 5 more, according as the shire is in circuit, made cities, if they be not so call'd alreadie; where the nobilitie and chief gentry from a proportionable compas of territorie annexd to each citie, may build, houses or palaces, befitting thir qualitie, may bear part in the government, make thir own judicial laws, or 10 use these that are, and execute them by thir own elected judicatures and judges without appeal, in all things of civil government between man and man. So they shall have justice in thir own hands, law executed fully and finally in thir own counties and precincts, long wishd, and spoken of, but never 15 yet obtaind; they shall have none then to blame but themselves, if it be not well administerd; and fewer laws to expect or fear from the supreme autoritie; or to those that shall be made, of any great concernment to public libertie, they may without much trouble in these commonalties or in more gen-

20 eral assemblies call'd to thir cities from the whole territorie on such occasion, declare and publish thir assent or dissent by deputies within a time limited sent to the Grand Council: yet so as this thir judgment declar'd shal submitt to the greater number of other counties or commonalties, and not 25 avail them to any exemption of themselves, or refusal of agreement with the rest, as it may in any of the United Provinces, being sovran within it self, oft times to the great disadvantage of that union. In these imploiments they may much better then they do now, exercise and fit themselves, till thir lot fall to be chosen into the Grand Council, according as thir worth and merit shall be taken notice of by the people. As for controversies that shall happen between men 5 of several counties, they may repair, as they do now, to the capital citie, or any other more commodious, indifferent place and equal judges. And this I finde to have bin practis'd in the old Athenian Commonwealth, reputed the first and ancientest place of civilitie in all Greece; that they had in thir 10 several cities, a peculiar; in Athens, a common government; and thir right, as it befell them, to the administration of both. They should have heer also schools and academies at thir own choice, wherein thir children may be bred up in thir own sight to all learning and noble education not in grammar only, but 15 in all liberal arts and exercises. This would soon spread much more knowledge and civilitie, yea religion through all parts of the land, by communicating the natural heat of government and culture more distributively to all extreme parts, which now lie numm and neglected, would soon make the 20 whole nation more industrious, more ingenuous at home, more potent, more honorable abroad. To this a free Commonwealth will easily assent; (nay the Parlament hath had alreadie som such thing in designe) for of all governments a Commonwealth aims most to make the people flourishing, 25 vertuous, noble and high spirited. Monarchs will never permit: whose aim is to make the people, wealthie indeed perhaps and well fleec't, for thir own shearing and the supplie of regal prodigalitie; but otherwise softest, basest, vitioussest, servilest, easiest to be kept under; and not only in fleece, but in minde also sheepishest; and will have all the benches of judicature annexd to the throne, as a gift of royal grace that we have justice don us; whenas nothing can be more essential to the freedom of a people, then to have the administration of justice and all public ornaments in thir own election and within thir own bounds, without long travelling or depending on remote places to obtain thir right or any civil accomplishment; so it be not supreme, but subordinate to the 10 general power and union of the whole Republic. In which happy firmness as in the particular above mentiond, we shall also far exceed the United Provinces, by having, not as they (to the retarding and distracting oft times of thir counsels or urgentest occasions) many Sovranties united in one Com-15 monwealth, but many Commonwealths under one united and entrusted Sovrantic. And when we have our forces by sea and land, either of a faithful Armie or a setl'd Militia, in our own hands to the firm establishing of a free Commonwealth, publick accounts under our own inspection, general 20 laws and taxes with thir causes in our own domestic suffrages, judicial laws, offices and ornaments at home in our own ordering and administration, all distinction of lords and commoners, that may any way divide or sever the publick interest, remov'd, what can a perpetual senat have then wherin 25 to grow corrupt, wherin to encroach upon us or usurp; or if they do, wherin to be formidable? Yet if all this avail not to remove the fear or envie of a perpetual sitting, it may be easilie provided, to change a third part of them yearly or every two or three years, as was above mentiond; or that it be at those times in the peoples choice, whether they will change them, or renew thir power, as they shall finde cause.

I have no more to say at present: few words will save us, 5 well considerd; few and easie things, now seasonably don. But if the people be so affected, as to prostitute religion and libertie to the vain and groundless apprehension, that nothing but kingship can restore trade, not remembring the frequent plagues and pestilences that then wasted this citie, such 10 as through God's mercie we never have felt since, and that trade flourishes no where more then in the free Commonwealths of Italie, Germanie, and the Low-Countries before thir eyes at this day, yet if trade be grown so craving and importunate through the profuse living of tradesmen, that nothing 15 can support it, but the luxurious expences of a nation upon trifles or superfluities, so as if the people generally should betake themselves to frugalitie, it might prove a dangerous matter, least tradesmen should mutinie for want of trading, and that therefor we must forgoe & set to sale religion, libertie, honor, safetie, all concernments Divine or 20 human to keep up trading, if lastly, after all this light among us, the same reason shall pass for current to put our necks again under kingship, as was made use of by the Jews to retorne back to Egypt and to the worship of thir idol queen, because they falsly imagin'd that they then livd in more plentie 25 and prosperitie, our condition is not sound but rotten, both in religion and all civil prudence; and will bring us soon, the way we are marching, to those calamities which attend alwaies and unavoidably on luxurie, all national judgments under forein or domestic slaverie: so far we shall be from mending our condition by monarchizing our government, whatever new conceit now possesses us. However with all 5 hazard I have ventur'd what I thought my duty to speak in season, and to forewarne my countrey in time: wherin I doubt not but ther be many wise men in all places and degrees, but am sorrie the effects of wisdom are so little seen among us. Many circumstances and particulars I could have 10 added in those things wherof I have spoken; but a few main matters now put speedily in execution, will suffice to recover us, and set all right: and ther will want at no time who are good at circumstances; but men who set thir mindes on main matters and sufficiently urge them, in these most difficult 15 times I finde not many. What I have spoken, is the language of that which is not call'd amiss the good Old Cause: if it seem strange to any, it will not seem more strange, I hope, then convincing to backsliders. Thus much I should perhaps have said though I were sure I should have spoken only 20 trees and stones; and had none to cry to, but with the Prophet, O earth, earth, earth! to tell the very soil it self, what her perverse inhabitants are deaf to. Nay though what I have spoke, should happ'n (which Thou suffer not, who didst create mankinde free; nor Thou next, who didst redeem us 25 from being servants of men!) to be the last words of our expiring libertie. But I trust I shall have spoken perswasion to abundance of sensible and ingenuous men: to som perhaps whom God may raise of these stones to become children of reviving libertie; and may reclaim, though they seem now chusing them a captain back for Egypt, to bethink themselves a little and consider whether they are rushing; to exhort this torrent also of the people, not to be so impetuous, 5 but to keep thir due channell; and at length recovering and uniting thir better resolutions, now that they see alreadie how open and unbounded the insolence and rage is of our common enemies, to stay these ruinous proceedings; justly and timely fearing to what a precipice of destruction the deluge 10 of this epidemic madness would hurrie us through the general defection of a misguided and abus'd multitude.

The End.

upon a late Sermon, Titl'd, the Fear of God and the King, &c.

I AFFIRMD in the Preface of a late discourse, Entitl'd, The ready way to establish a free Commonwealth, and the dangers of readmitting Kingship in this Nation, that the humor of returning to our old bondage, was in- 5 stilld of late by some deceivers; and to make good, that what I then affirmd, was not without just ground, one of those deceivers I present here to the people: and if I prove him not such, refuse not to be so accounted in his stead.

He begins in his Epistle to the General; and moves cun-10 ningly for a licence to be admitted Physitian both to Church and State; then sets out his practice in Physical terms, an wholsom Electuary to be taken every morning next our hearts: tells of the opposition which he met with from the Collodge of State-Physitians, then laies before you his drugs 15 and ingredients; Strong purgatives in the Pulpit, contemperd of the myrrhe of mortification, the aloes of confession and contrition, the rubarb of restitution and satisfaction; a pretty fantastic dos of Divinity from a Pulpit-Mountibanck, not unlike the Fox, that turning Pedler, open'd his pack 20 of ware before the Kid; though he now would seem to per-sonate the good Samaritan, undertaking to describe the rise and progress of our national malady, and to prescribe the onely remedy: which how he performs, we shall quickly see.

First, he would suborn Saint Luke as his spokesman to the General, presuming, it seems, to have had as perfect understanding of things from the very first, as the Evangelist had 5 of his Gospel; that the General who hath so eminently born his part in the whole action, might know the certainty of those things better from him a partial Sequesterd enemy: for so he presently appears, though covertly and like the tempter; commencing his address with an impudent calumnie and 10 affront to his Excellence, that he would be pleas'd to carry on what he had so happily begun in the name and cause not of God onely, which we doubt not, but of his anointed, meaning the late Kings son: which is to charge him most audaciously and falsly with the renouncing of his own public 15 promises and declarations both to the Parlament and the Army, and we trust his actions ere long will deterr such insinuating slanderers from thus approaching him for the future. But the General may well excuse him; for the Comforter himself scapes not his presumption, avouchd as fals-20 ly, to have impowrd to those designs him and him only, who hath solemnly declar'd the contrary. What Phanatique against whom he so often inveighs, could more presumptuously affirm whom the Comforter hath impowrd, then this Antifanatic, as he would be thought?

The Text.

25 Prov. 24. 21. My son, fear God and the King, and meddle not with them that be seditious, or desirous of change, &c.

Letting pass matters not in controversie, I come to the main drift of your Sermon, the King; which word here is either to signifie any supreme Magistrate, or else your latter object of fear is not universal, belongs not at all to many parts 5 of Christendom, that have no King; and in particular, not to us. That we have no King since the putting down of Kingship in this Commonwealth, is manifest by this last Parliament, who to the time of thir dissolving not onely made no address at all to any King, but summond this next to come 10 by the Writ formerly appointed of a free Commonwealth, without restitution or the least mention of any Kingly right or power; which could not be, if there were at present any King of England. The main part therefore of your Sermon, if it mean a King in the usual sense, is either impertinent and 15 absurd, exhorting your auditory to fear that which is not, or if King here be, as it is, understood for any supreme Magistrate, by your own exhortation they are in the first place not to meddle with you, as being your self most of all the seditions meant here, and the desirous of change, in stirring them 20 up to fear a King, whom the present Government takes no notice of.

You begin with a vain vision, God and the King at the first blush (which will not be your last blush) seeming to stand in your text like those two Cherubims on the mercy- 25 seat, looking on each other. By this similitude, your conceited Sanctuary, worse then the Altar of Ahaz, patternd from Damascus, degrades God to a Cherub, and raises your King to be his collateral in place, notwithstanding the other differences you put: which well agrees with the Court-letters, lately publishd from this Lord to tother Lord, that cry him up for no less then Angelical and Celestial.

Your first observation, pag. 8. is, That God and the King are coupl'd in the text, and what the Holy Ghost hath thus firmly combin'd, we may not, we must not dare to put asunder; and your self is the first man who puts them asunder by the first proof of your doctrine immediately following, Iudg. 7. 20. which couples the sword of the Lord and Gideon, a man who not only was no King, but refus'd to be a King or Monarch, when it was offered him, in the very next chapter, vers. 22, 23. I will not rule over you, neither shall my son rule over you; the Lord shall rule over you. Here we see that this worthy heroic deliverer of his Country thought it best governd, if the Lord governd it in that form of a free Commonwealth, which they then enjoind without a single person. And this is your first Scripture, abus'd and most impertinently cited, nay against your self, to prove that Kings at thir Coronation have a sword given them, which you interpret the Militia, the power of life and death put into thir hands, against the declar'd judgement of our Parlements, nay of all our Laws, which reserve to themselves only the power of life and death, and render you in thir just resentment of this boldness, another Doctor Manwaring.

Your next proof is as false and frivolous, The King, say you, is Gods sword-bearer; true, but not the King only, for Gideon by whom you seek to prove this, neither was, nor would be a King; and as you your self confess, pag. 40. there be divers forms of government. He bears not the sword in vain, Rom. 13. 4. this also is as true of any lawful rulers, especially supreme, so that rulers, vers. 3. and therefor this present government, without whose authority you excite the 5 people to a King, bear the sword as well as Kings, and as little in vain. They fight against God, who resist his Ordinance, and go about to wrest the sword out of the hands of his Anointed. This is likewise granted: but who is his Anointed? not every King, but they only who were anointed 10 or made Kings by his special command; as Saul, David, and his race, which ended in the Messiah, (from whom no Kings at this day can derive thir rule) Iehu, Cyrus, and if any other were by name appointed by him to some particular service: as for the rest of Kings, all other supreme Magistrates are as 15 much the Lords anointed as they; and our obedience commanded equally to them all; For there is no power but of God, Rom. 13. 1. and we are exhorted in the Gospell to obey Kings, as other Magistrates, not that they are call'd any where the Lord's anointed, but as they are the ordinance of 20 man, 1 Pet. 2. 13. You therefor and other such false Doctors, preaching Kings to your auditory, as the Lord's only anointed, to withdraw people from the present Government, by your own text are self condemnd, and not to be followd, not to be medl'd with, but to be noted, as most of all others the 25 seditionous and desirous of change.

Your third proof is no less against your self. Psal. 105. 15. touch not mine anointed. For this is not spoken in behalf of Kings, but spoken to reprove Kings, that they should not touch his anointed Saints and Servants, the seed of Abraham, as the verse next before might have taught you: he reprov'd Kings for their sakes; saying, touch not mine anointed, and do my Prophets no harm; according to that 2 Cor. 1. 21. He 5 who hath anointed us, is God. But how well you confirme one wrested Scripture with another: 1 Sam. 8. 7. They have not rejected thee, but me: grossly misapplying these words, which were not spoken to any who had resisted or rejected a King, but to them who much against the will of God had 10 sought a King, and rejected a Commonwealth, wherein they might have liv'd happily under the Raign of God only, thir King. Let the words interpret themselves: v. 6. 7. But the thing displeased Samuel, when they said, give us a King to judge us: and Samuel prayed unto the Lord. And the Lord

15 said unto Samuel, hearken unto the voice of the people in all that they say unto thee; for they have not rejected thee, but they have rejected me, that I should not reign over them. Hence you conclude, so indissoluble is the Conjunction of God and the King. O notorious abuse of Scripture! whenas 20 you should have concluded, So unwilling was God to give them a King, So wide was the disjunction of God from a King. Is this the doctrin you boast of to be so clear in it self, and like a Mathematical principle, that needs no farther demonstration. Bad Logic, bad Mathematics (for principles 25 can have no demonstration at all) but wors Divinitie. O people of an implicit faith no better then Romish, if these be thy prime teachers; who to thir credulous audience dare thus juggle with Scripture, to alleage those places for the proof of thir doctrin, which are the plane refutation: and this is all the Scripture which he brings to confirm his point.

The rest of his preachment is meer groundless chat, save heer and there a few granes of corn scatterd to intice the silly
 5 fowl into his net, interlac't heer and there with som human reading; though slight, and not without Geographical and Historical mistakes: as page 29, Suevia the German dukedom, for Suecia the Northern Kingdom: Philip of Macedon, who is generally understood of the great Alexanders father 10 only, made contemporanie, page 31, with T. Quintus the Roman commander, instead of T. Quintius and the latter Philip: and page 44, Tully cited in his third oration against Verres, to say of him, that he was a wicked Consul, who never was a Consul: nor Trojan sedition ever portraid by that 15 verse of Virgil, which you cite page 47, as that of Troy: school-boyes could have tould you, that ther is nothing of Troy in that whole portraiture, as you call it, of sedition. These gross mistakes may justly bring in doubt your other loos citations; and that you take them up somewhere at the 20 second or third hand rashly and without due considering.

Nor are you happier in the relating or the moralizing your fable. The frogs (being once a free Nation saith the fable) petitioned Jupiter for a King: he tumb'l'd among them a log. They found it insensible: they petitioned then for a King 25 that should be active: he sent them a Crane (a ~~Stork~~ saith the fable) which straight fell to pecking them up. This you apply to the reproof of them who desire change: wheras indeed the true moral shews rather the folly of those, who being free seek a King; which for the most part either as a log lies heave on his Subjects, without doing ought worthie of his dignitie and the charge to maintain him, or as a Stork is ever pecking them up and devouring them.

- 5 But by our fundamental Laws, the King is the highest power, page 40. If we must hear mootings and law-lectures from the Pulpit, what shame is it for a Dr. of Divinitie, not first to consider, that no law can be fundamental, but that which is grounded on the light of nature or right reason,
- 10 commonly call'd moral law: which no form of Government was ever counted; but arbitrarie, and at all times in the choice of every free people, or thir representers. This choice of Government is so essential to thir freedom, that longer then they have it, they are not free. In this land not only the late King
- 15 and his posteritie, but kingship it self hath bin abrogated by a law; which involves with as good reason the posteritie of a King forfeited to the people, as that Law heretofore of Treason against the King, attainted the children with the father. This Law against both King and Kingship they who most
- 20 question, do no less question all enacted without the King and his Antiparlament at Oxford, though call'd Mungrell by himself. If no Law must be held good, but what passes in full Parliament, then surely in exactness of legalitie, no member must be missing: for look how many are missing, so
- 25 many Counties or Cities that sent them, want thir representers. But if being once chosen, they serve for the whole Nation, then any number which is sufficient, is full, and most of all in times of discord, necessitie and danger. The King himself was bound by the old Mode of Parlements, not to be absent, but in case of sickness, or som extraordinary occasion, and then to leave his substitute; much less might any member be allowd to absent himself. If the King then and many 5 of the members with him, without leaving any in his stead, forsook the Parliament upon a meer panic fear, as was at that time judg'd by most men, and to leavie Warr against them that sat, should they who were left sitting, break up, or not dare enact aught of neerest and presentest concernment to 10 public safety, for the punctilio wanting of a full number, which no Law book in such extraordinary cases hath determind? Certainly if it were lawfull for them to fly from thir charge upon pretence of privat safety, it was much more lawfull for these to sit and act in thir trust what was necessary 15 for public. By a Law therefor of Parliament, and of a Parliament that conquerd both Ireland, Scotland, & all thir enemies in England, defended thir friends, were generally acknowledged for a Parliament both at home & abroad, kingship was abolishd: this Law now of late hath bin negatively re-20 peald; yet Kingship not positively restor'd; and I suppose never was establishd by any certain Law in this Land, nor possibly could be: for how could our forefathers binde us to any certain form of Government, more then we can binde our posteritie? If a people be put to warre with thir King 25 for his misgovernment, and overcome him, the power is then undoubtedly in thir own hands how they will be governd. The warr was granted just by the King himself at the beginning of his last treatie; and still maintaind to be so by this last Parliament, as appears by the qualification prescrib'd to the members of this next ensuing, That none shall be elected, who have born arms against the Parliament since 1641. If the warr were just, the conquest was also just by the Law of Nations. And he who was the chief enemy, in all right ceased to be the King, especially after captivity, by the deciding verdict of warr; and royaltie with all her Laws and pretentions, yet remains in the victors power, together with the choice of our future Government. Free Commonwealths have bin ever counted fittest and properest for civil, vertuous and industrious Nations, abounding with prudent men worthie to govern: monarchie fittest to curb degenerate, corrupt, idle, proud, luxurious people. If we desire to be of the former, nothing better for us, nothing nobler then a free Commonwealth: if we will needs condemn our selves to be of the latter, desparing of our own vertue, industrie and the number of our able men, we may then, conscious of our own unworthiness to be governd better, sadly betake us to our befitting thralldom: yet chusing out of our own number one who hath best aided the people, and best merited against tyrannie, the space of a raign or two we may chance to live happily enough, or tolerably. But that a victorious people should give up themselves again to the vanquishd, was never yet heard of; seems rather void of all reason and good policie, and will in all probabilitie subject the subduers to the subdu'd, will expose to revenge, to beggarie, to ruin and perpetual bondage the victors under the vanquishd: then which what can be more unworthie?

From misinterpreting our Law, you return to do again the same with Scripture; and would prove the supremacy of English Kings from 1 Pet. 2. 13. as if that were the Apostles work: wherein if he saith that the king is supreme, he speaks 5 so of him but as an ordinance of man, and in respect of those Governours that are sent by him, not in respect of Parlements, which by the Law of this Land are his bridle; in vain his bridle, if not also his rider: and therefor hath not only co-ordination with him, which you falsly call seditions, but hath 10 superioritie above him, and that neither against religion, nor right reason: no nor against Common Law; for our Kings reignd only by Law: but the Parlement is above all positive Law, whether civil or common, makes or unmakes them both, & still the latter Parlement above the former, above all 15 the former Lawgivers, then certainly above all precedent Laws, entaild the Crown on whom it pleasd; and, as a great Lawyer saith, is so transcendent and absolute, that it cannot be confin'd either for causes or persons, within any bounds. But your cry is, no Parlement without a King. If this be so, 20 we have never had lawfull Kings, who have all bin created Kings either by such Parlements, or by conquest: if by such Parlements, they are in your allowance none: if by conquest, that conquest we have now conquerd. So that as well by your own assertion as by ours, there can at present be no King.
25 And how could that person be absolutely supreme, who reignd, not under Law only, but under oath of his good demeanour given to the people at his coronation, ere the people gave him his Crown? and his principal oath was to maintain those Laws which the people should chuse? If then the Law it self, much more he who was but the keeper and minister of Law, was in thir choice; and both he subordinat to the performance of his duty sworn, and our sworn allegiance in 5 order only to his performance.

You fall next on the Consistorian Schismatics; for so you call Presbyterians, page 40; and judge them to have enervated the Kings Supremacie by thir opinions and practice, differing in many things only in terms from Poperie; though some 10 of those principles which you there cite concerning Kingship, are to be read in Aristotles Politics, long ere Popery was thought on. The Presbyterians therefor it concerns to be well forewarnd of you betimes; and to them I leave you.

As for your examples of seditious men, page 54, &c. Cora, Absalom, Zimri, Sheba, to these you might with much more reason have added your own name, who blow the Trumpet of sedition from your Pulpit against the present Government: in reward wherof they have sent you by this time, as I hear, 15 to your own place, for preaching open sedition, while you would seem to preach against it.

As for your appendix annext of the Samaritan reviv'd, finding it so foul a libell against all the well-affected of this land, since the very time of Ship-money, against the whole Parlament, both Lords and Commons, except those that fled 25 to Oxford, against the whole reformed Church, not only in England and Scotland, but all over Europ (in comparison wherof you and your Prelatical partie are more truly schismatics and sectarians, nay more properly fanatics in your fanés and gilded temples, then those whom you revile by those names) and meeting with no more Scripture or solid reason in your Samaritane wine and oyle, then hath already bin found sophisticated and adulterate, I leave your malignant narrative, as needing no other confutation, then the just 5 censure already pass'd upon you by the Councel of State.

TOLERATION

Heresie, Schism, and Toleration.

IT is unknown to no man, who knows ought of concernment among us, that the increase of Popery is at this day no small trouble and offence to greatest part of the Nation; and the rejoycing of all good men that it is so; the more 5 their rejoycing, that God hath giv'n a heart to the people to remember still their great and happy deliverance from Popish Thralldom, and to esteem so highly the precious benefit of his Gospel, so freely and so peaceably enjoy'd among them. Since therefore some have already in Publick with many considerable 10 Arguments exhorted the people to beware the growth of this Romish Weed; I thought it no less then a common duty to lend my hand, how unable soever, to so good a Purpose. I will not now enter into the Labyrinth of Councils and Fathers, an intangl'd wood which the Papist loves to fight in, not 15 with hope of Victory, but to obscure the shame of an open overthrow: which yet in that kind of Combate, many heretofore, and one of late, hath eminently giv'n them. And such manner of dispute with them, to Learned Men, is useful and very commendable: But I shall insist now on what is plainer 20 to Common apprehension, and what I have to say, without longer introduction.

True Religion is the true Worship and Service of God, learnt and believed from the Word of God only. No Man or

Angel can know how God would be worshipt and serv'd unless God reveal it: He hath Reveal'd and taught it us in the holy Scriptures by inspir'd Ministers, and in the Gospel by his own Son and his Apostles, with strictest command to reject all 5 other traditions or additions whatsoever. According to that of St. Paul, Though wee or an Angel from Heaven preach any other Gospel unto you, than that which wee have preacht unto you, let him be Anathema, or accurst. And Deut. 4. 2. Ye shall not add to the word which I command you, neither shall you 10 diminish ought from it. Rev. 22. 18, 19. If any man shall add, &c. If any man shall take away from the Words, &c. With good and Religious Reason therefore all Protestant Churches with one consent, and particularly the Church of England in Her thirty nine Articles, Artic. 6th, 19th, 20th, 21st, and 15 elsewhere, maintain these two points, as the main Principles of true Religion: that the Rule of true Religion is the Word of God only: and that their Faith ought not to be an implicit faith, that is, to believe, though as the Church believes, against or without express authority of Scripture. And if all Protes-20 tants as universally as they hold these two Principles, so attentively and Religiously would observe them, they would avoid and cut off many Debates and Contentions, Schisms and Persecutions, which too oft have been among them, and more firmly unite against the common adversary. For hence 25 it directly follows, that no true Protestant can persecute, or not tolerate his fellow Protestant, though dissenting from him in som opinions, but he must flatly deny and Renounce these two his own main Principles, whereon true Religion is founded; while he compels his Brother from that which he believes as the manifest word of God, to an implicit faith (which he himself condemns) to the endangering of his Brothers soul, whether by rash belief, or outward Conformity: for whatsoever is not of Faith, is Sin.

I will now as briefly show what is false Religion or Heresie, which will be done as easily: for of contraries the definitions must needs be contrary. Heresie therefore is a Religion taken up and believ'd from the traditions of men and additions to 10 the word of God. Whence also it follows clearly, that of all known Sects or pretended Religions at this day in Christendom, Popery is the only or the greatest Heresie: and he who is so forward to brand all others for Hereticks, the obstinate Papist, the only Heretick. Hence one of their 15 own famous Writers found just cause to stile the Romish Church Mother of Error, School of Heresie. And whereas the Papist boasts himself to be a Roman Catholick, it is a meer contradiction, one of the Popes Bulls, as if he should say, universal particular a Catholic Schismatic. For Catholic in Greek 20 signifies universal: and the Christian Church was so call'd, as consisting of all Nations to whom the Gospel was to be preach't, in contradistinction to the Jewish Church, which consisted for the most part of Jews only.

Sects may be in a true Church as well as in a false, when 25 men follow the Doctrin too much for the Teachers sake, whom they think almost infallible; and this becomes, through Infirmary, implicit Faith; and the name Sectary, pertains to such a Disciple.

Schism is a rent or division in the Church, when it comes to the separating of Congregations; and may also happen to a true Church, as well as to a false; yet in the true needs not tend to the breaking of Communion; if they can agree in the 5 right administration of that wherein they Communicate, keeping their other Opinions to themselves, not being destructive to Faith. The Pharisees and Saduces were two Sects, yet both met together in their common worship of God at Jerusalem. But here the Papist will angrily demand, what!
10 Are Lutherans, Calvinists, Anabaptists, Socinians, Arminians, no Hereticks? I answer, all these may have some errors, but are no Hereticks. Heresie is in the Will and choice profestly against Scripture; error is against the Will, in misunderstanding the Scripture after all sincere endeavours to un-15 derstand it rightly: Hence it was said well by one of the Ancients, Err I may, but a Heretick I will not be. It is a humane frailty to err, and no man is infallible here on earth. But so long as all these profess to set the Word of God only before them as the Rule of faith and obedience; and use all diligence 20 and sincerity of heart, by reading, by learning, by study, by prayer for Illumination of the holy Spirit, to understand the Rule and obey it, they have done what man can do: God will assuredly pardon them, as he did the friends of Job, good and pious men, though much mistaken, as there it appears, in 25 some Points of Doctrin. But some will say, with Christians it is otherwise, whom God hath promis'd by his Spirit to teach all things. True, all things absolutely necessary to salvation: But the hottest disputes among Protestants calmly and charitably enquir'd into, will be found less then such. The Lutheran holds Consubstantiation; an error indeed, but not mortal. The Calvinist is taxt with Predestination, and to make God the Author of sin; not with any dishonourable thought of 5 God, but it may be over zealously asserting his absolute power, not without plea of Scripture. The Anabaptist is accus'd of Denying Infants their right to Baptism; again they say, they deny nothing but what the Scripture denies them. The Arian and Socinian are charg'd to dispute against the Trinity: they 10 affirm to believe the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, according to Scripture, and the Apostolic Creed; as for terms of Trinity, Triniunity, Coessentiality, Tripersonality, and the like, they reject them as Scholastic Notions, not to be found in Scripture, which by a general Protestant Maxim is plain and perspicuous 15 abundantly to explain its own meaning in the properest words, belonging to so high a Matter and so necessary to be known; a mystery indeed in their Sophistic Subtilties, but in Scripture a plain Doctrin. Their other Opinions are of less Moment. They dispute the satisfaction of Christ, or rather the word 20 Satisfaction, as not Scriptural: but they acknowledge him both God and their Saviour. The Arminian lastly is condemn'd for setting up free will against free grace; but that Imputation he disclaims in all his writings, and grounds himself largely upon Scripture only. It cannot be deny'd that the 25 Authors or late Revivers of all these Sects or Opinions, were Learned, Worthy, Zealous, and Religious Men, as appears by their lives written, and the same of their many Eminent and Learned followers, perfect and powerful in the Scriptures, holy and unblameable in their lives: and it cannot be imagin'd that God would desert such painful and zealous labourers in his Church, and ofttimes great sufferers for their Conscience, to damnable Errors & a Reprobate sense, who had so 5 often implor'd the assistance of his Spirit; but rather, having made no man Infallible, that he hath pardon'd their errors, and accepts their Pious endeavours, sincerely searching all things according to the rule of Scripture, with such guidance and direction as they can obtain of God by Prayer. What 10 Protestant then who himself maintains the same Principles, and disavowes all implicit Faith, would persecute, and not rather charitably tolerate such men as these, unless he mean to abjure the Principles of his own Religion? If it be askt how far they should be tolerated? I answer doubtless equally, as 15 being all Protestants; that is on all occasions to give account of their Faith, either by Arguing, Preaching in their several Assemblies, Publick writing, and the freedom of Printing. For if the French and Polonian Protestants injoy all this liberty among Papists, much more may a Protestant justly expect it 20 among Protestants; and yet some times here among us, the one persecutes the other upon every slight Pretence.

But he is wont to say he enjoyns only things indifferent. Let them be so still; who gave him authority to change their nature by injoyning them? If by his own Principles, as is prov'd, 25 he ought to tolerate controverted points of Doctrine not slightly grounded on Scripture, much more ought he not impose things indifferent without Scripture. In Religion nothing is indifferent, but, if it come once to be Impos'd, is either a command or a Prohibition, and so consequently an addition to the word of God, which he professes to disallow. Besides, how unequal, how uncharitable must it needs be, to Impose that which his conscience cannot urge him to impose, upon 5 him whose conscience forbids him to obey? What can it be but love of contention for things not necessary to be done, to molest the conscience of his Brother, who holds them necessary to be not done? To conclude, let such a one but call to mind his own Principles above mention'd, and he must nec-10 essarily grant, that neither he can impose, nor the other believe or obey ought in Religion, but from the Word of God only. More amply to understand this, may be read the 14th. and 15th. Chapters to the Romans, and the Contents of the 14th, set forth no doubt but with full authority of the 15 Church of England; the Gloss is this. Men may not condemn, or condemn one the other for things indifferent. And in the 6th Article above mentioned, Whatsoever is not read in Holy Scripture, nor may be proved thereby, is not to be required of any man as an article of Faith, or necessary to 20 salvation. And certainly what is not so, is not to be required at all; as being an addition to the Word of God expressly forbidden.

Thus this long and hot Contest, whether Protestants ought to tolerate one another, if men will be but Rational and not 25 Partial, may be ended without need of more words to compose it.

Let us now enquire whether Popery be tolerable or no. Popery is a double thing to deal with, and claims a twofold Power, Ecclesiastical, and Political, both usurpt, and the one supporting the other.

But Ecclesiastical is ever pretended to Political. The Pope by this mixt faculty, pretends right to Kingdoms and States, and especially to this of England, Thrones and Unthrones Kings, and absolves the people from their obedience to them; sometimes interdicts to whole Nations the Publick worship of God, shutting up their Churches: and was wont to dreign away greatest part of the wealth of this then miserable Land, as part of his Patrimony, to maintain the Pride and Luxury of his Court and Prelates: and now since, through the infinite mercy and favour of God, we have shaken off his Babylonish Yoke, hath not ceas'd by his Spyes and Agents, Bulls and Emissaries, once to destroy both King and Parliament; perpetually to seduce, corrupt, and pervert as many as they can of the People. Whether therefore it be fit or reasonable, to tolerate men thus principl'd in Religion towards the State, I submit it to the consideration of all Magistrates, who are best able to provide for their own and the publick safety. As for tolerating the exercise of their Religion, supposing their State activities not to be dangerous, I answer, that Toleration is either public or private; and the exercise of their Religion, as far as it is Idolatrous, can be tolerated neither way: not publicly, without grievous and unsufferable scandal giv'n to all conscientious Beholders; not privately, without great offence to God, declar'd against all kind of Idolatry, though secret. Ezekiel 8. 7, 8. And he brought me to the door of the Court, and when I looked, behold a hole in the wall. Then said he unto me, Son of Man, digg now in the wall; and when I had digged, behold a Door, and he said unto me, go in, and behold the wicked Abominations that they do here. And verse 12. Then said he unto me, Son of Man, hast thou seen what 5 the Antients of the house of Israel do in the dark? &c. And it appears by the whole Chapter, that God was no less offended with these secret Idolatries, then with those in public; and no less provokt, then to bring on and hasten his Judgements on the whole Land for these also.

10 Having shown thus, that Popery, as being Idolatrous, is not to be tolerated either in Public or in Private; it must be now thought how to remove it and hinder the growth thereof, I mean in our Natives, and not Forreigners, Privileg'd by the Law of Nations. Are we to punish them by corporal punish-15 ment, or fines in their Estates, upon account of their Religion? I suppose it stands not with the Clemency of the Gospel, more then what appertains to the security of the State: But first we must remove their Idolatry, and all the furniture thereof, whether Idols, or the Mass wherein they adore their God 20 under Bread and Wine: for the Commandment forbids to adore, not only any Graven Image, but the likeness of any thing in Heaven above, or in the Earth beneath, or in the Water under the Earth, thou shalt not bow down to them nor worship them, for I the Lord thy God am a Jealous God. If 25 they say that by removing their Idols we violate their Consciences, we have no warrant to regard Conscience which is not grounded on Scripture: and they themselves confess in their late defences, that they hold not their Images necessary to salvation, but only as they are enjoyn'd them by tradition.

Shall we condescend to dispute with them? The Scripture is our only Principle in Religion; and by that only they will not be Judg'd, but will add other Principles of their own, 5 which, forbidden by the Word of God, we cannot assent to. And the common Maxim also in Logic is, against them who deny Principles, we are not to dispute. Let them bound their disputations on the Scripture only, and an ordinary Protestant, well read in the Bible, may turn and wind their Doc- 10 tors. They will not go about to prove their Idolatries by the Word of God, but run to shifts and evasions, and frivolous distinctions: Idols they say are Laymens Books, and a great means to stir up pious thoughts and Devotion in the Learnedst. I say they are no means of Gods appointing, but plainly 15 the contrary: Let them hear the Prophets; Jerem. 10. 8. The stock is a Doctrin of Vanities. Habakkuk 2. 18. What profiteth the graven Image that the maker thereof hath graven it: The Molten Image and a teacher of Lyes? But they alleadge in their late answers, that the Laws of Moses giv'n only to the 20 Jews, concern not us under the Gospel: and remember not that Idolatry is forbidden as expressly, [in several places of the Gospel,] But with these wiles and fallacies compassing Sea and Land, like the Pharisees of old, to make one Proselite, they lead away privily many simple and ignorant Souls, men 25 or women, and make them twofold more the Children of Hell then themselves, Matt. 23. 15. But the Apostle hath well warn'd us, I may say, from such Deceivers as these, for their Mystery was then working. I beseech you Brethren, saith he, mark them which cause divisions and offences, contrary to the doctrin which ye have learned, and avoid them; for they that are such serve not our Lord Jesus Christ, but their own belly, and by good words and fair speeches deceive the heart of the 5 simple, Rom. 16. 17, 18.

The next means to hinder the growth of Popery will be to read duly and diligently the Holy Scriptures, which as St. Paul saith to Timothy, who had known them from a child, are able to make wise unto salvation. And to the whole Church 10 of Colossi; Let the word of Christ dwell in you plentifully, with all wisdom, Coloss. 3. 16. The Papal Antichristian Church permits not her Laity to read the Bible in their own tongue. Our Church on the contrary hath proposd it to all men, and to this end translated it into English, with profitable 15 Notes on what is met with obscure, though what is most necessary to be known be still plainest: that all sorts and degrees of men, not understanding the Original, may read it in their Mother Tongue. Neither let the Countryman, the Tradesman, the Lawyer, the Physician, the Statesman, excuse him-20 self by his much business from the studious reading thereof. Our Saviour saith, Luke 10. 41, 42. Thou art careful and troubled about many things, but one thing is needful. If they were ask't, they would be loath to set earthly things, wealth, or honour before the wisdom of salvation. Yet most men in 25 the course and practice of their lives are found to do so; and through unwillingness to take the pains of understanding their Religion by their own diligent study, would fain be sav'd

by a Deputy. Hence comes implicit faith, ever learning and never taught, much hearing and small proficiencie, till want of Fundamental knowledg easily turns to superstition or Popery: Therefore the Apostle admonishes, Eccles. 4. 14.

5 That we henceforth be no more children tossed to and fro and carried about with every wind of Doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness whereby they lye in wait to deceive. Every member of the Church, at least of any breeding or capacity, so well ought to be grounded in spiritual knowl-
10 edg, as, if need be, to examine their Teachers themselves, Acts. 17. 11. They searched the Scriptures dayly, whether those things were so. Rev. 2. 2. Thou hast tryed them which say they are Apostles, and are not. How should any private Christian try his Teachers unless he be well grounded himself 15 in the Rule of Scripture, by which he is taught. As therefore among Papists, their ignorance in Scripture cheifly upholds Popery; so among Protestant People, the frequent and serious reading thereof will soonest pull Popery down.

Another means to abate Popery arises from the constant 20 reading of Scripture, wherein Beleivers who agree in the main, are every where exhorted to mutual forbearance and charity one towards the other, though dissenting in some opinions. It is written that the Coat of our Saviour was without seame: whence some would infer that there should be no 25 division in the Church of Christ. It should be so indeed; Yet seams in the same cloath, neither hurt the garment, nor misbecome it; and not only seams, but Schisms will be while men are fallible: But if they who dissent in matters not essential to belief, while the common adversary is in the field, shall stand jarring and pelting at one another, they will be soon routed and subdued. The Papist with open mouth makes much advantage of our several opinions; not that he is able to confute 5 the worst of them, but that we by our continual jangle among our selves make them worse then they are indeed. To save our selves therefore, and resist the common enemy, it concerns us mainly to agree within our selves, that with joynt forces we may not only hold our own, but get ground; and why should 10 we not? The Gospel commands us to tolerate one another, though of various opinions, and hath promised a good and happy event thereof, Phil. 3. 15. Let us therefore as many as be perfect be thus minded; and if in any thing ye be otherwise minded, God shall reveal even this unto you. And we are bid, 15 1 Thess. 5. 21. Prove all things, hold fast that which is good. St. Paul judg'd that not only to tolerate, but to examine and prove all things, was no danger to our holding fast of that which is good. How shall we prove all things, which includes all opinions at least founded on Scripture, unless we not only 20 tolerate them, but patiently hear them, and seriously read them? If he who thinks himself in the truth professes to have learnt it, not by implicit faith, but by attentive study of the Scriptures & full perswasion of heart, with what equity can he refuse to hear or read him, who demonstrates to have gained 25 his knowledge by the same way? is it a fair course to assert truth by arrogating to himself the only freedome of speech, and stopping the mouths of others equally gifted? This is the direct way to bring in that Papistical implicit faith which we all disclaim. They pretend it would unsettle the weaker sort: the same groundless fear is pretended by the Romish Clergy in prohibiting the Scripture. At least then let them have leave to write in Latin which the common people understand not; 5 that what they hold may be discust among the Learned only. We suffer the Idolatrous books of Papists, without this fear, to be sold & read as common as our own. Why not much rather of Anabaptists, Arians, Arminians, & Socinians? There is no Learned man but will confess he hath much profited by read- 10 ing Controversies, his Senses awakt, his Judgement sharpn'd, and the truth which he holds more firmly establish't. If then it be profitable for him to read; why should it not at least be tolerable and free for his Adversary to write? In Logic they teach, that contraries laid together more evidently appear: it 15 follows then that all controversies being permitted, falshood will appear more false, and truth the more true: which must needs conduce much, not only to the confounding of Popery, but to the general confirmation of unimplicit truth.

The last means to avoid Popery, is to amend our lives: it is 20 a general complaint that this Nation of late years, is grown more numerously and excessively vitious then heretofore; Pride, Luxury, Drunkenness, Whoredom, Cursing, Swearing, bold and open Atheism every where abounding: Where these grow, no wonder if Popery also grow a pace. There is no 25 man so wicked, but at somtimes his conscience will wring him with thoughts of another world, & the Peril of his soul: the trouble and melancholy which he conceives of true Repentance and amendment he endures not; but enclines rather to some carnal Superstition, which may pacify and lull his Conscience with some more pleasing Doctrin. None more ready and officious to offer her self then the Romish, and opens wide her Office, with all her faculties to receive 5 him; easy Confession, easy Absolution, Pardons, Indulgences, Masses for him both quick and dead, Agnus Dei's, Reliques, and the like: and he, instead of Working out his salvation with fear and trembling, strait thinks in his heart (like another kind of fool then he in the Psalmes) to bribe God as a 10 corrupt judge; and by his Proctor, some Priest or Fryer, to buy out his Peace with money, which he cannot with his repentance. For God, when men sin outrageously, and will not be admonisht, gives over chastizing them, perhaps by Pestilence, Fire, Sword, or Famin, which may all turn to their good, and 15 takes up his severest punishments, hardness, besottedness of heart, and Idolatry, to their final perdition. Idolatry brought the Heathen to hainous Transgressions, Romans 2 d. And hainous Transgressions oft times bring the slight professors of true Religion, to gross Idolatry: 1 Thess. 2. 11, 12. For 20 this cause, God shall send them strong delusion that they should believe a lye, that they all might be damnd who believe not the truth, but had pleasure in unrighteousness. And Isaiah 44. 18. Speaking of Idolaters. They have not known nor understood, for he hath shut their Eyes that they cannot 25 see, and their hearts that they cannot understand. Let us therefore using this last means, last here spoken of, but first to be done, amend our lives with all speed; least through impenitency we run into that stupidly, which we now seek all means so warily to avoid, the worst of superstitions, and the heaviest of all Gods Judgements, Popery.

OBSERVATIONS ON THE ARTICLES OF PEACE

BY The Lord Lieutenant Generall, and Generall Governour of the

ORMOND:

WHEREAS Articles of Peace, are made, concluded, accorded, and agreed upon, by and between Us, JAMES Lord Marquisse of ORMOND, Lord Lieut. Generall, and Generall Governor of his 5 Majesties Kingdome of Ireland, by vertue of the Authority wherewith We are intrusted, for, and on the behalfe of His Most Excellent Majesty of the one part, and the Generall Assembly of the Roman Catholickes of the said Kingdome, for and on the behalfe of his Majesties Roman Catholick Sub-10 jects of the same, on the other part; A true Copy of which Articles of Peace is hereunto annexed. We the Lord Lieut. do by this Proclamation, in His Majesties name publish the same, and do in his Majest. name strictly charge and command al His Majesties Subjects, and all others inhabiting or 15 residing within his Majesties said Kingdome of Ireland to take notice thereof, and to render due obedience to the same in all the parts thereof.

And as his Majesty hath been induced to this peace, out of a deep sence of the miseries and calamities brought upon this

His Kingdome, and People, and out of a hope conceived by His Majesty, that it may prevent the further effusion of His Subjects blood, redeem them out of all the miseries and calamities under which they now suffer, restore them to all 5 quietnesse and happinesse, under His Majesties most Gracious Government, deliver the Kingdome in generall, from those slaughters, depredations, rapines, and spoyles which always accompany a war encourage the Subjects and others with comfort to betake themselves to trade, traffique, comerce, 10 manufacture, and all other things, which un-interrupted, may increase the wealth and strength of the Kingdome, beget in all his Majesties Subjects of this Kingdome, a perfect unity amongst themselves, after the too long continued division amongst them; So His Majesty assures himselfe, that all his 15 Subjects of this his Kingdom (duely considering the great and inestimable benefits which they may find in this Peace) will with all duty render due obedience thereunto. And We in his Majesties name, doe hereby declare, that all persons so rendering due obedience to the said Peace, shall be protected, 20 cherished, countenanced, and supported by his Majesty, and his Royall Authority, according to the true intent and meaning of the said Articles of Peace.

Given at our Castle of Kilkenny

KING.

25 Articles of Peace, made, concluded, accorded and agreed upon, by and between his Excellency James Lord Marquesse of Ormond, Lord Lieutenant General, and Generall of his Majesties Kingdome of Ireland, for and on the behalfe of His most Excellent Majesty, by vertue of the authority wherewith the said Lord Lieutenant is intrusted, on the one part; And the Generall Assembly of the Roman 5 Catholickes of the said Kingdome, for and on the behalfe of His Majesties Roman Catholicke Subjects of the same, on the other part.

HIS Majesties Roman Catholique Subjects, as thereunto bound by allegiance, duty and nature, doe most humbly and freely acknowledge and recognize their Sovereigne 10 Lord King Charles to be lawfull and undoubted King of this Kingdom of Ireland, and other his Highnesse Realms and Dominions; And his Majesties said Roman Catholicke Subjects, apprehending with a deep sence, the sad condition 15 whereunto His Majesty is reduced. As a further testimony of their Loyalty: Doe declare, that they and their posterity for ever, to the utmost of their power, even to the expence of their blood and fortunes will maintaine and uphold Mis Majesty, His Heires and lawfull Successors their Rights, Prerogatives, 20 Government and Authority, and thereunto freely and heartily will render all due obedience.

Of which faithfull and loyall recognition and declaration so seasonably made by the said Roman Catholickes; His Majesty is graciously pleased to accept, and accordingly to owne 25 them His loyall and dutifull Subjects; And is further graciously pleased to extend unto them the following graces and securities.

1. In primis, It is concluded, accorded, and agreed upon, by and between the said Lord Lieutenant, for, and on the behalfe of His most Excellent Majesty; And the said General Assembly, for and on the behalf of the said Roman Catholick 5 Subjects, and His Majestie is graciously pleased, that it shall be enacted by act to be passed in the next Parliament to be held in this Kingdome, that all and every the professors of the Roman Catholicke Religion within the said Kingdom, shall be free and exempt from all mulctes, penalties, restraints and 10 inhibitions that are, or may be imposed upon them by any law, declaration of law, Statute, Custome or usage whatsoever the free exercise of the Roman Catholick Religion: And that it shall be likewise enacted that the said Roman Catholicks or any of them shall not be questioned or molested in their per-15 sons, goods or estates, for any matter or cause whatsoever for, concerning, or by reason of the free exercise of their Religion, by vertue of any power, authority, statute, law, or useage whatsoever; And that it shall be further enacted, that no Roman Catholique in this Kingdome shall be compelled to 20 exercise any Religion, forme of devotion or Divine service other then such as shall be agreeable to their Conscience, and that they shall not be prejudiced or molested in their persons, goods or estates for not observing, using or hearing the Booke of Common-Prayer or any other forme of devotion or divine 25 service by vertue of any coulour or Statute made in the second yeare of Queen Elizabeth, or by vertue or coullor of any other law; statute useage or custome whatsoever, for or concerning ever made or declared, or to be made or declared; And that it shall be further enacted, that the Professors of the Roman Catholicke Religion, or any of them be not bound or obliged to take the Oath commonly called, the Oath of Supremacy expressed in the Statute of 2 Elizabeth c. 1 or in any other 5 Statute or Statutes; And that the said Oath shall not be tendered unto them, and that the refusall of the said oath shall not redound to the prejudice of them, or any of them, they taking the oath of Allegiance in hæc verba, viz. I A. B. Doe hereby acknowledge, professe, testifie and declare in my con-

10 science, before God and the world, that our Sovereigne Lord King Charles, is lawfull and rightfull King of this Realme, and of other His Majesties Dominions and Countries; and I will beare Faith and true Allegiance to His Majesty, and His Heires and Successors, and Him and them will defend to the 15 uttermost of my power against all Conspiracies and Attempts whatsoever which shall be made against His or Their Crowne and Dignitie, and do my best endeavour to disclose and make knowne to His Majesty, His Heires and Successors, or to the Lord Deputy, or other His Majesties cheife Governour or 20 Governors for the time being, all Treason or Traiterous conspiracies which I shall know or heare to be entended against His Majesty or any of them, And I doe make this Recognition and acknowledgment, heartily, willingly and truly, upon the true faith of a Christian, so helpe me God, &c. Neverthelesse 25 the said Lord Lieutenant doth not hereby intend that any thing in these concessions contained shall extend, or be construed to extend to the granting of Churches, Church-livings, or the exercise of Jurisdiction, the authority of the said Lord

Lieutenant not extending so far, yet the said Lord Lieutenant is authorized to give the said Roman Catholicks full assurance as hereby the said Lord Lieutenant doth give unto the said Roman Catholicks full assurance that they or any of them 5 shall not be molested in the possession which they have at present of the Churches and Church-livings, or of the Exercise of their respective Jurisdictions as they now exercise the same untill such time as His Majesty upon a full consideration of the desires of the said Roman Catholicks in a free Parliament to 10 be held in this Kingdome shall declare his further pleasure.

2. Item, it is concluded, accorded, and agreed upon, by and between the said parties, and His Majestie is further graciously pleased, that a free Parliament shall be held in this Kingdome within six months after the date of these Articles 15 of Peace, or as soon after as Thomas Lord Viscount Dillon of Costologh Lord President of Connaght, Donnogh Lord Viscount Muskery, Francis Lord Baron of Athunry, Allexander Mac Donnell Esquire, Sir Lucas Dillon Knight, Sir Nicholas Plunket Knight, Sir Richard Barnewall Baronet, Jefferey
20 Browne, Donnogh O Callaghan, Tyrlagh O Neile, Miles Reily, and Gerrald Fennell Esquires, or the major part of them will desire the same, so that by possibility it may be held, and that in the mean time, and untill the Articles of these presents, agreed to be passed in Parliament be accordingly 25 passed, the same shall be inviolably observed as to the matters therein contained, as if they were enacted in Parliament; And that in case a Parliament be not called and held in this Kingdom within two yeares next after the date of these Articles of peace, Then His Majesties Lord Lieutenant, or other His Majesties cheif Governour or Governours of this Kingdome for the time being, will at the request of the said Thomas Lord Viscount Dillon of Costollogh Lord President of Connaght, 5 Donnogh Lord Viscount Muskery, Francis Lord Baron of Athunry, Allexander Mac Donnell Esquires, Sir Lucas Dillon Knight, Sir Nicholas Plunket Knight, Sir Richard Barnewall Baronet, Geffery Browne, Donnogh O Callaghan, Tyrlagh O Neile, Miles Reily, and Gerrald Fennell Esquires, or the 10 major part of them, call a Generall Assembly of the Lords and Commons of this Kingdom, to attend upon the said Lord Lieutenant or other his Majesties cheife Governour or Governours of this Kingdom for the time being, in some convenient place, for the better settling of the affairs of the King-15 dome; And it is further concluded, accorded and agreed by, and between the said parties, that all matters that by these Articles are agreed upon to be passed in Parliament, shall be transmitted into England, according to the usuall forme, to be passed in the said Parliament, and that the said Acts so agreed 20 upon, and so to be passed, shall receive no dis-junction or alteration here, or in England; Provided that nothing shall be concluded by both, or either of the said Houses of Parliament, which may bring prejudice to any of his Majesties Protestant party; or their adherents or to his Majest. Roman Catholicke 25 subjects or their adherents, other then such things as upon this Treaty are concluded to be done, or such things as may be proper for the Committee of priviledges of either or both Houses to take cognizance of, as in such cases heretofore hath been accustomed, and other then such matters as his Majesty will be graciously pleased to declare his further pleasure in, to be passed in Parliament for the satisfaction of his Subjects, and other then such things as shall be propounded to either or 5 both houses by his Majesties Lord Lieut. or other cheif Governor or Governors of this Kingdome for the time being, during the said Parliament, for the advancement of his Majesties service, and the Peace of the Kingdom, which clause is to admit no construction which may trench upon the Articles 10 of peace or any of them and that both houses of Parliament may consider what they shall thinke convenient touching the repeale or suspension of the Statute commonly called Poynings Act, entitled an Act, That no Parliament be holden in that land, untill the Acts be certified into England.

15 3. Item, It is further concluded, accorded and agreed upon, by, and between the said parties, and his Majesty is graciously pleased; that all Acts, Ordinances, and Orders made by both, or either houses of Parliament, to the blemish, dishonour or prejudice of his Majesties Roman Catholicke Subjects of this 20 Kingdome, or any of them, sithence the seventh of August 1641. shall be vacated; and that the same and all Exemplifications and other Acts which continue the memory of them be made voide by Act to be past in the next Parliament to be held in this Kingdome, and that in the meane time the said 25 Acts or Ordinances, or any of them shall bee no prejudice to the said Roman Catholickes or any of them.

4. Item, It is also concluded and agreed upon, and his Majesty is likewise graciously pleased, that all indictments, attainders, outlawries in this Kingdome, and all the processes and other proceedings thereupon, and all Letters, Pattents, Grants, Leases, Customes, Bonds, Recognizances, and all Records, Act or Acts, Office or Offices, Inquisitions, and all 5 other things depending upon, or taken by reason of the said Indictments, Attainders or outlawries, sithence the seventh day of August, 1641. in prejudice of the said Catholickes, their Heirs, Executors, Administrators or Assignes, or any of them, or the widdowes of them, or any of them shall 10 be vacated and made void in such sort as no memory shall remain thereof, to the blemish, dishonour or prejudice of the said Catholikes, their heires, executors, administrators, or assignes, or any of them, or the widows of them, or any of them; and that to be done when the said Thomas Lord Viscount Dillon of Costologh Lord President of Connaght, Donnogh Lord Visc. Muskerry, Francis Lord Baron of Athunry, Alexander Mac Donnell Esquire, Sir Lucas Dillon Knight, Sir Nicholas Plunket Knight, Sir Richard Barnwell Baronet, Jeffery Brown, Donnogh O Callaghan, Tyrlagh O Neal, Miles

15 Reilie and Gerrald Fennell Esquires, or the major part of them shall desire the same, so that by possibilitie it may be done, and in the mean time that no such inditements, attainders, outlawries, processes, or any other proceeding thereupon, or any letters, patents, grants, leases, custodiams, bonds, 20 recognizances, or any Record or acts, office or offices, inquisitions, or any other thing depending upon, or by reason of the said indictments, attainders, or outlawries, shall in any sort prejudice the said Roman Catholikes, or any of them, but that they and every of them shall bee forthwith upon perfection of these Articles, restored to their respective possessions, and hereditaments respectively, provided that no man shall be questioned by reason hereof, for measne rates, or wastes, 5 saving wilfull wastes committed after the first day of May last past.

5. Item, It is likewise concluded, accorded, and agreed, and his Majesty is graciously pleased, that as soon as possible may be, all impediments which may hinder the said Roman Cath- 10 olikes, to sit or vote in the next intended Parliament, or to choose, or to be chosen Knights, and Burgesse, to sit or vote there, shall be removed, and that before the said Parliament.

6. Item, it is concluded accorded, and agreed upon, and his Majestie is further graciously pleased, that all debts shall 15 remain as they were upon the 23. of October 1641. Notwithstanding any disposition made, or to be made, by vertue or colour of any attainder, outlawrie, fugacie, or other forfeiture, and that no disposition or grant made, or to be made of any such debts, by vertue of any attainder, outlawrie, fugacie, or 20 other forfeiture shall be of force, and this to be passed as an act in the next Parliament.

7. Item, It is further concluded, accorded, and agreed upon, and his Majesty is graciously pleased; that for the securing of the Estates or reputed estates of the Lords, Knights, gentlemen and freeholders, or reputed freeholders, as well of 25 Connaght, and county of Clare, or country of Thomond as of the counties of Limerick and Tipperary, the same to be secured by Act of Parliament, according to the intent of the 25. Article, of the graces granted in the fourth year of his Majesties Reign the tenor whereof for so much as concerneth the same doth ensue in these words, viz. Wee are graciously pleased, that for the Inhabitants of Connaght, and country of Tho- 5 mond, and county of Clare, that their several estates shall be confirmed unto them, and their heires against us, and our heires and successors, by Act to be passed in the next Parliament to be holden in Ireland, to the end the same may never hereafter be brought into any further question, by Us or our 10 Heires and Successors. In which Act of Parliament so to be passed, you are to take care, that all tenures in capite, and all rents and services as are now due, or which ought to be answered unto us out of the said lands and premises, by any letters pattents, past thereof, since the first year of King Henry 15 the eight. or found by any office taken from the said first year of King Henry the eight, untill the 21. of July 1645. whereby our late dear father or any his Predecessors, actually received any profit, by wardship, liveries, primer-seisins, measne, rates, ousterlemains or fines of alienations without 20 licence, be again reserved unto us, or Heires and successors, and all the rest of the premises to be holden of our Castle of Athlone by Knights service, according to our said late Fathers letters, notwithstanding any tenures in capite found for Us by office, since the 21. of July 1615. and not appearing in any 25 such letters patents, or offices, within which rule, his Majesty is likewise graciously pleased, that the said lands in the Counties of Limerick and Tipperarie be included, but to be held by such rents and tenures only, as they were in the fourth year of his Majesties Reign; Provided alwaies that the said Lords, Knights, Gentlemen and Freeholders of the said Province of Connaght, county of Clare, and Countrey of Thomond, and Counties of Tipperarie and Limerick shall have and enjoy the 5 full benefit of such composition and agreement which shall be made with his most Excellent Majestie, for the Court of Wards, tenures, respits, and issues of homage, any clause in this Article to the contrary notwithstanding; and as for the lands within the counties of Kilkennie and Wickloe; unto 10 which his Majestie was intituled by offices, taken or found in the time of the Earl of Straffords government in this Kingdom, His Majestie is further graciously pleased that the State thereof, shall be considered in the next intended Parliament, where his Majestie will assent unto that which shall be just 15 and honourable, and that the like act of limitation of his Majesties Titles, for the securitie of the estates of his Subjects of this Kingdome be passed in the said Parliament as was enacted in the 21. year of his late Majestie King James his Reign in England.

20 8. Item, it is further concluded, accorded, and agreed upon, and His Majestie is further graciously pleased, That all incapacities imposed upon the Natives of this Kingdome or any of them, as Natives, by any Act of Parliament, Provisoies in Patents or otherwise, be taken away by Act to be passed in 25 the said Parliament; and that they may be enabled to erect one or more Innes of Court in or neer the city of Dublin or elsewhere, as shall be thought fit by his Majesties Lord Lieutenant, or other chief Governour or Governours of this Kingdom for the time being; and in case the said Innes of Court shall be erected before the first day of the next Parliament, then the same shall be in such place as his Majesties Lord Lieutenant, or other chief Governor or Governors of this Kingdom for 5 the time being, by and with the advice and consent of the said Thomas Lord Viscount Dillon of Costologh, Lord President of Connaght, Donnogh Lord Viscount Muskerrie, Francis Lord Baron of Athunrie, Alexander Mac Donnell Esquire, Sir Lucas Dillon Knight, Sir Nicholas Plunket Knight, Sir 10 Richard Barnwall Baronet, Jefferie Brown, Donnogh O Callaghan, Tyrlagh O Neal, Miles Reily, Gerrald Fennell Esquires, or any seven or more of them shall thinke fit; And that such students natives of this Kingdom as shall be therein, may take and receive the usuall degrees accustomed in any 15 Innes of court, they taking the insuing oath, viz. I A. B. Doe hereby acknowledge professe, testifie and declare in my conscience, before God and the world that our Sovereign Lord K. Charles, is lawful and rightful King of this Realm, and of other His Majesties Dominions and Countries; and I will 20 bear Faith and true Allegiance to His Majesty, and His Heirs and Successors, and Him and them will defend to the uttermost of my power against all conspiracies and attempts whatsoever, which shall be made against his or their Crown and Dignity, and do my best endeavour to disclose and make 25 known to His Majesty, His Heires and Successors, or to the Lord Deputy, or other His Majesties cheife Governour or Governors for the time being, all Treason or Traiterous conspiracies which I shall know or heare to be entended against

His Majesty or any of them, And I doe make this Recognition and acknowledgment, heartily, willingly and truly, upon the true faith of a Christian, so help me God, &c. And his Maj-

estie is further graciously pleased that his Majesties Roman 5 Catholike Subjects may erect and keep free schools for education of youths in this Kingdom, any law or statute to the contrarie notwithstanding; and that all the matters assented unto in this Article be passed as Acts of Parliament in the said next Parliament.

- 10 9. Item, It is further concluded, accorded, and agreed upon, by, and between the said parties, and his Majestie is graciously pleased; That places of command, honour, profit and trust in his Majesties Armies in this Kingdom shall be upon perfection of these Articles actually and by particular 15 instances conferred upon his Roman Catholike subjects of this Kingdom, and that upon the distribution conferring and disposing of the places of command, honour, profit, and trust in his Majesties Armies in this Kingdome, for the future no difference shall be made between the said Roman Catholikes, 20 and other his Majesties Subjects. But that such distribution shall be made with equall indifferency according to their respective merits and abilities; and that all His Majesties Subjects of this Kingdom, as well Roman Catholikes as others, may for his Majesties service, and their own security, arme 25 themselves the best they may, wherein they shall have all fitting encouragement; And it is further concluded, accorded and agreed upon, by and between the said parties, and his Majestie is further graciously pleased; That places of command, honour, profit, and trust in the civill government in this Kingdome, shall be upon passing of the Bills in these Articles mentioned in the next Parliament, actually and by particular instances conferred upon his Majesties Roman 5 Catholike subjects of this Kingdome, and that in the distribution, conferring and disposall of the places of command, honour, profit, and trust, in the civill government; for the future no difference shall be made between the said Roman Catholikes, and other his Majesties Subjects, but that such 10 distribution shall bee made with equall indifferencie, according to their respective merits and abilities, and that in the distribution of ministeriall officers or places which now are, or hereafter shall be void in this Kingdom, equalitie shall be used to the Roman Catholike Natives of this Kingdom, as to 15 other his Majesties Subjects; and that the command of Forts, Castles, Garrison Towns, and other places of importance in this Kingdom, shall be conferred upon his Majesties Roman Catholike Subjects of this Kingdom upon perfection of these Articles actually and by particular instances, and that in the 20 distribution conferring and disposall of Forts, Castles, Garrison Towns, and other places of importance in this Kingdome, no difference shall be made between his Majesties Roman Catholike Subjects of this Kingdom, and other his Majesties Subjects, but that such distribution shall be made 25 with equall indifferencie, according to their respective merits and abilities, and that untill full settlement in Parliament fifteen thousand foot, and two thousand and five hundred Horse of the Roman Catholikes of this Kingdom shall be of the standing Armie of this Kingdome: and that untill full settlement in Parliament as aforesaid, the said Lord Lieutenant or other chief Governour or Governours of this Kingdom for the time being, and the said Thomas Lord Viscount Dillon 5 of Costologh Lord President of Connaght, Donnogh Lord Visc. Muskerry, Francis Lord Baron of Athunry, Alexander Mac Donnell Esquire, Sir Lucas Dillon Knight, Sir Nicholas Plunket Knight; Sir Richard Barnwall Baronet, Jeffery Brown, Donnogh O Callaghan, Tyrlagh O Neal, Miles Reilie 10 and Gerrald Fennell Esquires, or any seven or more of them, the said Thomas Lord Viscount Dillon of Costologh, Lord President of Connaght, Donnogh Lord Viscount Muskerie, Francis Lord Baron of Athunry, Alexander Mac Donnell Esquire, Sir Lucas Dillon Knight, Sir Nicholas Plunket 15 Knight, Sir Richard Barnwall, Jefferie Brown, Donnogh O Callaghan, Tyrlagh O Neal, Miles Reily. and Gerrald Fennell Esquires, shall diminish or adde unto the said number, as they shall see cause from time to time.

10. Item, it is further concluded, accorded and agreed 20 upon, by and between the said parties, and his Majesty is further graciously pleased, that his Majestie will accept of the yearly rent, or annuall fum of twelve thousand pounds sterling, to be applottted with indifferencie and equalitie, and consented to be paid to his Majestie, his heires and successors 25 in Parliament, for and in lieu of the Court of Wards in this Kingdom, tenures in Capite, Common Knights-service, and all other tenures within the cognizance of that Court, and for and in lieu of all Wardships, primer seizins, fines, ouster-

lemains, liveries, intrusions, alienations, measne rates, releases, and all other profits, within the cognizance of the said Court, or incident to the said tenures or any of them, or fines to accrew to his Majestie by reason of the said tenures 5 or any of them, and for and in lieu of the respits and issues of homage, and fines for the same. And the said yearly rent being so applotted and consented unto in Parliament as aforesaid, then a Bill to be agreed on in the said Parliament to be passed as an Act for the securing of the said yeerly Rent, 10 or annuall sum of twelve thousand pounds to be applotted as aforesaid, and for the extinction and taking away of the said Court, and other matters aforesaid in this Article contained. And it is further agreed, that reasonable compositions shall bee accepted for Wardships fallen since the 23. of October 15 1641. and already granted, and that no wardships fallen and not granted or that shall fall, shall be passed untill the succeſſe of this Article shall appear; and if his Majesty be secured as aforesaid, then all Wardships fallen since the said 23. of Octob. are to be included in the agreement aforesaid, upon 20 composition to be made with such as have grants as aforesaid, which composition to be made with the grantees since the time aforesaid, is to be left to indifferent persons, and the umpirage to the said Lord Lieutenant.

25 upon, by and between the said parties, and his Majesty is further graciously pleased, That no Nobleman or Peer of this Realm in Parliament shall be hereafter capable of more Proxies then two, and that blanck Proxies shall be hereafter totally dis-allowed; and that if such Noble Men or Peers of this Realm as have no Estates in this Kingdom do not within five yeares, to begin from the conclusion of these Articles purchase in this Kingdom as followeth, viz. A Lord Baron 200 l. per annum, 5 a Lord Viscount 400 li. per annum and an Earl 600 l. per annum, a Marquisse 800 l. per annum, a Duke 1000 l. per annum, shall loose their votes in Parliament untill such time as they shall afterwards acquire such estates respectively; and that none be admitted in the House of Commons, but such 10 as shall bee estated, and resident within this Kingdome.

12 Item, It is further concluded, accorded and agreed upon, by and between the said parties, and his Majesty is further graciously pleased; that as for and concerning the independency of the Parliament of Ireland on the Parliament 15 of England, his Majesty will leave both houses of Parliament in this Kingdom to make such declaration therein as shall be agreeable to the Laws of the Kingdome of Ireland.

13 Item, It is further concluded and agreed upon, by and between the said parties, and his Majesty is further graciously 20 pleased, that the Councel-Table shall containe it selfe within its proper bounds in handling matters of State and weight fit for that place, amongst which the Pattents of Plantation and the offices whereupon those Grants are founded to be handled as matters of State, and to be heard and determined by his Maj-25 esties Lord Lieutenant, or other chiefe Governour or Governours for the time being, and the Councell publickly at the Councell-Board, and not otherwise, But titles between party and party grown after these patents granted, are to be left to the ordinary course of Law, and that the Councel-Table do not hereafter intermedle with common businesse, that is, within the cognizance of the ordinary Courts, nor with the altering of possessions of Lands, nor make, nor use private 5 Orders, hearings or references, concerning any such matter, nor grant any injunction or order for stay of any suites in any civill cause; And that parties grieved for or by reason of any proceedings formerly had there, may commence their suites and prosecute the same in any of his Majesties Courts of Justice or Equity for remedy of their pretended rights, without 10 any restraint or interruption from his Majesty; or otherwise by the cheife Governour or Governours, and Councill of this Kingdome; And that the proceedings in the respective Presidency Courts, shall be pursuant, and according to his Majesties printed Book of Instructions, and that they shall containe themselves within the limits prescribed by that Book, when the Kingdom shall be restored to such a degree of quietnesse, as they be not necessarily enforced to exceed the same.

14 Item it is further concluded, accorded and agreed 20 upon, by and between the said parties and his Majesty is further graciously pleased: That as for and concerning one Statute made in this Kingdome, in the eleventh year of the Reigne of Queene Elizabeth intituled, an Act for staying of Wooll, Flockes, Tallow, and other necessities within this 25 Realme; And another Statute made in the said Kingdome, in the twelfth year of the Reign of the said Queen, intituled an Act and one other Statute made in the said Kingdome, in the 13 year of the Reign of the said late Queen, intituled An Exemplanation of the Act made in a Session of this Parliament for the staying of Wooll, Flocks, Tallow; and other wares and 5 commodities mentioned in the said Act, and certaine Articles added to the same Act, all concerning staple or native commodities of this Kingdom shall be repealed, if it shal be so thought fit in the Parliament (excepting for Wooll and Woollfells, and that such indifferent persons as shall be agreed on 10 by the said Lord Lieutenant, and the said Thomas Lord Viscount Dillon of Costollogh Lord President of Connaght, O Neile, Miles Reily, and Gerrald Fennell Esquires, or any seven or more of them shall be authorized by Commission under the great Seal, to moderate and ascertain the rates of merchandize to be exported or imported out of, or into this 20 Kingdome, as they shall think fit.

15 Item, It is concluded, accorded, and agreed, by and between the said parties, and his Majesty is graciously pleased, that all and every person and persons within this Kingdome pretending to have suffered by offices found of several Coun-25 tries, Territories, Lands and Hereditaments in the Province of Ulster, and other Provinces of this Kingdome in or since the first year of King James his Reign, or by attainders or forfei-tures, or by pretence and coulour thereof, since the said first year of King James or by other Acts depending on the said offices, attainders and forfeitures may petition his Majesty in Parliament for reliefe and redresse; and if after examination it shal appeare to His Majesty, the said persons, or any of 5 them have been injured, then His Majesty will prescribe a course to repaire the person or persons so suffering according to Justice and honor.

16 Item, It is further concluded, accorded and agreed upon by, and between the said parties, and His Majesty is 10 graciously pleased; that as to the particular cases of Maurice Lord Viscount de Rupe & Fermoy, Arthur Lord Viscount Iveagh, Sir Edward Fitz Gerrald of Cloanglish Baronet, Charles mac Carty Reag, Roger Moore, Anthony Mare, William Fitz Gerrald, Anthony Lynch, John Lacy, Collo mac

25 offence to be excepted out of the said Act of oblivion; Provided likewise that the said Act of oblivion shall not extend unto any person or persons that will not obey and submit unto the peace concluded and agreed on by these Articles; Provided further that the said Act of oblivion or any thing in this Article contained shall not hinder or interrupt the said Tho. Lord Visc. Dillon of Costologh Lord Presid. of Connaght, Donnogh Lord Viscount Muskery, Francis Lord Baron of Athunry, 5 Allexander Mac Donnell Esquire, Sir Lucas Dillon Knight, Sir Nicholas Plunket Knight, Sir Richard Barnewall Baronet, Jeffrey Browne, Donnogh O Callaghan, Tyrlagh O Neile, Miles Reily, and Gerrald Fennell Esquires, or any seven or more of them, to call to an account, and proceed against the 10 Councill and Congregation, and the respective Supream Councils Commissioners generall, appointed hitherto from time to time by the Confederate Catholickes to manage their affaires, or any other person or persons accomptable to an accompt for their respective receipts and disbursements, since 15 the beginning of their respective imployments under the said Confederate Catholickes, or to acquit or release any arrears of excises, customes, or publicke taxes to be accounted for, since the 23 of Octo. 1641. and not disposed of hitherto, to the publicke use, but that the parties therein concerned may be called 20 to an account for the same as aforesaid, by the said Thomas Lord Viscount Dillon of Costologh Lord President of Connaght, Donnogh Lord Viscount Muskery, Francis Lord Baron of Athunry, Allexander Mac Donnell Esquire, Sir Lucas Dillon Knight, Sir Nicholas Plunket Knight, Sir Richard 25 Barnewall Baronet, Jeffrey Browne, Donnogh O Callaghan, Tyrlagh O Neile, Miles Reily and Gerrald Fennell Esquires, or any seaven or more of them, the said Act or any thing therein contained to the contrary notwithstanding.

19 Item, it is further concluded, accorded and agreed upon, by and between the said parties, and his Majestie is graciously pleased, That an Act be passed in the next Parliament, prohibiting that neither the Lord Deputy, or other chief Governor, or Governors, Lord Chancellor, Lord High Treasurer, 5 Vice-Treasurer, Chancellor, or any of the Barons of the Exchequer, Privie Council or Judges of the foure courts be farmers of his Majesties customes within this Kingdom.

20. Item, It is likewise concluded, accorded and agreed, 10 and his Majestie is graciously pleased, that an Act of Parliament passe in this Kingdom against Monopolies, such as was enacted in England 21. Jacobi Regis, with a further clause of repealing of all grants of Monopolies in this Kingdom, and that Commissioners be agreed upon by the said Lord lieutenant, and the said Thomas Lord Viscount Dillon of Costolough Lord president of Connaght, Donnogh Lord Viscount Muskerrie, Francis Lord Baron of Athunrie, Alexander Mac Donnell Esquire, Sir Lucas Dillon Knight, Sir Nicholas Plunket Knight, Sir Richard Barnwall Baronet, Jeffry Brown, 20 Donnogh O Callaghan, Tyrlagh O Neal, Miles Reily, and Gerrald Fennell Esquires, or any seven or more of them, to set down the rates for the custome and imposition to be laid on Aquavita, Wine, Oile, Yarne and Tobacco.

21. Item, it is concluded, accorded, and agreed, and his 25 Majestie is graciously pleased, that such persons as shall be agreed on by the said Lord lieutenant, and the said Thomas Lord Viscount Dillon of Costolough, Lord president of Connaght, Donnogh Lord Viscount Muskerrie, Francis Lord

Baron of Athunrie, Alexander Mac Donnell Esquire, Sir Lucas Dillon Knight, Sir Nicholas Plunket Knight, Sir Richard Barnwell Baronet, Jeffery Brown, Donnogh O Callaghan, Tirlagh O Neal, Miles Reilie, and Gerrald Fennell Esquires, 5 or any seven or more of them shall be as soon as may be authorized by Commission under the great Seal, to regulate the Court of Castle-chamber, and such causes as shall be brought into, and censured in the said Court.

22. Item, It is concluded, accorded, and agreed upon, and 10 his Majesty is graciously pleased, that two acts lately passed in this Kingdom, one prohibiting the plowing with Horses by the tail, and the other prohibiting the burning of Oates in the straw bee repealed.

23. Item, it is further concluded, accorded, and agreed 15 upon by, and between the said parties, and his Majestie is further graciously pleased, for as much as upon application of Agents from this Kingdome unto his Majestie in the fourth yeer of his Reign, and lately upon humble suit made unto his Majestie, by a Committee of both houses of the Parliament of 20 this Kingdom, order was given his Majestie for redresse of severall grievances, and for so many of those as are not expressed in the Articles, whereof both Houses in the next insuing Parliament shall desire the benefit of his Majesties said former directions for redresse therein, that the same be af-25 forded them, yet so, as for prevention of inconveniences to his Majesties service, that the warning mentioned in the 24. Article of the graces in the 4. yeer of his Majesties Reign be so understood, that the warning being left at the persons dwelling houses be held sufficient warning, and as to the 22 Article of the said graces, the proces hitherto used in the Court of Wards doe still continue, as hitherto it hath done in that, and hath beene used in other English Courts, but the Court 5 of Wards being compounded for so much of the aforesaid answer as concernes warning and processe shall be omitted.

10 termined in this Kingdome, without driving of Merchants or others to appeal and seek Justice elsewhere; and if it shall fall out that there bee cause of an appeal, the party grieved is to appeal to his Majestie in the Chancerie of Ireland, and the sentence thereupon to be given by the deligates, to be 15 definitive and not to be questioned upon any further appeal except it be in the Parliament of this Kingdome, if the Parliament shall then be sitting, otherwise not, this to be by Act of Parliament, and untill the said Parliament, the Admiraltie and Maritime causes shall be ordered and settled by the said 20 Lord lieutenant, or other chief Governor or Governors of this Kingdome for the time being, by and with the advice and consent of the said Thomas Lord Viscount Dillon of Costolough, Lord President of Connaght, Donnogh Lord Viscount Muskerie, Francis Lord Baron of Athunrie, Alexander Mac 25 Donnel Esquire, Sir Lucas Dillon Knight, Sir Nicholas Plunket Knight, Sir Richard Barnwall Baronet, Jeffery Brown, Donnogh O Callaghan, Tyrlagh O Neal, Miles Reily and Gerrald Fennell Esquires, or any seven or more of them.

25. Item, it is further concluded, accorded, and agreed upon, by and between the said parties, and his Majestie is graciously pleased, that his Majesties Subjects of this Kingdom be eased of all rents and increase of rents lately raised 5 on the commission or defective titles in the Earl of Staffords government, this to be by Act of Parliament; and that in the mean time the said rents or increase of rents shall not be written for, by any processe, or the payment thereof in any sort procured.

10 26. Item, it is further concluded, accorded, and agreed upon, by and between the said parties, and his Majestie is further graciously pleased, that by Act to be passed in the next Parliament, all the arrears of interest mony, which did accrue and grow due by way of debt, mortgage or otherwise, and yet 15 not so satisfied since the 23. of October 1641. untill the perfection of these Articles, shall be fully forgiven and be released, and that for and during the space of three yeeres next ensuing, no more shall be taken for use or interest of money then five pounds per centum. And in cases of equitie arising 20 through dis-abilitie, occasioned by the distempers of the times, the considerations of equitie to be like unto both parties; but as for mortgages contracted between his Majesties Roman Catholike Subjects and others of that partie, where entry hath been made by the mortgagers against Law, and the condition 25 of their mortgages, and detained wrongfully by them without giving any satisfaction to the mortgages, or where any such mortgagers have made profit of the lands morgaged above countrey charges, yet answer no rent, or other consideration to the mortgagees, the parties grieved respectively to be left for releife to a course of equitie therein.

27. Item, it is further concluded, accorded, and agreed upon, and His Majestie is further graciously pleased, That 5 immediately upon perfection of these Articles, the said Thomas Lord Viscount Dillon of Costologh, Lord President of Connaght, Donnogh Lord Viscount Muskerrie, Francis Lord Baron of Athunrie, Alexander Mac Donnell Esquire, Sir

 quires, shall be authorized by the said Lord lieutenant to proceed in, hear, determine, and execute in, and throughout this Kingdom, the ensuing particulars, and all the matters there-15 upon depending, and that such authoritie and other the authorities hereafter mentioned shall remain of force without revocation, alteration or diminution, untill Acts of Parliament be passed, according to the purport and intent of these Articles, and that in case of death, miscarriage, disabilitie to 20 serve, by reason of sicknesse or otherwise of any the said

20 authority of such Commissioners shall not extend to question any person or persons, for any shipping, cattle or goods heretofore taken by either party from the other, or other injuries done contrary to the Articles of cessation, concluded by and with the said Roman Catholicke party, in, or since May last, 25 but that the same shall bee determined by such indifferent persons as the Lord Lieutenant, by the advice and consent of the said Thomas Lord Visc. Dillon of Costollogh Lord Presi. of Connagh, Donnogh Lord Viscount Muskery, Francis Lord

Baron of Athunry, Allexander Mac Donnell Esquire, Sir Lucas Dillon Knight, Sir Nicholas Plunket Knight, Sir Richard Barnewall Baronet, Jeffry Browne, Donnogh O Callaghan, Tirlagh O Neile, Miles Reily, and Gerrald Fennell Esquires, 5 or any seven or more of them shall think fit, to the end, that speedy and equall justice may be done to all parties grieved; And the said Commissioners are to make their Estreats as accustomed of peace, and shall take the ensuing Oath, viz. You shall sweare, that as Justice of the Peace, Oyer and Ter-10 miner, Assizes, and Goale delivery in the Counties of A. B in all articles to the commission to you directed. You shall do equall right to the poore, and to the Rich after your cunning, and wit and power, and after the Lawes and Customes of the Realme, and in pursuance of these Articles; And you shall not 15 be of councill of any quarrell hanging before you; And the issues, fines and amerciaments which shall happen to be made, and all forfeitures which shall happen before you, you shall cause to bee entred without any concealment or imbeazling, and send to the Court of Exchequer, or to such other place as 20 his Majesties Lord Lieut. or other cheif Governor or Governors of his Kingdome shall appoint, untill there may be accesse unto the said Court of Exchequer; You shall not let for gift or other cause, but well and truly; you shall doe your office of Justice of the Peace, Oyer and Terminer, Assises and 25 Goale delivery in that behalfe, and that you take nothing for your office of Justice of the Peace, Oyer and Terminer, Assizes and Goale delivery to be done, but of the King, and Fees accustomed; and you shall not direct, or cause to be directed any warrant by you, to be made to the parties, but you shall direct them to the Sheriffs and Bayliffs of the said counties respectively, or other the Kings Officers or Ministers, or other indifferent persons to doe execution thereof, so helpe me 5 God, &c.

And that as well in the said Commission, as in all other commissions and authorities to be issued in pursuance of the present Articles, this clause shall be incerted viz. That all officers, civill and martiall, shall be required to be aiding and assist-10 ing, and obedient unto the said Commissioners, and other persons to be authorized as above said in the execution of their respective powers.

31. Item, as for and concerning his Majesties rents, payable at Easter next, and from thenceforth to grow due, untill a settlement in Parliament. It is concluded, accorded, and agreed 15 upon, by and between the said parties, and his Majestie is graciously pleased, that the said rents be not written for, or levied untill a full settlement in Parliament, and in due time upon application to be made to the said Lord Lieutenant, or other chief Governor or Governors of this Kingdome by the 20 said Thomas Lord Viscount Dillon of Costologh Lord President of Connaght, Donnogh Lord Viscount Muskerie, Francis Lord Baron of Athunry, Alexander Mac Donnell Esquire, Sir Lucas Dillon Knight, Sir Nicholas Plunket Knight, Sir Richard Barnwal Baronet, Jeffery Brown, Donnogh O Callaghan, Tyrlagh O Neal, Miles Reily, and Gerrald Fennell
25 Esquires, or any seven or more of them for remittall of those rents, the said Lord Lieutenant, or any other chief Governor or Governors of this Kingdome for the time being, shall inti- mate their desires, and the reason thereof to his Majestie, who upon consideration of the present condition of this Kingdome will declare his gracious pleasure therein, as shall be just and honorable, and satisfactorie to the reasonable desires of his 5 Subjects.

32. Item, It is concluded, accorded, and agreed, by and between the said parties, and his Majestie is graciously pleased, that the Commissioners of Oyer and Terminer, and Goal deliverie to be named as aforesaid, shall have power to hear and 10 determine all Murthers, Man-slaughters, Rapes, Stealths, burning of houses and corn in Rick, or Stack, Robberies, burglaries, forcible entries, detainers of possessions and other offences committed or done, and to be committed and done since the first day of May last past, untill the first day of the next 15 Parliament, these present Articles or any thing therein contained to the contrary notwithstanding; Provided that the Authority of the said Commissioners shall not extend to question any person or persons, for doing or committing any act whatsoever, before the conclusion of this Treaty, by vertue or 20 colour of any warrant or direction from those in publike authoritie among the confederate Roman Catholikes, nor unto any act which shall be done after the perfecting and concluding of these Articles, by vertue or pretence of any authority which is now by these Articles agreed on; Provided also that 25 the said Commission shall not continue longer then the first day of the next Parliament.

33. Item, it is concluded, accorded by and between the said parties, and his Majestie is further graciously pleased, that for the determining such differences which may arise between his Majesties Subjects within this Kingdome, and the prevention of inconvenience and disquiet, which through want of due remedie in severall causes may happen, there shall be judi-5 catures established in this Kingdome, and that the persons to be authorized in them shall have power to do all such things as shall be proper and necessary for them to doe; and the said Lord lieutenant by and with the advice and consent of the said Thomas Lord Viscount Dillon of Costollogh Lord President 10 of Connaght, Donnogh Lord Viscount Muskerry, Francis Lord Baron of Athunry, Alexander Mac Donnell Esquire, Sir Lucas Dillon Knight, Sir Nicholas Plunket Knight, Sir Richard Barnwall Baronet, Jeffery Brown, Donnogh O Callaghan, Tyrlagh O Neal, Miles Reilie and Gerrald Fennell Esquires, 15 or any seven or more of them shall name the said persons so to be authorized, and doe all other things incident unto, and necessarie for the setling of the said intended Judicatures.

34. Item at the instance, humble suit and earnest desire of the General Assembly of the confederate Roman Catholikes; 20 It is concluded, accorded, and agreed upon, that the Roman Catholike regular Clergie of this Kingdom, behaving themselves conformable to these Articles of Peace, shall not be molested in the possessions, which at present they have of and in the bodies scites and precincts of such Abbies and Monas-25 teries belonging to any Roman Catholike within the said Kingdom, until settlement by Parliament; and that the said Clergie shall not be molested in the enjoying of such pensions as hitherto since the Warres they enjoyed for their respective livelihoods from the said Roman Catholikes, and the scites and precincts hereby intended are declared to be the bodie of the Abbie, one garden and Orchard to each Abbie, if any there be, and what else is contained within the walls, meares or ancient 5 fences or ditch that doth supply the wall thereof, and no more.

35. Item, it is concluded, accorded, and agreed, by and between the said parties, that as to all other demands of the said Roman Catholikes, for or concerning all or any the matters proposed by them, not granted or assented unto, in and 10 by the foresaid Articles, the said Roman Catholikes be referred to his Majesties gracious favour and further concessions. In witnesse whereof, the said Lord Lieutenant, for and on the behalfe of his most Excellent Majestie, to the one part of these Articles remaining with the said Roman Catholiques 15 hath put his hand and Seal; And Sir Richard Blake Knight in the Chaire of the Generall Assembly of the said Roman Catholikes, by order, command, and unanimous consent of the said Catholikes in full Assembly to the other part thereof remain-20 ing with the said Lord Lieutenant, hath put his hand and the publique Seal hitherto used by the said Roman Catholiques the 17. of January 1648. And in the 24. year of the Reign of our Sovereign Lord CHARLES by the Grace of God, King of Great Britain, France and Ireland, &c.

SIR,

25 I HAVE not thus long forbore to invite you with these under your command to a submission to his Majesties authoritie in me, and a conjunction with me in the waies of his service out of any the least aversion I had to you or any of them, or out of any dis-esteem I had to your power to advance or impede the same, but out of my fear, whiles those that have of late usurped power over the Subjects of England held forth 5 the least colourable shadow of moderation in their intentions towards the settlement of Church or State, and that in some tollerable way with relation to Religion, the interest of the King and Crown, the freedom of Parliament, the Liberties of the subject, any addresses from mee proposing the with-10 drawing of that party from those thus professing, from whom they have received some, and expected further support, would have been but coldly received, and any determination there-upon deferred in hope and expectation of the forementioned settlement, or that you your selfe, who certainly have not 15 wanted aforesight of the sad confusion now covering the face of England, would have declared with me, the Lord Inche-queen, and the Protestant Army in Munster in prevention thereof, yet my fear was it would have been as difficult for you to have carried with you the main body of the Armie 20 under your command (not so clear sighted as your self) as it would have been dangerous to you, and those with you well inclined, to have attempted it without them, but now that the mask of hypocrisie, by which the Independent Armie hath ensnared and enslaved all estates and degrees of men is laid 25 aside, now that barefaced, they evidently appear to bee the subverters of true religion, and to be the protectors and inviters, not only of all false ones, but of irreligion and Atheisme, now that they have barbarously and inhumanely laid violent, sacrilegious hands upon, and murdered Gods anointed, and our King, not as heretofore some Patricides have done to make room for some usurper, but in a way plainly manifesting their intentions to change the Monarchy of England into Anarchy, unlesse their aime bee first to constitute 5 an elective Kingdome, and Crumwell or some such John of Leiden being elected, then by the same force, by which they have thus far compassed their ends to establish a perfect Turkish tyranny; now that of the three estates of King, Lords &

10 Commons, whereof in all ages, Parliaments have consisted, there remains only a small number, and they the dregs and scum of the House of Commons, pickt and awed by the Armie, a wicked remnant left for no other end; then yet further, if it be possible to delude the people with the name of a 15 Parliament: The King being murdered, the Lords and the rest of the Commons, being by unheard of violence, at severall times forced from the Houses and some imprisoned. And now that there remaines no other libertie in the subject but to professe blasphemous opinions, to revile and tread underfoot 20 Magistracie, to murder Magistrates, and oppresse and undoe all that are not like minded with them. Now I say, that I cannot doubt but that you, and all with you under your command will take this opportunitie to act and declare against so monstrous and unparaleld a rebellion, and that you and they 25 will cheerfully acknowledge, and faithfully serve and obey our gracious King Charles the second undoubted heir of his Father Crown and Vertues; under whose right and conduct we may by Gods assistance restore Protestant Religion to puri-

tie, and therein settle it, Parliaments to their freedome, good laws to their force, and our fellow-subjects to their just liberties, wherein how glorious and blessed a thing it will bee, to be so considerable instrumentall, as you may now make your 5 self, I leave to you now to consider. And though I conceive there are not any motives relating to some particular interest to be mentioned after these so weightie considerations, which are such as the world hath not been at any time furnished with, yet I hold it my part to assure you, that as there is nothing you 10 can reasonably propose for the safety, satisfaction or advantage of your self, or of any that shall adhear to you in what I desire, that I shall not to the uttermost of my power provide for, so there is nothing I would, nor shall more industriously avoid, then those necessities arising from my duty to God and man, 15 that may by your rejecting this offer force me to be a sad instrument of shedding English blood, which in such case must on both sides happen. If thir overture finde place with you, as I earnestly wish it may, let me know with what possible speed you can, and if you please by the bearer in what way you 20 desire, it should bee drawne on to a conclusion. For in that, as well as in the substance you shall find all ready compliance from me that desire to bee

Your affectionate friend to serve you,

 Governour of Dublin.

My Lord,

YOUR Lordships of the ninth, I received the twelfth instant, and therein have I your Lordships invitation to a conjunction with your self (I suppose) as Lord lieutenant of 5 Ireland, and with others now united with the Irish, and with the Irish themselves also.

As I understand not how your Lordship should be invested with that power pretended, so am I very well assured, That it is not in the power of any without the Parliament of Eng- 10 land to give and assure pardon to those bloodie Rebels, as by the Act to that end passed may appear more fully. I am also well assured that the Parliament of England would never assent to such a Peace (such as is that your Lordships with the Rebels wherein is little or no provision made either for the 15 Protestants or the Protestant Religion. Nor can I understand how the Protestant Religion should bee settled and restored to its puritie by an Armie of Papists, or the Protestant interests maintained by those very enemies by whom they have been spoiled and there slaughtered: And very evident it is that 20 both the Protestants and Protestant Religion are in that your Lordships Treaty, left as in the power of the Rebels to be by them born down, and rooted out at pleasure.

As for that consideration by your Lordship offered of the present and late proceedings in England, I see not how it may 25 be a sufficient motive to mee (or any other in like trust for the Parliament of England in the service of this Kingdome) to joyn with those Rebels upon any the pretences in that your Lordships letter mentioned, for therein were there a manifest betraying that trust reposed in me in dissenting the service and work committed to me in joyning with those I should oppose, and in opposing whom I am obliged to serve.

Neither conceive I it any part of my work and care to take 5 notice of any whatsoever proceedings of State forreign to my charge and trust here, especially, they being found hereunto apparently destructive.

Most certain it is, and former ages have approved it, that the intermedling of Governors and parties in this Kingdom, 10 with sidings and parties in England, have been the very betraying of this kingdom to the Irish, whiles the Brittish forces here had bin thereupon called off, and the place therein laid open, and as it were given up to the common enemie.

It is what your Lordship might have observed in your former Treatie with the Rebels, that upon your Lordships there-15 upon withdrawing, and sending hence into England the most considerable part of the English army then commanded by you; thereby was the remaining Brittish party, not long after over-poured, and your quarters by the Irish over-run to the 20 gates of Dublin, your self also reduced to that low condition, as to be besieged in this very Citie (the Metropolis and principall cittadell of the Kingdom) and that by those very Rebels, who till then could never stand before you; and what the end hath bin of that party, also, so sent by your Lordship into 25 England, (although the flower & strength of the English army here both officers and souldiers) hath bin very observable.

And how much the dangers are at present (more then in former ages) of hazarding the English interest in this Kingdom, by sending any parties hence into any other Kingdom upon any pretences whatsoever is very apparent, as in the generalitie of the Rebellion, now more then formerly; So considering your Lordships present conclusions with, and 5 concessions to the Rebels, wherein they are allowed the continued possession of all the cities, forts, and places of strength, whereof they stood possessed at the time of their Treatie with your Lordship, and that they are to have a standing force (if I well remember of 15000 foot, and 2500 horse (all of their 10 own party officers and souldiers) and they (with the whole kingdom) to be regulated by a Major party of Irish Trustees chosen by the Rebels themselves, as persons for their interests and ends to be by them confided in, without whom nothing is to be acted. Therein I cannot but mind your Lordship of 15 what hath been sometimes by your self delivered, as your sence in this particular; that the English interest in Ireland must be preserved by the English, and not by Irish, and upon that ground (if I be not deceived) did your Lordship then capitulate with the Parliament of England, from which cleer 20 principle I am sorrie to see your Lordship now receding.

As to that by your Lordship menaced us here, of blood and force, if dissenting from your Lordships waies and designes, for my particular I shall (my Lord) much rather chuse to suffer in so doing (for therein shall I doe what is becomming 25 and answerable to my trust) then to purchase my self on the contrary the ignominious brand of perfidie, by any allurements of whatsoever advantages offered me.

But very confident I am, of the same divine power which hath still followed me in this work, and will still follow me; and in that trust doubt I nothing of thus giving your Lordship plainly this my resolution in that particular, So I remain, Dublin March 14. 1648. Your Lordships humble servant,

By the Lord Lieutenant Generall of Ireland.

Ormond,

10 WHEREAS our late Sovereign King Charles of happie memory hath bin lately by a party of his rebellious Subjects of England most traiterously, maliciously, and in-humanely put to death and murdered; and forasmuch as his Majestie that now is, Charles by the grace of God King of England, Scotland, France and Ireland, is son and heir of his 15 said late Majestie, and therefore by the Laws of the Land, of force, and practised in all ages, is to inherit. We therefore in discharge of the dutie we owe unto God, our allegiance and loyaltie to our Sovereign, holding it fit him so to proclaim in and through this his Majesties Kingdome, doe by this our 20 present proclamation declare and manifest to the world, that Charles the second, son and heir of our late Sovereign King Charles the first of happy memory, is, by the grace of God the undoubted King of England, Scotland, France, and Ire- land, Defender of the Faith, &c.

Given at Carrick Febr. 26. 1648.

A NECESSARY REPRESENTATION of the present evils, and eminent dangers to Religion, Lawes, and Liberties, arising from the late, and present practises of the Sectarian party in England: together with an Exhortation to duties relating to the Covenant, unto all within our Charge; and to all the well-affected within this Kingdome, by the Presbytery at Belfast, February 15th 1649.

WHEN we doe seriously consider the great, and many duties which we owe unto God, and his people, over whom he hath made us Overseers; and for whom we must give an accompt; and when wee behold the laudable Examples of the worthy Ministers of the Province of London, and of the Commissioners of the Generall Assembly of the Church of Scotland, in their free and faithfull testimonies against the insolencies of the Sectarian party in England. Considering also the dependency of this Kingdome upon the Kingdome of England, and remembring how against strong oppositions we were assisted by the Lord the last yeare in discharge of the like dutie, and how he punished the Contempt of our warning upon the despisers thereof: We finde our selves as necessitated; so the more encouraged to cast in our Mite in the treasury, least our silence should involve us in the guilt of unfaithfulnesse, and our People in security, and neglect of duties.

In this discharge of the trust put upon us by God, we would not be looked upon as sowers of sedition, or broachers of Nationall and divisive motions, our record is in heaven, that nothing is more hatefull unto us, nor lesse intended by us, and therefore we shall not feare the malicious, and wicked aspersions, which we know Satan by his Instruments is ready to 5 cast, not onely upon us, but on all who sincerely endeavour the advancement of Reformation.

What of late have been, and now are the insolent, and presumptuous practises of the Sectaries in England, is not unknowne to the world: For, first, notwithstanding their specious pretences for Religion, and Liberties, yet their late, 10 and present actings, being therewith compared, doe clearly evidence that they love a rough garment to deceive; since they have with a high hand despised the Oath in breaking the Covenant, which is so strong a foundation to both, whilst 15 they loaden it with slighting reproaches, calling it a Bundle of particular and contrary Interests, and a Snare to the people; and likewise labour to establish by Lawes an Universall Toleration of all Religions, which is in Innovation over-turning of Unity in Religion, and so directly repugnant to the word 20 of God, the two first Articles of our Solemne Covenant, which is the greatest wickednesse in them to violate, since many of the chiefeest of themselves, have with their hands testified to the most high God, sworne, and sealed it.

Moreover; their great dis-affection to the Settlement of 25 Religion, and so their future breach of Covenant doth more fully appeare by their strong oppositions to Presbyteriall Government (the hedge, and Bulwarke of Religion) whilst they expresse their hatred to it, more then to the worst of errors, by excluding it under the name of Compulsion; when they imbrace, even Paganisme, and Judaisme in the Armes of Toleration. Not to speake of their Aspersions upon it, and the Assertors thereof, as Antichristian, and Popish, though they 5 have deeply sworn to maintaine the same Government in the first Article of the Covenant, as it is established in the Church of Scotland, which they now so despise, and fully blaspheme.

Againe, It is more then manifest that they seek not the vindication, but the extirpation of Lawes, and Liberties, as appears by their seizing on the person of the King, and at their 10 pleasures removing him from place to place, not onely without the consent, but (if we mis-take not) against a direct Ordinance of Parliament: their violent surprizing, imprisoning, and secluding many of the most worthy Members of the Honourable House of Commons, directly against a declared Priv-15 iledge of Parliament (an Action certainly without parallell in any age) and their purposes of abolishing Parliamentary power for the future, and establishing of a Representative (as they call it) in stead thereof. Neither hath their fury stayed 20 here, but without all rule, or example, being but private men, they have proceeded to the tryall of the King, against both the Interest, and Protestation of the Kingdome of Scotland, and the former publique Declarations of both Kingdomes (besides the violent hast, rejecting the hearing of any defences) 25 with cruell hands have put him to death; an act so horrible, as no history, divine or humane, hath laid a President of the like.

These, and many other their detestable insolencies, may abundantly convince every unbyassed Judgement, that the present practise of the Sectaries, and their Abettors, doe directly over-turne the Lawes and Liberties of the Kingdomes, roote out lawfull, and supreme Magistracy (the just privileges whereof we have sworne to maintaine) and introduce 5 a fearfull confusion, and lawlesse Anarchie.

The Spirit of God by Solomon tells us, Pro. 30. 21. That a servant to reigne is one of the foure things for which the earth is disquieted, and which it cannot beare: We wonder nothing that the earth is disquieted for these things; but we wonder 10 greatly, if the earth can beare them, and albeit the Lord so permit, that folly be set in great dignity, and they which sit in low place; That servants ride upon horses, and Princes walke as servants upon the Earth, Eccles. 10. ver. 6, 7. Yet the same Wise man saith, Pro. 19. 10. Delight is not seemely 15 for a foole, much lesse for a servant to have rule over Princes.

When we consider these things, we cannot but declare and manifest our utter dislike and detestation of such unwarrantable practises, directly subverting our Covenant, Religion, Lawes, and Liberties. And as Watchmen in Sion warne all 20 the Lovers of truth, and well-affected to the Covenant, carefully to avoyde compliance with, or not bearing witness against horrid Insolencies, least partaking with them in their sinnes, they also be partakers of their plagues. Therefore in the Spirit of meeknesse, wee earnestly intreate, and in the 25 authority of Jesus Christ, (whose servants wee are) Charge, and obtest all who resolve to adhere unto truth, and the Covenant, diligently to observe, and conscientiously to performe these following duties.

1. First, That according to our solemn Covenant, every one study more to the power of godlinesse, and personall reformation of themselves, and families, because for the great breach of this part of the Covenant, God is highly offended 5 with these Lands, and justly provoked to permit men to be the Instruments of our misery and afflictions.

2. Secondly, That every one in their station and calling earnestly contend for the faith which was once delivered to the Saints, Jude 3. And seeke to have their hearts established 10 with grace, that they be not unstable, and wavering, carried about with every winde of doctrine; but that they receive the truth in love, avoyding the company of such, as withdraw from, and vilifie the publike Ordinances; speake evill of Church-Government; invent damnable errors, under the specious pretence of a Gospel-way, and new Light; and highly 15 extoll the persons and courses of notorious Sectaries, least God give them over to strong delusions (the plague of these times) that they may beleieve lies, and be damned.

3. Thirdly, That they would not be drawne by Councill, 20 Command, or Example, to shake off the ancient, and fundamentall Government of these Kingdomes by King and Parliament, which we are so deeply ingaged to preserve by our solemn Covenant, as they would not be found guilty of the great evill of these times (condemned by the Holy Ghost) the 25 despising of Dominion, and speaking evill of Dignities.

4. Fourthly, That they doe cordially endeavour the preservation of the Union amongst the well-affected in the Kingdomes, not being swayed by any Nationall respect: remembring that part of the Covenant; That wee shall not suffer our selves directly, nor indirectly, by whatsoever Combination, perswasion, or terrour, to be divided, or withdrawne from this blessed Union, and Conjunction.

- 5 And finally, albeit there be more present hazard from the power of Sectaries, (as were from Malignants the last yeare) yet wee are not ignorant of the evill purposes of Malignants, even at this time in all the Kingdomes; and particularly in this; and for this cause we exhort every one with equall watch-10 fulnesse to keep themselves free from associating with such, or from swerving in their judgements to Malignant principles; and to avoyd all such persons as have been from the beginning knowne opposers of Reformation, refusers of the Covenant, combining themselves with Papists, and other notorious Ma-15 lignants, especially such who have been chiefe Promotors of the late Ingagement against England, Calumniators of the worke of Reformation, in reputing the miseries of the present times unto the advancers thereof, and that their just hatred to Sectaries, incline not their mindes to favour Malignants, or 20 to thinke that because of the power of Sectaries, the cause of God needs the more to feare the Enmity, or to stand in need of the helpe of Malignants.

OBSERVATIONS UPON the Articles of Peace with the Irish Rebels, on the Letter of Ormond to Col. Jones, and the Representation of the Presbytery at Belfast.

ALTHOUGH it be a Maxim much agreeable to wisdom, that just deeds are the best answer to injurious words, and actions of what ever sort, their own plainest Interpreters; yet since our enemies can finde the 5 leisure both wayes to offend us, it will be requisite we should be found in neither of those wayes neglectfull of our just defence. To let them know, that sincere and upright intentions can certainly with as much ease deliver themselv's into words as into deeds.

10 Having therefore seen of late those Articles of Peace granted to the Papist Rebels of Ireland, as speciall graces and favours from the late King, in reward, most likely, of their work don, and in his name and authority confirm'd and ratifi'd by James Earle of Ormond; together with his Letter to Col. Jones, 15 Governour of Dublin, full of contumely and dishonour, both to the Parliament and Army. And on the other side, an Insolent and seditious Representation from the Scotch Presbytery at Belfast in the North of Ireland; no lesse dishonourable to the State; and much about the same time brought hither; 20 there will be needfull as to the same slanderous aspersions but one and the same Vindication against them both. Nor can we sever them in our notice and resentment, though one part intitl'd a Presbytery, and would be thought a Protestant Assembly, since their own unexampl'd virulence hath wrapt them into the same guilt, made them accomplices and assistants to the abhorred Irish Rebels, and with them at present to 5 advance the same interest: if wee consider both their calumnies, their hatred, and the pretended Reasons of their hatred to be the same; the time also, and the place concurring, as that there lacks nothing but a few formall words, which may be easily dissembl'd, to make the perfetest conjunction; and be-10 tween them to divide that Iland.

As for these Articles of Peace made with those inhumane Rebels and Papists of Ireland by the late King, as one of his last Master-pieces, We may be confidently perswaded, that no true borne English-man, can so much as barely reade them 15 without indignation and disdaine, that those bloody Rebels, and so proclaim'd and judg'd of by the King himself, after the mercillesse and barbarous Massacre of so many thousand English, (who had us'd their right and title to that Countrey with such tendernesse and moderation, and might otherwise 20 have secur'd themselvs with ease against their Treachery) should be now grac'd and rewarded with such freedoms and enlargements, as none of their Ancestors could ever merit by their best obedience, which at best was alwaies treacherous, to be infranchiz'd with full liberty equall to their Conquerours, 25 whom the just revenge of ancient Pyracies, cruell Captivities, and the causlesse infestation of our Coast, had warrantably call'd over, and the long prescription of many hundred yeares; besides what other titles are acknowledg'd by their own Irish

Parlaments, had fixt and seated in that soile with as good a right as the meerest Natives.

These therefore by their own foregoing demerits and provocations justly made our vassalls, are by the first Article of this 5 peace advanc'd to a Condition of freedome superior to what any English Protestants durst have demanded. For what else can be the meaning to discharge them the Common Oath of Supremacy, especially being Papists (for whom principally that oath was intended) but either to resigne them the more 10 into their own power, or to set a mark of dishonour upon the Brittish Loyalty; by trusting Irish Rebels for one single Oath of Alleageance, as much as all his Subjects of Brittaine for the double swearing both of Alleageance and Supremacy.

The second Article puts it into the hands of an Irish Par-15 lament to repeale, or to suspend, if they thinke convenient, that act usually call'd Poynings Act, which was the maine, and yet the civillest and most moderate acknowledgement impos'd of their dependance on the Crown of England; whereby no Parlament could be summond there, no Bill be past, but 20 what was first to be transmitted and allowd under the great seale of England. The recalling of which Act, tends openly to invest them with a law-giving power of their own, enables them by degrees to throw off all subjection to this Realme, and renders them who by their endlesse treasons and revolts have 25 deserv'd to hold no Parlament at all, but to be govern'd by Edicts and Garrisons, as absolute and supream in that Assembly as the People of England in their own Land. And the 12th Article grants them in expresse words, that the Irish Parla-ment shall be no more dependent on the Parlament of England, then the Irish themselves shall declare agreeable to the Lawes of Ireland.

The two and twentieth Article more ridiculous then dangerous, coming especially from such a serious knot of Lords and Politicians, obtaines that those Acts prohibiting to plow with horses by the Tayle, and burne oates in the Straw, be repeald; anough if nothing else, to declare in them a disposition not onely sottish but indocible and averse from all Civility and amendment, and what hopes they give for the future, who rejecting the ingenuity of all other Nations to improve and waxe more civill by a civilizing Conquest, though all these many yeares better shown and taught, preferre their own absurd and savage Customes before the most convincing evidence of reason and demonstration: a testimony of their true Barbarisme and obdurate wilfulnesse to be expected no lesse in other matters of greatest moment.

Yet such as these and thus affected, the ninth Article entrusts with the Militia; a Trust which the King swore by God at New-Market, he would not commit to his Parliament of England, no not for an houre. And well declares the confidence he had in Irish Rebels, more then in his Loyallest Subjects. He grants them moreover till the performance of all these Articles, that 15000 foote and 2500 horse, shall remaine a standing Army of Papists at the beck and Command of Dillon, Muskery, and other arch Rebels, with power also of adding to that number as they shall see cause. And by other Articles allows them the constituting of Magistrates and

Judges in all Causes, whom they think fit: and till a settlement to their own minds, the possession of all those Townes and Countreys within their now Quarters being little lesse then all the Iland, besides what their Cruelty hath dispeopl'd and 5 lay'd wast. And lastly, the whole managing both of peace and warre is committed to Papists, and the chiefe Leaders of that Rebellion.

Now let all men judge what this wants of utter alienating and acquitting the whole Province of Ireland from all true 10 fealty and obedience to the Common-wealth of England. Which act of any King against the Consent of his Parliament, though no other Crime were layd against him, might of it selfe strongly conduce to the dis-inthrowning him of all. In France Henry the third demanding leave in greatest exigen-
15 cies to make Sale of some Crown Lands onely, and that to his Subjects, was answerd by the Parlament then at Blois, that a King in no case, though of extreamest necessity, might alienate the Patrimony of his Crown, whereof he is but onely Usufructuary, as Civilians terme it, the propriety remaining ever 20 to the Kingdome, not to the King. And in our own Nation, King John, for resigning though unwillingly his Crown to the Popes Legate, with little more hazard to his Kingdome then the payment of 1000 Marks, and the unsightlinesse of such a Ceremony, was depos'd by his Barons, and Lewis the 25 French Kings Sonne elected in his roome. And to have carried onely the Jewells, Plate, and Treasure into Ireland without consent of the Nobility, was one of those impeachments that condemn'd Richard the second to lose his Crown.

But how petty a Crime this will seem to the alienating of a whole Kingdome, which in these Articles of Peace we see as good as done by the late King, not to friends, but to mortall Enemies, to the accomplishment of his own interests and ends, wholly separate from the Peoples good, may without aggravation be easily conceiv'd. Nay by the Covenant it self, since that so cavillously is urg'd against us, wee are enjoyn'd in the fourth Article, with all faithfulnessse to endeavour the bringing all such to public Triall and condigne Punishment, as shall divide one Kingdome from another. And what greater dividing then by a pernicious and hostile Peace, to disalliege a whole Feudary Kingdome from the ancient Dominion of England? Exception we finde there of no person whatsoever; and if the King who hath actually done this, or any for him claime a Priviledge above Justice, it is againe demanded by what expresse Law, either of God or man, and why he whose office is to execute Law and Justice upon all others, should sit himselfe like a demigod in lawlesse and unbounded anarchy; refusing to be accountable for that authority over men naturally his equals, which God himself without a reason givn is not wont to exercise over his creatures? And if God the neerer to be acquainted with mankind and his frailties, and to become our Priest, made himself a man, and subject to the Law, we gladly would be instructed why any mortal man for the good and wellfare of his brethren beeing made a King, should by a clean contrary motion make himself a God, exalted above Law; the readiest way to become utterly unsensible, both of his human condition, and his own duty.

And how securely, how smoothly, with how little touch or sense of any commiseration, either Princely or so much as human, he hath sold away that justice so oft demanded, and so oft by himself acknowledg'd to be due for the blood of more 5 then 200000. of his Subjects, that never hurt him, never disobeyd him, assassinated and cut in pieces by those Irish Barbarians, to give the first promoting, as is more then thought, to his own tyrannicall designs in England, will appeare by the 18th Article of his peace; wherein without the least regard 10 of Justice to avenge the dead, while he thirsts to be aveng'd upon the living, to all the Murders, Massacres, Treasons, Pyracies, from the very fatall day wherein that Rebellion first broke out, he grants an act of Oblivion. If this can be justified, or not punisht in whomsoever, while there is any faith, any 15 Religion, any Justice upon Earth, there can no reason be alleg'd why all things are not left to confusion. And thus much be observd in brief concerning these Articles of peace made by the late King with his Irish Rebels.

The Letter of Ormond sent to Col. Jones Governour of 20 Dublin, attempting his fidelity, which the discretion and true worth of that Gentleman hath so well answerd and repulst, had pass'd heer with out mention, but that the other part of it not content to doe the errand of Treason, roves into a long digression of evill and reproachfull language to the 25 Parlament and Army of England. Which though not worth their notice, as from a Crew of Rebels whose inhumanities are long since become the horror and execration of all that heare them, yet in the pursuance of a good endeavour, to give the world all due satisfaction of the present doings, no fit opportunity shall be omitted.

He accuses first that we are the Subverters of true Religion, the protectors & inviters not onely of all false ones, but of 5 irreligion & atheism. An accusation that no man living could more unjustly use then our accuser himself; & which without a strange besottednesse, he could not expect but to be retorted upon his own head. All men who are true Protestants, of which number he gives out to be one, know not a 10 more immediate and killing Subverter of all true Religion then Antichrist, whom they generally believe to be the Pope and Church of Rome, he therefore who makes peace with this grand Enemy and persecutor of the true Church, he who joynes with him, strengthens him, gives him root to grow up 15 and spread his poyson, removing all opposition against him, granting him Schools, Abbeyes, and Revenues, Garrisons, Fortresses, Townes, as in so many of those Articles may be seen, he of all Protestants may be calld most justly the Subverter of true Religion, the Protector and inviter of irreligion 20 and atheism, whether it be Ormond or his Maister. And if it can be no way prov'd, that the Parlament hath countenanc'd Popery or Papists, but have every where brok'n their Temporall power, thrown down their public Superstitions, and confin'd them to the bare enjoyment of that which is not in 25 our reach, their Consciences, if they have encouragd all true Ministers of the Gospel, that is to say, afforded them favour and protection in all places where they preacht, and although they think not money or Stipend to be the best encouragement of a true Pastor, yet therein also have not been wanting nor intend to be, they doubt not then to affirm themselves, not the Subverters, but the maintainers and defenders of true Religion; which of it self and by Consequence is the surest and 5 the strongest Subversion, not onely of all false ones, but of irreligion and atheism. For the Weapons of that Warfare, as the Apostle testifies who best knew, are not carnall, but mighty through God to the pulling down of Strong Holds, and all reasonings, and every high thing exalted against the knowl-

10 edge of God, surprising every thought unto the obedience of Christ, and easily revenging all disobedience, 2 Cor. 10. What Minister or Clergyman that either understood his high calling, or sought not to erect a secular and carnall Tyranny over spirituall things, would neglect this ample and sublime power 15 conferrd upon him, and come a begging to the weak hand of Magistracy for that kind of ayd which both the Magistrate hath no Commission to afford him, and in the way he seeks it hath been alwayes found helplesse and unprofitable. Neither is it unknown, or by wisest men unobserv'd, that the Church 20 began then most apparently to degenerate, and goe to ruine, when shee borrow'd of the Civill power more then fair encouragement and protection; more then which Christ himself and his Apostles never requir'd. To say therefore that We protect and invite all false Religions, with irreligion also and is an imputation that may be layd as well upon the best regulated States and Governments through the World. Who have been so prudent as never to imploy the Civill sword further then the edge of it could reach; that is, to Civill offences onely; 5 proving alwayes against objects that were spirituall a ridiculous weapon. Our protection therefore to men in Civill matters unoffensive we cannot deny; their Consciences we leave, as not within our Cognisance, to the proper cure of instruction, praying for them. Neverthelesse, if any be found among 10 us declar'd atheists, malicious enemies of God, and of Christ; The Parlament, I think, professes not to tolerate such, but with all befitting endeavours to suppress them. Otherwaies to protect none that in a larger sense may be tax'd of irreligion or atheism, may perhaps be the ready way to exclude none 15 sooner out of protection, then those themselves that most accuse it to be so generall to others. Lastly, that we invite such as these, or encourage them, is a meer slander without proof.

He tells us next that they have murderd the King. And they 20 deny not to have justly and undauntedly, as became the Parlament of England, for more bloudshed and other hainous Crimes then ever King of this Land was guilty of, after op'n tryall, punisht him with death. A matter which to men whose serious consideration thereof hath left no certain precept, or 25 example undebated, is so farr from giving offence, that wee implore and beseech the Divine Majesty so to uphold and support thir spirits with like fortitude and Magnanimity, that all thir ensuing actions may correspond and prove worthy that impartiall and noble peece of Justice, wherein the hand of God appear'd so evidently on our side. Wee shall not then need to feare what all the rout and faction of men basely principl'd can doe against us.

- 5 The end of our proceedings, which he takes upon him to have discover'd; The changing forsooth of Monarchy into Anarchy, sounds so like the smattering of some raw Polititian, and the overworne objection of every triviall talker, that wee leave him in the number. But seing in that which followes he 10 containes not himself, but contrary to what a Gentleman should know of Civility, proceeds to the contemptuous naming of a person, whose valour and high merit many enemies more noble then himself have both honour'd and feard, to assert his good name and reputation, of whose service the 15 Common-wealth receaves so ample satisfaction, tis answerd in his behalf, that Cromwell whom he couples with a name of scorne, hath done in few yeares more eminent and remarkable Deeds whereon to found Nobility in his house, though it were wanting, and perpetuall Renown to posterity, then Or- 20 mond and all his Auncestors put together can shew from any record of thir Irish exploits, the widest scene of thir glory.

- He passes on in his groundless conjectures, that the aime of this Parlament may be perhaps to set up first an elective Kingdome, and after that a perfet Turkish tyranny. Of the 25 former wee suppose the late act against Monarchy will suffice to acquitt them. Of the latter certainly there needed no other patterne then that Tyranny which was so long modelling by the late King himself, with Strafford, and that arch Prelat of Canterbury, his chief Instruments; whose designs God hath dissipated. Neither is it any new project of the Monarchs, and their Courtiers in these dayes, though Christians they would be thought, to endeavour the introducing of a plain Turkish 5 Tyranny. Witnessse that Consultation had in the Court of France under Charles the ninth at Blois, wherein Poncet, a certain Court projector, brought in secretly by the Chancellor Biragha, after many praises of the Ottoman Government; proposes means and wayes at large in presence of the King, 10 the Queen Regent, and Anjou the Kings Brother, how with best expedition, and least noyse the Turkish Tyranny might be set up in France. It appeares therefore that the designe of bringing in that Tyranny, is a Monarchicall designe, and not of those who have dissolv'd Monarchy.

15 As for Parlements by three Estates, wee know that a Parliament signifies no more then the Supream and generall Councell of a Nation, consisting of whomsoever chos'n and assembled for the public good; which was ever practis'd, and in all sorts of Government, before the word Parlament, or the formality, or the possibility of those three Estates, or such a thing 20 as a Titular Marquess had either name or being in the World. The Originall of all which we could produce to be farr newer then those all Ages which he vaunts of, and by such first invented and contriv'd, whose authority, though it were Charles 25 Martell, stands not so high in our repute, either for himself, or the age he liv'd in, but that with as good warrant we may recede from what he ordain'd, as he ordaine what before was not.

But whereas besides he is bold to allege that of the three Estates there remains onely a small number, and they the Dreggs and Scum of the House of Commons, this reproach and in the mouth of an Irish Man concernes not them onely, 5 but redounds to apparent dishonour of the whole English Nation. Doubtless there must be thought a great scarcity in England of persons honourable and deserving, or else of Judgement, or so much as honesty in the People, if those whom they esteem worthy to sit in Parlament be no better 10 then Scum and Dreggs in the Irish Dialect. But of such like stuffe wee meet not any where with more excrescence then in his own lavish pen; which feeling it selfe loose without the reines of discretion, rambles for the most part beyond all Soberness and Civility. In which Torrent he goes on negotiating and cheapning the Loyalty of our Faithfull Governour 15 of Dublin, as if the known and Try'd Constancy of that valiant Gentleman were to be bought with Court fumes.

He layes before him that there remaines now no other liberty in the Subject but to professe blasphemous opinions, to 20 revile and tread underfoot Magistracy, to murther Magistrates, to oppresse and undoe all that are not like minded with us. Forgetting in the mean while himself to be in the head of a mixt Rabble, part Papists, part Fugitives, and part Savages, guilty in the highest degree of all these Crimes.
25 What more blasphemous not opinion but whole Religion then Popery, plung'd into Idolatrous and Ceremoniall Superstition, the very death of all true Religion; figur'd to us by the Scripture it selfe in the shape of that Beast, full of the names of Blasphemy, which wee mention to him as to one that would be counted Protestant, and had his breeding in the house of a Bishop. And who are those that have trod under foot Magistracy, murder'd Magistrates, oppress'd & undone all that 5 syded not with them, but the Irish Rebels, in that horrible Conspiracy, for which Ormond himselfe hath either been or seem'd to be their enemy; though now their Ringleader. And let him aske the Jesuites about him whether it be not their known Doctrine and also practise, not by faire and due pro-10 esse of Justice to punish Kings and Magistrates, which we disavow not, but to murder them in the basest and most assassinous manner, if thir Church-Interest so require. There will not need more words to this Windy Railer, convicted opnly of all those Crimes which he so confidently and yet 15 falsely charges upon others.

We have now to deale, though in the same Country, with another sort of Adversaries, in show farr different, in substance much what the same. These write themselves the Presbytery of Belfast, a place better known by the name of a late 20 Barony, then by the fame of these mens Doctrine or Ecclesiasticall Deeds; whose obscurity till now never came to our hearing. And surely wee should think this their Representation farr beneath considerable, who have neglected and past over the like unadvisednesse of their fellowes in other places 25 more neer us, were it not to observe in some particulars the Sympathy, good Intelligence, and joynt pace which they goe in the North of Ireland, with their Copartning Rebels in the South, driving on the same Interest to loose us that Kingdome, that they may gaine it themselves, or at least share in the spoile: though the other be op'n enemies, these pretended Brethren.

- The Introduction of their Manifest out of doubt must be
- 5 Zealous; Their Duty, they say, to God and his people, over whom he hath made them Overseers, and for whom they must give accompt. What meane these men? is the Presbytery of Belfast, a small Town in Ulster, of so large extent that their voyces cannot serve to teach duties in the Congregation which
- 10 they oversee, without spreading and divulging to all parts farr beyond the Diocesse of Patrick, or Columba, their writt'n Representation, under the suttle pretence of Feeding their owne Flock? Or doe they think to oversee or undertake to give an accompt for all to whom their paper sends greeting?
- 15 St. Paul to the Elders of Ephesus thinks it sufficient to give charge that they take heed to themselves and to the Flocke, over which they were made overseers; beyond those bounds hee enlarges not their Commission. And surely when we put down Bishops, and put up Presbyters, which the most of them
- 20 have made use of to enrich and exalt themselves, and turn the first heele against their Benefactors, we did not think that one Classick Fraternity so obscure and so remote, should involve us and all State affairs within the Censure and Jurisdiction of Belfast, upon pretence of overseeing their own charge.
- 25 Wee very well know that Church Censures are limited to Church matters, and these within the compasse of their own Province, or to say more truly of their own Congregation: that affaires of State are not for their Medling, as we could urge ev'n from their own Invectives and Protestations against the Bishops, wherein they tell them with much fervency, that Ministers of the Gospell, neither by that function nor by any other which they ought accept, have the least Warrant to be 5 Pragmaticall in the State.

And surely in vain were Bishops for these and other Causes forbid to sit and vote in the Hous, if these men out of the house, and without vote shall claim and be permitted more license on their Presbyteriall stooles, to breed continuall disturbance by interposing in the Common Wealth. But seeing 10 that now, since their heaving out the Prelats to heave in themselves, they devise new wayes to bring both ends together which will never meete, that is to say their former Doctrine with their present doings, as that they cannot else teach Magistrates and Subjects their duty, and that they have besides a Right themselves to speake as Members of the Common Wealth, Let them know that there is a wide difference between the generall exhortation to Justice and Obedience, which in this point is the utmost of their Duty, and the State 20 disputes wherein they are now grown such busie Bodies, to preach of Titles, Interests, and alterations in government: more then our Saviour himselfe, or any of his Apostles ever took upon them, though the Title both of Cæsar and of Herod, and what they did in matters of State might have then admitted controversie enough.

Next for their Civill Capacities, we are sure that Pulpits and Church-assemblies, whether Classicall or Provinciall, never were intended or allowd by wise Magistrates, no nor by him that sent them, to advance such purposes; but that as Members of the Common Wealth they ought to mixe with other Commoners, and in that temporall Body to assume nothing above other Private persons, or otherwise then in a 5 usuall and legall manner: not by distinct Remonstrances and representments, as if they were a Tribe and party by themselves, which is the next immediate way to make the Church lift a Horne against the State, and claim an absolute and undepending Jurisdiction, as from like advantage and occasion 10 (to the trouble of all Christ'ndome) the Pope hath for many Ages done; and not only our Bishops were climing after him, but our Presbyters also, as by late experiment wee find. Of this Representation therefore wee can esteem and judge no other then of a slanderous and seditious libell, sent abroad by a 15 sort of Incendiaries, to delude and make the better way under the cunning and plausible name of a Presbytery.

A second Reason of thir Representing is, that they consider the dependance of that Kingdome upon England, which is another shamelesse untruth that ever they consider'd; as their 20 own Actions will declare, by conniving, and in thir silence partaking with those in Ulster, whose obedience by what we have yet heard, stands dubious, and with an eye of Conformity rather to the North, then to that part where they owe thir subjection; and this in all likelihood by the inducement and 25 instigation of these Representers: who are so farr from considering thir dependance on England, as to presume at every word to terme proceedings of Parliament, the Insolencies of a Sectarian party, and of private men. Despising Dominion, and speaking evill of Dignities, which hypocritically they would seeme to dissuade others from; and not fearing the due correction of their Superiors, that may in fit season overtake them. When as the least consideration of their Dependance on 5 England would have kept them better in their Duty.

The third Reason which they use, makes against them; The remembrance how God punisht the contempt of their warning last year upon the Breakers of Covnant, whenas the next year after they forget the warning of that punishment 10 hanging over their own heads for the very same transgression, their manifest breach of Covnant by this seditious Representation accompanied with the doubtfull obedience of that Province which represents it.

And thus we have their preface supported with three Reasons; two of them notorious falsities, and the third against 15 themselves; and two examples, the Province of London, & the Commissioners of the Kirk Assembly. But certain, if Canonically examples bind not, much lesse doe Apocryphall.

Proceeding to avouch the Trust put upon them by God, 20 which is plainly prov'd to be none of this Nature, They would not be look'd upon as sowers of Sedition, or authors of divisive motions, their Record, they say, is in heaven, and their Truth and honesty no man knowes where. For is not this a shamelesse hypocrisie, and of meer wolves in sheeps cloathing, 25 to sow sedition in the Eares of all men, and to face us downe in the very Act, that they are Authors of no such matter. But let the sequell both of their paper, and the obedience of the place wherein they are, determine.

Nay while we are yet writing these things, and foretelling all men the rebellion which was eevn then design'd in the close purpose of these unhallow'd Priestlings, at the very time when with thir lips they disclaim'd all sowing of sedition, newes is 5 brought, and too true, that the Scottish Inhabitants of that Province are actually revolted, and have not only besieg'd in London-Derry those Forces which were to have fought against Ormond, and the Irish Rebels; but have in a manner declar'd with them, and begun op'n war against the Parlament; and 10 all this by the incitement and illusions of that unchristian Synagogue at Belfast, who yet dare charge the Parlament, that notwithstanding specious pretences, yet thir actings doe evidence that they love a rough garment to deceive. The Deceit we own not, but the Comparison, by what at first sight 15 may seem alluded, we accept: For that hairy roughnesse assum'd won Jacob the Birthright both Temporall and Eternall; and God wee trust hath so dispos'd the mouth of these Balaams, that comming to Curse, they have stumbled into a kind of Blessing, and compar'd our actings to the faithfull 20 Act of that Patriarch.

But if they mean, as more probably thir meaning was, that rough garment spok'n of Zach. 13. 4. We may then behold the pittiful store of learning, and theology, which these deceivers have thought sufficient to uphold their credit with the 25 people, who, though the rancour that levens them have somewhat quickn'd the common drawling of thir Pulpit elocution, yet for want of stock anough in Scripture-phrase to serve the necessary uses of thir malice, they are become so liberall, as to part freely with their own budge gownes from off their backs, and bestow them on the Magistrate as a rough garment to deceive; rather then not be furnish'd with a reproach though never so improper, never so obvious to be turn'd upon 5 themselves. For but with half an eye cast upon that text, any man will soon discern that rough garment to be thir own coate, thir own livery, the very badge and cognisance of such false prophets as themselves. Who, when they understand, or ever seriously mind the beginning of that 4th. verse, may be 10 asham'd every one of his lying vision, and may justly fear that foregoing denouncement to such as speak lies in the name of the Lord, vers. 3. lurking under the rough garment of outward rigor and formality, whereby they cheat the simple. So that this rough garment to deceiv we bring ye once again, 15 Grave Sirs, into your own Vestry; or with Zachary shall not think much to fit it to your own shoulders. To bestow ought in good earnest on the Magistrate, we know your classic Priestship is too gripple, for yee are alwayes begging: and for this rough gown to deceav, we are confident yee cannot spare it;

20 it is your Sundays gown, your every day gown, your only gown, the gown of your faculty; your divining gowne; to take it from ye were sacrilege. Weare it therefore, & possesse it your selvs, most grave and reverend Carmelites, that all men both young and old, as we hope they will shortly, may yet 25 better know ye and distinguish ye by it; and give to your rough gown where ever they meete it, whether in Pulpit, Classis, or Provincial Synod, the precedency, and the pre-eminence of deceaving.

They charge us next that we have brokn the Cov'nant, & load'n it with slighting Reproaches. For the reproaching, let them answer that are guilty, wherof the State we are sure cannot be accus'd. For the breaking, let us hear wherin. In labouring say they, to establish by Law a universall tolleration of all Religions. This touches not the State; for certainly were they so minded, they need not labour it, but do it, having power in thir hands; and we know of no act as yet past to that purpose. But suppose it done, wherin is the Covnant broke? The Covnant enjoyns us to endeavor the extirpation first of Popery and Prelacy, then of Heresy, Schism, and prophaness, and whatsoever shall be found contrary to sound Doctrin and the power of godliness. And this we ceas not to do by all effectuall and proper means: But these Divines might know, that to extirpat all these things can be no work of the Civil sword, but of the spirituall which is the Word of God.

No man well in his wits endeavoring to root up weeds out of his ground, instead of using the spade will take a Mallet or a Beetle. Nor doth the Covenant any way engage us to extirpate, or to prosecute the men, but the heresies and errors in them, which we tell these Divines and the rest that understand not, belongs chiefly to their own Function, in the diligent preaching and insisting upon sound Doctrin, in the confuting not the railing down errors, encountring both in public and private Conference, and by the power of truth, not of persecution, subduing those authors of hereticall opinions, & lastly in the spirituall execution of Church discipline within thir own congregations. In all these ways wee shall assist them, favour them, and as far as appertains to us joyn with them, and moreover not tolerate the free exercise of any Religion, which shall be found absolutely contrary to sound Doctrin 5 or the power of godliness; for the conscience we must have patience till it be within our verge. And thus doing we shall believ to have kept exactly all that is requird from us by the Covenant. Whilst they by thir seditious practises against us, then which nothing for the present can adde more assistance 10 or advantage to those bloody Rebels and Papists in the South, will be found most pernicious Covenant-breakers themselves, and as deep in that guilt as those of thir own Nation the last year; the warning of whose ill successe like men hardn'd for the same judgment, they miserably pervert to an incourage-15 ment in the same offence, if not a far worse; For now they have joyn'd interest with the Irish Rebels, who have ever fought against the Covenant, wheras thir Country-men the year before made the Covenant thir plea. But as it is a peculiar mercy of God to his people, while they remain his, to preserve 20 them from wicked confederations: so it is a mark and punishment of hypocrites to be drivn at length to mix thir cause, and the interest of thir Covenant with Gods enemies.

And wheras they affirm that the tolerating of all Religions in the manner that we tolerat them, is an innovation, we must 25 acquaint them that we are able to make it good if need be, both by Scripture and the Primitive Fathers, and the frequent assertion of whole Churches and Protestant States in thir Remonstrances and expostulations against the Popish tyranny over souls. And what force of argument do these Doctors bring to the contrary? But we have long observ'd to what passe the bold ignorance and sloth of our Clergy tends no less now then in the Bishops days, to make thir bare sayings 5 and censures authentic with the People, though destitute of any prooffe or argument. But thanks be to God they are discern'd.

Thir next impeachment is, that we oppose the Presbyteriall government, the hedg and bulwark of Religion. Which all 10 the Land knows to be a most impudent falshood, having establishd it with all freedom, wherever it hath been desir'd. Nevertheless as we perceave it aspiring to be a compulsive power upon all without exception in Parochiall, Classicall, and Provinciall Hierarchies, or to require the fleshly arm of Magistracy in the execution of a spirituall Discipline, to punish and 15 amerce by any corporall infliction those whose consciences cannot be edifi'd by what authority they are compell'd, we hold it no more to be the hedg and bulwark of Religion, then the Popish and Prelaticall Courts, or the Spanish Inquisition.

20 But we are told, We imbrace Paganism and Judaism in the arms of toleration. A most audacious calumny. And yet while we detest Judaism, we know our selves commanded by St. Paul, Rom. 11. to respect the Jews, and by all means to endeavor thir conversion.

25 Neither was it ever sworn in the Covenant to maintain a universal Presbytery in England, as they falsly allege, but in Scotland against the Common Enemy, if our aid were calld for: being left free to reform our own Country according to the Word of God, and the example of best reformed Churches; from which rule we are not yet departed.

But heer utterly forgetting to be Ministers of the Gospel, they presume to op'n their mouths not in the spirit of meek-
5 nesse, as like dissemblers they pretend, but with as much devillish malice, impudence and falshood as any Irish Rebell could have utter'd; and from a barbarous nook of Ireland brand us with the extirpation of laws and liberties; things which they seem as little to understand as ought that belongs 10 to good letters or humanity.

That wee seisd on the person of the King. Who was surrendered into our hands an Enemy and Captive by our own subordinate and paid Army of Scots in England. Next our imprisoning many Members of the House. As if it were im-15 possible they should deserve it, conspiring and banding against the public good; which to the other part appearing, and, with the power they had, not resisting, had bin a manifest desertion of thir trust and duty. No question but it is as good and necessary to expell rott'n Members out of the House, 20 as to banish Delinquents out of the Land: and the reason holds as well in forty as in five. And if they be yet more, the more dangerous is thir number. They had no privilege to sit there and vote home the author, the impenitent author of all our miseries to freedom, honour, and royalty, for a few fraudulent 25 if not destructive concessions. Which that they went about to doe, how much more clear it was to all men, so much the more expedient, and important to the Common-Wealth was thir speedy seisure and exclusion; and no breach of any just privi-

lige, but a breach of their knotted faction. And heer they cry out, An action without paralell in any age. So heartily we wish all men were unprejudic'd in all our actions, as these illiterat denouncers never paralleld so much of any age as 5 would contribute to the tithe of a Century. That wee abolish Parliamentary power, and establish a representative instead thereof. Now we have the hight of them; these profound Instructors in the midst of thir Representation, would know the English of a Representative, and were perhaps of that 10 Classis, who heretofore were as much staggerd at Trienniall.

Thir grand accusation is our Justice don on the King, which that they may prove to be without rule or example, they venture all the credit they have in divine and human history; and by the same desperate boldness detect themselves 15 to be egregious liars and impostors, seeking to abuse the multitude with a show of that gravity and learning which never was their portion. Had thir knowledge bin equall to the knowledge of any stupid Monk, or Abbot, they would have known at least, though ignorant of all things else, the life and 20 acts of him, who first instituted thir order: but these blockish Presbyters of Clandeboy know not that John Knox, who was the first founder of Presbytery in Scotland, taught professedly the doctrine of deposing, and of killing Kings. And thus while they deny that any such rule can be found, the rule is found 25 in their own Country, givn them by thir own first presbyterian institutor; and they themselves like irregular Friers walking contrary to the rule of thir own foundation, deserv for so grosse an ignorance and transgression to be disciplin'd upon thir own stools. Or had thir reading in history bin any, which by this we may be confident is none at all, or thir malice not highth'n'd to a blind rage, they never would so rashly have thrown the dice to a palpable discovery of thir ignorance and want of shame. But wherefore spend we two such precious things as time & reason upon Priests, the most prodigal mispenders of time, and the scarcest owners of reason? Tis sufficient we have publishd our defences, giv'n reasons, giv'n examples of our Justice don; books also have bin writt'n to the same purpose for men to look on that will; that no Nation under heav'n but in one age or other hath don the like. The difference onely is, which rather seemes to us matter of glory, that they for the most part have without form of Law don the deed by a kinde of martial Justice; wee by the deliberate and well-weightd Sentence of legal Judicature.

But they tell us, It was against the interest and protestation of the Kingdom of Scotland. And did exceeding well to joyn those two together: heerby informing us what credit or regard need be givn in England to a Scotch Protestation, usherd in by a Scotch interest: certainly no more then we see is givn in Scotland to an English Declaration, declaring the interest of England. If then our interest move not them, why should theirs move us? If they say, wee are not all England; we reply they are not all Scotland: nay, were the last year so inconsiderable a part of Scotland as were beholding to this which they now term the Sectarian Army, to defend and rescue them at the charges of England from a stronger party of thir own Countrymen, in whose esteem they were no better then Sectarians themselves. But they add, It was against the former Declarations of both Kingdomes, to seize, or proceed against the King. We are certain that no such Declarations of both Kingdomes as derive not thir full force from the sense and 5 meaning of the Covnant, can be produc'd.

And if they plead against us the Covenant, To preserve and defend his person; we aske them briefly whether they take the Covenant to be absolute or conditionall? If absolute, then suppose the King to have committed all prodigious crimes 10 and impieties against God, or nature, or whole Nations, he must neverthesse be sacred from all violent touch. Which absurd opinion, how it can live in any mans reason, either naturall or rectifi'd, wee much marvell: Since God declard his anger as impetuous for the saving of King Benhadad, 15 though surrendring himselfe at mercy, as for the killing of Naboth. If it be conditionall, in the preservation and defence of Religion, and the peoples libertie, then certainly to take away his life beeing dangerous, and pernicious to both these, was no more a breach of the Covnant, then for the same 20 reason at Edinburrow to behead Gordon the Marquess Huntley. By the same Covnant we made vow to assist and to defend all those that should enter with us into this league: not absolutely but in the maintenance and pursuing thereof. If therefore no man else ever were so madd as to claime from 25 hence an impunitie from all Justice, why should any for the King? Whose life by other Articles of the same Covnant was forfeit. Nay if common sense had not led us to such a cleer interpretation, the Scotch Commissioners themselves might boast to have bin our first teachers: who when they drew to the malignance which brought forth that perfidious last years irruption against all the bands of Covnant or Christian neighbourhood, making thir hollow plea the defence of his Majesties person, they were constrained by thir own guiltinesse to leave out that following morsell that would have choakd them, the preservation and defence of true Religion, and our liberties. And questionless in the preservation of these, wee are bound as well, both by the Covnant, and before the Cov-

10 nant, to preserve and defend the person of any private man, and the person and authoritie of any inferior Magistrate: So that this Article objected with such vehemence against us, containes not an exception of the Kings person, and autoritie to doe by privilege what wickedness he list, and be defended,

15 as som fancy, but an expresse testification of our Loyaltie, and the plaine words without wresting will beare as much, that wee had no thoughts against his person, or just power, provided they might consist with the preservation and defence of true Religion and our liberties. But to these how hazardous

20 his life was, will be needless to repeat so oftn. It may suffice that while he was in custody, where wee expected his repentance, his remorse at last and compassion of all the innocent bloud shed already and hereafter likely to be shed for his meer wilfulness, he made no other use of our continuall forbear-

25 ance, our humblest Petitions and obtestations at his feet, but to sit contriving and fomenting new plots against us, and as his own phrase was, playing his own game, upon the miseries of his people: Of which wee desire no other view at present

then these Articles of peace with the Rebels, and the rare game likely to ensue from such a cast of his Cards. And then let men reflect a little upon the slanders and reviles of these wretched Priests, and judge what modesty, what truth, what 5 conscience, what anything fit for Ministers, or wee might say reasonable men can harbour in them. For what they began in shamelesness and malice, they conclude in frenzie: throwing out a sudden rapsody of Proverbs quite from the purpose; and with as much comliness as when Saul proph-10 eci'd. For casting off, as he did his garments, all modestie and meekness wherewith the language of Ministers ought to be cloath'd, speaking especially to thir supreme Magistrate, they talke at random of servants raining, servants riding, and wonder how the Earth can beare them. Either these men 15 imagin themselves to be marvellously high set and exalted in the chaire of Belfast, to voutsafe the Parlament of England no better stile then servants, or els thir high notion, which wee rather beleeve, falls as low as Court parasitism; supposing all men to be servants, but the King. And then all thir paines 20 tak'n to seem so wise in proverbing, serves but to conclude them down right slaves: and the edge of thir own proverb falls reverse upon themselves. For as Delight is not seemly for fooles, much less high words to come from base minds. What they are for Ministers, or how they crept into the fould, 25 whether at the window, or through the wall, or who set them there so haughtie in the Pontificall See of Belfast, wee know not. But this wee rather have cause to wonder if the Earth can beare this unsufferable insolency of upstarts; who from a ground which is not thir own dare send such defiance to the sovrán Magistracy of England, by whose autoritie and in whose right they inhabit there. By thir actions we might rather judge them to be a generation of High-land theevs 5 and Red-shanks, who beeing neighbourly admitted, not as the Saxons by merit of thir warfare against our enemies, but by the courtesie of England to hold possessions in our Province, a Countrey better then thir own, have, with worse faith then those Heathen, prov'd ingratefull and treacherous guests 10 to thir best friends and entertainers. And let them take heed, lest while thir silence, as to those matters, might have kept them blameless and secure under these proceedings which they so feard to partake in, that these thir treasonous attempts and practices, have not involv'd them in a farr worse guilt of 15 rebellion; and (notwithstanding that faire dehortatory from joyning with Malignants) in the appearance of a co-interest and partaking with the Irish Rebels. Against whom, though by themselves pronounced to be the enemies of God, they goe not out to battell, as they ought, but rather by these thir doings 20 assist and become associats.

The End.

A DECLARATION OR LETTERS PATENTS OF THE ELECTION OF THIS PRESENT KING OF POLAND

Letters Patents of the Election of the most serene King of POLAND.

In the name of the most holy and Individual Trinity, the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit.

dom of Lituania, CHRISTOPHERUS PAC, High-Chancellor of the great Dukedom of Lituania, Senators and Great Officers, to the number of Seventy five.

20 WE Declare by these our present Letters unto all and single Persons whom it may concern: Our
the unseasonable death of that famous MICHAEL late King of Poland, who having scarce reigned full five years, on the tenth day of November of the year last past, at Leopolis, changed his fading Crown for one Immortal; in the sence of so mournful a Funeral and fresh Calamity, yet with an undaunted Courage, mindful of her self in the midst of Dangers, forbore 5 not to seek Remedies, that the World may understand she grows in the midst of her losses; it pleased her to begin her Counsels of preserving her Country, and delivering it from the utmost chances of an Interreign, from the Divine Deity, (as it were by the only motion of whose finger) it is easie that 10 Kingdoms be transferred from Nation to Nation, and Kings from the lowest state to Thrones; And therefore the business was begun according to our Countrey-Laws and Ancestors Institutions. After the Convocation of all the States of the Kingdom ended, in the month of February at Warsaw, by 15 the common consent of all those States on the day decreed for the Election the 20th of April; At the report of this famous Act, as though a Trumpet had been sounded, and a Trophy of Vertue erected, the wishes and desires of Forreign Princes came forth of their own accord into the Field of the Polonian 20 Liberty, in a famous strife of Merits and good-will towards the Commonwealth, every one bringing their Ornaments, advantages and Gifts to the Commonwealth: But the Commonwealth becoming more diligent by the prodigal ambition used in the last Interreign, and Factions, and disagreeings of 25 minds, nor careless of the future, considered with her self whether firm or doubtful things were promised, and whether she should seem from the present state to transfer both the old and new honours of Poland into the possession of strangers, or the military glory, and their late unheard-of Victory over the Turks, and blood spilt in the war, upon the purple of some unwarlike Prince; as if any one could so soon put on the love of the Country, and that Poland was not so much an enemy 5 to her own Nation and Fame, as to favour strangers more than her own; and valour being found in her, should suffer a Guest of new Power to wax proud in her; therefore she thenceforth turned her thoughts upon some one in her own Nation, and at length abolished (as she began in the former Election) that 10 reproach cast upon her, under pretence of a secret Maxime, That none can be elected King of Poland but such as are born out of Poland; neither did she seek long among her Citizens whom she should prefer above the rest (for this was no uncertain or suspended Election, there was no place for delay; for 15 although in the equality of our Nobles many might be elected, yet the virtue of a Hero appeared above his equals, therefore the eyes and minds of all men were willingly and by a certain divine instinct turned upon the High Marshal of the Kingdom, Captain of the Army John Sobieski. The admirable 20 virtue of the Man, the High Power of Marshal in the Court, with his supreme command in Arms, Senatorial Honour, with his civil Modesty, the extraordinary Splendor of his Birth and Fortune, with open Courtesie, Piety towards God, love to his Fellow-Citizens in words and deeds; Constancy, Faith-25 fulness, and Clemency towards his very enemies, and what noble things soever can be said of a Hero, did lay such Golden Chains on the Minds and Tongues of all, that the Senate and People of Poland and of the great Dukedome of Lituania; with Suffrages and agreeing Voices named and chose him their KING; not with his seeking nor precipitate counsel, but with mature Deliberations continued and extended till the third day.

5 Certainly it conduced much for the honour of the most serene Elect, the Confirmation of a free Election, and the eternal praise of the People electing, that the great business of an Age was not transacted in one day, or in the Shadow of the night, or by one casual heat: for it was not right that a Hero 10 of the Age, should in a moment of time (and as it were by the cast of a Die) be made a King, when as Antiquity by an ancient Proverb has delivered, that Hercules was not begot in one night; and it hath taught that Election should shine openly under a clear Sky, in the open Light.

15 The most serene Elect took it modestly that his Nomination should be deferred till the third day, plainly shewing to endeavour, lest his sudden facility of assent being suspected, might detract from their Judgment, and the World might be enforced to believe by a more certain Argument, that he that 20 was so chosen was elected without his own Ambition, or the envy of corrupted Liberty: or was it by the appointed Counsel of God that this debate continued three whole days, from Saturday till Munday, as if the Cotimian Victory (begun on the Saturday, and at length on the third day after accomplished, after the taking of the Cotimian Castle) had been a 25 lucky presage of his Royal Reward; or, as if with an auspicious Omen, the third day of Election had alluded to the Regal name of JOHN the Third.

The famous Glory of War paved his way to the Crown, and confirmed the favour of Suffrages to his most serene Elect. He the first of all the Polonians shewed that the Scythian swiftness (troublesome heretofore to all the Monarchies 5 of the World) might be repressed by a standing Fight, and the terrible main Battalion of the Turk, might be broken and routed at one stroke. That we may pass by in silence the ancient Rudiments of Warfare which he stoutly and gloriously managed under the Conduct and Authority of another, 10 against the Swedes, Muscovites, Borussians, Transylvanians and Cossacks; though about sixty Cities taken by him from the Cossacks be less noised in the mouth of fame; yet these often and prosperous Battels, were a Prelude to greatest Victories in the memory of man. Miriads of Tartars had overrun 15 within this six years with their plundering Troops the coast of Podolia; when a small force and some shattered Legions were not sufficient against the hostile assault, yet our General knowing not to yeeld, shut himself up (by a new stratagem of War) in Podhajecy, a strait Castle, and fortified in haste, 20 whereby he might exclude the cruel destruction which was hastening into the bowels of the Kingdom, by which means the Barbarian deluded and routed, took Conditions of Peace; as if he had made his inroad for this only purpose, that he might bring to the most serene Elect, matter of Glory, Victory.
25 For these Four last years the famous Victories of Sobietski have Signalized every year of his Warlike Command on the Cossacks, and Tartarians, both joyned together; the most strong Province of Braclavia, as far as it lyes between Hypanis and Tyral, with their Cities and Warlike people, were won from the Cossack enemy.

And those things are beyond belief which two years ago the most serene Elect, after the taking of Camenick, (being 5 undaunted by the Seige of Laopolis,) performed to a Miracle by the hardness and fortitude of the Polonian Army, scarce consisting of three thousand men, in the continual course of five days and nights, sustaining life without any food, except wild herbs; setting upon the Tartarians, he made famous the 10 names of Narulum, Niemicrovia, Konarnum, Kalussia, obscure Towns before, by a great overthrow of the Barbarians. He slew three Sultans of the Crim-Tartars, descended of the royal Gietian family, and so trampled on that great force of the Scythians, that in these latter years they could not re-15 gain their Courage or recollect the Forces. But the felicity of this last Autumn exceeded all his Victories; when-as the fortifications at Chocimum, famous of old, were possessed and fortified by above forty thousand Turks, in which three and forty years ago the Polonians had sustained and repressed the 20 Forces of the Ottoman Family, drawn together out of Asia, Africa, and Europe, fell to the ground within a few hours; by the only (under God) Imperatorious Valour and Prudence, of Sobietzki; for he counted it his chief part to go about the Watches, order the Stations, and personally to inspect the 25 preparations of Warlike Ordinance, to encourage the Soldiers with voice, hands, and countenance, wearied with hunger, badness of weather, and three days standing in arms; and he (which is most to be admired) on Foot at the head of the foot-forces made thorough and forced his way to the Battery, hazarding his life devoted to God and his Countrey; and thereupon made a cruel slaughter within the Camp and Fortifications of the Enemy; while the desperation of the Turks 5 whetted their valour, and he performed the part of a most provident and valiant Captain; at which time three Bashaw's were slain, the fourth scarce passed with difficulty the swift river of Tyras; eight thousand Janizaries, twenty thousand chosen Spachies, besides the more Common Souldiers, were 10 cut off; the whole Camp with all their Ammunition, and great Ordinance: besides the Assyrian and Phrygian wealth of luxurious Asia, were taken and pillaged, the famous Castle of Cotimia, and the Bridge over Tyras, strong Fortresses, equal to Castles on each side the River, were additions to the Victory. 15 Why therefore should not such renown'd Heroick Valour be crowned with the legal reward of a Diadem? All Christendom have gone before us in example, which being arrived to the recovery of Jerusalem under the conduct of Godfrey of Bullion, on their own accord gave him that Kingdom, for 20 that he first scaled the walls of that City. Our most serene Elect is not inferior, for he first also Ascended two main Fortresses of the Enemy.

The moment of time adorns this Victory unheard-of in many ages, the most serene King Michael dying the day before, as it were signifying thereby that he gave way to so 25 great valour, as if it were by his command and favour, that this Conqueror might so much the more gloriously succeed from the Helmet to the Crown, from the Commanders Staff to the Scepter, from his lying in the Field to the Regal Throne.

The Commonwealth recalled the grateful, and never to be forgotten memory of his Renowned Father, the most Illustrious and Excellent James Sobieski, Castellion of Cracovia, a Man to be written of with sedulous care, who by his Golden Eloquence in the publick Counsels, and by his Hand in the Scene of War, had so often amplified the State of the Commonwealth, and defended it with the Arms of his Family. Neither can we believe it happened without Divine Providence, that in the same place wherein forty years ago his Renowned Father Ambassador of the Polonian-Commonwealth, had made Peace and Covenants with Cimanus the Turkish General, his great Son should Revenge with his Sword the Peace broke, (Heaven it self upbraiding the perfidious Enemy). The rest of his Grandsires and Great-Grandsires, and innumerable Names of Famous Senators and great Officers have as it were brought forth light to the serene Elect by the emulous Greatness and Glory of his Mothers descent, especially Stanislaus Zelkiewius, High Chancellor of the Kingdom, and General of the Army, at whose Grave in the Neighbouring fields, in which by the Turkish rage in the year 1620 he died, his victorious Nephew took full revenge by so remarkable an overthrow of the Enemy: The immortal valour and fatal fall of his most noble Uncle Stanislaus Daniloviti in the year 1635, Palatine of Russia, doubled the Glory of his Ancestors; whom desirous of honour and not induring that sluggish Peace wherein Poland then slept secure, valour and youthful heat accited at his own expence and private forces, into the Taurick fields; that by his footing and the ancient Warlike Polonian discipline, he might lead and point the way to these merits of Sobietski, and being slain by Cantimiz the Tartarian Cham, in revenge of his Son by 5 him slain, he might by his Noble blood give lustre to this Regal Purple; neither hath the people of Poland forgot the most illustrious Marcus Sobietski elder Brother of our most serene Elect, who when the Polonian Army at Batto was routed by the Barbarians, although occasion was offer'd him 10 of escape, yet chose rather to die in the overthrow of such valiant men, a Sacrifice for his Countrey, than to buy his life with a dishonourable retreat; perhaps the divine Judgment so disposing, whose order is that persons pass away and fail, and causes and events happen again the same; that by the re-15 peated fate of the Huniades, the elder Brother of great hopes removed by a lamented slaughter, might leave to his younger Brother surviving the readier passage to the Throne. That therefore which we pray may be happy, Auspicious and fortunate to our Orthodox Commonwealth, and to all Christen-20 dome, with free and unanimous Votes, none opposing, all consenting and applauding, by the right of our free Election, notwithstanding the Absence of those which have been called and not Appeared, We being led by no private respect, but having only before our eyes the Glory of God, the increase of 25 the ancient Catholick Church, the safety of the Commonwealth, and the dignity of the Polish Nation and Name, have thought fit to elect, create, and name, JOHN in Zolkiew and Zloczew Sobietski, Supreme Marshal General of the Kingdom General of the Armies, Governour of Neva, Bara, Strya, Loporovient, and Kalussien, most eminently adorned with so high endowments, merits and splendor, to be KING of Poland, Grand-Duke of Lituania, Russia, Prussia, Mazovia, Samogitia, Kyovia, Volhinnia, Padlachia, Podolia, Livonia, Smolensko, Severia, and Czerniechovia, as we have Elected Created Declared and Named Him; I the afore said Bishop of Cracovia (the Archiepiscopal See being vacant) exercising the Office and Authority of Primate and by consent of all the

10 States thrice demanded, opposed by none, by all and every one approved, conclude the Election: Promising faithfully that we will always perform to the same most serene and potent Elect Prince, Lord John the third, our King, the same Faith, Subjection, Obedience and Loyalty according to our

15 Rights and Liberties, as we have performed to his blessed Ancestor, as also that we will crown the same most serene Elect in the next Assembly at Cracovia, to that end ordained, as our true King and Lord, with the Regal Diadem, with which the Kings of Poland were wont to be crown'd, and

20 after the manner which the Roman Catholick Church before-time hath observed in Anointing and Inaugurating Kings, We will anoint and inaugurate him; Yet so as he shall hold fast and observe first of all the Rights, Immunities both Ecclesiastical and Secular, granted and given to us by his Ancestor

25 of Blessed memory; as also these Law's which we our Selves, in the time of this present and former Inter-reign, according to the Right of our Liberty, and better preservation of the Commonwealth have established. And if moreover the most

Serene Elect will bind himself by an Oath, to perform the conditions concluded with those persons sent by his Majesty, before the exhibition of this present Decree of Election, and will provide in best manner for the performance of them by

LATIN Grammar is the Art of right understanding, speaking, or writing Latine, observ'd from them who have spoken or written it best.

Grammar hath two Parts: Right-wording, usually call'd 5 Etymologie; and right-joyning of words, or Syntaxis.

Etymologie, or Right-wording, teacheth what belongs to every single word or part of Speech.

Of Latin SPEECH

are Eight General Parts:

10	Noun	}	Declin'd.	}	Adverb	}	Undeclin'd.
	Pronoun				Conjunction
	Verb				Preposition
	Participle				Interjection

Declin'd are those Words which have divers endings; as Homo a man, hominis of a man; Amo I love, amas thou lov-

est. Undeclin'd are those words which have but one ending, as bene well, cum when, tum then.

Nounes, Pronounes, and Participles, are declin'd with Gender, Number, and Case; Verbs, as hereafter in the Verb.

Of Genders.

5 Genders are three, the Masculin, Feminin, and Neuter. The Masculin may be declin'd with this Article Hic, as hic Vir a Man; The Feminin with this Article Hæc, as hæc Mulier a Woman; The Neuter with this Article Hoc, as hoc Saxum a Stone.

10 Of the Masculin are generally all Nounes belonging to the Male kind, as also the Names of Rivers, Months, and Winds.

Of the Feminin, all Nounes belonging to the Female kind, as also the names of Countries, Cities, Trees, some few of the 15 two latter excepted: Of Cities, as Agragas and Sulmo, Masculin; Argos, Tibur, Præneste, and such as end in um, Neuter; Anxur both. Of Trees, Oleaster and Spinus, Masculin; but Oleaster is read also Feminin, Cic. verr. 4. Acer, siler, suber, thus, robur, Neuter.

20 And of the Neuter are all Nouns, not being proper Names, ending in um, and many others.

Some Nouns are of two Genders, as hic or hæc dies a Day; and all such as may be spoken both of Male and Female, as hic or hæc Parens a Father or Mother; some be of three, as 25 hic hæc and hoc Felix Happy.

Of Numbers.

Words Declin'd have two Numbers, the Singular, and the Plural. The Singular speaketh but of one, as Lapis a Stone. The Plural of more then one, as Lapides Stones; yet sometimes but of one, as Athenæ the City Athens, Literæ an 5 Epistle, ædes ædium a House.

Note that some Nounes have no Singular, and some no Plural, as the nature of thir signification requires. Some are of one Gender in the Singular; of another, or of two Genders in the Plural, as reading will best teach.

Of Cases.

10 Nounes, Pronounes, and Participles are declin'd with six Endings, which are called Cases, both in the Singular and Plural Number. The Nominative, Genitive, Dative, Accusative, Vocative, and Ablative.

The Nominative is the first Case, and properly nameth the 15 thing, as Liber a Book.

The Genitive is Englisht with this Sign of, as Libri of a Book.

The Dative with this Sign to, or for, as Libro to or for a Book.

20 The Accusative hath no sign.

The Vocative calleth or speaketh to, as O Liber O Book, and is commonly like the Nominative.

But in the Neuter Gender the Nominative, Accusative, and Vocative, are like in both Numbers, and in the Plural end 25 alwayes in a.

The Ablative is Englisht with these Signs, in, with, of, for, from, by, and such like, as de Libro of or from the Book, pro Libro for the Book. And the Ablative Plural is always like the Dative.

- 5 Note, that some Nouns have but one ending throughout all Cases, as Frugi, nequam, nihil; and all words of number from three to a hundred, as quatuor four, quinque five, &c.

Some have but one, some two, some three Cases only, in the Singular or Plural, as use will best teach.

Of a Noun.

- 10 A Noun is the Name of a thing, as Manus a Hand, Domus a House, Bonus Good, Pulcher Fair.

Nounes be Substantives or Adjectives.

A Noun Substantive is understood by it self, as homo a man, domus a house.

- 15 An Adjective, to be well understood, requireth a Substantive to be joyn'd with it, as bonus good, parvus little, which cannot be well understood unless something good or little be either nam'd, as bonus vir a good man, parvus puer a little boy; or by use understood, as honestum an honest thing, boni 20 good men.

The Declining of Substantives.

Nounes Substantive have five Declensions or forms of ending thir Cases, chiefly distinguisht by the different ending of thir Genitive Singular.

The first Declension.

The first is when the Genitive and Dative singular end in æ, &c. as in the Example following.

Singular.	Plural.
Nom. Voc. Abl. musa	Nom. Voc. musæ
5 Gen. Dat. musæ	Gen. musarum
Acc. musam	Dat. Abl. musis
	Acc. Musas

This one word familia joyn'd with pater, mater, filius, or filia, endeth the Genitive in as, as pater familias, but sometimes familiæ. Dea, mula, equa, liberta, make the Dative and Ablative plural in abus; filia and nata in is or abus.

The first Declension endeth alwayes in a, unless in some words deriv'd of the Greek: and is always of the Feminin Gender, except in names attributed to men, according to the 15 general Rule, or to Stars, as Cometa, Planeta.

Nounes, and especially proper Names derived of the Greek, have here three endings, as, es, e, and are declin'd in some of thir Cases after the Greek form. Æneas, acc. Ænean, voc. Ænea. Anchises, acc. Anchisen, voc. Anchise or Anchisa, abl.
20 Anchise. Penelope, Penelopes, Penelope, Penelopen, voc. abl. Penelope. Sometimes following the Latin, as Marsya, Philocteta, for as and es; Philoctetam, Eriphylam, for an and en. Cic.

The second Declension.

The second is when the Genitive Singular endeth in i, the 25 Dative in o, &c.

	Sing.		Plur.
	Nom. Voc. Liber	}	Nom. Voc. Libri
	Gen. libri		Gen. librorum
	Dat. Abl. libro		Dat. Abl. libris
5	Acc. librum		Acc. libros.

Note that when the Nominative endeth in us, the Vocative shall end in e, as Dominus δ Domine, except Deus δ Deus. And these following, Agnus, lucus, vulgus, populus, chorus, fluvius, e or us.

- 10 When the Nominative endeth in ius, if it be the proper name of a man, the Vocative shall end in i, as Georgius δ Georgi; hereto add filius δ fili, and genius δ geni.

All Nounes of the Second Declension are of the Masculin or Neuter Gender; of the Masculin, such as end in ir, or, or 15 us, except some few, humus, domus, alvus, and others deriv'd of the Greek, as methodus, antidotus, and the like, which are of the Feminin, and some of them somtimes also Masculin, as atomus, phaselus; to which add ficus the name of a disease, grossus, pampinus, and rubus.

- 20 Those of the Neuter, except virus, pelagus, and vulgus (which last is sometimes Masculin) end all in um, and are declin'd as followeth:

	Sing.		Plur.
	Nom. Ac. Voc. Studium	}	Nom. Ac. Voc. Studia
25	Gen. studii		Gen. studiorum
	Dat. Abl. studio		Dat. Abl. studiis.

Some Nouns in this Declension are of the first Example Singular, of the second Plural, as Pergamus the City Troy, Plur. Hæc Pergama; and some names of hills, as Mænalus, Ismarus, hæc Ismara; So also Tartarus, and the Lake Avernus; others are of both, as sibilus, jocus, locus, hi loci, or hæc loca. Some are of the Second Example Singular, of the first 5 Plural, as Argos, Cælum, Plur. hi Cæli; others of both, as Rastrum, Capistrum, Filum, Frænum; Plur. fræni or fræna. Nundinum, & Epulum, are of the first Declension Plural, Nundinæ, Epulæ; Balneum of both, balneæ or balnea.

Greek proper names have here three endings, os, on, and 10 us long from a Greek Diphthong. Hæc Delos, hanc Delon. Hoc Ilion. The rest regular, Hic panthus, ô panthu, Virg.

The third Declension.

The third is when the Genitive singular endeth in is, the Dative in i, the Accusative in em and sometimes in im, the Ablative in e, and sometimes in i, the Nom. Acc. Voc. Plural 15 in es, the Genitive in um and sometimes in ium, &c.

	Sing.	}	}	Plur.
	Nom. Gen. Voc. Panis			Nom. Ac. Vo. panes
	Dat. pani			Gen. panum
	Acc. panem			Dat. Abl. panibus.
20	Abl. pane
	Sing.	}	}	Plur.
	Nom. Voc. Parens			No. Ac. Voc. parentes
	Gen. parentis			Gen. parentum
	Dat. parenti			Dat. Abl. parentibus.
25	Acc. parentem
	Abl. parente

This third Declension, with many endings, hath all Genders, best known by dividing all Nounes hereto belonging into such as either increase one syllable long or short in the Genitive, or increase not at all.

- 5 Such as increase not in the Genitive are generally Feminin, as Nubes nubis, Caro carnis.

Except such as end in er, as hic venter ventris, and these in is following, natalis, aqualis, lienis, orbis, callis, caulis, collis, follis, mensis, ensis, fustis, funis, panis, penis, crinis, ignis, 10 cassis, fascis, torris, piscis, unguis, vermis, vectis, postis, acis, and the Compounds of assis, as centussis.

But Canalis, finis, clunis, restis, sentis, amnis, corbis, linter, torquis, anguis, hic or hæc; To these add vepres.

- Such as end in e are Neuters, as mare, rete, and two Greek 15 in es, as hippomanes, cacoëthes.

Nounes encreasing Long.

Nounes encreasing one syllable long in the Genitive are generally Feminin, as hæc pietas pietatis, virtus virtutis.

Except such as end in ans Masculin, as dodrans, quadrans, sextans; in ens, as oriens, torrens, bidens a pick-axe.

- 20 In or, most commonly deriv'd of Verbs, as pallor, clamor; in o, not thence deriv'd, as ternio, senio, sermo, temo, and the like.

And these of one syllable, sal, sol, ren, splen, as, bes, pes, mos, flos, ros, dens, mons, pons, fons, greco.

- 25 And words deriv'd from the Greek in en, as lichen; in er, as crater; in as, as adamas; in es, as lebes; to these, hydrops, thorax, phœnix.

But scrobs, rudens, stirps the body or root of a tree, and calx a heel, hic or hæc.

- 5 Neuter, these of one syllable, mel, fel, lac, far, ver, cor, æs, vas vasis, os ossis, os oris, rus, thus, jus, crus, pus. And of more syllables in al and ar, as capital, laquear, but halec hoc or hæc.

Nounes encreasing Short.

- Nounes encreasing short in the Genitive are generally 10 Masculin, as hic sanguis sanguinis, lapis lapidis.

- Except, Feminin all words of many syllables ending in do or go, as dulcedo, compago, arbor, hyems, cuspis, pecus, pecudis: These in ex, forfex, carex, tomex, supellex: In ix, appendix, histris, coxendix, felix. Greek Nounes in as and 15 is, as lampas, iaspis: To these add chlamys, bacchar, syndon, icon.

But margo, cinis, pulvis, adepts, forceps, pumex, ramex, imbrex, obex, silex, cortex, omix and sardonix, hic or hæc.

- Neuters are all ending in a as problema, in en, except hic 20 pecten, in ar as jubar, in er these, verber, iter, uber, cadaver, zinziber, laser, cicer, siser, piper, papaver; sometimes in ur, except hic furfur, in us as onus, in ut as caput; to these, mar-mor, æquor, ador.

- Greek proper names here end in as, an, is, and eus, and 25 may be declin'd some wholly after the Greek form, as Pallas pallados palladi pallada; others in some Cases, as Atlas, acc.

Atlgnta, voc. Atla. Garamas, plur. garamantes, acc. garamantas. Pan panos pana. Phyllis phyllidos, voc. phylli, plur. Phyllides, acc. phyllidas. Tethys, tethyos, acc. tethyn, voc. tethy. Neapolis, neapolios, acc. neapolin. Paris, paridos or 5 parios, acc. parida or parin. Orpheus orpheos orphei orphea orpheu. But Names in eus borrow sometimes thir Genitive of the Second Declension, as Erechtheus, erechthei. Cic. Achilles or Achilleus, Achillei; and sometimes their Accusative in on or um, as Orpheus Orpheon, Theseus Theseum, Perseus 10 Perseum, which sometimes is formd after Greek words of the First Declension Latin, Perseus or Perses, Persæ Persæ Persen Persæ Persa.

The fourth Declension.

The fourth is when the Genitive Singular endeth in us, the Dative Singular in ui, and sometimes in u, plural in ibus, 15 and sometimes in ubus.

Sing.	Plur.
Nom. Gen. Vo. Sensus	Nom. Ac. Voc. Sensus
Dat. sensui	Gen. sensuum
Acc. sensum	Dat. Abl. sensibus .
20 Abl. sensu

The fourth Declension hath two endings, us and u; us generally Masculin, except some few, as hæc manus, ficus, the fruit of a tree, acus, porticus, tribus: but penus and specus hic or hæc. U of the Neuter, as gelu, genu, veru; but in the 25 Singular most part defective.

Proper Names in os and o long pertaining to the Fourth

Declension Greek, may belong best to the fourth in Latin, as Androgeos, Gen. Androgeo, Acc. Androgeon. Hic Athos, hunc Atho, Virg. Hæc Sappho, Gen. Sapphus, Acc. Sappho. Better Authors follow the Latin form, as Dido didonis dido- 5 nem. But Iesus Iesu Iesu Iesum Iesu Iesu.

The fifth Declension.

	Sing.		Plur.
	Nom. Voc. Res		Nom. Acc. Voc. res
10	Gen. Dat. rei		Gen. rerum
	Acc. rem		Dat. Abl. rebus .
	Abl. re

All Nounes of the fifth Declension are of the Feminin Gender, except dies hic or hæc, and his Compound meridies 15 hic only.

Some Nounes are of more Declensions then one, as vas vasis of the third in the Singular, of the second in the Plural vasa vasorum. Colus, laurus, and some others, of the second and fourth. Saturnalia, saturnalium or saturnaliorum, satur- 20 nalibus, and such other names of feasts, Poëmata poëmatum, Poëmatibus or poëmatibus, of the second and third Plural. Plebs of the third and fifth, plebis or plebei.

The declining of Adjectives.

A Noun Adjective is declin'd with three Terminations, or with three Articles.

An Adjective of three terminations is declin'd like the first and second Declension of Substantives joyn'd together after this manner.

	Sing.		Plur.
5	Nom. bonus bona bonum		Nom. Vo. boni bonæ bona
	Gen. boni bonæ boni		Gen. bonorum bonarum
	Dat. bono bonæ bono		bonorum
	Ac. bonum bonam bonum		Dat. Abl. bonis
	Voc. bone bona bonum		Ac. bonos bonas bona.
10	Abl. bono bona bono

In like manner those in er and ur, as sacer sacra sacrum, satur satura saturum: but unus, totus, solus, alius, alter, ullus, uter, with their compounds Neuter, uterque, and the like, make thir Genitive Singular in ius, the Dative in i, as Unus 15 una unum, Gen. unius, Dat. uni, in all the rest like bonus, save that alius maketh in the Neuter Gender aliud, and in the Dative alii, and somtimes in the Genitive.

Ambo and duo be thus declin'd in the plural only.

	Nom. Voc. Ambo ambæ ambo. 20	Gen. amborum ambarum amborum. Dat. Abl. ambobus ambabus ambobus. Acc. ambos or ambo, ambas ambo.

Adjectives of three Articles have in the Nominative either one ending, as hic, hæc, & hoc felix; or two, as hic & hæc 25 tristis, & hoc triste; and are declin'd like the Third Declension of Substantives, as followeth.

Sing.		Plur.
	Nom. hic hæc & hoc Felix		Nom. hi & hæ felices, & hæc felicia
	Gen. felicis		Gen. felicium
	Dat. felici		Dat. Abl. felicibus
5	Acc. hunc & hanc felicem, & hoc felix		Acc. hos & has felices, & hæc felicia
	Voc. ô felix		Voc. ô felices, & ô felicia.
	Abl. felice or felici
Sing.		Plur.
10	No. hic & hæc tristis, & hoc triste		Nom. hi & hæ tristes; & hæc tristia
	Gen. tristis		Gen. tristium
	Dat. Abl. tristi		Dat. Abl. tristibus
	Acc. hunc & hanc tristem, & hoc triste		Acc. hos & has tristes, & hæc tristia
15	Voc. ô tristis, & ô triste		Voc. ô tristes, & ô tristia.

There be also another sort which have in the Nominative Case three Terminations and three Articles, as hic acer, hic & hæc acris, hoc acre. In like manner be declined equester, 20 volucer, and some few others, being in all other cases like the Examples beforegoing.

Comparisons of Nounes.

Adjectives, whose signification may increase or be diminish't, may form Comparison, whereof there be two degrees above the positive word it self, The Comparative, and Superlative.
 25

The Comparative exceedeth his Positive in signification, compar'd with some other, as durior harder; and is formd of 5 the first Case of his Positive that endeth in i, by putting thereto or and us, as of duri, hic & hæc durior, & hoc durius; of dulci, dulcior dulcius.

The Superlative exceedeth his Positive in the highest degree, as durissimus hardest; and it is formd of the first case 10 of his Positive that endeth in is, by putting thereto simus, as of duris durissimus, dulcis dulcissimus.

If the Positive end in er, the Superlative is formd of the Nominative case by putting to rimus, as pulcher pulcherri-
mus. Like to these are vetus veterrimus, maturus maturimus; 15 but dexter dextimus, and sinister sinisterior sinistimus.

All those Nouns ending in lis make the Superlative by changing is into limus, as humilis, similis, facilis, gracilis, agilis, docilis docillimus.

All other Nounes ending in lis do follow the general Rule, 20 as utilis utilissimus.

Of these Positives following are formd a different sort of Superlatives; of superus, supremus and summus; inferus, infinus and imus; exterus, extimus and extremus; posterus postremus.

Some of these want the Positive, and are form'd from Ad-25 verbs; of intra, interior intimus, ultra ulterior ultimus, citra citerior citimus, pridem prior primus, prope propior proximus.

Others from Positives without Case, as nequam nequior nequissimus.

Some also from no Positive, as ocior ocissimus. Some want the Comparative, as novus novissimus, sacer sacerrimus.

Some the Superlative, as senex senior, juvenis junior, adolescens adolescentior.

- 5 Some ending in us, frame thir Comparative as if they ended in ens, benevolus, maledicus, magnificus magnificentior magnificentissimus.

These following are without Rule, Bonus melior optimus, Malus pejor pessimus, Magnus major maximus, Parvus minor 10 minimus; Multus plurimus, multa plurima, multum plus plurimum.

- If a Vowel come before us, it is compared with magis and maximè as pius, magis pius, maximè pius; idoneus, magis and maximè idoneus. Yet some of these follow the general 15 Rule, as Assiduus assiduissimus, strenuus strenuior, exiguus exiguius, tenuis tenuior tenuissimus.

Of a Pronoun.

A Pronoun is a part of Speech that standeth for a Noun Substantive, either at present or before spoken of, as ille he or that, hic this, qui who.

- 20 There be Ten Pronounes, Ego, tu, sui, ille, ipse, iste, hic, is, qui and quis, besides their Compounds, egomet, tute, hicce, idem, quisnam, aliquis, and such others. The rest so call'd, as meus, tuus, suus, noster, vester, nostras, vestras, cujus and cujas, are not Pronouns, but Adjectives thence deriv'd.

- 25 Of Pronounes such as shew the thing present are called Demonstratives, as ego, tu, hic; and such as refer to a thing antecedent or spoken of before are called Relatives, as qui who or which.

Quis, and often qui, because they ask a question, are called Interrogatives, with their Compounds ecquis, num- 5 quis.

Declensions of Pronouns are three.

Ego, tu, sui, be of the First Declension, and be thus declin'd.

	Sing.			Plur.
	Nom. Ego			Nom. Acc. Nos
	Gen. mei			Gen. nostrum or nostri
10	Dat. mihi			Dat. Abl. nobis
	Acc. Abl. me			Voc. Caret.
	Voc. Caret
	Sing.			Plur.
	Nom. Voc. Tu			Nom. Acc. Voc. vos
15	Gen. tui			Gen. vestrum or vestri
	Dat. tibi			Dat. Abl. vobis.
	Acc. Abl. te
	Sing. }	{ Nom. Voc. Caret	}	{ Dat. sibi
	Plur. }	{ Gen. sui	}	{ Acc. Abl. se.

20 From these three be deriv'd meus, tuus, suus, noster, vester, nostras, vestras, (which are called Possessives) whereof the former five be declin'd like Adjectives of three Terminations, except that meus in the Vocative Case maketh mi, mea, meum; Nostras, Vestras, with three Articles, as hic & 25 hæc nostras & hoc nostras or nostrate, vestræ. In other Cases according to Rule.

These three, ille, iste, ipse, be of the Second Declension, making thir Genitive singular in ius, their Dative in i; and the former two be declin'd like the Adjective alius, and the Third like unus before spoken of.

5		Nom. ille illa illud ,	Gen. illius ,	Dat. illi .
	Sing.	Nom. iste ista istud ,	Gen. istius ,	Dat. isti .
		Nom. ipse ipsa ipsum ,	Gen. ipsius ,	Dat. ipsi .

These four, hic, is, qui and quis, be of the third Declension, making thir Genitive singular in jus with j consonant, 10 and be declin'd after this manner.

	Sing.		Plur.

Of a Verb.

- A Verb is a part of Speech, that betokeneth being, as Sum 20 I am, or doing, as Laudo I praise; and is declin'd with Mood, Tense, Number and Person.

Moods.

There be four Moods, which express the manner of doing; the Indicative, the Imperative, the Potential or Subjunctive, and the Infinitive.

The Indicative Mood sheweth or declareth, as Laudo I praise.

The Imperative biddeth or exhorteth, as Lauda praise thou.

The Potential or Subjunctive is Englisht with these Signs, may, can, might, would could, should, Or without them as 5 the Indicative, if a Conjunction go before or follow. As Laudem, I may or can praise. Cum Laudarem when I praised. Cavissem, si prævidissem, I had bewar'd if I had foreseen.

The Infinitive is englisht with this sign To, as Laudare to praise.

Tenses.

10 There be three Tenses which express the time of doing: The Present, the Preterit or past, and the Future.

The Present Tense speaketh of the time that now is, as Laudo I praise.

The Preterit speaketh of the time past, and is distinguisht 15 by three degrees: the Preterimperfect, the Preterperfect, and the Preterpluperfect.

The Preterimperfect speaketh of the time not perfectly past, as Laudabam I praised or did praise.

The Preterperfect speaketh of the time perfectly past, as 20 Laudavi I have praised.

The Preterpluperfect speaketh of the time more then perfectly past, as Laudaveram I had praised.

The Future Tense speaketh of the time to come, as Laudabo I shall or will praise.

Persons.

25 Through all Moods, except the Infinitive, there be three Persons in both Numbers, as, Sing. Laudo I praise, laudas thou praisest, laudat he praiseth; Plur. Laudamus we praise, laudatis ye praise, laudant they praise. Except some Verbs which are declin'd or form'd in the Third Person only, and have before them this sign, It; as Tædet it irketh, oportet it behoveth, and are called Impersonals.

The Verb which betokeneth being, is properly this Verb Sum only, which is therefore call'd a Verb Substantive, and form'd after this manner.

Indicative.

Imperative it wants.

Potent. Pres. Possim, &c. Preterimperfect, Possem

Infin. Pres. Posse. Preterit. Potuisse.

Voices.

In Verbs that betoken doing are two Voices, the Active 5 and the Passive.

The Active signifieth to do, and always endeth in o, as Doceo, I teach.

The Passive signifieth what is done to one by another, and always endeth in or, as Doceor I am taught.

10 From these are to be excepted two sorts of Verbs. The first are called Neuters, and cannot take or in the Passive, as Curro
 I run, Sedeo I sit; yet signifie sometimes passively, as Vapulo
 I am beaten.

The second are call'd Deponents, and signifie actively, as 15 Loquor I speak; or Neuters, as Glorior I boast: but are form'd like Passives.

Conjugations.

Verbs both Active and Passive have four Conjugations, or forms of declining, known and distinguish'd by thir Infinitive Mood Active, which alwayes endeth in re.

20 In the first Conjugation, after a long, as Laudare to praise.

In the second, after e long, as habere to have.

In the third, after e short, as legere to read.

In the fourth, after i long, as audire to hear.

In these four Conjugations, Verbs are declin'd or form'd by 25 Mood, Tense, Number, and Person, after these Examples.

Of Gerunds and Supines.

- 5 There be also belonging to the Infinitive Mood of all Verbs certain Voices called Gerunds and Supines, both of the Active and Passive signification.

The first Gerund endeth in di, as Laudandi of praising or of being praised. The second in do, as Laudando in praising or in being praised. The third in dum, as Laudandum to 10 praise or to be praised.

Note that in the two latter Conjugations, the Gerunds end sometimes in undi, do, dum, as dicendi or dicundi: But from Eo always eundi, except in the Compound Ambiendi.

- 15 Supines are two. The first signifieth Actively, as laudatum to praise; the latter Passively, as laudatu to be praised. Note that most Neuters of the second Conjugation, and volo, nolo, malo, with many other Verbs, have no Supine.

Verbs of the four Conjugations irregular in the Preterperfect Tense or Supines.

- Verbs of the first Conjugation form thir Preterperfect Tense 20 in avi, Supine in atum, as Laudo laudavi laudatum.

Except,

Poto potavi potatum or potum; neco necavi necatum or nectum.

Domo, tono, sono, crepo, veto, cubo, form ui, itum, as cubui cubitum; but secui sectum, fricui frictum, mico micui: yet some of these are found Regular in the Preterperfect Tense or Supine, especially compounded, as increpavit, discrepavit, 5 dimicavit, sonatum, dimicatum, intonatum, infricatum, and the like.

Plico and his Compounds form ui or avi, as explicui explicavi explicitum or explicatum; except supplico, and such as are compounded with a Noun, as Duplico Multiplico in avi 10 only.

Do dedi datum, Sto steti statum, in the Compounds, stiti, stitum and sometimes statum, as Presto prestiti prestitum and 15 prestatum.

Verbs of the second Conjugation form thir Preterperfect Tense in ui, thir Supine in itum, as habeo habui habitum.

Some are Regular in thir Preterperfect Tense, but not in thir Supines, as doceo docui doctum, misceo miscui mistum, 20 teneo tenui tentum, torreo torrui tostum, censeo censui censum, pateo patui passum, careo carui cassum and caritum.

Others are Irregular both in Preterperfect Tense and Supines, as Jubeo jussi jussum, sorbeo sorbui sorpsi sorptum, mulceo mulsi mulsum, luceo luxi.

25 Deo in di, as sedeo sedi sessum, video vidi visum, prandeo prandi pransum. And some in si, as suadeo suasi suasum, rideo risi risum, ardeo arsi arsum. Four double thir first Letters, as Pendeo pependi pensum, mordeo momordi morsum, spondeo sponendi sponsum, tondeo totondi tonsum, but not in thir Compounds, as dependi depensum.

Geo in si, and some in xi, as urgeo ursi, mulgeo mulsi mulxi mulctum, augeo auxi auctum, indulgeo indulsi indul- 5 tum, frigeo frixi, lugeo luxi.

ieo leo and neo nevi, vicio vievi vietum, But Cieo cievi citum, deleo delevi deletum, fleo, flevi fletum, compleo complevi completum; as also the Compounds of Oleo, except redoleo and suboleo; but adolevi adultum, neo nevi netum, 10 but manco mansi, torqueo torsi tortum, hæreo hæsi.

Veo in vi, as ferveo fervi, but deserveo deferbui, conniveo connivi and connixi, movi motum, vovi votum, cavi cautum, favi fautum.

The third Conjugation formeth the Preterperfect Tense, by changing O of the Present Tense into I; the Supine without certain Rule, as lego legi lectum, bibo bibi bibitum, lambo lambi, scabo scabi, ico ici ictum, mando mandi mansum, pando pandi passum, edo edi esum or estum, in like manner comedo, the other compounds esum only; rudo rudi, sallo 20 salli salsum, psallo psalli, emo emi emptum, viso visi visum, verto verti versum, solvo solvi solutum, volvo volvi volutum, exuo exui exutum, but ruo rui ruitum, in compound rutum, as derui derutum; ingruo, metuo metui.

Others are irregular both in Preterperfect Tense and Supine.

In co, vinco vici victum, dico dixi dictum, in like manner duco, parco peperci and parsi parsum and parcitum.

In do, these three loos n, findo fidi fissum, scindo scidi scissum, fundo fudi fusum. These following, vado, rado, lædo, ludo, divido, trudo, claudio, plaudio, rodo, si and sum, as rosi rosum, but cedo cessi cessum. The rest double thir first Letter in the Preterperfect Tense, but not compounded, as 5 tundo tutudi tunsum, contundo contudi contusum, and so in the other Compounds. Pendo pependi pensum, dependo dependi, tendo tetendi tensum and tentum, contendo contendendi, pedo pepedi peditum, cado cecidi casum, occido, recido
 10 recidi recasum. The other Compounds have no Supine. Cædo cecidi cæsum, occido occidi occisum. To these add all the compounds of do in this Conjugation, addo, credo, edo, dedo, reddo, perdo, abdo, obdo, condo, indo, trado, prodo, vendo vendidi venditum, except the double Compound, abscondo 15 abscondi.

In go, ago egi actum, dego degi, satago sategi, frango fregi fractum, pango to joyn pegi pactum, pango to sing panxi, ango anxi, jungo junxi junctum; but these five, fingo, mingo, pingo, stringo, ringo, loos n in their Supines, as 20 finxi fictum, ningo ninxi, figo fixi fixum, rego rexi rectum; diligo, negligo, intelligo, lexi lectum, spargo sparsi sparsum. These double thir first Letter, tango tetigi tactum, but not in his Compounds, as contingo contigi, pango to bargain pepigi pactum, pungo and repungo pupugi and punxi punctum, the 25 other Compounds punxi only.

Ho in xi, traho traxi tractum, veho vexi vectum.

In lo, vello velli and vulsi vulsum, colo colui cultum; excelllo, precello, cellui celsum; alo alui alitum altum. The rest, not compounded, double thir first Letter, Fallo fefelli falsum, refello refelli, pello pepuli pulsum, compello compuli, cello ceculi, percello perculi perculsi perculsum.

In mo, vomo vomui vomitum, tremo tremui, premo pressi 5 pressum, como, premo, demo, sumo, after the same manner, as sumpsi, sumptum.

In No, sino sivi situm, sterno stravi stratum, sperno spreui spretum, lino levi lini and livi litum, cerno crevi cretum, temno tempsi, contemno contempsi contemptum, gigno genui 10 genitum, pono posui positum, cano cecini cantum, concino concinui concentum.

In Po, rumpo rupi ruptum, scalpo scalpsi scalptum, the rest in ui, as strepo strepui strepitum.

 15 coctum.

In Ro, verro verri and versi versum, sero to sow sevi satum, in compound situm, as insero insitum; sero of another signification most us'd in his compounds, Assero, consero, desero, exero, serui, sertum, uro ussi ustum, gero gessi gestum, quaero 20 quaesivi quaesitum, tero trivi tritum, curro, excurro, praecurro, cucurri cursum, the other compounds double not, as concurro concurri.

In So, accerso, arcesso, incesso, lacezzo, ivi itum, capesso both i and ivi, pinso pinsui pistum and pinsitum.

25 In sco, pasco pavi pastum; compesco, dispesco, but; posco poposci, disco didici, quinisco quexi, nosco novi notum, but agnosco agnitum, cognosco cognitum.

In to, sisto stiiti statum, flecto flexi flexum, pecto pexui pexi pexum and pectitum, necto nexui nexi nexum, plecto plexi plexum, sterto stertui, meto messui messum, mitto misi missum, peto petivi petitum.

In vo, vivo vixi victum.

In xo, texo texui textum, nexo nexui nexum.

- 5 In cio, facio feci factum, jacio jeci jactum, lacio lexi lectum, specio spexi spectrum, with thir Compounds, but elicio elicui elicited.

In dio, fodio fodi fossum.

In gio, fugio fugi fugitum.

- 10 In pio, capio cepi captum, rapio rapui raptum, cupio cupivi cupitum, sapio sapui sapivi sapitum.

In rio, pario peperi partum.

In tio, quatio quassi quassum, concutio concussi concussum.

- In uo, pluo plui pluvi plutum, struo struxi structum, fluo* 15 fluxi fluxum.

- Except, Venio veni ventum, comperio, reperio reperi repertum, cambio campsi campsum, sepio sepsi septum, sarcio 20 sarsi sartum, fulceo fulsi fultum, sentio sensi sensum, haurio hausi haustum, sancio sanxi sanctum sancitum, vincio vinxi vinctum salio salui saltum, in Compound sultum, as desilio desilui desultum, amicio amicui amictum, aperio, operio perui pertum, veneo venivi venum, singultivi singultum, sepelivi 25 sepultum.

Of Verbs Compounded.

These following change thir first vowel into i, and some of them thir Supines into e, habeo, lateo, salio, statuo, cado, lædo, cano, quæro, cædo, tango, egeo, teneo, taceo, sapio, rapio, placeo, displiceo, displicui displicitum; Except com-5 placeo, perplaceo, posthabeo.

Scalpo, calco salto, change a into u, as exculpo.

Claudo, quatio, lavo loos a, as excludo, excutio, eluo.

These following change thir first Vowel into i, but not in the Preterperfect Tense, and somtimes a into e in the Supine, 10 emo, sedeo, rego, frango, capio, jacio, lacio, specio, premo, as comprimo compressi compressum, conjcicio conjeci conjec- tum, pango in two only, compingo, impingo: Ago, in all but perago, satago, circumago, dego and cogo coegi: Facio with a Preposition only, not in other Compounds, as inficio, olfacio: 15 Lego in these only, diligio, eligo, intelligo, negligo, seligo, in the rest not, as prælego, add to these supersedeo.

Of Verbs Defective.

Verbs called Inceptives ending in sco, borrow thir Preterperfect Tense from the Verb whereof they are deriv'd, as tepesco tepui from tepeo, ingemisco ingemui from ingemo; 20 as also these Verbs, cerno to see, vidi from video, sido sedi from sedeo, fero tuli from tulo out of use, in the Supine latum, tollo sustuli sublatum from suffero.

These want the Preterperfect Tense.

Verbs ending in asco, as puerasco; in isco, as fatisco; in 25 urio, except parturio, esurio: these also, vergo, ambigo, ferio, furo, polleo, nideo, have no Preterperfect Tense.

Contrary, these four, Odi, cœpi, novi, memini, are found in the Preterperfect Tense only, and the Tenses thence deriv'd, as odi, oderam, oderim, odissem, odero, odisse, except memini, which hath memento mementote in the Imperative.

- 5 Others are defective both in Tense and Person, as Aio, ais, ait, Plur. aiunt. The Preterimperfect aiebam is intire. Imperative, ai. Potential, aias, aiat, Plur. aiamus, aiant.

Ausim for ausus sim, ausis, ausit, Plur. ausint.

Salveo, salvebis, salve salveto, salvete salvetote, salvere.

- 10 Ave aveto, avete avetote.

Faxo, faxis, faxit, faxint.

Quæso, Plur. quæsumus.

Infit, infunt.

Inquo or inquam, inquis inquit, Plur. inquiunt. Inquibat,

- 15 Cic. Topic. inquisti, inquit. Future, inquires, inquiet Imperat. Inque inquito. Potent. Inquiat.

Dor the first person Passive of do, and for before faris or fare in the Indicative, are not read, nor der or fer in the Potential.

Of a Participle.

- 20 A Participle is a part of Speech, partaking with the Verb from whence it is deriv'd in Voice, Tense, and signification, and with a Noun Adjective in manner of Declining.

Participles are either of the Active or Passive Voice.

- Of the Active Two. One of the Present Tense ending in 25 ans, or ens, as laudans praising, habens, legens, audiens, and is declin'd like fælix, as hic hæc and hoc habens, Gen. habentis, Dat. habenti, &c. Docens docentis, &c. But from eo, euns, and in the compounds iens euntis, except ambiens ambientis. Note that some Verbs otherwise defective, have this Participle, as aiens, inquiens.

The other of the future Tense is most commonly formd of 5 the first Supine, by changing m into rus, as of laudatum laudaturus to praise or about to praise, habiturus, lecturus, auditurus; but some are not regularly formd, as of sectum secaturus, of jutum juvaturus, sonitum sonaturus, partum pariturus, argutum arguiturus, and such like; of sum, futu- 10 rus: This, as also the other two Participles following are declin'd like bonus.

This Participle, with the Verb Sum, affordeth a second Future in the Active Voice, as laudaturus sum, es, est, &c. as also the Future of the Infinitive, as laudaturum esse to praise 15 hereafter, futurum esse, &c.

Participles of the Passive Voice are also two, one of the Preterperfect tense, another of the Future.

A Participle of the Preterperfect Tense, is formd of the latter Supine, by putting thereto s, as of laulatu laudatus 20 praisd, of habitu habitus, lectu lectus, auditu auditus.

This Participle joyn'd with the Verb Sum, supplyeth the want of a Preterperfect and Preterpluperfect Tense in the Indicative Mood passive, and both them and the Future of the Potential; as also the Preterperfect and Preterpluperfect 25 of the Infinitive, and with ire or fore the Future; as laudatus sum or fui I have been praisd, Plur. laudati sumus or fuimus we have been praisd, laudatus eram or fueram, &c. Potential, laudatus sim or fuerim, laudatus essem or fuissem, laudatus ero or fuero, Infinit. laudatum esse or fuisse to have or had been praised; laudatum ire or fore to be praised hereafter.

Nor only Passives, but some Actives also or Neuters, besides thir own Preterperfect Tense, borrow another from this 5 Participle; Cæno Cænavi and Cænatus sum, Juravi and juratus, Potavi and potus sum, Titubavi and titubatus, Careo carui cassus sum, Prandeo prandi and pransus, Pateo patui and passus sum, Placeo placui placitus, Suesco suevi suetus sum, Liget libuit and libitum est, Licet licuit licitum, Pudet pudit 10 puditum, Piget piguit pigitum, Tædet teduit pertæsum est, and this Deponent Mereor merui and meritus sum.

15 These Deponents also form this Participle from Supines irregular; Labor lapsus, patior passus, perpetior perpassus, fateor fassus, confiteor, diffiteor diffessus, gradior gressus, ingredior ingressus, fatiscor fessus, metior mensus, utor usus, ordior to spin orditus, to begin orsus, nitor nisus and nixus,
 25 comminiscor commentus, nascor natus, mori mortuus, orior ortus sum.

A Participle of the Future Passive is formd of the Gerund in dum, by changing m into s, as of laudandum laudandus to be praisd, of habendum habendus, &c. And likewise of this Participle with the Verb Sum, may be formd the same Tenses in the Passive, which were form'd with the Participle of the Preterperfect Tense, as laudandus sum or fui, &c.

- 5 Infinit. Laudandum esse, or fore.

Of Verbs Deponent come Participles, both of the Active and Passive form, as loquor loquens locutus locuturus loquendus; whereof the Participle of the Preter Tense signifieth somtimes both Actively and Passively, as dignatus, testatus, 10 meditatus, and the like.

Of an Adverb.

An Adverb is a part of Speech joynd with some other to explain its signification, as valdè probus very honest, benè est it is well, valdè doctus very learned, benè mane early in the morning.

- 15 Of Adverbs, some be of Time, as hodiè to day, Cras to morrow, &c.

Some be of Place, as Ubi where, ibi there, &c. And of many other sorts needless to be here set down.

- Certain Adverbs also are compar'd, as Doctè learnedly, 20 doctiùs doctissimè, fortiter fortius fortissimè, sæpe sæpius sæpissime, and the like.

Of a Conjunction.

A Conjunction is a part of Speech, that joyneth Words and Sentences together.

- Of conjunctions some be Copulative, as et and, quoque 25 also, nec neither.

Some be Disjunctive, as aut or.

Some be Causal, as nam for, quia because, and many such like.

Adverbs when they Govern Mood and Tense, and joyn 5 Sentences together, as cum, ubi, postquam, and the like, are rather to be call'd Conjunctions.

Of a Preposition.

A Preposition is a part of Speech most commonly, either set before Nouns in Apposition, as ad patrem, or joyn'd with any other words in Composition, as indoctus.

10 These six, di, dis, re, se, am, con, are not read but in Composition.

As Adverbs having Cases after them, may be call'd Prepositions, so Prepositions having none, may be counted Adverbs.

Of an Interjection.

An Interjection is a part of Speech, expressing some passion

Some be of sorrow, as heu, hei.

Some be of marvelling, as papæ.

Some of disdain, as vah.

Some of praising, as euge.

Figures of Speech.

Words are sometimes encreast or diminisht by a Letter or Syllable in the beginning, middle or ending, which are call'd Figures of Speech:

Encreast

In the beginning, as Gnatus for Natus, Tetuli for tuli. Prothesis.

In the middle, as Rettulit for Retulit, Cinctutus for Cinctus. Epenthesis.

5 In the end, as Dicier, for dici. Paragoge.

Diminisht

In the beginning, as Ruit for Erui. Apherisis.

In the middle, as Audiit for Audivit, Dixti for dixisti, Lamna for lamina. Syncope.

In the end, as Consili for consilii; scin for scisne. Apocope.

The second part of Grammar, commonly called Syntaxis, or Construction.

10 HITHERTO the Eight Parts of speech Declin'd and Undeclin'd have been spoken of single, and each one by it self: Now followeth Syntaxis or Construction, which is the right joyning of these parts together in a Sentence.

15 Construction consisteth either in the agreement of words together in Number, Gender, Case, and Person, which is call'd Concord; or the governing of one the other in such Case or Mood as is to follow.

Of the Concords.

There be Three Concords or Agreements.

The First is of the Adjective with his Substantive.

The Third is of the Relative with his Antecedent.

- 5 An Adjective (under which is comprehended both Pronoun and Participle) with his Substantive or Substantives, a Verb with his Nominative Case or Cases, and a Relative with his Antecedent or Antecedents, agree all in number, and the two latter in person also: as Amicus certus. Viri docti. Præceptor prælegit, vos vero negligitis. Xenophon & Plato fuere æquales. Vir sapit, qui pauca loquitur. Pater & Præceptor veniunt. Yea though the Conjunction be disjunctive, as Quos neque desidia neque luxuria vitiant. Celsus. Pater & Præceptor, quos quæritis. But if a Verb singular follow many 10 Nominatives, it must be applied to each of them apart, as 15 Nisi foro & curiæ officium ac verecundia sua constiterit. Val. max.

- An Adjective with his Substantive, and a Relative with his Antecedent agree in Gender and Case; but the Relative not 20 in case always, being oft-times govern'd by other constructions: as Amicus certus in re incerta cernitur. Liber quem dedisti mihi.

- And if it be a Participle serving the Infinitive Mood future, it oft-times agrees not with the Substantive neither in Gender 25 nor in Number, as Hanc sibi rem præsidio sperat futurum. Cic. Audierat non datum ire filio Uxorem. Terent. Omnia potius actum iri puto quam de provinciis. Cic.

But when a Verb cometh between two Nominative cases not of the same number, or a Relative between two Substantives not of the same Gender, the Verb in Number, and the Relative in Gender may agree with either of them; as 5 Amantium iræ amoris integratio est. Quid enim nisi vota supersunt. Tuentur illum globum qui terra dicitur. Animal plenum rationis, quem vocamus hominem. Lutetia est quam nos Parisios dicimus.

And if the Nominative cases be of several persons, or the 10 Substantives and Antecedents of several Genders, the Verb shall agree with the second person before the third, and with the first before either; And so shall the Adjective or Relative in thir Gender; as Ego & tu sumus in tuto. Tu & Pater periclitamini. Pater & Mater mortui sunt. Frater & Soror quos 15 vidisti.

But in things that have not life, an Adjective or Relative of the Neuter Gender, may agree with Substantives or Antecedents, Masculin or Feminin, or both together; as Arcus & calami sunt bona. Arcus & calami quæ fregisti. Pulcritudinem, constantiam, ordinem in Consiliis factisque conservanda 20 putat. Cic. Off. 1. Ira & ægritudo permista sunt. Sal.

Note that the Infinitive Mood, or any part of a Sentence may be instead of a Nominative Case to the Verb, or of a Substantive to the Adjective, or of an Antecedent to the Relative, 25 and then the Adjective or Relative shall be of the Neuter Gender; And if there be more parts of a Sentence then one, the Verb shall be in the plural number; Diluculo surgere saluberrimum est. Virtutem sequi, vita est honestissima.

Audito proconsulem in Ciliciam tendere. In tempore veni, quod omnium rerum est primum. Tu multum dormis & sæpe potas, quæ duo sunt corpori inimica.

Sometimes also an Adverb is put for the Nominative Case to a Verb, and for a Substantive to an Adjective; as Partim signorum sunt combusta. Propè centies & vicies erogatum est. Cic. verr. 4.

Sometimes also agreement, whether it be in Gender or Number, is grounded on the sense, not on the words; as Illum senium for illum senem. Iste scelus for iste scelestus. Ter. Transtulit in Eunuchum suam, meaning Comædium. Ter. Pars magna obligati, meaning Homines. Liv. Impliciti laqueis nudus uterq; for Ambo. Ov. Alter in alterius jactantes lumina vultus. Ovid. that is, Alter & alter. Inesperanti ipsa refers te nobis, for mihi. Catul. Disce omnes. Virg. Æn. 2. for tu quisquis es. Duo importuna prodigia, quos egestas tribuno plebis constrictos addixerat. Cic. pro Sest. Pars mersi tenuere ratem. Rhemus cum fratre Quirino jura dabant. Virg. that is, Rhemus & frater Quirinus. Divellimur inde Iphitus & Pelias mecum. Virg.

Construction of Substantives.

Hitherto of Concord or agreement; the other part followeth, which is Governing, whereby one part of Speech is govern'd by another, that is to say, is put in such Case or Mood as the word that governeth or goeth before in construction requireth.

When two Substantives come together, betokening divers things, whereof the former may be an Adjective in the Neuter Gender taken for a Substantive; the latter (which also may be a Pronoun) shall be in the Genitive Case; as Facundia Ciceronis. Amator studiorum. Ferimur per opaca locorum. Corruptus vanis rerum. Hor. Desiderium tui. Pater ejus.

Sometimes the former Substantive, as this word Officium or Mos, is understood; as Oratoris est, It is the part of an Oratour. Extremæ est dementiæ, It is the manner of extream madness. Ignavi est, It is the quality of a sloathful man. Ubi ad Dianæ veneris; Templum is understood. Justitiæ prius mirer belline laborum. Virg. Understand Causâ. Neque illi seposui Ciceris, neque longæ invidit avenæ. Hor. Supply partem.

But if both the Substantives be spoken of one thing, which is call'd apposition, they shall be both of the same case; as Pater meus vir, amat me puerum.

Words that signifie Quality, following the Substantive whereof they are spoken, may be put in the Genitive or Ablative Case; as Puer bonæ indolis, or bona indole. Some have a Genitive only; as Ingentis Rex nominis. Liv. Decem annorum puer. Hujusmodi pax. Hujus generis animal. But genus is sometimes in the Accusative: as Si hoc genus rebus non proficitur. Varr. de re rust. And the cause or manner of a thing in the Ablative only; as Sum tibi natura parens, preceptor consiliis.

Opus and Usus when they signifie Need, require an Ablative; as Opus est mihi tuo judicio. Viginti minis usus est filio. But Opus is sometimes taken for an Adjective undeclin'd, and signifieth Needful; as Dux nobis & Author opus est. Alia quæ opus sunt para.

Construction of Adjectives, Governing a Genitive.

 5 others deriv'd from Verbs, and ending in ax, require a Genitive; as Cupidus auri. Peritus belli. Ignarus omnium. Memor præteriti. Reus furti. Tenax propositi. Tempus edax rerum.

Adjectives call'd Nouns Partitive, because they signifie part 10 of some whole quantity or number, govern the word that signifieth the thing parted or divided, in the Genitive; as Aliquis nostrum. Primus omnium. Aurium mollior est sinistra. Oratorum eloquentissimus. And oft in the Neuter Gender; as Multum lucri. Id negotii. Hoc noctis. Sometimes, 15 though seldom, a word signifying the whole is read in the same Case with the Partitive, as Habet duos gladios quibus altero te occisurum minatur, altero villicum, Plaut. For Quorum altero. Magnum opus habeo in manibus; quod jam pridem ad hunc ipsum (me autem dicebat) quædam institui.
 20 Cic. Acad. I. Quod quædam for cujus quædam.

A Dative.

Adjectives that betoken Profit or Disprofit, Likeness or Unlikeness, Fitness, Pleasure, Submitting, or Belonging to any thing, require a Dative; as Labor est utilis corpori. Æqualis Hectori. Idoneus bello. Jucundus omnibus. Parenti sup- 25 plex. Mihi proprium.

But such as betoken Profit or Disprofit have sometimes an Accusative with a Preposition; as Homo ad nullam partem utilis. Cic. Inter se æquales.

And some Adjectives signifying Likeness, Unlikeness, or 5 Relation, may have a Genitive. Par hujus. Ejus culpæ affines. Domini similis es. Commune animantium est conjunctionis appetitus. Alienum dignitatis ejus. Cic. Fin. 1. Fuit hoc quondam proprium populi Romani longè a domo bellare. But propior and proximus admit sometimes an Accusative; 10 as proximus Pompeium sedebam. Cic.

An Accusative.

Nouns of Measure are put after Adjectives of like signification in the Accusative, and sometimes in the Ablative; as Turris alta centum pedes. Arbor lata tres digitos. Liber crassus tres pollices, or tribus pollicibus. Sometimes in the 15 Genitive; as Areas latas pedum denum facito.

All words expressing part or Parts of a thing, may be put in the Accusative, or sometimes in the Ablative; as Saucius frontem or fronte. Excepto quòd non simul esses cætera lætus. Hor. Nuda pedem. Ov. Os humerosque deo similis. Virg.
 20 Sometimes in the Genitive, as Dubius mentis.

An Ablative.

Adjectives of the Comparative degree, englisht with this sign then or by, as also Dignus, Indignus, Præditus, Contentus, and these words of Price, Carus, vilis, require an Ablative; as Frigidior glacie. Multo doctior. Uno pede altior.

Dignus honore. Virtute præditus. Sorte sua contentus. Asse charum.

But of Comparatives, plus, amplius, and minus, many govern a Genitive, also a Nominative, or an Accusative; as Plus 5 quingenta hominum. Amplius duorum millium. Ne plus tertia pars eximatur mellis. Varro. Paulo plus quingentos passus. Ut ex sua cujusque parte ne minus dimidium ad fra-tre[m] perveniret. Cic. Verr. 4. And Dignus, Indignus, have sometimes a Genitive after them; as Militia est operis altera 10 digna tui. Indignus avorum. Virg.

Adjectives betokening Plenty or Want, will have an Ablative, and sometimes a Genitive; as Vacuum ira, or iræ. Nulla Epistola inanis re aliqua. Ditissimus agri. Stultorum plena sunt omnia. Integer vitæ, scelerisque purus. Expers omnium.
 15 Vobis immunibus hujus esse mali dabitur.

Words also betokening the cause, or form, or manner of a thing, are put after Adjectives in the Ablative Case; as Pallidus ira. Trepidus morte futura. Nomine Grammaticus, re Barbarus.

Of Pronouns.

20 Pronouns differ not in Construction from Nouns, except that Possessives, Meus, tuus, suus, noster, vester, by a certain manner of speech, are sometimes joyn'd to a Substantive, which governs thir Primitive understood with a Noun or Participle in a Genitive Case; as Dico mea unius opera rem- 25 publicam esse liberatam. Cic. For Mei unius opera. In like manner Nostra, duorum, trium, paucorum, omnium virtute, for nostrum duorum, &c. Meum solius peccatum, Cic. Ex tuo ipsius animo, For Tui ipsius. Ex sua cujusque parte, Id. Verr. 2. Ne tua quidem recentia proximi Prætoris vestigia persequi poterat. Cic. verr. 4. Si meas presentis preces non putas profuisse, id. Pro Planc. Nostros vidisti flentis ocellos.

5 Ovid.

Also a Relative, as qui or is, sometimes answers to an Antecedent Noun or Pronoun Primitive understood in the Possessive; as Omnes laudare fortunas meas qui filium haberem tali ingenio præditum. Terent.

Construction of Verbs.

- 10 Verbs for the most part govern either one case after them, or more then one in a different manner of Construction.

Of the Verb Substantive Sum, and such like, with a Nominative, and other oblique Cases.

Verbs that signifie Being, as Sum, existo, fio; and certain Passives, as dicor, vocor, salutor, appellor, habeor, existimor, videor; also Verbs of motion or rest, as incedo, discedo, sedeo, 15 with such like, will have a Nominative Case after them as they have before them, because both Cases belong to the same person or thing, and the latter is rather in apposition with the former, then govern'd by the Verb; as Temperantia est virtus. Horatius salutatur Poeta. Ast ego quæ divum incedo regina.

- 20 And if est be an impersonal, it may sometimes govern a Genitive, as Usus Poetæ, ut moris est, licentia, Phædrus l. 4. Negavit moris esse Græcorum, ut &c. Cic. verr. 2.

But if the following Noun be of another person, or not directly spoken of the former, both after Sum and all his Compounds, except possum, it shall be put in the Dative; as Est mihi domi pater. Multa petentibus desunt multa.

And if a thing be spoken of, relating to the person, it may be also in the Dative; as Sum tibi præsidio. Hæc res est mihi voluptati. Quorum alteri Capitoni cognomen fuit. Cic. Pastori nomen Faustulo fuisse ferunt. Liv.

*Of Verbs Transitives with an Accusative, and the

Verbs Active or Deponent, call'd Transitive, because thir action passeth forth on some person or thing, will have an Accusative after them of the person or thing to whom the action is done; as Amo te. Vitium fuge. Deum venerare. Usus promptos facit. Juvat me. Oportet te.

Also Verbs call'd Neuters, may have an Accusative of thir own signification; as Duram servit servitutem. Longam ire viam. Endimionis somnum dormis. Pastillos Rufillus olet. Nec vox hominem sonat. Cum Glaucum saltasset. Paterc. Agit lætum convivam. Horat. Hoc me latet.

But these Verbs, though Transitive, Misereor and Miseresco, pass into a Genitive; as Miserere mei. Sometimes into a Dative: Huic misereor. Sen. Dilige bonos, miseresce malis.

20 Boet.

Reminiscor, Obliviscor, Recordor, and Memini, sometimes also require a Genitive; as Data fidei reminiscitur. Memini tui. Obliviscor carminis. Sometime retain the Accusative; as Recordor pueritiam. Omnia quæ curant senes meminervnt.

25 Plaut.

These Impersonals also, interest and refert, signifying to concern, require a Genitive, except in these Ablatives Feminine, Mea, tua, sua, nostra, vestra, cuja. And the measure of concernment is often added in these Genitives, magni, parvi, 5 tanti, quanti, with thir Compounds; as Interest omnium rectè agere. Tua refert teipsum nosse. Vestra parvi interest.

But Verbs of Profiting or Disprofiting, Believing, Pleasing, Obeying, Opposing, or being angry with, pass into a Dative; as non potes mihi commodare nec incommodare. Placeo om- 10 nibus. Crede mihi. Nimum ne crede colori. Parco paren- tibus. Tibi repugno. Adolescenti nihil est quod succenseat. But of the first and third sort, Juvo, adjuvo, lædo, offendo, retain an Accusative.

Lastly, these Transitives, fungor, fruor, utor, potior, and 15 Verbs betokening want, pass direct into an Ablative. Fungitur officio. Aliena frui insania, Utere sorte tua. But fungor, fruor, utor, had antiently an Accusative. Verbs of want, and potior, may have also a Genitive. Pecuniæ indiget. Quasi tu hujus indigeas patris. Potior Urbe, or Urbis.

20 Sometimes a phrase of the same signification with a single Verb, may have the Case of the Verb after it; as Id operam do, that is to say, id ago. Idne estis authores mihi? for id suadetis. Quid me vobis tactio est? for tangitis. Plaut. Quid tibi hanc curatio est rem? Id.

The Accusative with a Genitive.

25 Hitherto of Transitives governing thir Accusative, or other Case, in single and direct Construction: Now of such as may have after them more Cases then one in Construction direct and oblique, that is to say, with an Accusative, a Genitive, Dative, other Accusative, or Ablative.

Verbs of Esteeming, Buying or Selling, besides thir Accu-5 sative, will have a Genitive betokening the value of price, floci, nihili, pili, hujus, and the like after Verbs of Esteem-ing: Tanti, quanti, pluris, minoris, and such like, put without a Substantive, after Verbs of Buying or Selling; as Non hujus te æstimo. Ego illum flocci pendo. Æqui boni hoc 10 facio or consulo. Quanti mercatus es hunc equum? Pluris quam vellem.

But the word of Value is sometimes in the Ablative; as Parvi or parvo æstimas probitatem. And the word of Price most usually; As Teruncio eum non emerim. And particu-15 larly in these Adjectives, Vili, paulo, minimo, magno, nimio, plurimo, dimidio, duplo, put without a Substantive, as Vili vendo triticum. Redimete captum quàm queas minimo. And sometimes minore for minoris. Nam a Cælio propinqui minore centessimis nummum movere non possunt. Cic. Att. l. 1. But 20 Verbs Neuter or Passive have only the oblique Cases after them; as Tanti eris aliis, quanti tibi fueris. Pudor parvi pendit-
tur. Which is also to be observ'd in the following Rules.

And this Neuter Valeo governeth the word of value in the Accusative; as Denarii dicti quod denos æris valebant. Varr.
 25 Verbs of admonishing, accusing, condemning, acquitting, will have, besides thir Accusative, a Genitive of the Crime, or Penaltie, or Thing; as Admonuit me errati. Accusas me furti?
Vatem sceleris damnat. Furem dupli condemnavit. And sometimes an Ablative with a preposition, or without; as Condemnabo eodem ego te crimine. Accusas furti, an stupri, an utroque? De repetundis accusavit, or damnavit. Cic.

- Also these impersonals, pœnitēt, tædet, miseret, miserescit, 15 pudet, piget, to thir Accusative will have a Genitive, either of the person, or of the thing; as Nostri nosmet pœnitēt. Urbis me tædet. Miseret me tui. Pudet me negligentia.

An Accusative with a Dative.

- Verbs of Giving or Restoring, Promising or Paying, Commanding or Shewing, Trusting or Threatning, add to thir 10 Accusative a Dative of the person; as Fortuna multis nimium dedit. Hæc tibi promitto. Æs alienum mihi numeravit. Frumentum imperat civitatibus. Quid & cui dicas, videto. Hoc tibi suadeo. Tibi or ad te scribo. Pecuniam omnem tibi credo. Utrique mortem minatus est.

- 15 To these add Verbs Active compounded with these prepositions, præ, ad, ab, con, de, ex, ante, sub, post, ob, in and inter; as Præcipio hoc tibi. Admovit urbi exercitum. Collegæ suo imperium abrogavit. Sic parvis componere magna solebam.

- 20 Neuters have a dative only; as Meis majoribus virtute præluxi. But some compounded with præ and ante may have an accusative; as Præstat ingenio alius alium. Multos anteit sapientia. Others with a Preposition; as Quæ ad ventris victum conducunt. In hæc studia incumbite. Cic.

- 25 Also all Verbs Active, betokening acquisition, likening, or relation, commonly englisht with to or for, have to thir accusative a dative of the person; as Magnam laudem sibi peperit. Huic habeo non tibi. Se illis æquarunt. Expedi mihi hoc negotium: but mihi, tibi, sibi, sometimes are added for Elegance, the sense not requiring; as Suo hunc sibi jugulat 5 gladio. Terent. Neuters a dative only; as Non omnibus dormio. Libet mihi. Tibi licet.

Sometimes a Verb Transitive will have to his accusative a double dative, one of the person, another of the thing; as Do tibi vestem pignori. Verto hoc tibi vitio. Hoc tu tibi laudi 10 ducis.

A double Accusative.

Verbs of asking, teaching, arraying, and concealing, will have two accusatives, one of the person, another of the thing; as Rogo te pecuniam. Doceo te literas. Quod te jamdudum hortor. Induit se calceos. Hoc me celabas.

15 And being Passives, they retain one accusative of the thing, as Sumptumque recingitur anguem. Ovid. Met. 4. Induitur togam. Mart.

But Verbs of arraying sometimes change the one accusative into an ablative or dative; as Induo te tunica, or tibi tunicam.
 20 Instravit equum penula, or equo penulam.

An Accusative with an Ablative.

Verbs Transitive may have to thir accusative an ablative of the instrument or cause, matter, or manner of doing; and Neuters the ablative only; As Ferit cum gladio. Taceo metu. Malis gaudet alienis. Summa eloquentia causam egit. Capi- tolium saxo quadrato substructum est. Tuo consilio nitor. Vescor pane. Affluis opibus. Amore abundas. Sometimes with a Preposition of the manner; as Summa cum humanitate me tractavit.

- 5 Verbs of endowing, imparting, depriving, discharging, filling, emptying, and the like, will have an ablative, and sometimes a genitive; as Dono te hoc annulo. Plurima salute te impertit. Aliquem familiarem suo sermone participavit. Paternum servum sui participavit consilii. Interdico tibi aqua 10 & igni. Libero te hoc metu. Implentur veteris Bacchi.

Also Verbs of comparing, or exceeding, will have an ablative of the excess; as Præfero hunc multis gradibus. Magno intervallo eum superat.

- After all manner of Verbs, the word signifying any part of 15 a thing, may be put in the genitive, accusative, or ablative; as Absurdè facis qui angas te animi. Pendet animi. Discrucior animi. Desipit mentis. Candet dentes. Rubet capillos. Ægro-tat animo, magis quàm corpore.

Nouns of Time and Place after Verbs.

- Nouns betokening part of time, be put after Verbs in the 20 ablative, and sometimes in the accusative; as *Nocte vigilas, luce dormis. Nullam partem noctis requiescit. Cic. Abhinc triennium ex Andro comigravit. Ter. Respondit triduo illum, ad summum quatrIduo periturum, Cic. Or if continuance of time, in the accusative, sometimes in the Ablative; as Sexaginta 25 *annos natus. Hyemem totam stertis. Imperium deponere maluerunt, quam id tenere punctum temporis contra Reli-

gionem. Cic. Imperavit triennio, & decem mensibus. Suet. Sometimes with a Preposition; as Ferè in diebus paucis, quibus hæc acta sunt. Ter. Rarely with a genitive; as Temporis angusti mansit concordia discors. Lucan.

- 5 Also Nouns betokening Space between places are put in the accusative, and sometimes in the ablative; as Pedem hinc ne discesseris. Abest ab Urbe quingentis milibus passuum. Terra marique gentibus imperavit.

Nouns that signifie Place, and also proper Names of greater 10 places, as Countries, be put after Verbs of moving or remaining, with a Preposition, signifying to, from, in or by, in such case as the Preposition requireth; as Proficiscor ab Urbe. Vivit in Anglia. Veni per Galliam in Italiam.

But if it be the Proper Name of a Lesser Place, as of a City, 15 Town, or Lesser Island, or any of these four, Humus, Domus, Militia, Bellum, with these signs, on, in, or at before them, being of the first or second Declension, and singular number, they shall be put in the genitive; if of the third Declension, or Plural Number, or this word rus, in the dative or ablative; as 20 Vixit Romæ, Londini. Ea habitabat Rhodi. Conon plurimum Cypri vixit. Cor. Nep. Procumbit humi bos. Domi bellique simul viximus. Militavit Carthagini or Carthagine. Studuit Athenis. Ruri or rure educatus est.

If the Verb of moving be to a Place, it shall be put in the 25 accusative; as Eo Romam, Domum, Rus. If from a Place, in the ablative; as Discessit Londino. Abiit Domo. Rure est reversus.

Sometimes with a Preposition; as A Brundisio profectus est.

Cic. Manil. Ut ab Athenis in Bœotiam irem. Sulpit. apud.
Cic. Fam. l. 4. Cum te profectum ab domo scirem. Liv. l. 8.

Construction of Passives.

A Verb Passive will have after it an ablative of the doer, with the Preposition a or ab before it, sometimes without, and 5 more often a dative: as Virgilius legitur a me. Fortes creantur fortibus. Hor. Tibi fama petatur. And Neutropassives, as Vapulo, veneo, liceo, exulo, fio, may have the same Construction; as Ab hoste venire.

Sometimes an accusative of the thing is found after a Passive; as Coronari Olympia. Hor. Epist. 1. Cyclopa movetur. Hor. for saltat or agit. Purgor bilem. Id.

Construction of Gerunds and Supines.

15 A Gerund in di is commonly govern'd both of Substantives and Adjectives in manner of a genitive; as Causa videndi. Amor habendi. Cupidus visendi. Certus cundi. And sometimes governeth a genitive Plural; as illorum videndi gratia. Ter.

20 Gerunds in do are us'd after Verbs in manner of an ablative, according to former Rules, with or without a preposition; as Defessus sum ambulando. A discendo facile deterretur. Cæsar dando, sublevando, ignoscendo, gloriam adeptus est. In apparando consumunt diem.

A Gerund in dum is us'd in manner of an accusative after prepositions governing that case; as Ad capiendum hostes. Ante domandum ingentes tollent animos. Virg. Ob redimendum captivos. Inter coenandum.

- 5 Gerunds in signification are oft-times us'd as Participles in dus; Tuorum consiliorum reprimendorum causa. Cic. Orationem Latinam legendis nostris efficies plenior. Cic. Ad accusandos homines præmio ducitur.

- A Gerund in dum joyn'd with the Impersonal est, and im-10 plying some necessity or duty to do a thing, may have both the Active and Passive construction of the Verb from whence it is deriv'd; as Utendum est ætate. Ov. Pacem Trojano a rege petendum. Virg. Iterandum eadem ista mihi. Cic. Servientum est mihi amicis. Plura dixi quam dicendum fuit. Cic.
 15 pro Sest.

Construction of Verb with Verb.

- When two Verbs come together without a nominative case between them, the latter shall be in the Infinitive Mood; as Cupio discere. Or in the first Supine after Verbs of moving; as Eo cubitum, spectatum. Or in the latter with an adjective; 20 as Turpe est dictu. Facile factu opus scitu.

But if a Case come between, not govern'd of the former Verb, it shall always be an accusative before the Infinitive Mood; as Te rediisse incolumem gaudeo. Malo me divitem esse, quam haberi.

- 25 And this Infinitive esse, will have always after it an accusative, or the same case which the former Verb governs; as Expedit bonos esse vobis. Quo mihi commisso, non licet esse piam. But this accusative agreeth with another understood before the Infinitive; as Expedit vobis vos esse bonos. Natura beatis omnibus esse dedit. Nobis non licet esse tam disertis.

The same Construction may be us'd after other Infinitives

- 5 Neuter or Passive like to esse in signification; as Maximo tibi postea & civi, & duci evadere contigit. Val. Max. L. 6.

Sometimes a Noun Adjective or Substantive governs an Infinitive; as Audax omnia perpeti. Dignus amari. Consilium ceperunt ex oppido profugere. Cæs. Minari divisoribus ratio

- 10 non erat. Cic. verr. 1.

Sometimes the Infinitive is put absolute for the preterimperfect or preterperfect Tense; as Ego illud sedulo negare factum. Ter. Galba autem multas similitudines afferre. Cic. Ille contra hæc omnia ruere, agere vitam. Ter.

Construction of Participles.

- 15 Participles govern such cases as the Verb from whence they come, according to their Active or Passive signification; as Fruiturus amicis. Nunquam audita mihi. Diligendus ab omnibus. Sate sanguine divam. Telamone creatus. Corpore mortali cretus. Lucret. Nate deâ. Edite regibus. Lævo sus-
- 20 pensi loculos tabulasque lacerto. Hor. Census equestrem summam. Id. Abeundum est mihi. Venus orta mari. Exosus Bella. Virg. Exosus diis. Gell. Arma Perosus. Ovid. But Pertæsus hath an accusative otherwise then the Verb; as Pertæsus Ignaviam. Semet ipse pertæsus. Suet. To these add
- 25 participial adjectives ending in bilis of the Passive signifition, and requiring like case after them; as Nulli penetrabilis astro lucus erat.

Participles chang'd into Adjectives have thir Construction by the Rules of Adjectives; as Appetens vini. Fugitans litium.

5 Fidens animi.

An Ablative put absolute.

Two Nouns together, or a Noun and Pronoun with a Participle exprest or understood, put absolutely, that is to say, neither governing nor govern'd of a Verb, shall be put in the ablative; as Authore Senatu bellum geritur. Me duce vinces.

10 Cæsare veniente hostes fugerunt. Sublato clamore prælium committitur.

Construction of Adverbs.

En and ecce will have a Nominative, or an accusative, and somtimes with a dative; as En Priamus. Ecce tibi status noster. En habitum. Ecce autem alterum.

15 Adverbs of quantity, time, and place require a genitive; as Satis loquentiæ, sapientiæ parum Satis also compounded with a Verb; as Is rerum suarum satagit. Tunc temporis. Ubique gentium. Eò impudentiæ processit. Quoad ejus fieri poterit.

To these add Ergo signifying the cause; as Illius ergo. Virg. Virtutis ergo. Fugæ atque formidinis ergo non abiturus. Liv.

Others will have such case as the Nouns from whence they come; as Minime gentium. Optime omnium. Venit obviam illi. Canit similiter huic. Albanum, sive Falernum te magis appositis delectat. Hor.

25 Adverbs are joyn'd in a Sentence to several Moods of Verbs.

Of Time, Ubi, postquam, cum or quum, to an Indicative or Subjunctive; as Hæc ubi dicta dedit. Ubi nos laverimus. Postquam excessit ex Ephebis. Cum faciam vitula. Virg. Cum canerem reges. Id.

- 5 Donec while, to an Indicative. Donec eris felix. Donec untill, to an Indicative or Subjunctive; Cogere donec oves jussit. Virg. Donec ea aqua decocta sit. Colum.

Dum while, to an Indicative. Dum apparatus Virgo. Dum untill, to an Indicative or Subjunctive; as Dum redeo. Tertia 10 dum Latio regnantem viderit ætas. Dum for dummodo so as, or, so that, to a Subjunctive. Dum prosim tibi.

Quoad while, to an Indicative. Quoad expectas contubernalem. Quoad untill, to a Subjunctive. Omnia integra servabo, quoad exercitus huc mittatur.

- 15 Simulac, simulatque to an Indicative or Subjunctive; as Simulac belli patiens erat simulatque adoleverit ætas.

Ut as, to the same Moods. Ut salutabis, ita resalutaberis. Ut sementem feceris, ita & metes. Hor. Ut so soon as, to an Indicative only: as Ut ventum est in Urbem.

- 20 Quasi, tanquam, perinde, ac si, to a Subjunctive only; as Quasi non norimus nos inter nos. Tanquam feceris ipse aliquid.

Ne of forbidding, to an Imperative or Subjunctive; as Ne sævi. Ne metuas.

- 25 Certain Adverbs of quantity, quality, or cause; as Quam, quoties, cur, quare, &c. Thence also qui, quis, quantus, qualis, and the like, coming in a sentence after the principal Verb, govern the Verb following in a Subjunctive; as videte

- quàm valdè malitiæ suæ confidat.* Cic. Quid est cur tu in isto loco sed eas? Cic. pro Cluent. Subsideo mihi diligentiam comparavi quæ quanta sit intelligi non potest, nisi &c. Cic. pro Quint. Nam quid hoc iniquius dici potest, Quam me qui
 15 Quæ concursatio percontantium quid Prætor edixisset, ubi cænaret, quid enuntiasset. Cic. Agrar. 1.

Of Conjunctions.

- Conjunctions Copulative and Disjunctive, and these four, Quam, nisi, præterquam, an, couple like cases; as Socrates docuit Xenophontem & Platonem. Aut dies est, aut nox.
 20 Nescio albus an ater sit. Est minor natu quàm tu. Nemini placet præterquam sibi.

Except when some particular construction requireth otherwise; as Studui Romæ & Athenis. Emi fundum centum nummis & pluris. Accusas furti, an stupri, an utroque?

- 25 They also couple for the most part like Moods and Tenses; as Recto stat corpore, despicitque terras. But not always like Tenses; as Nisi me lactasses, & vana spe produceres. Et habetur, & referetur tibi a me gratia.

Of other Conjunctions, some govern an Indicative, some a Subjunctive, according to thir several significations.

- 5 Etsi, tametsi, etiamsi, quanquam an Indicative; quamvis and licet most commonly a Subjunctive; as Etsi nihil novi afferrebat. Quanquam animus meminisse horret. Quamvis Elysios miretur Græcia campos. Ipse licet venias.

- Ni, nisi, si, siquidem, quod, quia, postquam, posteaquam,* 10 antequam, priusquam an Indicative or Subjunctive; as Nisi vi mavis eripi. Ni faciat. Castigo te, non quòd odeo habeam, sed quòd amem. Antequam dicam. Si for quamvis a Subjunctive onely. Redeam? Non si me obsecret.

- Si* also conditional may somtimes govern both Verbs of the 15 sentence in a Subjunctive; as Respiraro, si te videro. Cic. ad Attic.

Quando, quandoquidem, quoniam, an Indicative; as Dicite quandoquidem in molli consedimus herba. Quoniam convenimus ambo.

- 20 Cum seeing that, a Subjunctive; as Cum sis officiis Grædive virilibus aptus.

Ne, an, num, of doubting, a Subjunctive; as Nihil refert, fecerisne, an persuaseris. Vise num redierit.

- Interrogatives also of disdain or reproach understood gov-25 ern a Subjunctive; as tantum dem, quantum ille poposcerit? Cic. verr. 4. Sylvam tu Scantium vendas? Cic. Agrar. Hunc tu non ames? Cic. ad Attic. Furem aliquem aut rapacem accusaris? Vitanda semper erit omnis avaritiæ suspicio. Cic.

verr. 4. Sometimes an Infinitive; as Méne incæpto desistere victam? Virg.

Ut that, lest not, or although, a Subjunctive; as Te oro, ut redeat jam in viam. Metuo ut substet hospes. Ut omnia contingant quæ volo.

Of Prepositions.

Of Prepositions, some will have an accusative after them, some an ablative, some both, according to thir different signification.

An accusative these following, Ad, apud, ante, adversus 10 adversum, cis citra, circum circa, circiter, contra, erga, extra, inter, intra, infra, juxta, ob, ponè, per, propè, propter, post, penes, præter, secundùm, supra, secùs, trans, ultra, usque, versus; But versus is most commonly set after the case it governs, as Londinum versus.

An ablative these, A, ab, abs, absque, cum, coram, de, e, ex, pro, præ, palàm, sine, tenus, which last is also put after his 20 case, being most usually a genitive, if it be Plural; as Capulo tenus. Aurium tenus.

These, both cases, In, sub, super, subter, clam, procul.

In, signifying to, towards, into, or against, requires an accusative; as Pisces emptos obolo in cœnam seni. Animus in 25 Teucros benignus. Versa est in cineres Troja. In te committere tantum quid Troes potuere? lastly, when it signifies future time or for; as Bellum in trigesimum diem indixerunt.

Designati consules in annum sequentem. Alii pretia faciunt in singula capita canum. Var. Otherwise in will have an ablative; as In Urbe. In Terris.

Sub, when it signifies to, or in time, about, or a little before, 5 requires an accusative; as sub umbram properemus. Sub id tempus. Sub noctem. Otherwise an Ablative. Sub pedibus. Sub umbra.

 10 time. Of or concerning, an ablative; as Multa super Priamo rogitans. Super hac re.

Super, over or upon, may have either case; as Super ripas Tiberis effusus. Sæva sedens super arma. Fronde super viridi.

 15 Subter densa testudine. Virg. Clam patrem or patre. Procul muros. Liv. Patria procul.

Prepositions in composition govern the same cases as before in apposition. Adibo hominem. Detrudunt naves scopulo. And the Preposition is sometimes repeated; as Detrahede tua fama nunquam cogitavi. And sometimes understood, 20 governeth his usuall case; as Habeo te loco parentis. Apparuit humana specie. Cumis erant oriundi. Liv. Liberis parentibus oriundus. Colum. Mutat quadrata rotundis. Hor. Pridie Compitalia. Pridie nonas or calendas. Postridie Idus. Postridie ludos. Before which accusatives ante or post is to be understood, Filii id ætatis. Cic. Hoc noctis. Liv. Understand Secundum. Or refer to part of time. Omnia Mercurio similis. Verg. Understand per.

Of Interjections.

Certain Interjections have several cases after them. O, a Nominative, Accusative or Vocative; as O festus dies hominis. O ego lævus. Hor. O fortunatos. O formose puer.

Others a Nominative, or an Accusative; as Heu prisca fides!
5 Heu stirpem invisam! Proh sancte Jupiter! Proh deum atque hominum fidem! Hem tibi davum!

Yea, though the Interjection be understood; as Me miserum! Me cæcum, qui hæc ante non viderim!

Others will have a Dative; as Hei mihi. Væ misero mihi.

TREATISE OF CIVIL POWER

A TREATISE of Civil Power in Ecclesiastical Causes was published in London in 1659, "The author J. M. . . . Printed by Tho. Newcomb." The work was registered with the Stationers' Company on February 16 of the same year (Masson Life, V, 581-87). Milton's name was affixed in full to the preface. Richard Cromwell had succeeded to the protectorate upon the death of his father, September 3, 1658, and Parliament assembled on January 27. Agitation for the complete disestablishment of ecclesiastical authority was immediately renewed, and Milton endeavored to assist the movement by addressing the present pamphlet to Parliament. The text of the present edition has been set up from a photostat of an original copy in the library of Yale University compared with a copy in the New York Public Library. The New York copy, referred to as B, shows a few slight differences from the Yale copy. These, together with certain unimportant corrections made in the text, are recorded in the notes which follow. Unless otherwise indicated, the notes refer to the Yale copy of the original.

Considerations touching the likeliest means to remove Hirelings out of the Church was published in London in 1659, "The author J. M. . . . Printed by T. N. [probably Thomas Newcome] for L. Chapman at the Crown in Popeshead Alley." The copy in the Thomason Collection has on the title-page in Thomason's hand the word "Aug" but without indication of the day. Milton's name was affixed in full to the preface. As he himself indicates in the opening sentence, this work was intended as a companion to A Treatise of Civil Power in Ecclesiastical Causes. Richard Cromwell's parliament having been dissolved on April 22, the old "Rump" Parliament had been restored on May 7, and Richard abdicated on May 25. In June petitions were received by Parliament for disestablishment of the church and abolition of tithes, and the matter referred to a committee (Masson V, 603-4). Milton's pamphlet was apparently written to influence Parliament at this juncture. The text of the present edition has been set up from a photostat of an original copy in the Yale University Library compared with two original copies in the New York Public Library which seem to be identical. A few obvious misprints have been corrected and recorded in the notes.

A Letter to a Friend, Concerning the Ruptures of the Commonwealth first appeared in the Works of John Milton published by Toland in 1698 in London but with Amsterdam on the title-page. Toland states that the work was published from the manuscript. There is no other evidence of Milton's authorship except the style and tenor of the work itself. The name of the friend to whom it was addressed is not known. Toland gives at the end the date, October 20, 1659. Milton apparently took occasion to comment in this manner on the dissolution of the restored "Rump" Parliament by Lambert on October 13, 1659 (Masson V, 617). The text of the present edition reproduces that given by Toland in 1698.

The Present Means and brief Delineation of a Free Commonwealth first appeared in Toland's edition of Milton's Works in 1698 (See above, A Letter to a Friend). Toland states that it was published from the manuscript. No other direct evidence for Milton's authorship exists. The work is a brief summary of The Readie and Easie Way to Establish a Free Commonwealth (see below), apparently sent with a copy of that work to General Monk. The present edition reproduces the text as given by Toland in 1698.

The Readie and Easie Way to Establish a Free Commonwealth was first published in London in 1660, "The author J. M. . . . printed by T. N. [probably Thomas Newcome] and are to be sold by Livewell Chapman at the Crown in Popes-Head Alley." Wood notes (Fasti) that the book was published in February. On the title-page of the copy in the Thomason Collection appears the date March 3 in Thomason's hand. The work appears to have been written after February 6 when Monk, having entered London three days before, addressed the "Rump" Parliament in terms which seemed to leave still open the question whether monarchy should be restored. The main body of the pamphlet was probably written before February 21 when Parliament voted to restore secluded members to their seats. The opening paragraph, probably added just before publication, refers to the resolution of February 22 for the recall of writs which had been issued for new elections. The pamphlet was doubtless published between that date and March 3, 1660.

The second edition appeared in the same year with the words, "The second edition revis'd and augmented," added to the original title, and in place of the names of printer and bookseller, "Printed for the Author." In this edition the original text was extensively changed to accord with the rapid movement of events. Milton says that he thinks it useful to write "in the midst of our Elections to a free Parliament, or their sitting to consider freely of Government." Writs for the elections referred to were approved on March 16. Sir Roger L'Estrange in No Blinde Guides (April 20) quotes from the first edition of Milton's pamphlet. Few copies of the second edition seem ever to have been in circulation. Every indication points to its having been published only very shortly before the Restoration on May 1, 1660. (Ready and Easy Way ed. by Clark; Masson Life V, 645-655.)

The text of the present edition is that of the only extant copy of the second edition, formerly in the possession of the late Mr. W. A. White of New York. This has been collated with a photostat of a copy of the first edition in the Yale University Library. Variations and additions appearing in the second edition together with the corrections of a few obvious misprints have been recorded in the notes, in which 1 refers to the first edition and 2 to the second. No indication being given to the contrary, reference is always to 1.

 declar'd, as they may most justly and truly, that no other way they can discharge, no other way secure and confirme the peoples libertie, but by settling them in a free Commonwealth. And doubtless, no Parliament will be ever able under royaltie to free the people from slavery: and when they go about it, will finde it a laborious task; and when they have don content with this libertie to himself, but seeks violently to impose what he will have to be the only religion, upon other men's consciences, let him know, bears a minde not only unchristian and irreligious, but inhuman also and barbarous. And in my judgement civil States would do much better, and remove the cause of much hindrance and disturbance in publick affairs, much ambition, much hypocrisie and contention among the people, if they would not meddle at all with Ecclesiastical matters, which are both of a quite different nature from their cognisance, and have thir proper laws fully and compleatly with such coercive power as belongs to them, ordaind by Christ himself and his apostles. If ther were no meddling with Church matters in State counsels, ther would not be such faction in chusing members of Parliament, while every one strives to chuse him whom he takes to be of his religion; and everie faction hath the plea of Gods cause. Ambitious leaders of armies would then have no hypocritical pretences so ready at hand to contest with Parlements, yea to dissolve them and make way to thir own tyrannical designs: in summ, I verily suppose ther would be then no more pretending to a fifth monarchie of the saints: but much peace and tranquillitie would follow; as the United Netherlands have found by experience: who while they persecuted the Arminians, were in much disquiet among themselves, and in danger to have broke asunder into a civil war; since they have left off persecuting, they have livd in much more concord and prosperitie. And I have heard from Polanders themselves, that they never enjoid more peace, then when religion was most at libertie among them; that then first began thir troubles, when that king by instigation of the Jesuites began to force the Cossaks in matters of religion. —6 This]

Brief Notes Upon a late Sermon, titl'd, The Fear of God and the King; Preachd, and since Publishd, By Matthew Griffith, D.D. And Chaplain to the late King. Wherin many Notorious Wrestings of Scripture, and other Falsities are observd by J. M. was published in London in 1660 without indication of printer or bookseller. The sermon which Milton took occasion to refute was preached in the Mercers' Chapel on March 25, registered with the Stationers' Company on March 31, and shortly afterwards published (Masson, Life V, 667). Milton's reply to Griffith seems to have been made almost immediately. Sir Roger L'Estrange's No Blinde Guides, written in reply to Milton, appears in the Thomason Collection with the date "April 20" on the title-page. The text of the present edition has been set up from a photostat of an original copy in the New York Public Library. One or two slight typographical defects have been rectified.

Of True Religion, Haeresie, Schism, Toleration, and what best means may be us'd against the growth of Popery, The Author J. M. was first published in London in 1673 without indication of printer or bookseller. On March 15, 1672, Charles II issued his Declaration of Indulgence suspending the penal statutes against non-conformists. This at once provoked a "no popery" agitation. Parliament, assembling on February 4, 1673, compelled the cancellation of the indulgence (Masson Life VI, 687, 690-6). At some time in the discussion of this measure Milton issued the present work, probably in the early months of 1673. The text of the present edition has been set up from a photostat of an original copy in the New York Public Library.

ARTICLES OF PEACE

“ARTICLES of Peace” was published in 1649 in a small octavo of sixty-five pages. Only the commentary of twenty pages is by Milton. Though no name is attached, the authorship is not doubted. The full title-page is: “Articles Of Peace, made and concluded with the Irish Rebels, and Papists, by James Earle of Ormond, for and in behalfe of the late King, and by vertue of his Autoritie. Also a Letter sent by Ormond to Col. Jones, Governour of Dublin, with his Answer thereunto. And A Representation of the Scotch Presbytery at Belfast in Ireland. Upon all which are added Observations. Publisht by Authority. London; Printed by Matthew Simmons in Aldergate-streete. 1649.” The date, May 16, is written on the title-page of the copy in the Thomason collection. The present edition is printed from a photostat of the copy in the Thomason collection in the British Museum.

LETTERS PATENTS

"LETTERS Patents" was published in 1674 with no name attached; Toland reprinted it in 1698 in the collected edition of Milton's prose. There seems to be no doubt of Milton's authorship (Masson VI, 725). The full title-page is: "A Declaration or Letters Patents of the Election of this present King of Poland John the Third Elected on the 22^d of May last past, Anno Dom. 1674. Containing the Reasons of this Election, the great Vertues and Merits of the said Serene Elect, His eminent Services in War, especially in his last great Victory against the Turks and Tartars, whereof many Particulars are here related, not published before. Now faithfully translated from the Latin Copy. London, Printed for Brabazon Aylmer, at the Three Pigeons in Cornhil, 1674." The present edition is printed from a photostat of the copy in the British Museum.

THE text of this edition of "Accedence Commenc't Grammar" is printed from a photostat of a copy of the first edition in the Yale University Library. The full title-page is: "Accedence Commenc't Grammar, Supply'd with sufficient Rules, For the use of such as, Younger or Elder, are desirous, without more trouble then needs, to attain the Latin Tongue; the elder sort especially, with little teaching, and thir own industry. J.M. London, Printed by S. Simmons next door to the Golden Lion in Aldersgate-street, 1669."
